WORST U.S. SETBACK IN VIET: REDS KILL 7 YANKS, WOUND 80

SAIGON, Viet Nam, Sunday (UPI)—Viet Cong guerrillas dealt U.S. forces their heaviest blow of the Viet Nam war today in early morning attacks that left seven Americans dead and "about 80" wounded.

First reports from the battle at Pleiku, 220 miles northeast of Saigon, had said eight Americans had been killed and 62 injured.

The attacks occurred as President Johnson's special adviser, McGeorge Bundy, prepared to wind up his fact-finding mission on South Vietnamese political affairs and the anti-Communist war effort.

At Pleiku, headquarters of the Vietnamese 2nd Army Corps, six Americans were killed and about 64 wounded in a savage five-minute Viet Cong barrage on the U.S. airstrip at Camp Holloway, on the edge of the city.

At the same time, Communist forces attacked another U.S. compound more than two miles away, killing one American and wounding 14.

Seventeen U.S. helicopters and three transport planes were destroyed in the airfield attack.

About 1,000 Americans were stationed at Pleiku, most of them living in the two main compounds which came under attack this morning.

A U.S. military spokesman said at least 19 of the wounded Americans were in serious condition and the others received minor wounds.

The Communists attacked with rifles, grenades and recoilless cannon to break into the headquarters and reach the U.S. barracks.

In the airfield attack, the Viet Cong brought mortar fire to bear on the airstrip while attacking the fenced perimeter of Camp Holloway with infantry.

Communist casualties in the fighting were not known.

The attacks came two hours after the end of the Viet Cong's one-week cease-fire for observance of the lunar new year holiday.

The Communists also attacked Puy Hoa, 100 miles east of Pleiku, destroying an oil supply depot.

The new casualties raised the number of U.S. dead in the South Viet Nam war to 355 since Jan. 1, 1961. In addition, about 1,700 Americans have been wounded, 12 are missing and 12 are captives of the Communists.

Saturday two U.S. Army officers and an enlisted man were injured when a mine exploded under their jeep 60 miles northwest of Saigon. Another officer was hit in the left arm by Viet Cong groundfire while flying his helicopter 365 miles northeast of Saigon.

In Saigon, Bundy was scheduled today to make a flying tour of some outlying posts to survey the war effort. He was scheduled to return to Saigon and depart for Washington later in the afternoon.

Bundy declared Saturday that the United States has a "deep commitment" to the anti-Communist struggle in South Viet Nam.

At the time Bundy was speaking 5,000 Buddhists demonstrated without disorder in the northern city of Hue. Another 2,000 Buddhists held a religious rally Saturday night at the national Buddhist center in Saigon, the first such gathering since the fall of Premier Tran Van Huong's regime last month.

Earlier in the day, Bundy met with Vietnamese military and government leaders and representatives of South Viet Nam's Buddhist, Roman Catholic, Cao Dai and Hoa Hao religious groups. The religious leaders, he said, assured him they appreciated the American effort in South Viet Nam.

BONANZA OF BONANZAS

Vast L.B. Oil-Pool Value Exceeds All State Gold Output

(First of Two Parts)

A bonanza bigger than the Gold Rush is about to engulf Long Beach.

This giant economic windfall, so vast its full size defies exact description, will be ushered in with the development of the East Wilmington oil field.

Known in the industry as "The Field," East Wilmington, the largest undeveloped oil reserve in North America, is a finger-shaped zone of mineral-bearing sands encompassing 6,500 acres and pointing into the sea from downtown Long Beach.

Geologists estimate the field contains 2.8 billion barrels of oil and nearly 600 billion cubic feet of gas.

Its development is expected to produce — before costs — between $2½ and $3½ billion during the next three to four decades.

Comparatively speaking, the California Gold Rush was an "also ran" and the big oil strikes at Huntington Beach, Signal Hill and Inglewood a generation ago were pikers' affairs.

During 82 years from the discovery at Sutter's Mill in 1848 to the depression in 1930, the California mines turned out 100 million fine ounces of gold with a total market value of more than $2 billion.

It relegates to second rank, too, lusty strikes of "black gold" at Signal Hill and Huntington Beach in the twenties and at Torrance-Wilmington in the thirties.

"It is a singularly important and historic undertaking for the city of Long Beach," says City Manager John R. Mansell.

Medics Offer New Rivals to Medicare

CHICAGO (UPI)—An extraordinary session of the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association Saturday heard plans to outdo medicare in providing medical care for the needy.

Both the Ohio and Michigan delegations introduced resolutions calling for government-subsidized health care for all needy persons, regardless of age. The Johnson administration's medicare program and the AMA's own "Eldercare" plan would limit such help to persons over 65.

Dr. Willard Wright of Minot, N.D., chairman of the AMA's Council on

Russ, China Must Unite Against U.S., Hanoi Says

Demands Western Pullout From Asia

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Pham Van Dong of North Viet Nam appealed to the Soviet Union and China Saturday to settle their differences and fight together against the United States.

Speaking at a dinner in Hanoi for visiting Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, the head of the North Vietnamese government said a solution of the Soviet-China dispute was among "the most important international tasks."

Dong claimed, "The American imperialists are trying hard to implement plans of undermining and splitting the socialist camp and the international Communist movement."

The Vietnamese leader made his plea at a dinner the night Kosygin arrived from a Peking stopover where he had secret—and seemingly not too cordial—talks with Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

* * * *

IN IT, HE also demanded that the United States withdraw all troops and weapons from South Viet Nam and permit the whole of Viet Nam to be unified on the basis of the programs of the Communist fronts in both north and south.

His remarks appeared to indicate a North Vietnamese effort to assume the role of mediator between the two opposing Communist giants.

Dong assured his Russian visitors of his government's will "to fight with all its strength together with the peoples of the Soviet Union, China and other fraternal socialist countries for the strengthening of the solidarity of the socialist camp and the international Communist movement. . . ."

"The unity of the whole socialist camp, the unity of the Soviet Union and China—the two biggest socialist powers—are the most important international tasks," he said.

* * * *

DONG ADDED that the end to Soviet-Chinese ideological hostilities would pave the way for "a unification of forces in the struggle against our common enemy—imperialism, headed by the imperialists of the United States of America."

His speech indicated that if the Kremlin has any idea of reaching an agreement with the United States, it will get no support from North Viet Nam.

Replying, Kosygin repeated Soviet pledges of "solidarity with the population of South Viet Nam in its just and heroic struggle against American imperialism."

L.A.C. Says:

Amount of Cheating on U.S. Campuses

Just how much cheating goes on in colleges and universities? Far more than most college officials realize, according to anew nationwide study by Columbia University. Of the students questioned in a 99-college survey, more than half admitted having cheated. This report in U. S. News comes at a time when the U. S. Air Force Academy cheating scandal has caused over 100 of its student body to resign. But, most of those involved are in trouble because they had not informed on others who had stolen and sold the material. But the nationwide report shows a serious moral attitude among many students.

The Columbia report says "only relatively lenient punishments are imposed for academic dishonesty at most schools. Seldom are students suspended or dismissed." Questionnaires were returned by 5,422 college students, 620 deans and 502 student body presidents. Some of the observations of the survey were:

1. Fraternity and sorority members cheat more than non-members.
2. Students with lower grades tend to cheat more.
3. Family income or occupation has little to do with cheating.
4. Those with scholarships cheat less—except for athletes.
5. Fewer cheat when student opinion disapproves of cheating.
6. Cheating is more common in coed colleges; example: all-female 16%; all-male 50%; coed 61%.

It was pointed out that colleges with honor systems are less apt to have a high level of cheating than those with other controls. Schools with high academic quality are found to have relatively little cheating. Quality yardsticks: a large proportion of students living on campus—a selective admission system and a high ratio of faculty to students—are safeguards that need to be increased.

It has also been pointed out that cheating is prevalent in all levels of our education systems. It has become so commonplace students brag about copying papers from tests passed by others. The habits formed in high school are carried on to college. The idea seems to be that informing on cheaters is more dishonorable than cheating itself.

The tragedy is that the students who cheat may get graduating grades when they have failed to prepare themselves for the future. There is no learning so important as that one gains by his own research and presentation of his own understanding of the problem.

It is apparent academic cheating is prevalent—and that it is not something new. Its solution lies largely in the hands of student bodies where they themselves endorse and support an honor system. And, of course, the parents who are complacent about their children cheating on examinations are responsible for this moral problem.

It is a serious problem that again brings to mind the words of Edmund Burke that "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing."—L.A.C.

SOMETHING FROM TWILIGHT ZONE?

Ex-Sailor Denies Double Life Despite Identical Fingerprints

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago police said Saturday the fingerprints of an Omaha television news director "match in all respects" those of an Akron, Ohio, man missing for eight years.

Lt. Emil Giese of the Chicago police identification section said the positive comparison was made by FBI experts who compared fingerprints of John Francis Johnson, a 37-year-old ex-sailor of Omaha, with those of Lawrence Joseph Bader, the missing man, made by the Navy at Cleveland in 1944.

"It's the one and the same man," said Giese, "or else it's something from the beyond."

IN OMAHA, Johnson went to the police station Saturday and was fingerprinted again. When told that the Federal Bureau of Investigation had matched his fingerprints with those of Bader, he reiterated:

"I am John (Fritz) Johnson and I have never heard of this Bader man until this matter came up." He declared he is the victim of an "uncanny coincidence."

JOHN F. JOHNSON
Denies Being Bader

LAWRENCE J. BADER
As He Looked in 1957

Johnson looked at a picture of Bader taken shortly before he disappeared in 1957 and commented: "It certainly does look like me but I am not that man."

He related how he had given his permission to be figerprinted in Chicago, saying: "Wouldn't I have to be out of my mind to agree to that if I knew I was Bader?"

JOHNSON, who met two brothers of the missing Bader in Chicago last week after a friend of the Bader family noted a dead-ringer resemblance, submitted his fingerprints to Chicago police voluntarily for the identity test Thursday night.

Lawrence Bader vanished on a fishing trip on Lake Erie May 17, 1957. A storm hit the lake that day, and he was presumed drowned after his motorboat was found beached and empty at Cleveland.

It was four days later that Johnson turned up in Omaha and took a job as a bartender. His past was fairly clearly apparent to him, but included nothing of his family. Instead, he recalled Navy service and hospitalization which paralleled that of the missing Bader.

John, 37, who is known to friends as Fritz, has been in radio and television work in Omaha since 1957.

HE IS MARRIED to a photographer's model and has a daughter and a son.

A friend of the Baders saw Johnson at a sports show in Chicago Thursday and, after talking to him, telephoned Akron. John and Richard flew to Chicago after talking to Johnson on the phone.

Johnson said he was struck by his resemblance to one of the Baders, both as to his voice and his appearance.

"I could recognize that the voice of one of the brothers sounded like mine," Johnson said. "And when we saw each other there was a striking resemblance between one of them and me."

THE MISSING Bader's wife gave birth to a fourth child shortly after he disappeared. Eventually, his insurance money was paid to his wife.

Johnson, who wears an eye patch and said he lost his eye to cancer, denied amiably that he could possibly be the missing Bader brother although he shares an enthusiasm for archery which Lawrence Bader also had.

Johnson, like Bader, also was a former pharmacist's mate in the Navy.

Three Killed in Traffic, 7 Others Hurt

Three Long Beach-area residents died Saturday in traffic accidents which injured seven others, two critically.

Mrs. Eloise Olague, 50, of 20306 Violeta Ave., Artesia, was killed in a two-car crash at Redondo Avenue and Third Street, Long Beach. She was thrown from the auto driven by her son, Edmund, 19, who was not injured. The second driver, Timothy J. Driscoll, 22, of 5530 Loma Linda Drive, Long Beach, was booked on suspicion of manslaughter after he was treated for minor injuries.

MANFRED MAGNUSON, 75, was killed in a collision of his son's auto and a pickup truck on Crenshaw Boulevard near Rolling Hills. His wife, Ruth, 66, and son, William, 40, all of 6857 Abbottswood Drive, Palos Verdes Peninsula, were reported in critical condition in Little Company of Mary Hospital, Torrance. The pickup driver, Julian Marquez, 43, of 6953 Atlantic Ave., Long Beach, was in serious condition in the same hospital.

SIRIA ALVAREZ, 17, of 11127 Maidstone Ave., was killed when her car plunged down an embankment at Los Lomitos Road and Vallecito Drive in Industry.

Her three passengers were in fair condition in La Puente Valley Hospital. They are Peter Medina, 16, of 1201 E. 166th St., Artesia; Peter Bejarano, 18, of 11865 E. 166th St., Artesia, and Marisila Villarreal, 17, of 11127 Maidstone Ave., Norwalk.

Crow's Nest May Be Balloon Gondola

LA JOLLA (UPI)—The gondola of a balloon may replace the age-old crow's nest for lookouts sighting schools of tuna fish if experiments now being conducted turn out well.

The U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries laboratory has chartered a converted subchaser for the tests being conducted off the coast here.

The subchaser is towing a 52-foot-diameter dacron balloon to test whether a tuna fishing lookout's range of vision can be extended by many miles from his traditional perch atop a 60-foot-high mast.

L.A.C. Says:

Amount of Cheating on U.S. Campuses

Just how much cheating goes on in colleges and universities? Far more than most college officials realize, according to anew nationwide study by Columbia University. Of the students questioned in a 99-college survey, more than half admitted having cheated. This report in U. S. News comes at a time when the U. S. Air Force Academy cheating scandal has caused over 100 of its student body to resign. But, most of those involved are in trouble because they had not informed on others who had stolen and sold the material. But the nationwide report shows a serious moral attitude among many students.

The Columbia report says "only relatively lenient punishments are imposed for academic dishonesty at most schools. Seldom are students suspended or dismissed." Questionnaires were returned by 5,422 college students, 620 deans and 502 student body presidents. Some of the observations of the survey were:

1. Fraternity and sorority members cheat more than non-members.
2. Students with lower grades tend to cheat more.
3. Family income or occupation has little to do with cheating.
4. Those with scholarships cheat less—except for athletes.
5. Fewer cheat when student opinion disapproves of cheating.
6. Cheating is more common in coed colleges; example: all-female 16%; all-male 50%; coed 61%.

It was pointed out that colleges with honor systems are less apt to have a high level of cheating than those with other controls. Schools with high academic quality are found to have relatively little cheating. Quality yardsticks: a large proportion of students living on campus—a selective admission system and a high ratio of faculty to students—are safeguards that need to be increased.

It has also been pointed out that cheating is prevalent in all levels of our education systems. It has become so commonplace students brag about copying papers from tests passed by others. The habits formed in high school are carried on to college. The idea seems to be that informing on cheaters is more dishonorable than cheating itself.

The tragedy is that the students who cheat may get graduating grades when they have failed to prepare themselves for the future. There is no learning so important as that one gains by his own research and presentation of his own understanding of the problem.

It is apparent academic cheating is prevalent—and that it is not something new. Its solution lies largely in the hands of student bodies where they themselves endorse and support an honor system. And, of course, the parents who are complacent about their children cheating on examinations are responsible for this moral problem.

It is a serious problem that again brings to mind the words of Edmund Burke that "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing."—L.A.C.

Irish President Hospitalized

DUBLIN (UPI)—Irish President Eamon De Valera was admitted to a hospital Saturday for the second time in [illegible] months, starting public uneasiness about his health.

An official announcement said the 82-year-old head of state was in for "a routine checkup."

An aide explained that De Valera caught a cold while attending a wedding last Saturday in Dublin. But he added: "There is absolutely nothing to worry about. He will be out in a few days."

SOMETHING FROM TWILIGHT ZONE?

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago police said Saturday the fingerprints of an Omaha television news director "match in all respects" those of an Akron, Ohio, man missing for eight years.

Lt. Emil Giese of the Chicago police identification section said the positive comparison was made by FBI experts who compared fingerprints of John Francis Johnson, a 37-year-old ex-sailor of Omaha, with those of Lawrence Joseph Bader, the missing man, made by the Navy at Cleveland in 1944.

"It's the one and the same man," said Giese, "or else it's something from the beyond."

* * * *

IN OMAHA, Johnson went to the police station Saturday and was fingerprinted again. When told that the Federal Bureau of Investigation had matched his fingerprints with those of Bader, he reiterated:

"I am John (Fritz) Johnson and I have never heard of this Bader man until this matter came up." He declared he is the victim of an "uncanny coincidence."

Johnson looked at a picture of Bader taken shortly before he disappeared in 1957 and commented: "It certainly does look like me but I am not that man."

He related how he had given his permission to be fingerprinted in Chicago, saying: "Wouldn't I have to be out of my mind to agree to that if I knew I was Bader?"

* * * *

JOHNSON, who met two brothers of the missing Bader in Chicago last week after a friend of the Bader family noted a dead-ringer resemblance, submitted his fingerprints to Chicago police voluntarily for the identity test Thursday night.

Lawrence Bader vanished on a fishing trip on Lake Erie May 17, 1957. A storm hit the lake that day, and he was presumed drowned after his motorboat was found beached and empty at Cleveland.

It was four days later that Johnson turned up in Omaha and took a job as a bartender. His past was fairly clearly apparent to him, but included nothing of his family. Instead, he recalled Navy service and hospitalization which paralleled that of the missing Bader.

Kidnaping Apparently a Fight for Custody

dramataic seizure outside the family home.

A court in Ann Arbor, Mich., had issued an ex parte order—meaning without notification — to return the child to the custody of her natural father in Michigan pending a March 2 hearing.

• • • •

STARLYN'S natural father is Jerry D. Stauch, Mrs. Cawley's former husband, who, according to Cawley, hasn't seen the girl for more than six years. A hired server finally delivered the document to the frantic Cawleys about 10:30 p.m. John Cawley said Stauch apparently is challenging the fitness of Starlyn's mother.

• • • •

THE IDENTITY of the two men and the woman who drove the escape cars remains unclear. The rented escape car presumably was turned in Saturday at Phoenix, per the rental agreement.

Somewhere, a little girl is being sped across the continent to a father she doesn't know. In Stanton, a young mother remains under sedatives.

Local law forces, on the advice of DeVine, have withdrawn from what first was broadcast as a kidnaping. Starlyn's immediate fate remains a mystery.

THIEF DUCKS PICKLE JAR BUT GETS $64

Officer R. F. White said the thief forced a sliding window in the unit occupied by Mrs. Joanne Tinsley, and stole $1.03 from her purse but fled quickly when she flung a jar of pickles at him.

He next looted the room occupied by Roger O. Cedarhom, 72, of Brigham City, Utah, where he took $63 cash and a watch.

A court in Ann Arbor, Mich., had issued an ex parte order—meaning without notification — to return the child to the custody of her natural father in Michigan pending a March 2 hearing.

* * * *

STARLYN'S natural father is Jerry D. Stauch, Mrs. Cawley's former husband, who, according to Cawley, hasn't seen the girl for more than six years. A hired server finally delivered the document to the frantic Cawleys about 10:30 p.m. John Cawley said Stauch apparently is challenging the fitness of Starlyn's mother.

* * * *

THE IDENTITY of the two men and the woman who drove the escape cars remains unclear. The rented escape car presumably was turned in Saturday at Phoenix, per the rental agreement.

Somewhere, a little girl is being sped across the continent to a father she doesn't know. In Stanton, a young mother remains under sedatives.

Local law forces, on the advice of DeVine, have withdrawn from what first was broadcast as a kidnaping. Starlyn's immediate fate remains a mystery.

THIEF DUCKS PICKLE JAR BUT GETS $64

Officer R. F. White said the thief forced a sliding window in the unit occupied by Mrs. Joanne Tinsley, and stole $1.03 from her purse but fled quickly when she flung a jar of pickles at him.

He next looted the room occupied by Roger O. Cedarhom, 72, of Brigham City, Utah, where he took $63 cash and a watch.

Pope Will Say Masses in Italian

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI will celebrate masses in Italian in some churches of suburban Rome in the forthcoming Lenten period, Vatican sources said Saturday.

Canadian Ships Visit in Their Royal Finest

Two Canadian Navy escort ships on a training cruise will remain in port through Thursday.

The visitors, flying "full dress' colors in honor of the 13th anniversary of the accession to the throne of Queen Elizabeth II, were welcomed by all U.S. Navy ships flying the Canadian ensign.

The frigates HMCS Sussexvale and HMCS New Glasgow, carrying 40 naval cadets, were welcomed to Long Beach Naval Station Saturday at 9:45 a.m.

HIPPITY-HOP BACK TO CHICAGO

Britons Bounce Bunnies--No Cabbage

LONDON (AP)—Two shapely bunnies from a Chicago nightclub were ordered out of Britain Saturday by immigration officers who said they had insufficient means of support.

Renate Benze, 20, and Bonnie Jensen, 21, arrived for a week's stay. They stayed only six hours before being put aboard a Chicago-bound plane.

Immigration officers refused to let them stay when they discovered the girls had only $150 between them.

Bunnie Bonnie said:

"We left Chicago earlier than we first planned. We were going to spend a week here and then go on to Germany to see Renate's relatives. We only took so much money—enough for the air tickets and the $150."

Said Bonnie as they stepped aboard their homeward-bound plane:

"I'll tell you something. I'm going to get a couple of thousand bucks and come back tomorrow and walk straight through that immigration point. Just like that."

The girls arrived in Chicago Saturday night.

Bandits Rob Motel Owner, Wife of $365, Lock Them In

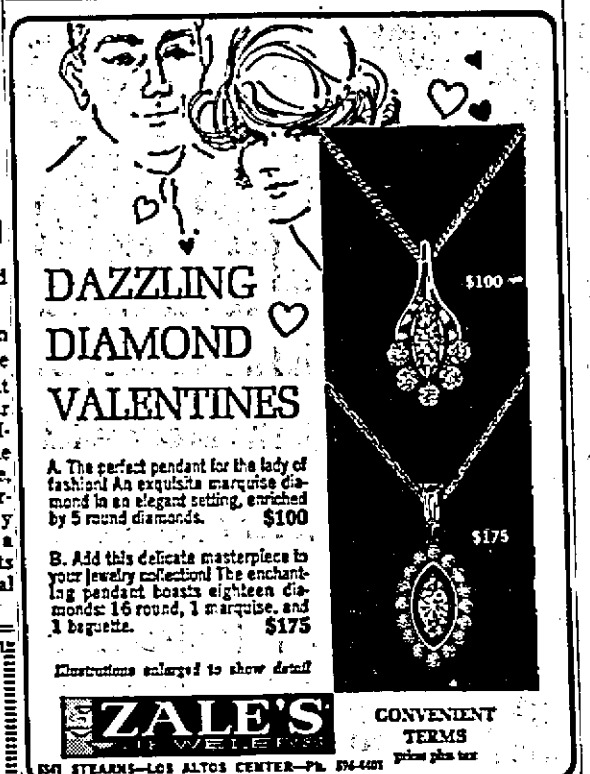

A Long Beach motel operator and his wife were terrorized and robbed early Saturday by two men who forced them out of bed at the Royal Motel, 3716 Long Beach Blvd.

Clyde P. Delgado, 62, told police he was awakened about 3 a.m. by two men who pretended to be seeking lodging. One of the men asked for change to make a telephone call and when Delgado opened the cash register he found himself facing a pistol.

The victim told Patrolman John Matthews one of the men scooped the money out of the register while the other started for the Delgado residence behind the office. The motel manager and his wife, Lola, 58, were forced to surrender their personal money and then were locked in a closet while the two bandits fled. Matthews said the total loss was more than $365.

87 Die as Plane Hits Andes Peak

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—A Chilean airliner carrying 87 persons crashed and exploded into flames 11,700 feet up in the Andes Saturday. There were no survivors.

The plane had taken off for Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Montevideo, Uruguay, with 80 passengers and a crew of 7. It crashed a few minutes later near Lo Valdes, about 50 miles east of Santiago.

Among the 28 foreigners aboard was a U.S. woman, who was listed as Mrs. Helen Berger Kenneth of Long Island, N.Y. Also aboard was a Chilean football team.

The Chilean national airline, Lineas Aereas Nacionales (LAN), at first said 86 persons were aboard but Saturday night included an Argentine passenger who had not been in the earlier list.

Belieu New Undersecretary of Navy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson Saturday picked Asst. Secretary of the Navy Kenneth E. Belieu to replace Paul B. Fay who resigned as undersecretary of the Navy.

BELIEU

Graeme C. Bannerman, now deputy assistant secretary of Defense, will move into Belieu's old job.

Belieu, 50, has been assistant secretary for installations and logistics since early 1961.

He had a distinguished battle career in World War II, and fought in Korea, where he lost a leg from wounds. He served as executive officer to two secretaries of the Army before leaving the Army.

Banker's Arrest Shocks Neighbors

Winona, Tex. (AP)—Residents of this little East Texas town expressed shock Saturday after the arrest for embezzlement of Butler McClung, Winona's only banker and the scion of a prominent banking family.

McCLUNG

"People around these parts would have trusted him with every dime they had," said truck driver Alton Blalock. "I just don't get it."

McClung, 62, was charged by FBI agents with the embezzlement of $380,392.34 from the Winona State Bank. He was its president, as had been his father.

The bank ceased to exist, technically, Friday after the soft-spoken, bespectacled McClung closed its doors at the suggestion of the state banking department.

Dr. King Asked to Talk to Katzenbach

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House is asking the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., to meet Monday with Atty. Gen.-Designate Nicholas Katzenbach rather than with President Johnson to discuss voting rights legislation.

King, acting through attorney Harry Wachtel, sought a Monday appointment with Johnson after he emerged Friday from a five-day stay in the jail at Selma, Ala. He had led a Negro voter-registration drive there.

Johnson's press secretary, George Reedy, said Saturday that Lee White, associate special counsel at the White House, suggested that King meet instead with Katzenbach and other Justice Department officials "engaged in considering legislation on this matter."

Racist Cafe Man to Serve Negroes

ATLANTA (AP)—Atlanta restaurant operator Lester Maddox, who has fought the Civil Rights Act since its passage, said Saturday he will serve Negroes.

A federal judge Friday ordered Maddox to pay a $200 fine for each day his restaurant was open and practiced racial discrimination. Maddox said he would abide by the court order requiring him to serve persons of all races.

(In a telephone interview with radio station WNEW in New York, Maddox said he would never welcome any customer "who tries to take away my rights as a citizen."

("Should they come in, it will be most unpleasant for them and even more unpleasant after they leave," he said.)

ILA, Shippers Talk Past Midnight

PHILADELPHIA (Sunday) (AP)—Negotiators for longshoremen and shipping interests worked into the early morning hours today in efforts to end the 27-day East and Gulf coast strike amidst reports that President Johnson is prepared to intervene unless there is a break in the Philadelphia negotiations.

The latest session started at 2 p.m. (EST) Saturday and still was going on past midnight.

There was no immediate indication when it would end.

The Baltimore Sun said that Johnson would act today or Monday if there was no change in the bargaining.

'SPACEMEN' TEST EGG 'GLOP' FOR 60 DAYS

The four were paid $800 each for the experiment. They lived in an elegant penthouse apartment on a diet of an egg-based liquid and wafers developed for astronauts on long space missions such as a flight to Mars.

"I didn't remember what food tasted like after about half the experiment," said one of the volunteers.

"The stuff got to be pretty boring, but after losing remembrance of food, it became merely a process rather than eating."

The test, financed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was conducted by Dr. Sheldon Margen and Dr. Doris Calloway of the University of California's school of nutritional science.

Names of the four were withheld. Two said they plan to join a new experiment with six volunteers starting March 1. When that's finished they hope to take a trip to Europe.

"It was impossible to worry," said one student of the 60-day isolation in a penthouse on the university campus.

"I was relaxed, pleased and satisfied with conditions about 85 per cent of the time. I was irritated the rest.

"We got tired of television commercials and bad programs."

They took routine daily exercises and underwent physical examinations, but they never went outside the penthouse.

"We could see life going on but we were out of touch with it," the student said. "We grew accustomed to a detached point of view, not being face to face with people or problems.

"Each of us came to respect the other's privacy and opinions more as a result of our constant togetherness."

Dr. Calloway said the experiment's purpose was to measure the effect of protein loss over an extended period and to determine nutrition needs for a space journey.

measurably, the entire state of California."

Under an agreement hammered out in long and serious negotiations with city leaders, the state will get the lion's share, or at least 55% of future tidelands profits, a sum likely to exceed $1 billion.

The city is guaranteed $250 million during the 35-year contract and will have control over antisubsidence measures as well as beauty of the development.

Local prosperity will be felt immediately and noticeably.

The existing 50-50 division of funds with the state will remain in effect until Dec. 31, 1968. Thereafter, the city's cut will decrease by 5% each year until the 85-15 divvy point is reached.

This means Long Beach will come in the early years of the contract and, assuming the development is under way by April 1, the city should get about $100 million in oil revenue during the next five years.

This money is to be poured immediately into a vast program of shoreline public-works projects which will benefit, not only Long Beach, but the general public of the state.

This alone will produce jobs for 2,500 persons and affect the earnings of 25,000 others.

Twelve of the projects, including construction of a new Belmont Pier and a downtown shoreline-fill project, costing $11.5 million, will be started this year.

* * * * *

ALSO scheduled for start in 1965 is construction of a $14-million, high-level bridge across the main entrance cannel to Terminal Island.

Over the longer 35-year haul, Long Beach tideland-fund-financed projects, the experts say, should create a total of 25,000 new jobs, and touch the incomes of 225,000 others.

"We can't anticipate completely the total effect on the local and regional economy of these developments, many of which will be revenue-producing, but it will be appreciable," asserts one city aide.

The development of the field and the four 10-acre land-filled "tropical" islands which will serve, along with the eastern face of 311-acre Pier, as the platform for about 1,000 producing wells, is still another dollar-and-cents story.

* * * * *

AT LEAST 1,500 men will be employed, 1,000 by the field contractors and 500 by other firms servicing the operators. And about $1.1 billion, or $31 million a year, will be spent to develop and operate the field.

Much of this huge sum, including $235 million for drilling of wells, $38 million for construction of the islands and $10 million for water-injection surface facilities, will be pumped into the oil industry and Southland economy during the initial years of development.

* * * * *

TO GET an idea just how big a job this is from the petroleum industry's point of view, explains one oilman, "This field will put down more than 1,000 miles of casing."

Still another effect, economically, will be royalties paid owners of 10,000 lots in the field.

No one is certain how big this share will be, but as one homeowner explained, "I've been told there will be enough to pay my taxes."

* * * * *

HOW HIGH individual lot incomes from the oil field might go depends, in part, on how many producing zones underlie each townlot or upland area.

Although there are many ifs and buts as to the final effects of this monumental undertaking, "The Long Beach tidelands story," as the Sacramento Newsletter, an official organ of the state legislature, noted just last year, will be a DeMille type spectacular."

SOUTHLAND CLUB REBUILDS AFTER TRAGEDY

Skaters Hit Hard--but Not for Long

since her husband's death in 1952 to keep her champion daughters skating.

Her day-and-night job was coaching others in the exacting sport—her free time was devoted to coaching her own family.

All three were on the flight.

Seventy others, including 34 attached to the U. S. figure skating team, died that day.

"The sport will be years recovering" officials said at the time.

"But it will."

And it has.

The crash on Feb. 14, 1961, hit the Arctic Blades Figure Skating Club of Southern California—based at Paramount's Iceland—the hardest.

Seven of its members—leading skaters, including the Olympic team coach—were killed.

But in four years the club has done more than any other group to rebuild the nation's ice-skating hopes.

The U.S. National Ladies Champion, who placed sixth in the 1964 Winter Olympics in Innsbruck, Austria, and seventh in World Championships held in Germany, is Peggy Fleming, a 16-year-old skater representing the Paramount skating club.

* * * * *

BUT IN addition to the nation's leading woman skater, 20 club members currently are in competition and eight won national honors in last year's skating event.

Nine skaters will represent the club in the National Competitions at Lake Placid, N.Y., Feb. 10.

And 17 figure-skating members took top honors in the Pacific Coast Competition in Seattle two weeks ago.

"We've done remarkably well in rebuilding since the tragedy," says club president Dr. Kenneth Turner of 933 Via Rincon, Palos Verdes Estates. "But we've always had good competitive skaters—so the incentive is here for the young skaters."

* * * * *

AND YOUNG they are.

"Used to be," says former Pacific Coast Bronze Dance Champion Janet McLeod of Norwalk, "that top skaters were in their early 20s and even 30-year-olds were young enough for competition."

"Now," says the trim mother of three, "senior skaters range from 15 to 20 years of age—and 20 is considered 'pretty old.'"

Peggy Fleming, she points out, won third place in the junior ladies' national competition at 14 and became the nation's leading woman skater at 15.

* * * * *

Not so, says the Pasadena High School junior.

"I started skating seven years ago when my family went on a trip to Cleveland. And I've been practicing ever since."

Her practice schedule, which starts at 6 a.m. daily, includes an average four to six hours of skating seven days a week.

"On Wednesdays," she admits, "I only skate three hours."

But she makes up the time on other days.

* * * * *

"EVERYONE says its work. Not to me. I love it," the would-be kindergarten teacher says.

And the sport and the followers apparently love her.

"You'll find Peggy skating at 6 a.m. or 12 midnight—wherever she can find ice," skating officials say.

"It takes a combination of talent and the will to get ahead to be a good skater—and Peggy has both.

"Very often a skater is very good at figures or very good at free-style skating. Peggy's good at both."

* * * * *

BUT THEN, they point out, so are many of the club's 200 members.

In the Pacific Coast Competition — preliminary to the Nationals this week — club representative Ronnie Frank skated off with first-place honors in the senior men's division with Johnnie Moore, son of a Dairy Valley councilman, third.

Artesia's Sondra Homes was third among senior ladies.

Roger Bass was first in the junior men's division and Michael Barton of Paramount was first in novice men's events. Kenneth Shelley of Downey was third in the novice division.

Richard Battenschlag of Downey won first in the juvenile boys' activities and Julie Holmes was first among junior ladies.

* * * * *

SECOND place was awarded Dawn Glab in the novice ladies' field.

Kenneth Shelley and JoJo Starbuck of Downey ranked first in the junior pairs division, with Barbara Heagy and Jerry Emmons third.

In senior pairs, Pam Ramsen and Larry Dusich of Downey were second. Second was also won by Joan Sherbloom and David Turner, son of the club president, in the Silver Dance division.

The club — with six first-place awards in 10 events—won the Deane E. McMinn Memorial Trophy at the Coastal tourney.

* * * * *

AND THE trophy means more to the club than almost anything else, says Club President Turner.

McMinn was president of the Paramount-based club and manager of the 1960 Olympic Ice Skating Team. He died in the Belgium crash.

But what probably would mean more to McMinn, officials say, is that the club—skating—is back on its feet.

First 'Stand-up' Car in Britain

MANCHESTER, England (UPI)—Britain's first "stand-up" car took to the road—driven by 42-year-old Harry Speakes, who has been paralyzed in a standing position for 23 years.

"All the controls are by hand, the seat is really a vertical padded rest," Speakes said. "I have seven mirrors—including one to show my speed because I can't look down."

tionwide educational campaign to delay congressional action on medicare and to promote the AMA's "Eldercare." Under "Eldercare," persons over 65 could get state and federal help in buying private insurance to cover their doctor and hospital bills.

"Medicare would cover only a miserly fraction of the total medical costs of someone who is really sick," Ward said. He said "Eldercare" would do more for less money and still keep control of the program under the states.

Some delegations at the opening session appeared ready to go beyond the Medicare-Eldercare age limitations, while still keeping control of the programs away from the federal government.

Michigan's resolution asked for federal and state-subsidized comprehensive health insurance, including hospital, nursing home and convalescent home care, physicians' services and drugs for "all needy persons, regardless of age."

The Michigan resolution called for eligibility standards for such insurance to be determined by "a simple affidavit of disposable income."

The Ohio resolution said, "It is appropriate that government revenues be used to finance health care when other resources have been found to be inadequate." All levels of government, the resolution said, should be responsible for financing such programs.

Churchill's Voice Among Top 10

LONDON (AP)—A newly issued record—"The Voice of Sir Winston Churchill"—has jumped into the British long-play top 10, the new Musical Express reported. It listed the record at No. 9, just below the Beatles' "A Hard Day's Night." The record includes excerpts from Churchill's most famous speeches and also part of a speech by the late President John F. Kennedy.

CRITIC TAKEN TO TASK

L.B. Prof's Highway Art Idea Defended

By GEORGE ERES

"Hare-brained" is the word for Long Beach State College art professor Kenneth Glenn's proposal for a "Highway of Art" in California, according to Alfred Frankenstein, who conducts "The World of Art" column in the San Francisco Chronicle.

In his Jan. 29 column, Frankenstein sounds off against Prof. Glenn, against State Assemblyman Pearce Young, a member of the California State Arts Commission who backed Glenn's program, and against the Arts Commission for not muzzling Young.

Glenn's proposal calls for bringing to one city a group of internationally famous sculptors. They would work for a specific period and leave their works in the host city. The sculpture could be placed at various spots along the highways.

Expenses would be paid for through private endowment.

• • • •

FRANKENSTEIN has created a monster out of this idea.

The Burma Shave people long ago, learned that motorists do not have time to read their jingles, he wrote, but Young has not got the message.

There is a germ of justifiable criticism in Frankenstein's comments about Burma Shave jingles. However, Prof. Glenn is not suggesting that Burma Shave jingles be restored to highways. Glenn is suggesting that sculpture be placed in state parks and recreational areas adjacent to highways, approaches to urban areas, etc.

"People do stop en route from one urban area to another, and in California, as in other states and countries, there are signs and markers to indicate these areas to the traveler," Glenn said. "Why not a magnificent sculpture interrupting the horizon to let the traveler know these areas?"

• • • •

HOWEVER, Frankenstein did not contact Prof. Glenn to learn about the project. Frankenstein hasn't seen the sculpture — it hasn't even been created yet — but he is sure no one would want to stop and look at it.

It appears that Frankenstein did not contact anyone for information about the project. Had he done so, he might have learned that:

1. The first year's symposium program to be held at Long Beach State College June 21 to Aug. 14 does not call for placing the created sculpture along highways. The sculpture will remain in a "sculptor garden" on the State College campus.

2. More than half the private money required has already been pledged for the first year's program.

Had Frankenstein bothered to make a telephone call to the California State Arts Commission he would not have jumped Assemblyman Young, suggesting that the commission "ought to exercise some control over the use of its name by its members and over the broadcasting of such silly notions as might be entertained by the politicians who participate in its counsels."

The telephone call could have informed Frankenstein that on Jan. 15 the California Arts Commission heard Prof. Glenn outline the program and the minutes of the meeting state that the commission unanimously endorsed the program.

• • • •

APPARENTLY Frankenstein does not think much of the idea of monumental sculpture along highways. As the man says, "He's entitled."

However, the prospects of such a program have so incensed Frankenstein that his critical judgments seem overcome by a lack of facts.

To all of this, Glenn has maintained a professorial calm, never once quoting the old proverb that "an empty barrel makes the most noise." He has taken the enlightening approach.

"I would welcome the opportunity to change your mind to the point that you will actively support the idea," he wrote Frankenstein.

Son Hunted After Father's $60,000 Hoard Disappears

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A 23-year-old son was charged Saturday with stealing his father's life savings of $60,000 in cash from the older man's apartment.

The burglary warrant named Michael C. Mulkovich, whose address and present whereabouts are unknown. Police ordered a widespread search.

Michael's father, Michael N. Mulkovich, 55, a truck driver, told police that the cash, accumplated over 35 years, was missing from a metal case in a bedroom closet when he returned Friday night from an out-of-town trip.

The Story of "Golden Cup" Coffee

THE SELECTION of the coffee bean is of first consideration. Specially blended coffee from Central and South America is delivered to us three times weekly. We feel it is most important to get the good from the beans that they be freshly roasted and freshly ground before each making.

The choice of the coffee brewing equipment and its care is next in attention. The finest stainless steel, glass lined urns and steamer made by J. H. McKie Manufacturing Company was selected. All the equipment in which the coffee is brewed must be kept laboratory clean. The urn bags, pouring pots, spoons, etc. are kept submerged in cold water when not in use to prevent them from touching anything foreign.

We steep our coffee beans in hot water for seven minutes to get out all the oils, aroma, and flavor from the beans. Coffee should never be kept or served more than one hour, therefore we brew a fresh supply at least once every sixty minutes. We feel a cup of perfectly brewed coffee should be served with nothing but pure coffee cream.

We also feel that the selection of the cup itself is important. This is why our china cups are thinly made and well balanced to give you a feeling of coffee at its finest at all times.

Thus our coffee has achieved the standard of quality worthy to be honored by THE COFFEE BREWING INSTITUTE, INC., with the title "GOLDEN CUP."

Churchill's Voice Among Top 10

LONDON (AP)—A newly issued record—"The Voice of Sir Winston Churchill"—has jumped into the British long-play top 10, the new Musical Express reported. It listed the record at No. 9, just below the Beatles' "A Hard Day's Night." The record includes excerpts from Churchill's most famous speeches and also part of a speech by the late President John F. Kennedy.

CRITIC TAKEN TO TASK

L.B. Prof's Highway Art Idea Defended

By GEORGE ERES

"Hare-brained" is the word for Long Beach State College art professor Kenneth Glenn's proposal for a "Highway of Art" in California, according to Alfred Frankenstein, who conducts "The World of Art" column in the San Francisco Chronicle.

In his Jan. 29 column, Frankenstein sounds off against Prof. Glenn, against State Assemblyman Pearce Young, a member of the California State Arts Commission who backed Glenn's program, and against the Arts Commission for not muzzling Young.

Glenn's proposal calls for bringing to one city a group of internationally famous sculptors. They would work for a specific period and leave their works in the host city. The sculpture could be placed at various spots along the highways.

Expenses would be paid for through private endowment.

* * * *

FRANKENSTEIN has created a monster out of this idea.

The Burma Shave people long ago, learned that motorists do not have time to read their jingles, he wrote, but Young has not got the message.

There is a germ of justifiable criticism in Frankenstein's comments about Burma Shave jingles. However, Prof. Glenn is not suggesting that Burma Shave jingles be restored to highways. Glenn is suggesting that sculpture be placed in state parks and recreational areas adjacent to highways, approaches to urban areas, etc.

"People do stop en route from one urban area to another, and in California, as in other states and countries, there are signs and markers to indicate these areas to the traveler," Glenn said. "Why not a magnificent sculpture interrupting the horizon to let the traveler know these areas?"

* * * *

HOWEVER, Frankenstein did not contact Prof. Glenn to learn about the project. Frankenstein hasn't seen the sculpture — it hasn't even been created yet — but he is sure no one would want to stop and look at it.

It appears that Frankenstein did not contact anyone for information about the project. Had he done so, he might have learned that:

1. The first year's symposium program to be held at Long Beach State College June 21 to Aug. 14 does not call for placing the created sculpture along highways. The sculpture will remain in a "sculptor garden" on the State College campus.

2. More than half the private money required has already been pledged for the first year's program.

Had Frankenstein bothered to make a telephone call to the California State Arts Commission he would not have jumped Assemblyman Young, suggesting that the commission "ought to exercise some control over the use of its name by its members and over the broadcasting of such silly notions as might be entertained by the politicians who participate in its counsels."

The telephone call could have informed Frankenstein that on Jan. 15 the California Arts Commission heard Prof. Glenn outline the program and the minutes of the meeting state that the commission unanimously endorsed the program.

* * * *

APPARENTLY Frankenstein does not think much of the idea of monumental sculpture along highways. As the man says, "He's entitled."

However, the prospects of such a program have so incensed Frankenstein that his critical judgments seem overcome by a lack of facts.

To all of this, Glenn has maintained a professorial calm, never once quoting the old proverb that "an empty barrel makes the most noise." He has taken the enlightening approach.

"I would welcome the opportunity to change your mind to the point that you will actively support the idea," he wrote Frankenstein.

Son Hunted After Father's $60,000 Hoard Disappears

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A 23-year-old son was charged Saturday with stealing his father's life savings of $60,000 in cash from the older man's apartment.

The burglary warrant named Michael C. Mulkovich, whose address and present whereabouts are unknown. Police ordered a widespread search.

Michael's father, Michael N. Mulkovich, 55, a truck driver, told police that the cash, accumulated over 35 years, was missing from a metal case in a bedroom closet when he returned Friday night from an out-of-town trip.

'TIME TO TAKE OFF BLINDERS'

Admit It! Many Downtown Spots Repel Shoppers

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON

(Fifth in a Series)

DOWN - AT - THE - HEELS look, apathy and ugliness infect much of the city's downtown core area. City beautifiers in Long Beach's "Year of Beauty" campaign are attacking problems such as those pictured. Citizens actions is needed to realize our potential as America's Most Beautiful City!

More than 100 gaping storefronts reflect the hazy picture of downtown Long Beach.

Located in the central business district (Ocean to 7th, Magnolia to Alamitos), they tell the ominous story with "For Rent" or "For Lease" signs.

A few shops, in the clearance-sale stage, announce in bold letters that they are quitting business or moving to this or that shopping center.

Dr. John A. Harris, optometrist, in business for 35 years at the same address, 633 Pine Ave., says he has noted with alarm "the changing face of downtown Long Beach."

• • • • • •

HE BELIEVES business interests could stem the tide of deterioration "if more parking were provided and if merchants and owners would upgrade and modernize storefronts and interiors.

"It's the only way we can compete with modern stores in outlying districts," he concluded.

Meanwhile, those modern stores in the outlying districts are doing fine, thank you.

Just eight miles from Long Beach's downtown, Lakewood Shopping Center (focal area for Lakewood, an incorporated city with a tax structure separate from Long Beach's) is adding stores as fast as contractors can complete them.

• • • • •

GOING IN are Bullock's, Desmond's, Buffums', Gene's Smart Shop and others. More than 10,000 parking places in the total complex make it easy to stop and shop.

Los Altos Shopping Center recently opened a fleet of new stores, now being filled with an influx of shoppers brought in by the new San Diego freeway.

What's the answer?

"It's high time we take off our blinders," commenetd one downtown merchant. "All of us should take a candid look at downtown Long Beach—and without rose-colored glasses!"

He's right.

• • • • •

The progressive ones — those who've changed with the times—are riding the crest of today's surging economy.

But the one-horse variety—those who haven't shifted gears to cope with the Almighty Automobile, who haven't spruced up their Pine Avenues to meet the competition of shiny new shopping centers—are limping all the way to the finish line.

Unless groomed for today's fast-paced economy, any Downtown, USA, is finding itself out of the running.

These days, in our sprawling suburban way of life, downtown is no longer the kingpin, the one and only place to shop.

• • • • •

THE AUTOMOBILE makes the difference.

It has given the American public unprecedented mobility—mobility either to go downtown or to leave it behind.

Many old-timers here can remember when, in the city's early period of expansion, it would have been hard to do anything economically wrong.

Because downtown was the center of activities, the concentration of power and prestige—financial, economic, cultural and governmental. It was the focal point of all the elements that make up a city.

But no more.

• • • • •

NOW MANY of these elements are dispersed. If downtown grows dull and dingy (as much of ours has) . . . if it becomes a jumbleland of discount stores, cars, penny arcades and vacant storefronts . . . if it provides some quality stores but does not allow for free movement of pedestrians and storage of automobiles . . .

The shopper—free to go wherever in his auto—will desert downtown for more pleasant, more convenient shopping facilities.

A resident of 30 years, chemistry professor Rod Mullenix, 5472 E. Ocean Blvd., recalls that 30 years ago "Pine Avenue was a joy to walk on and it was a pleasure to shop downtown. Now, I go down only for a haircut—my barber's still there.

"But for other things, I find shopping centers more convenient."

• • • • •

LOCAL architect William A. Lockett, a member of the city planning commission, chalks up much of the downtown dilemma to public apathy.

"Once was when Long Beach had the same kind of image to the outside world as Balboa or Carmel," he pointed out. "The Virginia Hotel was famous for its quality and charm.

"And Venetian Square was a going affair, a beautiful beach resort area. Its present-day deterioration is evidence of what apathy can do to the pulsebeat of a city."

Harold Lewis, owner of C. C. Lewis Jewelry Co., 333 Pine Ave., one of the oldest stores of quality merchandise in the downtown area, believes that "the town has never cashed in on its natural assets."

• • • • •

"TO OUR CREDIT we have probably the finest beach in America, the best climate, the most beautiful spot for a city," he noted. "Also, few people realize that ours is the largest concentration, outside Los Angeles, of comparison merchandise in the megapolis.

"We can more than compete with shopping centers in price, service and scope of merchandise."

He feels the high vacancy factor is due, in large measure, to the high rate of absentee ownership.

"Too many owners live elsewhere, have divided interests and underestimate Long Beach's potential. They don't realize that if they'd invest money to modernize, they'd have a gold mine here."

• • • • •

BOB WESTMYER, president of Rex Hodges Realty Co., 408 E. First St., believes many of downtown Long Beach's shopping problems can be traced to "the lack of satisfying the woman's interest and not providing her with conveniences found in shopping centers."

He continued: "Too often, men overlook the fact that where women like to go, the shopping is always good . . . and, conversely, where women do not feel completely comfortable and at ease, the area is doomed to declining business.

"Parking truly is a major problem . . . but parking facilities that do not take into account a woman's driving habits, her likes and dislikes, will not solve the problem.

• • • • •

WOMEN SPEND 95% of the shopping dollar, and unless the visual environment, convenience and quality of merchandise meet her fancy, the dollars will be spent elsewhere.

"First Street is a good example of a street that tends to repel, rather than attract, the feminine shopper . . . primarily because of numerous beer bars, loan shops and hangouts—the kind that attract only men. Consequently, foot traffic by women is practically nil.

Wilma Hastings, owner of a finishing and fashion-modeling school at 430 E. Ocean Blvd., favors a mall on Pine Avenue from Ocean Boulevard to Seventh Street.

• • • • •

"NO CITY ever had the physical requirements to be a showplace more than Long Beach," said the local leader, first president of the women's division of the Chamber of Commerce. "We know it takes money to make money and the 'Make Long Beach Beautiful' project is a sure-fire way of spending dollars which will bring rich returns."

She believes the answer is a bringing together of the many separate groups working on redevelopment and/or beautification of the city. "Lack of communication between those who are interested prevents the progress so desperately needed. We must have strong leadership to direct the planning and execution of this gigantic endeavor."

• • • • •

JAMES HAYES, vice mayor, noted that "the city has been chopping away, bit by bit, at specific downtown troubles. We have built a parking lot here, widened a street there, also ripped down some slum structures and run downtown promotions.

"But, so far, it's all been piecemeal. Unless they are parts of a substantial and broad-scaled program, they are fated to be nothing more than a sugar pill.

"The over-all plan is the important thing. Everything, every phase, of the needed development must be taken into consideration: access to the shopping areas, improvement of the store facilities, beautification of areas around the stores and affording the pedestrian parking and shopping conveniences."

• • • • •

ON THE BRIGHT side of the picture, much is going for downtown Long Beach—IF only in sporadic patches. Two new high-rise apartments—one completed, the other on the way up—add to the skyline.

There's the new $6-million Arena . . . the almost new twin beauties—the Safety Building and county offices—and the Edison Co.'s glamorous $5-million office building completed in 1962 at First and Long Beach Boulevard.

The Urban Renewal Agency is sending out options to property owners for redevelopment of the "Jungle area" and money has been allocated for removal of tracks on Long Beach Boulevard from Ocean to Seventh. They'll be replaced by landscaped islands. In the talking stage are plans for widening and beautifying of Ocean Boulevard.

• • • • •

BUT THESE are beacon lights in the fog. For more years than downtowners wish to admit, there's been a profusion of little plans, big plans and master plans.

To date, it's been more sound and fury than solid accomplishment. Organization, effective leadership, and an all-out revitalization program are the answers.

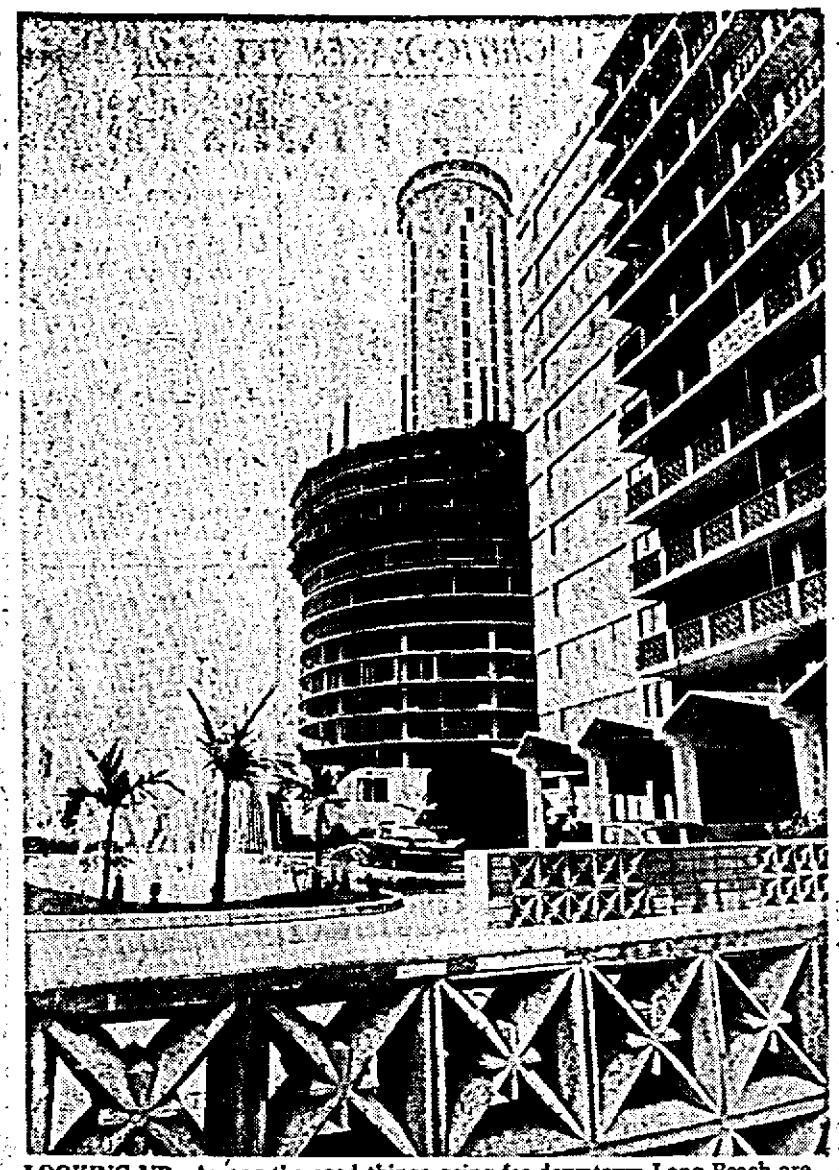

Burton W. Chace, chairman, Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, urged all property owners to cooperate.

"A campaign of face-lifting could pay long-range dividends and greatly improve the image of our city."

As the man said, it's high time we take off our blinders.

(Next Sunday: Conclusion)

LOOKING UP—Among the good things going for downtown Long Beach are these two new high-rise apartments—one completed, one on the way up. Nearby is city's new $6-million Arena, another monument to Long Beach's potential.

"We know it takes money to make money and the 'Make Long Beach Beautiful' project is a sure-fire way of spending dollars which will bring rich returns."

She believes the answer is a bringing together of the many separate groups working on redevelopment and/or beautification of the city. "Lack of communication between those who are interested prevents the progress so desperately needed. We must have strong leadership to direct the planning and execution of this gigantic endeavor."

* * * *

JAMES HAYES, vice mayor, noted that "the city has been chopping away, bit by bit, at specific downtown troubles. We have built a parking lot here, widened a street there, also ripped down some slum structures and run downtown promotions.

"But, so far, it's all been piecemeal. Unless they are parts of a substantial and broad-scaled program, they are fated to be nothing more than a sugar pill.

"The over-all plan is the important thing. Everything, every phase, of the needed development must be taken into consideration: access to the shopping areas, improvement of the store facilities, beautification of areas around the stores and affording the pedestrian parking and shopping conveniences."

* * * *

ON THE BRIGHT side of the picture, much is going for downtown Long Beach —IF only in sporadic patches. Two new high-rise apartments—one completed, the other on the way up—add to the skyline.

There's the new $6-million Arena . . . the almost new twin beauties—the Safety Building and county offices—and the Edison Co.'s glamorous $5-million office building completed in 1962 at First and Long Beach Boulevard.

The Urban Renewal Agency is sending out options to property owners for redevelopment of the "Jungle area" and money has been allocated for removal of tracks on Long Beach Boulevard from Ocean to Seventh. They'll be replaced by landscaped islands. In the talking stage are plans for widening and beautifying of Ocean Boulevard.

* * * *

BUT THESE are beacon lights in the fog. For more years than downtowners wish to admit, there's been a profusion of little plans, big plans and master plans.

To date, it's been more sound and fury than solid accomplishment. Organization, effective leadership, and an all-out revitalization program are the answers.

Burton W. Chace, chairman, Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, urged all property owners to cooperate.

"A campaign of face-lifting could pay long-range dividends and greatly improve the image of our city."

As the man said, it's high time we take off our blinders.

Open Bids Mar. 17 on Site Clearance

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state announced it will open bids March 17 on an estimated $8.4 million project to clear a site for water backed up by the Oroville Dam.

The Department of Water Resources said work included uprooting trees and brush from about 7,750 acres, cutting or removing trees 60 feet high and over on approximately 1,350 acres, and removing man-made structures on a 5,650-acre area.

The job is scheduled to be finished by April of 1967.

200 Law Officers Fight Child-Abuse

LOS ANGELES (CNS)—Some 200 law-enforcement officials from throughout Los Angeles County Saturday heard medical and legal experts outline plans for stepped-up vigilance in child-beating cases.

The formation of the "Los Angeles Committee on the Battered Child" was announced by District Attorney Evelle J. Younger, who hosted the meeting in the Los Angeles Police Department Auditorium.

• • • • •

YOUNGER said Deputy District Attorney John Miner, head of the medico-legal division, would serve as chairman of the committee, which was organized to "recommend an organizational structure and the future functioning" of a clearinghouse for information on children treated at hospitals throughout the county for severe injuries.

The committee was instructed also to prepare guidelines for investigation and prosecution of child-beating cases.

• • • • •

AMONG THE speakers was Dr. Theodore J. Curphey, county coroner-chief medical examiner, who told the lawmen the reluctance of doctors to violate a patient-physician relationship has been one of the chief reasons many cases of child-beating have gone unreported.

Dr. Curphey said an educational program, directed at physicians and hospital personnel, was needed to overcome the reluctance of medical personnel in reporting suspect cases.

4 Children Fall Through Ice, Drown

WARRENTON, Va. (AP) — Four children, all members of the same family, drowned Saturday when they fell through the ice on a pond near this northern Virginia town.

The Fauquier County sheriff's office identified the victims as Carolyn Irene, 13, Joseph William, 10, Charles Leonard, 8, and John Bernard, 5, the children of Hunter Lovewell Washington and his wife, Lavenia. Carolyn drowned after rescuing another child from the pond.

• • • • •

THE Washingtons have six other children. One of them, whose name was not available, was saved by Carolyn, the eldest daughter. The other children were not at the pond.

The five youngsters had walked about 75 feet from shore, the sheriff's office said. The water in which they drowned was six feet deep.

Reduces from a Size 20 to a 14 and Still Going Down

Here you see Mrs. Daphne Gustaves when she weighed almost 200 pounds and wore a size 20 dress. She had tried diets, starvation, exercise, pills and gadgets that promised weight loss. When she tried Pat Walker's program she "really did not expect results." In the next photo you'll see wearing a size 14 dress and still going down.

Here you see Daphne Gustaves with the nationally recognized Pat Walker. Mrs. Gustaves reduced from a size 20 to a size 14 and still going down. So far, she has reduced 2½ inches from her bust, 7½ inches from her abdomen, 4 inches from her hips, 4 inches from each thigh, 2 inches from each knee, 2½ inches from her upper arms and she is still going down.

as told by
Mrs. Daphne Gustaves
Honolulu

I think I was my doctor's despair. Every visit he said I had to lose weight, and I returned with a few more pounds. I dieted, starved, exercised, bought any gadget or pill that promised weight loss, but all I ever got was fatter.

Last fall, I was ready to give up and just let the pounds come, but the Pat Walker ads nagged me. I asked my doctor what he thought of trying Pat Walker's. He said he did not know what they did, but they appeared to be succeeding where others were failing.

I was nearing 200 pounds, and was determined not to pass it. I called Pat Walker's for an appointment. I did not really expect results, but I hoped. I was sure they were going to sneak in a diet somewhere. I was told to eat normally, but not to go overboard on fattening foods.

I started before the holidays, and two weeks later there was a visible difference. By Christmas I had lost 30 pounds. I have a good way to go yet, but I know I'll get there since I am not dying of starvation and I enjoy my visits to the Pat Walker Salon. The encouragement and personal interest shown by her people makes time spent there a friendly visit rather than a treatment.

My husband is pleased with his investment this time. It is a change from the usual results of money spent on reducing aids. My doctor is astonished he keeps saying "Fabulous." I can't believe it. I feel like a new person, and love the praise and compliments my friends give me. I thank Pat Walker and her staff.

Long Beach Woman Reduces From 175 Pounds

Here you see Mrs. Jean Ann Hudgins when she averaged 175 pounds. She thought her figure problems were so very special that nothing could be done to correct them. She had fought the overweight and figure problem for 13 years.

Here you see Mrs. Hudgins with Pat Walker, the nationally recognized figure authority. In a few short weeks, Mrs. Hudgins reduced 6 inches from her abdomen, 4 inches from her waist, 4 inches from her hips and 3 inches from each thigh and is still going down.

National Reducing Authority

When Mrs. Jean Ann Hudgins came to see us, she was most concerned about her figure problem. She thought, as most women do, that her figure problems were so very special that nothing could be done to help her. After she had a figure analysis, we told her where she needed to lose, how long it was going to take and answered questions pertaining to her figure correction.

It is delightful to see Mrs. Hudgins only 8 weeks later. She radiates confidence, happiness and knows now that all we said we would do for her we are doing. She had fought the overweight battle for 13 years.

She married when she was only 16 years old and has 3 children, ages 11, 6 and 2. She told us her average weight had been around 175 lbs. and could never, no matter how hard she tried, get below 165 lbs.

Since she began with our program, she has lost 3 inches from each thigh, 4 inches from her hips, 6 inches from her abdomen and 4 inches from the waist and even though she has lost a great amount of inches and weight, she is still going down.

Mrs. Hudgins is a very happy patron and rightfully so because she recognized she had figure problems and she did something about it, and as she smiled she said, "I'm 29 years old and for the first time in 13 years I can't wait for summer to come because I'm going to spend time at the beach as I promised my children and will feel at ease in a bathing suit."

Regain Youthful Figure Without Rigid Diet

"Under a rigid diet program women will lose weight," says Miss Walker. "But they won't lose it in all the places they should.

"Perhaps the waistline may shrink from hunger but the bulging hips, large thighs, thick ankles and sway back remain after dieting.

"Under our system we accept each individual as a separate figure problem. We chart the course necessary and go to work."

State Will Try to Slash Red Tape for Indigent Seeking Medical Aid

By CHARLES SUTTON

California will try to pioneer a relatively new concept of medical assistance to the poor under the federal "war on poverty."

Called the one-door approach, the system will attempt to bring the medically indigent into a normal doctor-patient relationship by avoiding the multiplicity of approaches they now must take in order to receive medical treatment or assistance from public agencies.

The program was outlined for the State Board of Public Health last week by Dr. Paul O'Rourke, Gov. Brown's special assistant for antipoverty planning. O'Rourke told the board at its meeting in Los Angeles that the plan would utilize family doctors on a reduced-fee basis.

* * * *

THE INDIGENT patients would be part of the doctors' normal case-loads, he indicated, and would be treated in their own neighborhoods like all other patients. In their cases, however, the government would foot the bills.

O'Rourke, who said the state plans to ask for a $180,000 federal grant to activate the program on a nine-month experimental basis, told the board that the poor today are virtually defeated by the labyrinthine maze they must conquer in order to receive public medical assistance.

* * * *

"THE PRESENT system," he said, "makes the medically indigent go through 10 eligibility determinations for 10 different services. This fragmentation leaves the poor a bewildering array of persons and buildings to go to."

O'Rourke said the poor worry greatly about the distances they must travel before they receive assistance, and that's why the new program would attempt to bring the treatment to them, rather than the other way around.

The difficulties encountered by the medically indigent apparently have not been lost on public health authorities.

* * * *

THE STATE Department of Public Health, in a newly published report on public-health programs for the poor, suggests "a different approach to current procedures, including "elimination of multiple visits to obtain services.";

Without mentioning the one-door approach, the report nevertheless calls for removal of administrative barriers to care and treatment services, and strongly urges a "reduction in red tape and time delays."

In discussing the correlation between sickness and poverty, the report notes that "income has a direct relationship with the incidence of many diseases."

* * * *

THE REPORT notes, for example, that the prevalance of illness among hard-core poverty groups is 15% higher than among all others.

But if poverty has a "profound" bearing on the incidence of disease, the report goes on, it also has an equally strong correlation to the extent to which health services are utilized.

* * * *

BECAUSE those in the lower income brackets seek less physician care, when illness does strike, it is often acute or prolonged, and more likely to be fatal.

"One result of these problems is that the lowest income group spends more days in hospitals—up to two and a half times that of other income groups.

"To this," the report goes on, "must be added the additional economic problem that low income also means less hospitaliation insurance."

The report says that only 20% of the lowest income group, compared to anywhere from 50 to 66% for higher income groups, carries hospitalization insurance.

* * * *

THERE IS no doubt, the report adds, that poverty aggravates illness, but an equally important corollary is that illness can produce poverty.

Thus, the report says, major illness in a family often can demolish that family's whole way of life if it does not have insurance and is not poor enough to qualify for public assistance.

Among persons making less than $2,000 a year, it states, only about a third carry hospitalization insurance. By comparison about 85% of those making $7,000 or more carry policies.

'BROWN LAKE' OPPOSED

Politico Names for Projects Hit

By JIM McCAULEY
L.P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO—Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, being mentioned as a likely name for the key reservoir in the Feather River Water Project, hasn't gone down the drain yet.

The State Water Resources Agency has served notice it will fight a bill that would block it from buttering up state politicians by naming bridges, dams and tunnels after them.

State Sen. Stan Pittman, R-Oroville, has authored a measure that would make it state policy to name public projects after places rather than people.

* * * *

THE PITTMAN bill would require legislative approval for Brown Dam or any other namesake project.

Pittman has denied that his bill is aimed specifically at proposed Brown Dam, Porter Tunnel, the Vincent Thomas Bridge or the Sen. Randolph Collier Tunnel.

However, Republicans have been needling Democrats over recent project names. Said a recent issue of "Ammunition," official publication of the Republican State Central Committee:

"A general gloom has settled over Oroville at the prospect of having the Oroville Dam called Brown Lake in honor of Gov. Brown.

Thus far, Pittman has waged a one-man fight against naming projects after live politicians. No one else has dared buck the establishment.

Pittman may face a stiff fight. His bill probably will be consigned to the transportation committee—the body that passes on bills on public-works projects.

* * * *

CHAIRMAN of Senate Transportation Committee is Sen. Randolph Collier, who has a multimillion-dollar tunnel named after him. There's also the Assemblyman Carley Porter Tunnel in the Tehachapis—a salute to a Compton lawmaker.

Pittman said he isn't trying to embarrass any single politician. "It is a position of principle," he explained.

But if some administration leaders had their way, Pittman would jump off the Assemblyman Vincent Thomas Bridge.

Ethiopian Flower-Bombing Alarms Queen Elizabeth

ASMARA, Ethiopia (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II got a wildly enthusiastic welcome Saturday from cheering crowds, tribesmen brandishing spears only a few feet from her motorcade, and a flower-petal bombardment from a plane.

Everyone was delighted with everything except the dive-bombing by the light plane, though the pilot's aim was bad.

The army plane come down to within about 200 feet before releasing its bombload of petals.

'BROWN LAKE' OPPOSED

Politico Names for Projects Hit

By JIM McCAULEY
I.-P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO—Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, being mentioned as a likely name for the key reservoir in the Feather River Water Project, hasn't gone down the drain yet.

The State Water Resources Agency has served notice it will fight a bill that would block it from buttering up state politicians by naming bridges, dams and tunnels after them.

State Sen. Stan Pittman, R-Oroville, has authored a measure that would make it state policy to name public projects after places rather than people.

THE PITTMAN bill would require legislative approval for Brown Dam or any other namesake project.

Pittman has denied that his bill is aimed specifically at proposed Brown Dam, Porter Tunnel, the Vincent Thomas Bridge or the Sen. Randolph Collier Tunnel.

However, Republicans have been needling Democrats over recent project names. Said a recent issue of "Ammunition," official publication of the Republican State Central Committee:

"A general gloom has settled over Oroville at the prospect of having the Oroville Dam called Brown Lake in honor of Gov. Brown.

Thus far, Pittman has waged a one-man fight against naming projects after live politicians. No one else has dared buck the establishment.

Pittman may face a stiff fight. His bill probably will be consigned to the transportation committee—the body that passes on bills on public-works projects.

CHAIRMAN of Senate Transportation Committee is Sen. Randolph Collier, who has a multimillion-dollar tunnel named after him. There's also the Assemblyman Carley Porter Tunnel in the Tehachapis—a salute to a Compton lawmaker.

Pittman said he isn't trying to embarrass any single politician. "It is a position of principle," he explained.

But if some administration leaders had their way, Pittman would jump off the Assemblyman Vincent Thomas Bridge.

State Will Try to Slash Red Tape for Indigent Seeking Medical Aid

By CHARLES SUTTON

California will try to pioneer a relatively new concept of medical assistance to the poor under the federal "war on poverty."

Called the one-door approach, the system will attempt to bring the medically indigent into a normal doctor-patient relationship by avoiding the multiplicity of approaches they now must take in order to receive medical treatment or assistance from public agencies.

The program was outlined for the State Board of Public Health last week by Dr. Paul O'Rourke, Gov. Brown's special assistant for antipoverty planning. O'Rourke told the board at its meeting in Los Angeles that the plan would utilize family doctors on a reduced-fee basis.

* * * *

THE INDIGENT patients would be part of the doctors' normal case-loads, he indicated, and would be treated in their own neighborhoods like all other patients. In their cases, however, the government would foot the bills.

O'Rourke, who said the state plans to ask for a $180,000 federal grant to activate the program on a nine-month experimental basis, told the board that the poor today are virtually defeated by the labyrinthine maze they must conquer in order to receive public medical assistance.

* * * *

"THE PRESENT system," he said, "makes the medically indigent go through 10 eligibility determinations for 10 different services. This fragmentation leaves the poor a bewildering array of persons and buildings to go to."

O'Rourke said the poor worry greatly about the distances they must travel before they receive assistance, and that's why the new program would attempt to bring the treatment to them, rather than the other way around.

The difficulties encountered by the medically indigent apparently have not been lost on public health authorities.

* * * *

THE STATE Department of Public Health, in a newly published report on public-health programs for the poor, suggests "a different approach to current procedures, including "elimination of multiple visits to obtain services."

Without mentioning the one-door approach, the report nevertheless calls for removal of administrative barriers to care and treatment services, and strongly urges a "reduction in red tape and time delays."

In discussing the correlation between sickness and poverty, the report notes that "income has a direct relationship with the incidence of many diseases."

* * * *

THE REPORT notes, for example, that the prevalance of illness among hard-core poverty groups is 15% higher than among all others.

But if poverty has a "profound" bearing on the incidence of disease, the report goes on, it also has an equally strong correlation to the extent to which health services are utilized.

* * * *

BECAUSE those in the lower income brackets seek less physician care, when illness does strike, it is often acute or prolonged, and more likely to be fatal.

"One result of these problems is that the lowest income group spends more days in hospitals—up to two and a half times that of other income groups.

"To this," the report goes on, "must be added the additional economic problem that low income also means less hospitaliation insurance."

The report says that only 20% of the lowest income group, compared to anywhere from 50 to 66% for higher income groups, carries hospitalization insurance.

* * * *

THERE IS no doubt, the report adds, that poverty aggravates illness, but an equally important corollary is that illness can produce poverty.

Thus, the report says, major illness in a family often can demolish that family's whole way of life if it does not have insurance and is not poor enough to qualify for public assistance.

Among persons making less than $2,000 a year, it states, only about a third carry hospitalization insurance. By comparison about 85% of those making $7,000 or more carry policies.

Quake in Japan

SAPPORO, Japan (UPI) — A light earthquake Saturday shook the Cape Erimo area of south central Hokkaido but no damage was reported.

Ethiopian Flower-Bombing Alarms Queen Elizabeth

ASMARA, Ethiopia (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II got a wildly enthusiastic welcome Saturday from cheering crowds, tribesmen brandishing spears only a few feet from her motorcade, and a flower-petal bombardment from a plane.

Everyone was delighted with everything except the dive-bombing by the light plane, though the pilot's aim was bad.

The army plane come down to within about 200 feet before releasing its bombload of petals.

MURDER-SUICIDE

Motive Sought in Four Killings

Sheriff's homicide detectives Saturday sifted books and personal effects of a 31-year-old man in an effort to find out why he killed his parents and his grandmother before ending his own life.

Detectives said physical evidence at the scene of the shooting at 10503 Wedgeport Ave., near Norwalk, indicated that Lynn Bauman had shot his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bauman, and Mrs. Bauman's mother, Mrs. Bertha Jackson, 83, and two dogs before turning the gun on himself.

All had been dead for more than a week. Neighbors told investigators that no member of the family had been seen outside the new tract home since Jan. 23.

The tragedy was discovered late Friday when neighbors Donald and Bonnie Smith of 10502 Wedgeport Ave. and Tom McGowan, of 10510 Wedgeport Ave. decided to investigate.

Smith opened an unlocked kitchen door and saw the body of a dog. He called police.

When deputies arrived they found the bodies lying in different rooms of the house.

The body of Lynn Bauman was in the living room with the gun near his feet.

Football Star Jailed as Burglary Suspect

A junior all-America football player from Cerritos College was jailed in Long Beach Saturday for "investigation of commercial burglary" after he was picked up in an alley with a large cardboard carton on his shoulder.

James Thomas Ferguson, of 5066 Raton Circle, was arrested about 5 a.m. in connection with the theft of about $50 worth of food from the Oceana Restaurant, 5101 E. Ocean Blvd., officer Ralph Abraham said.

• • • •

FERGUSON, a six-foot-four, 220-pounder, was stopped in an alley just north of Ocean Boulevard. When officers Abraham and Tom Whatley asked the suspect what he was carrying in the cardboard box he said, "Oh, just some items."

In the box the officers found 13 cans of food, about 10 pounds of baking potatoes wrapped in foil and 45 pounds of fresh beef.

When the officers asked Ferguson where he got the food, they said, he told them, "I guess I shouldn't tell you, but I got it at the Oceana. I guess I'm really jammed up now. I was supposed to start to SC Monday, but they probably won't give me the scholarship now."

Officer Abraham said Ferguson told them he entered the restaurant through a rear door after an unidentified person told him someone left the rear door open. The officers said Ferguson admitted going into the cold-storage room, but denied he had forced the door or taken out a louver window pane which the officers found was missing.

• • • •

FERGUSON, who was named to the All-America Junior College football team at the end of the 1964 season, also was named to the All-Metropolitan Football Conference team.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Boost Given U.S.-Russ Visit Swap

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
United Press International

President Johnson last week disclosed that he and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and Communist Party chief Leonid Brezhnev may exchange visits this year to further the quest for peace.

He told a B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League dinner that he wants Nikita Khrushchev's successors to come here "to see us, to meet us, to learn first hand the determination here in America for peace and the equal determination to support freedom."

He placed strong emphasis on the words "support freedom." He knew that even as he spoke Kosygin was arriving in Red China en route to Hanoi, Communist North Viet Nam, which, with China's help, is trying to subjugate U.S.-supported South Viet Nam.

KOSYGIN

Kosygin's junket coincided with a new Russian diplomatic and propaganda offensive in Southeast Asia. But American officials believed—or at least hoped—that it was aimed primarily against Red China's influence or possibly to persuade Hanoi not to unduly provoke the United States in the Viet Nam war.

They acknowledged, however, that it might have ominous long-range implications for the United States. Russia also may have reached the conclusion that neutralization of the area is inevitable, in light of American military and political difficulties in Viet Nam, and wants to be in a position to influence negotiations.

• • • •

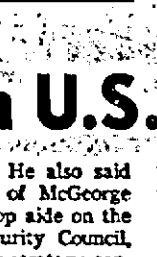

THE PRESIDENT declined to assess Kosygin's move, but he made clear that there will be no neutralization; that the U.S. remains firmly determined to suport Viet Nam in its fight for freedom. He also said his dispatch of McGeorge Bundy, his top aide on the National Security Council, to Saigon for strategy consultations with embattled Ambassador Maxwel D. Tayor had nothing to do with it. Officials said Bundy was there because Gen. Taylor was too tied down with Saigon's nebulous government to come here for a personal report.

As to his Moscow trip, Johnson said he had reason to believe that Kosygin and Brezhnev would welcome him, as he would welcome them here. "I believe," he said, "that such visits would reassure an anxious world that our two nations are each striving toward the goal of peace."

No American President has ever visited Russia in an official capacity.

The chief executive also told reporters that he had taken note of the explosive Selma, Ala., Negro voter registration dispute and would if necessary use the Civil Rights Law "to see the right to vote is secured for all our citizens."

BUNDY

He added that nothing is "more fundamental to our freedom"; that "all Americans ought to be indignant when one American is denied the right to vote."

Selma police tossed Negro leader Dr. Martin Luther King into jail for leading the voter registration demonstration. Almost 3,500 Negroes were arrested in Selma and nearby Marion.

• • • •

A MOBILE, Ala., federal judge nullified the state's controversial literacy test for Selma's Negro voters while the Justice Department was pressing a similar suit in the state capital.

On other news fronts, the President curtly turned down a suggestion of French President Charles de Gaulle for a five-power conference of the U.S., Britain, France, Russia and Red China to meet in Geneva and study reform of the United Nations. Johnson said among other things that U.N. problems were traceable to countries which had violated the peace organization's charter. France and Russia have refused to pay their Congo peace-keeping assessments. Red China is not even a member.

In other press conference statements, the President said it was highly important that he have authority to decide whether to continue food shipments to the United Arab Republic. The Senate softened a House-passed bill which would have denied the shipments in reprisal for President Nasser's recent blistering attacks on the U.S. Johnson said he must have flexibility to act "in this part of the world where tensions are high." Nasser has been arming Congo rebels.

NASSER

The President gave Congress a farm program which would continue price supports with new cost-cutting features, including a billion dollar, 10-year plan to pay farmers for taking 50 to 60 million acres out of production. He said this would be cheaper than the current year-by-year land retirement program.

Johnson said he had thoroughly studied a Veterans Administration decision to close 31 of its installations including some hospitals, and saw no reason to reverse it, despite bitter congressional protests. He said many of the installations were outmoded and wasting the taxpayers' money.

The President told a prayer breakfast sponsored by International Christian Leadership that he found "a sustaining strength from moments of prayer" to help him bear the lonely burdens of his office.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a $1 billion bill to make the poverty-ridden, 11-state Appalachia area self-sustaining. The five-year project is designed to rejuvenate the area stretching from Pennsylvania to Alabama and is part of the President's "great society" blueprint.

The Department of Labor reported meantime that unemployment nationally in January fell to the lowest seasonally adjusted rate since 1957.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Boost Given U.S.-Russ Visit Swap

By
HARRY WILSON SHARPE
United Press International

President Johnson last week disclosed that he and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and Communist Party chief Leonid Brezhnev may exchange visits this year to further the quest for peace.

He told a B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League dinner that he wants Nikita Khrushchev's successors to come here "to see us, to meet us, to learn first hand the determination here in America for peace and the equal determination to support freedom."

He placed strong emphasis on the words "support freedom." He knew that even as he spoke Kosygin was arriving in Red China en route to Hanoi, Communist North Viet Nam, which, with China's help, is trying to subjugate U.S.-supported South Viet Nam.

KOSYGIN

Kosygin's junket coincided with a new Russian diplomatic and propaganda offensive in Southeast Asia. But American officials believed—or at least hoped—that it was aimed primarily against Red China's influence or possibly to persuade Hanoi not to unduly provoke the United States in the Viet Nam war.

They acknowledged, however, that it might have ominous long-range implications for the United States. Russia also may have reached the conclusion that neutralization of the area is inevitable, in light of American military and political difficulties in Viet Nam, and wants to be in a position to influence negotiations.

* * * *

THE PRESIDENT declined to assess Kosygin's move, but he made clear that there will be no neutralization; that the U.S. remains firmly determined to suport Viet Nam in its fight for freedom. He also said his dispatch of McGeorge Bundy, his top aide on the National Security Council, to Saigon for strategy consultations with embattled Ambassador Maxwel D. Tayor had nothing to do with it. Officials said Bundy was there because Gen. Taylor was too tied down with Saigon's nebulous government to come here for a personal report.

As to his Moscow trip, Johnson said he had reason to believe that Kosygin and Brezhnev would welcome him, as he would welcome them here. "I believe," he said, "that such visits would reassure an anxious world that our two nations are each striving toward the goal of peace."

No American President has ever visited Russia in an official capacity.

The chief executive also told reporters that he had taken note of the explosive Selma, Ala., Negro voter registration dispute and would if necessary use the Civil Rights Law "to see the right to vote is secured for all our citizens."

BUNDY

He added that nothing is "more fundamental to our freedom"; that "all Americans ought to be indignant when one American is denied the right to vote."

Selma police tossed Negro leader Dr. Martin Luther King into jail for leading the voter registration demonstration. Almost 3,500 Negroes were arrested in Selma and nearby Marion.

* * * *

A MOBILE, Ala., federal judge nullified the state's controversial literacy test for Selma's Negro voters while the Justice Department was pressing a similar suit in the state capital.

On other news fronts, the President curtly turned down a suggestion of French President Charles de Gaulle fur a five-power conference of the U.S., Britain, France, Russia and Red China to meet in Geneva and study reform of the United Nations. Johnson said among other things that U.N. problems were traceable to countries which had violated the peace organization's charter. France and Russia have refused to pay their Congo peace-keeping assessments. Red China is not even a member.

In other press conference statements, the President said it was highly important that he have authority to decide whether to continue food shipments to the United Arab Republic. The Senate softened a House-passed bill which would have denied the shipments in reprisal for President Nasser's recent blistering attacks on the U.S. Johnson said he must have flexibility to act "in this part of the world where tensions are high." Nasser has been arming Congo rebels.

NASSER

The President gave Congress a farm program which would continue price supports with new cost-cutting features, including a billion dollar, 10-year plan to pay farmers for taking 50 to 80 million acres out of production. He said this would be cheaper than the current year-by-year land retirement program.

Johnson said he had thoroughly studied a Veterans Administration decision to close 31 of its installations including some hospitals, and saw no reason to reverse it, despite bitter congressional protests. He said many of the installations were outmoded and wasting the taxpayers' money.

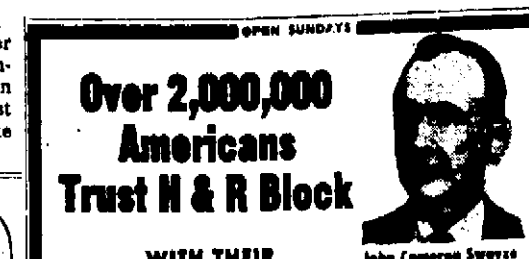

The President told a prayer breakfast sponsored by International Christian Leadership that he found "a sustaining strength from moments of prayer" to help him bear the lonely burdens of his office.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a $1 billion bill to make the poverty-ridden, 11-state Appalachia area self-sustaining. The five-year project is designed to rejuvenate the area stretching from Pennsylvania to Alabama and is part of the President's "great society" blueprint.

MARK NEGRO HISTORY WEEK
Joseph Brooks (left) president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, confers with Mayor Edwin Wade on plans for observance of Negro History Week, starting Feb. 7.

In War and Peace, Negro Role in U.S. History Great

By BILL DUNCAN

(The period of Feb. 14-20 has been designated Negro History Week. The following article presents highlights of that history.)

The American Negro came to our shores before the Mayflower. He labored to build the first village, he tilled the soil and enriched the nation with his blood and sweat before the colonies were even founded.

He was then a slave.

The Negro continued to help build the nation, both as a slave and freedman, under the reigns of Spanish, French and British empires. And when in Philadelphia 56 men signed the Declaration of Independence, the Negro in the colonies — both slave and freedman—went to war to fight for independence.

As a slave, he took arms and died in the cause of freedom.

The history of the early wars is laced with heroic deeds of the Negro. Peter Salem, a slave, became an outstanding hero in the fierce Battle of Bunker Hill in 1775 when he shot the British major in command of an advancing force and caused his troops to flee.

• • • •

In the battle for Rhode Island, a Negro regiment thrice drove off an attack by the crack Hessian troops and a Negro spy provided the Continental army with information that led to the capture of Stoney Point in 1779.

One of the boldest heroes in American naval history was a slave sea captain, Mark Starlin of the Virginia Navy, who in the War of Independence piloted the gunboat Patriot to break the British blockade.

The first woman to enroll and fight in the armed forces was Deborah Sampson Gannett. Disguised as a man, she fought with "extraordinary valor" with the 4th Massachusetts Regiment.

• • • •

ONE OF THE most stirring instances involving the Negro patriot occurred in 1781 when an entire unit of Negroes died defending Points Bridge, New York against the advancing British and saved General Green from capture.

The Negro—like New York redcap Henry Johnson, who was the first American soldier in World War I to win the French Croix de Guerre and Navy mess cook Dorrie Miller of Waco, Texas, kho won the Navy Cross in World War II when he manned a machine gun (a weapon he had never fired) on the deck of the USS Arizona Dec. 7, 1941 and shot down four Japanese planes—has made an indelible contribution to the nation's freedom.

In peace he contributed to the development of the nation, culturally and scientifi-

Beach Combing
With Malcolm Epley

I NOTE that George Deukmejian, the Long Beach Assemblyman, has sagely advised his fellow Republicans not to be misled by polls indicating the low state of current popularity of our Gov. Pat Brown.

As Deuk indicates, the record does show that Pat can get pretty unpopular between elections and still be the popular choice when the voting is done.

It's something of a question as to whether this can be credited to the Gov.'s astuteness, or his political luck. The Republicans who have challenged him have done an outstanding job of making themselves unpopular just before the ballot joust.

Maybe it's just that Pat has a way of losing unpopularity contests with Republicans.

IT'S not easy to say goodbye to Pat Driscoll, who passed away late in the week.

A rough-hewn Irishman with a heart of gold, Pat performed fine community service in many ways. A Douglas Aircraft unionist, he was often instrumental in bringing business and working interests together in causes that deserved the support of both. He talked colorfully but straight; everybody always understood him and his word was his bond.

Drawn this way perhaps because of his old-time service for the Hearsts in New York, Pat was a great friend of this dept. He provided many of the more sprightly items that have appeared here over the years. He often came in with some good news tips, and laced his talk with hair-raising stories of the newspaper circulation wars in Gotham in which he participated.

In the last days I went to see him at St. Mary's Hospital. He knew all about the cancer that was gnawing at his pancreas. Awakening as I came into the room, he swung around and sat on the edge of the cot.

"I'll lick this thing yet," he said. "But if I don't, Mac, I have no kicks. I've had the best from life — the full treatment."

And characteristically, he told me a little story — a yarn with point, drama and humor.

To the end, he was the same Pat Driscoll. And that was quite a man.

JULIAN CAMPBELL, the perpetually indignant engineer, writes me that our paper did a lousy job of reporting his testimony at the crosstown highway hearing. He says we shorted him on what he regards his main point, and I'm glad to record that here.

He said that the freeway would generate a strong stream of carbon monoxide, serveral times as strong as could be tolerated by humans without injurious effects. He also predicted annoying noise.

Those comments were worthy of note, along with the observations of another engineer that both carbon monoxide and noise could be just as bad, or worse, coming from a jillion cars stopping and starting on the streets if no freeway is available.

The testimony of individual witnesses in a long hearing is necessarily briefed in a news story of reasonable length. (I appeared at a road hearing once and didn't even make the papers.) Campbell talked exactly 12 minutes, from 11:45 to 11:57 a.m. or 3.8 percent of the five hour, 15-minute hearing. His remarks got 8.1 percent of the Independent's story.

In his note to me Julian said he talked 20 minutes, an overestimate. And he wasted some valuable time on such irrelevancies as what the city charged him for a palm tree at his oil operation in Recreation Park. But he did get good hands from freeway opponents when he said things they wanted to hear. He claims he received more applause than all the other speakers.

Bids to Be Opened for Main L. B. Tideland Oil Contract

Offers to Be Read on Tuesday

By GEORGE WEEKS

Bids will be opened Tuesday in Long Beach for the main contract in the largest oil development project of its kind ever undertaken anywhere.

Worldwide attention of the oil industry will be focused on the City Council Chamber at 2 p.m. when the competitive bids are unsealed and read publicly by City Manager John R. Mansell.

This will be the first of six bid openings. It will cover 80% of the undeveloped Long Beach tidelands field and will also determine the field contractor for the whole unitized production.

• • • •

THE ENTIRE PROJECT takes in 35 years of production from the largest wellproved oil reserve in the United States, the 6,500-acre East Wilmington Field paralleling the Long Beach shoreline from Pine Avenue to the east city boundary in the Alamitos Bay area.

Petroleum engineers estimate it contains 1.2 billion barrels of recoverable oil with a gross value of at least $2.73 billion. Its worth after production costs is estimated at $1.64 billion, to be divided by the city as trustee, the state, the townlot interests and the contractors.

Officials of the City Department of Oil Properties said the only governmental oil development exceeding the project here has occurred in the Middle East.

But these ventures began as wildcat drilling, in contrast with the thoroughly-tested East Wilmington Field. And the production agreements were not awarded under the hot glare of onlookers, as will be the case here.

• • • •

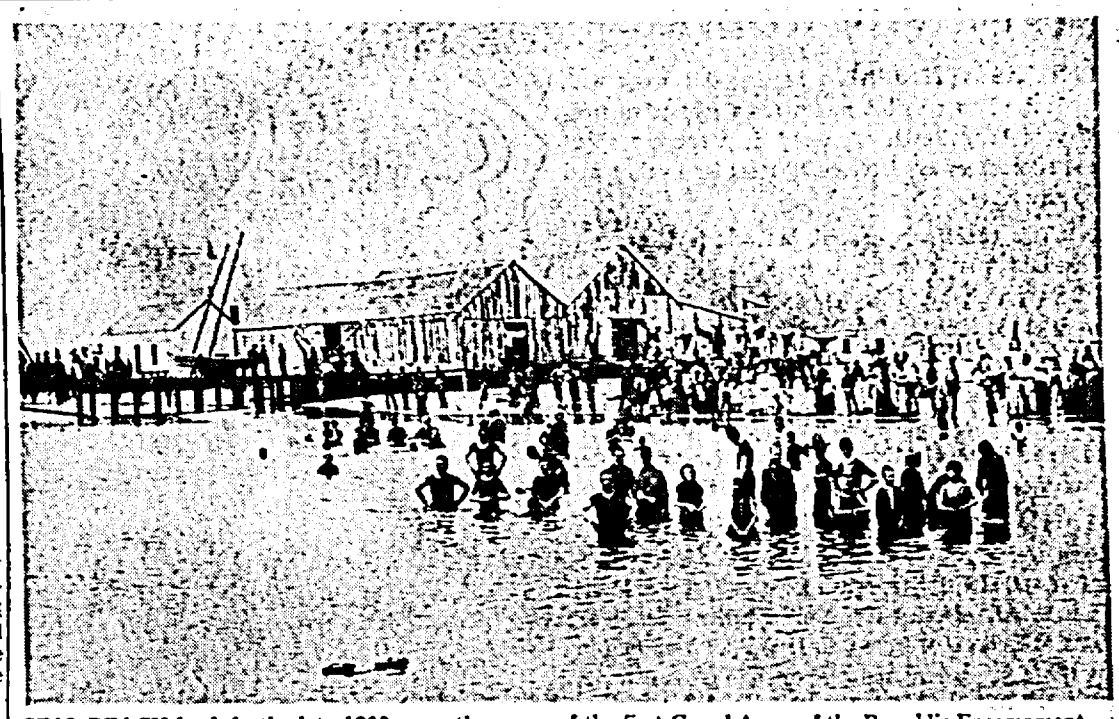

U. S. GOVERNMENT offshore leases involved in some cases larger bonuses than the $51 million in advance payments required of the Long Beach field contractor. However, many of these were also exploratory, and the known reserve is smaller.

Long Beach bankers report that prospective bidders have been arranging lines of credit of $65 million or more.

Bidders Tuesday must attach a $3 million cashier's check to their offers. The successful bidder must put up an additional $7 million when the contract is executed within a few weeks. The balance of the $51 million advances is due within three years.

And the contractors must have the capital to pay for initial production installations, including one or more of the offshore islands, before

SEAL BEACH back in the late 1800s was the scene of the first Grand Army of the Republic Encampment in Southern California. The site is the old Literage Co. Warehouse at Anaheim Landing.

Seal Beach Plans Series of Events to Mark 50th Anniversary of City

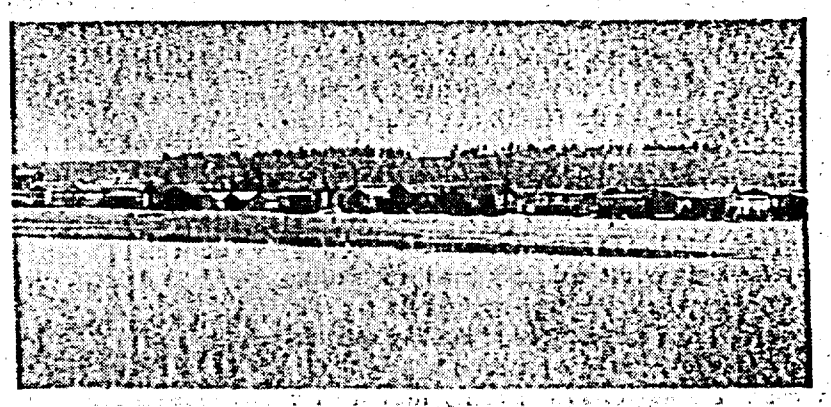

Golden anniversary observance of the City of Seal Beach will get under way formally Tuesday night with the installation dinner of the Chamber of Commerce and will culminate in citywide activities in August, September and October.

Plans for the 50th anniversary celebration were announced by Robert Griswold and Edward Keller, co-chairmen of the committee appointed by Mayor Stanley G. Anderson.

Signs at entrances to the city calling attention to the golden anniversary are planned. The program during the months of August, September and October, will be marked by such activities as education, sports, music, industry, art, history, merchants and civic weeks.

Serving on the anniversary committee are Michael Murphy, James Rahl, Doris Bleekman, secretary, Harold I. Chestnut, George Duff, Jerry Peasley, Lloyd Gummere, E. B. Hastings, Leslie N. Dreis, Sutter E. Kunkel, O. H. Carson and Vivian Jensen. Keller heads the publicity committee; Murphy, historical; Dreis, special events and Chestnut, community organization.

The City of Seal Beach and the Seal Beach Chamber of Commerce are jointly sponsoring the 50th anniversary and the official opening event is the installation dinner of the Chamber Tuesday night in the Elks Club, 4101 E. Willow, Long Beach, with City Manager John Williams acting as installing officer. Mrs. Robert Herron Jr. will head the chamber during the anniversary year.

Beyer Accident Board Referee

Thomas C. Beyer, a Long Beach attorney since 1955, has been sworn in as an Industrial Accident Commission referee and will begin hearing cases Monday in the commission's courtrooms at 230 E. 4th St.

Beyer, 41, is a Jordan High School and Long Beach City College graduate and received A.B. and law degrees from the University of Southern California.

He was associated with the firm of Riedman, Dalessi and Shelton, and more recently practiced law with E. Fred Lightner.

San Pedro Site Urged for College

Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, proposed Saturday that the future Palos Verdes State College be located in San Pedro's Beacon Street area as part of a slum-clearance program.

Thomas said the suggestion, which came from the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce, was offered because of a site revaluation stemming from difficulties in acquiring the Palos Verdes site chosen earlier.

He said a similarly blighted area near the 55-acre slum area proposed for urban renewal also might be available.

• • • •

"THERE WAS no reason to consider San Pedro before because when we were site-seeking no firm decision to press for urban renewal had been reached," Thomas said.

"Now, we have apparently decided to go for urban renewal . . . the Harbor Freeway will tie into this area in the near future, making the area completely accessible," he said.

He said he had not yet been able to determine if federal urban renewal funds can be used in such a college project.

• • • •

Thomas also called for "full disclosure" of the delay in site selection, particularly an answer to why the city of Rolling Hills Estates rezoned part of the proposed site. He said this action helped double the land price.

Health Career Field Day at State Friday

Professional Health Career Field Day for students from the 90 high schools and colleges in the Harbor area will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday at Long Beach State College.

The program will open in the Campus Little Theater, with Dr. Carl McIntosh, president of State, making the keynote address. Other speakers at the session will include Mrs. Ruth Eveley, president of Unit H, California League for Nursing, and Mrs. Edward Platz, of the local medical auxiliary.

Speakers at panel sessions will include Wilma Traber, Dr. Melvin Coasburg, Walter Oliver, Dr. Richard Lewis, Dr. Charles R. Brantingham, Dr. S. E. Kunkel, Dr. Joseph White and Dr. Bernard A. Landis.

Tours of the Veterans Hospital adjoining the college will be held in the afternoon.

HEALTH CAREER DAY SET

BLOOD BANK BIG BUSINESS

Red Cross Donor Service Is Four Years Old Today

By BEN ZINSER
Medical Science Editor

In fact, it's the biggest business of all — that of saving lives.

Last year it collected 30,657 pints of blood. For purposes of heart surgery alone, there were 1,313 pints donated.

• • • • •

LIKE ANY successful bank, it has a lot of depositors. Currently there are 81,000 cards on file—individual blood credits dating as far back as 1948.

Blood-donor groups with credit accounts now number 120 and include organizations such as Douglas Aircraft, Masonic Board of Relief, Post Office, Elks Lodge, PTA Council, Procter & Gamble, California State College at Long Beach, and employes of Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mobile units often visit plant sites to accommodate donors in the large group accounts. Some are hauled aboard ships afloat.

Twenty-four hospitals in the Greater Long Beach area are serviced by the Red Cross, and both regular and emergency deliveries are made to the hospitals by volunteer-staffed station wagons.

It works this way: Someone gives a pint of blood in the maternity patient's name at a Red Cross blood bank. Then, in the event of complications later, all blood products required are supplied to the mother or her newborn infant without the necessity of additional blood replacement.

The Long Beach bank is part of the national Red Cross blood program that now includes 56 regional blood centers serving more than 90 million persons.

The program also encompasses research, including that dealing with long-term preservation of blood, a rare donor file and automated typing and grouping.

MARK NEGRO HISTORY WEEK

In War and Peace, Negro Role in U.S. History Great

By BILL DUNCAN

(The period of Feb. 14-20 has been designated Negro History Week. The following article presents highlights of that history.)

The American Negro came to our shores before the Mayflower. He labored to build the first village, he tilled the soil and enriched the nation with his blood and sweat before the colonies were even founded.

He was then a slave.

The Negro continued to help build the nation, both as a slave and freedman, under the reigns of Spanish, French and British empires. And when in Philadelphia 56 men signed the Declaration of Independence, the Negro in the colonies — both slave and freedman—went to war to fight for independence.

As a slave, he took arms and died in the cause of freedom.

The history of the early wars is laced with heroic deeds of the Negro. Peter Salem, a slave, became an outstanding hero in the fierce Battle of Bunker Hill in 1775 when he shot the British major in command of an advancing force and caused his troops to flee.

* * * *

In the battle for Rhode Island, a Negro regiment thrice drove off an attack by the crack Hessian troops and a Negro spy provided the Continental army with information that led to the capture of Stoney Point in 1779.

One of the boldest heroes in American naval history was a slave sea captain, Mark Starlin of the Virginia Navy, who in the War of Independence piloted the gunboat Patriot to break the British blockade.

The first woman to enroll and fight in the armed forces was Deborah Sampson Gannett. Disguised as a man, she fought with "extraordinary valor" with the 4th Massachusetts Regiment.

* * * *

ONE OF THE most stirring instances involving the Negro patriot occurred in 1781 when an entire unit of Negroes died defending Points Bridge, New York against the advancing British and saved General Green from capture.

The Negro—like New York redcap Henry Johnson, who was the first American soldier in World War I to win the French Croix de Guerre and Navy mess cook Dorrie Miller of Waco, Texas, kho won the Navy Cross in World War II when he manned a machine gun (a weapon he had never fired) on the deck of the USS Arizona Dec. 7, 1941 and shot down four Japanese planes—has made an indelible contribution to the nation's freedom.

In peace he contributed to the development of the nation, culturally and scientifi-

Beach Combing with Malcolm Epley

I NOTE that George Deukmejian, the Long Beach Assemblyman, has sagely advised his fellow Republicans not to be misled by polls indicating the low state of current popularity of our Gov. Pat Brown.

As Deuk indicates, the record does show that Pat can get pretty unpopular between elections and still be the popular choice when the voting is done.

It's something of a question as to whether this can be credited to the Gov.'s astuteness, or his political luck. The Republicans who have challenged him have done an outstanding job of making themselves unpopular just before the ballot joust.

Maybe it's just that Pat has a way of losing unpopularity contests with Republicans.

IT'S not easy to say goodbye to Pat Driscoll, who passed away late in the week.

A rough-hewn Irishman with a heart of gold, Pat performed fine community service in many ways. A Douglas Aircraft unionist, he was often instrumental in bringing business and working interests together in causes that deserved the support of both. He talked colorfully but straight; everybody always understood him and his word was his bond.

Drawn this way perhaps because of his old-time service for the Hearsts in New York, Pat was a great friend of this dept. He provided many of the more sprightly items that have appeared here over the years. He often came in with some good news tips, and laced his talk with hair raising stories of the newspaper circulation wars in Gotham in which he participated.

In the last days I went to see him at St. Mary's Hospital. He knew all about the cancer that was gnawing at his pancreas. Awakening as I came into the room, he swung around and sat on the edge of the cot.

"I'll lick this thing yet," he said. "But if I don't, Mac, I have no kicks. I've had the best from life — the full treatment."

To the end, he was the same Pat Driscoll. And that was quite a man.

JULIAN CAMPBELL, the perpetually indignant engineer, writes me that our paper did a lousy job of reporting his testimony at the crosstown highway hearing. He says we shorted him on what he regards his main point, and I'm glad to record that here.

He said that the freeway would generate a strong stream of carbon monoxide, serveral times as strong as could be tolerated by humans without injurious effects. He also predicted annoying noise.

Those comments were worthy of note, along with the observations of another engineer that both carbon monoxide and noise could be just as bad, or worse, coming from a jillion cars stopping and starting on the streets if no freeway is available.

The testimony of individual witnesses in a long hearing is necessarily briefed in a news story of reasonable length. (I appeared at a road hearing once and didn't even make the papers.) Campbell talked exactly 12 minutes, from 11:45 to 11:57 a.m. or 3.8 percent of the five hour, 15-minute hearing. His remarks got 8.1 percent of the Independent's story.

In his note to me Julian said he talked 20 minutes, an overestimate. And he wasted some valuable time on such irrelevancies as what the city charged him for a palm tree at his oil operation in Recreation Park. But he did get good hands from freeway opponents when he said things they wanted to hear. He claims he received more applause than all the other speakers.

Offers to Be Read on Tuesday

By GEORGE WEEKS

Bids will be opened Tuesday in Long Beach for the main contract in the largest oil development project of its kind ever undertaken anywhere.

Worldwide attention of the oil industry will be focused on the City Council Chamber at 2 p.m. when the competitive bids are unsealed and read publicly by City Manager John R. Mansell.

This will be the first of six bid openings. It will cover 80% of the undeveloped Long Beach tidelands field and will also determine the field contractor for the whole unitized production.

* * * *

THE ENTIRE PROJECT takes in 35 years of production from the largest wellproved oil reserve in the United States, the 6,500-acre East Wilmington Field paralleling the Long Beach shoreline from Pine Avenue to the east city boundary in the Alamitos Bay area.

Petroleum engineers estimate it contains 1.2 billion barrels of recoverable oil with a gross value of at least $2.73 billion. Its worth after production costs is estimated at $1.64 billion, to be divided by the city as trustee, the state, the townlot interests and the contractors.

Officials of the City Department of Oil Properties said the only governmental oil development exceeding the project here has occurred in the Middle East.

But these ventures began as wildcat drilling, in contrast with the thoroughly-tested East Wilmington Field. And the production agreements were not awarded under the hot glare of onlookers, as will be the case here.

* * * *

U. S. GOVERNMENT offshore leases involved in some cases larger bonuses than the $51 million in advance payments required of the Long Beach field contractor. However, many of these were also exploratory, and the known reserve is smaller.

Long Beach bankers report that prospective bidders have been arranging lines of credit of $65 million or more.

Bidders Tuesday must attach a $3 million cashier's check to their offers. The successful bidder must put up an additional $7 million when the contract is executed within a few weeks. The balance of the $51 million advances is due within three years.

And the contractors must have the capital to pay for initial production installations, including one or more of the offshore islands, before

Seal Beach Plans Series of Events to Mark 50th Anniversary of City

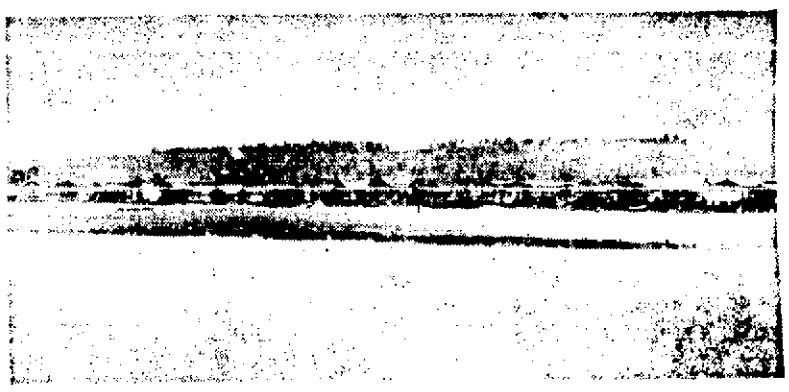

Golden anniversary observance of the City of Seal Beach will get under way formally Tuesday night with the installation dinner of the Chamber of Commerce and will culminate in citywide activities in August, September and October.

Plans for the 50th anniversary celebration were announced by Robert Griswold and Edward Keller, co-chairmen of the committee appointed by Mayor Stanley G. Anderson.

Signs at entrances to the city calling attention to the golden anniversary are planned. The program during the months of August, September and October, will be marked by such activities as education, sports, music, industry, art, history, merchants and civic weeks.

Serving on the anniversary committee are Michael Murphy, James Rahl, Doris Bleckman, secretary, Harold I. Chestnut, George Duff, Jerry Peasley, Lloyd Gummere, E. B. Hastings, Leslie N. Beyer Accident Board Referee

Thomas C. Beyer, a Long Beach attorney since 1955, has been sworn in as an Industrial Accident Commission referee and will begin hearing cases Monday in the commission's courtrooms at 230 E. 4th St.

Beyer, 41, is a Jordan High School and Long Beach City College graduate and received A.B. and law degrees from the University of Southern California.

He was associated with the firm of Riedman, Dalessi and Shelton, and more recently practiced law with E. Fred Lightner.

San Pedro Site Urged for College

Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, proposed Saturday that the future Palos Verdes State College be located in San Pedro's Beacon Street area as part of a slum-clearance program.

Thomas said the suggestion, which came from the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce, was offered because of a site revaluation stemming from difficulties in acquiring the Palos Verdes site chosen earlier.

He said a similarly blighted area near the 55-acre slum area proposed for urban renewal also might be available.

* * * *

"THERE WAS no reason to consider San Pedro before because when we were site-seeking no firm decision to press for urban renewal had been reached," Thomas said.

"Now, we have apparently decided to go for urban renewal . . . the Harbor Freeway will tie into this area in the near future, making the area completely accessible," he said.

He said he had not yet been able to determine if federal urban renewal funds can be used in such a college project.

* * * *

WILLIAM CESNON, president of the Community Redevelopment Agency, had recommended the area be put to cultural use. Thomas opposed it.

Thomas declared for "full disclosure" of the delay in site selection, particularly an answer to why the City of Rolling Hills Estates rezoned part of the proposed site. He said this act helped double the land price.

Health Career Field Day at State Friday

Professional Health Career Field Day for students from the 90 high schools and colleges in the Harbor area will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday at Long Beach State College.

The program will open in the Campus Little Theater, with Dr. Carl McIntosh, president of State, making the keynote address. Other speakers at the session will include Mrs. Ruth Eveley, president of Unit H, California League for Nursing, and Mrs. Edward Platz, of the local medical auxiliary.

Speakers at panel sessions will include Wilma Traber, Dr. Melvin Coasburg, Walter Oliver, Dr. Richard Lewis, Dr. Charles R. Brantingham, Dr. S. E. Kunkel, Dr. Joseph White and Dr. Bernard A. Landis.

Tours of the Veterans Hospital adjoining the college will be held in the afternoon.

BLOOD BANK BIG BUSINESS

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

In fact, it's the biggest business of all — that of saving lives.

Last year it collected 30,657 pints of blood. For purposes of heart surgery alone, there were 1,313 pints donated.

LIKE ANY successful bank, it has a lot of depositors. Currently there are 81,000 cards on file—individual blood credits dating as far back as 1948.

Blood-donor groups with credit accounts now number 120 and include organizations such as Douglas Aircraft, Masonic Board of Relief, Post Office, Elks Lodge, PTA Council, Procter & Gamble, California State College at Long Beach, and employes of Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mobile units often visit plant sites to accommodate donors in the large group accounts. Some are hauled aboard ships afloat.

Twenty-four hospitals in the Greater Long Beach area are serviced by the Red Cross, and both regular and emergency deliveries are made to the hospitals by volunteer-staffed station wagons.

It works this way: Someone gives a pint of blood in the maternity patient's name at a Red Cross blood bank. Then, in the event of complications later, all blood products required are supplied to the mother or her newborn infant without the necessity of additional blood replacement.

The Long Beach bank is part of the national Red Cross blood program that now includes 56 regional blood centers serving more than 90 million persons.

The program also encompasses research, including that dealing with long-term preservation of blood, a rare donor file and automated typing and grouping.

Facts Discount Fears Regarding Freeway Route

CITIZENS ATTENDING a hearing this week with regard to possible routes for a crosstown freeway in Long Beach expressed deep concern about the effect freeways have on adjacent land values and on city taxes.

This concern is natural, but cold facts prove it baseless. The following is from the Highway Cost Allocation Study, Part VI, submitted to Congress in January, 1961, by the Secretary of Commerce:

"Although the influence of highway improvements on land values may extend for miles on either side of a major highway improvement, values of land adjacent to the highway ordinarily increase faster than those of land farther from the highway."

In a compilation of results from 183 freeway study areas (these studies include sales of property both before and after the freeways were built) it was found that the rate of value increase for various classifications of land range from 6 to 18% . . . "from two to six times the current annual growth in gross national product."

Largest annual growth rates was for industrial land; next was undeveloped land at 12.5%, commercial at 10.3%, and residential at 8.5%. The overall average was 9.3%.

Probably the most significant impact, because of the amount of land so used, is the effect on residential property.

"The general tendency," the report said, "is for residential properties adjacent to a highway of modern design to increase in value faster than properties more removed from the facility. . . . Values of residential properties do not, of course, always exhibit immediate gains from highway improvements."

On the subject of taxes the Secretary of Commerce has had this to say: "The acquisition of property for highway use ordinarily has the immediate effect of removing some property from the tax rolls. However, longer range effects of highway construction on tax revenues have proven to be generally favorable. The loss of some property from the tax rolls is more or less offset by increased assessments on property benefited by highway improvement or construction."

FEAR WAS EXPRESSED at Thursday's meeting that the freeway would cut the city in two making access from north to south more difficult. The highway engineers indicated that some 24 or 25 streets would be cut through the freeway in Long Beach. Certainly this is more than the number of major north-south streets now running through the city. Any major street presents a barrier to cross movement at each and every intersection. It's a rare motorist who is brave enough to cross Pacific Coast Highway at any but a signalized intersection. So that highway, just as a freeway, has the effect of channeling traffic to certain cross streets.

Many people Thursday asked why alternate methods of handling traffic were not being studied. Such studies, of course, have been and are being made.

City Traffic Engineer Robert Dier in 1963 presented a report to the City Council outlining a major program for improvement of east-west traffic through Long Beach on local streets. It would cost $45,959,000 over the next 20 years, with 67% of that (or $30,944,000) needed in the next five years.

Dier notes that this program would have the undesirable effects of banning much parking, eliminating left-hand turns, creating many more signalized intersections and still "would not provide the ultimate in highway facilities required to serve the ever increasing traffic of the future on these east-west streets."

MEANWHILE, THE FREEWAY of which the crosstown segment would be a part is on the state master plan approved by the Legislature. It is approximately 150 miles long. Traffic congestion will only get worse as more people and industry move into the area. Citizens are under a burden of doubt as to which route will be chosen and how it will affect them. This burden should be lifted as soon as possible so that individual home owners and businessmen can plan and act. A specific route should be chosen as soon as possible.

Deadlock May Give Courts State's Redistricting Chore

Independent, Press-Telegram Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO — The legislature is split 120 ways on how to redistrict the Senate, and a hopeless deadlock is shaping up.

Some Senate leaders privately are predicting the Senate never will agree on a plan to revamp the Senate on a one-man-one-vote population basis as ordered by a federal court.

McCauley

Such redistricting would involve the unpleasant and ticklish business of deciding which northern rural senators must be dumped so 20 seats can be shuffled into urban areas.

Each legislator has his own personal idea how future Senate districts should be carved. Spurred by the incentive for political self-preservation, longtime legislative colleagues are being turned into potential political rivals.

Thus the federal court ultimately may have to make the decision on boundaries. It would result in less infighting and fewer political scars, according to one theory.

As things stand now, the federal court in Los Angeles has given legislators until July 1 to give city dwellers equal representation in the rural-dominated Senate.

If the legislature still is bogged down in reapportionment differences next July—and it probably will be—the court itself will take over the redistricting chore.

A bulk of the senators are concentrating most of their energy on pressing for a federal constitutional amendment that would void the federal court order. They are stumping the nation rather than tending to state business in Sacramento.

Sen. Thomas Rees, D-Los Angeles County, has tried to consult with Southland communities and legislators as to local-level thinking how districts should be drawn.

• • • • •

BUT NORTHERN senators also have been undermining Rees by negotiating directly with Southland interests.

Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, who as a legislator from remote Williams may be reapportioned out of a Senate seat, has tried to switch from foe to friend of Long Beach.

O'Sullivan, the sectionalist who tried to revoke the Long Beach tidelands grant, approached Assemblyman Joseph Kennick, D-Long Beach, with a warm handshake.

"I think you would make a fine senator and just wanted you to know I will do what I can to help you get a district," said O'Sullivan. The Williams senator was impressed with Kennick's role in defending Long Beach tidelands interests.

Assemblyman Kennick is giving serious consideration to running for a future Senate seat. But he requires support from O'Sullivan about as much as he needs an endorsement from Public Enemy No. 1.

Kennick figures it is likely that a district may be carved out for a new Senate seat that would include most of North Long Beach, Lakewood, Paramount, Compton, Lynwood and unincorporated harbor areas. It thus would involve most of Kennick's present Assembly district—plus the bulk of the Assembly district now served by Carley Porter of Compton.

Porter, former Long Beach City College history instructor, has indicated he probably won't run for the Senate. Porter already presides over the key Assembly Water Committee, and would be sacrificing a top chairmanship for a role as a freshman in the Senate.

Sen. Rees has reported that it is likely that the Senate may want to carve out Los Angeles County districts so they follow the boundary lines of the 15 existing Congressional districts. Each district should have 393,000 persons—and most of the congressional districts are somewhat in line with that population.

• • • • •

ASSEMBLYMAN C. George Deukmejian, who says he hasn't decided whether to run for the Senate someday, revealed that Rees said there is one "alternate map" that shows East Long Beach-Seal Beach-Los Alamitos-Garden Grove and adjoining areas in one new Senate district.

Deukmejian would throw over his post as GOP Assembly Whip if he should run for the Senate.

Long Beach's senior assemblyman, Kennick, would have to yield his powerful chairmanship over the Public Utilities and Corporations Committee if he makes a successful Senate bid. Kennick also heads a budget-deciding Ways and Means subcommittee.

A Senate seat is tempting to any assemblyman. There are only half as many senators and the terms are twice as long — meaning fewer hectic elections and possibly more prestige after seniority is acquired.

The Ombudsman Cometh

Ombudsman is a Swedish word meaning representative, or agent, and has come to refer specifically to an agent of parliament who investigates citizens' complaints of administrative wrongs.

The Swedes created the office of ombudsman over 150 years ago and since then the situation has been adopted by the other Scandinavian countries as well as New Zealand and Germany.

The word has become current among congressmen because of an effort by Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., and Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., to create a similar office for the Congress. Bills submitted by them are being studied by the Senate Rules Committee and the House Administration Committee.

Called an administrative counsel by Pell and Reuss, the American ombudsman and their staffs in the ever increasing burden of helping constituents deal with innumerable verbal agencies.

"By lifting a major part of this burden, the administrative counsel could give Congress more time for their primary job of legislation," claim Pell and Reuss.

I, P-T Political Editor

IF BROAD-SPECTRUM, mainstream moderation (plus the other middle-road cliches) is properly appraised by Republicans as their key to winning the California governorship in 1966, three names lead all the rest at this writing: Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher and former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

HOUSER

Because of technical and personal brambles involving Kuchel and Knight, Christopher might have the best of it at the moment.

The tie that binds them in the current sweepstakes is the "serious consideration" each is making about running.

Knight is mentioned mainly because he's been there before. Kuchel butts squarely against the State Constitution which says: "No person holding any lucrative office under the United States, or any other power, shall be eligible to any civil office of profit under this State. . . ."

KUCHEL'S SENATE term runs through 1968. It would be dandy for him if he could test the governorship without risking his Senate seat. But his friends say he is not about to resign anything to run for anything.

A state legislative counsel's opinion seems to be firm that he would have to resign to run for Governor. But no legal test has been made. Oakland publisher Bill Knowland ran for Governor in 1958 while still a U.S. Senator but it was at the end of a term. Friends of Kuchel would like to be dead sure of eligibility before pressing him to enter the race; one probable ground would be consideration of whether the state prohibition violated a right under the U.S. Constitution.

Knight has lowered the big fishing hook with a proclamation of his "serious consideration" and his "vigorous health" of the last two years. He is 68 and would be 70 on starting a gubernatorial term in January 1967.

CHRISTOPHER has none of these woes. He is only 56. He has been recently exposed to the statewide electorate running for lieutenant governor in 1962 on the Richard Nixon gubernatorial ticket. He ran behind Kuchel in that election but ahead of Nixon.

Although Christopher lacks a political office as a sounding board he has plenty of speaking invitations. His "serious consideration" at the moment is centered in testing grass roots feeling about his candidacy in Southern California.

As a northerner he is keenly aware the winner's vote lies in the South. Christopher trailed Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson by 118,000 votes in Los Angeles County in 1962 while Nixon trailed Brown by only 111,000.

In his home San Francisco County, however, Christopher trailed Anderson by only 13,600 while Nixon was losing to Brown by 73,000.

WHILE THESE three are the leading veteran war horses of the moderate stripe, each has a washout potential. The grass roots may not seed; the legal opinion on Kuchel may be adverse.

In such case look for a large rumble from Tracy, the home town of 44-year-old Robert T. Monagan, the new minority leader of the State Assembly.

Readers Discuss Carlton Series

EDITOR:

The recent articles by Mary Ellis Carlton regarding city beautification, and the response of the public in letters to the editor and telephone calls to the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, indicate a decided civic consciousness in this problem. Many of the more severely critical letters perhaps should have been tempered with the realization that nearly every city of any size face this same situation. A more positive approach would be a determined effort by each individual to clean up his own business area. Cleanliness and a desire for beauty are contagious and awaken civic pride.

South Wilmington a City of Dumps

EDITOR:

After being forced to breathe and inhale these poison fumes and gases for over a year, day and night, that come from these four liquid chemical acid waste dumps about 125 feet from the rear of our property, we agree 100% with John Copping that these dangerous acids are not only being disposed with complete disregard for the health and welfare, but also with disregard to the property rights of Los Angeles citizens.

Sulfuric, caustic, and all kinds of acid wastes are being manufactured so fast that the refineries and chemical plants cannot get rid of them. They are being dumped in huge open holes, open tanks, dumped on top of the land or forced with a pump into the water-table under the ground, with poison gases released into the air day and night.

The proof of what we say are the dumps themselves which are located at the Long Beach entrance to the Terminal Island freeway, at Cervera Street and "I" Street, Paul Jones Street and "I" Street, Lawrence Street and "I" Street, and Foot and "I" Street in Wilmington.

The most incredible part is, starting about 500 feet south of Anaheim Street and Paul Jones Street near the Long Beach and Wilmington boundary line there is a city of dumps, all the way to the ocean and clear to Ford Avenue — over one square mile of liquid chemical and waste disposal dumps. These are huge open holes dug to the water-table. Some are over 200 feet long and 100 feet wide, hundreds of them banked up with dirt and filled to overflowing. Acids are taken into these Wilmington dumps in huge tanker trucks from all the cities in and around Los Angeles and dumped in Wilmington.

Southeast Wilmington has become a city of industrial acid waste dumps.

Federal Aid for None or for All

EDITOR:

Concerning Milton Ammann's letter on The Catholic Church in politics, registrars of voters may be seen in any place where people congregate and you may find a Catholic registrar in front of a Protestant church and vice versa. There is as much division among Catholics politically as there is among other religious bodies.

I am opposed to federal aid for any school because it will bring federal control and cost the nation much more than if the states took care of the situation themselves. No state is as near bankrupt as the Federal government. However, if aid is to be given to schools, one class of children should not be discriminated against in favor of another, because all of us are shelling out to pay the cost.

Facts Discount Fears Regarding Freeway Route

CITIZENS ATTENDING a hearing this week with regard to possible routes for a crosstown freeway in Long Beach expressed deep concern about the effect freeways have on adjacent land values and on city taxes.

This concern is natural, but cold facts prove it baseless. The following is from the Highway Cost Allocation Study, Part VI, submitted to Congress in January, 1961, by the Secretary of Commerce:

"Although the influence of highway improvements on land values may extend for miles on either side of a major highway improvement, values of land adjacent to the highway ordinarily increase faster than those of land farther from the highway."

In a compilation of results from 183 freeway study areas (these studies include sales of property both before and after the freeways were built) it was found that the rate of value increase for various classifications of land range from 6 to 18% . . . "from two to six times the current annual growth in gross national product."

Largest annual growth rates was for industrial land; next was undeveloped land at 12.5%, commercial at 10.3%, and residential at 8.5%. The overall average was 9.3%.

Probably the most significant impact, because of the amount of land so used, is the effect on residential property.

"The general tendency," the report said, "is for residential properties adjacent to a highway of modern design to increase in value faster than properties more removed from the facility. . . . Values of residential properties do not, of course, always exhibit immediate gains from highway improvements."

On the subject of taxes the Secretary of Commerce has had this to say: "The acquisition of property for highway use ordinarily has the immediate effect of removing some property from the tax rolls. However, longer range effects of highway construction on tax revenues have proven to be generally favorable. The loss of some property from the tax rolls is more or less offset by increased assessments on property benefited by highway improvement or construction."

FEAR WAS EXPRESSED at Thursday's meeting that the freeway would cut the city in two making access from north to south more difficult. The highway engineers indicated that some 24 or 25 streets would be cut through the freeway in Long Beach. Certainly this is more than the number of major north-south streets now running through the city. Any major street presents a barrier to cross movement at each and every intersection. It's a rare motorist who is brave enough to cross Pacific Coast Highway at any but a signalized intersection. So that highway, just as a freeway, has the effect of channeling traffic to certain cross streets.

Many people Thursday asked why alternate methods of handling traffic were not being studied. Such studies, of course, have been and are being made.

City Traffic Engineer Robert Dier in 1963 presented a report to the City Council outlining a major program for improvement of east-west traffic through Long Beach on local streets. It would cost $45,959,000 over the next 20 years, with 67% of that (or $30,944,000) needed in the next five years.

Dier notes that this program would have the undesirable effects of banning much parking, eliminating left-hand turns, creating many more signalized intersections and still "would not provide the ultimate in highway facilities required to serve the ever increasing traffic of the future on these east-west streets."

MEANWHILE, THE FREEWAY of which the crosstown segment would be a part is on the state master plan approved by the Legislature. It is approximately 150 miles long. Traffic congestion will only get worse as more people and industry move into the area. Citizens are under a burden of doubt as to which route will be chosen and how it will affect them. This burden should be lifted as soon as possible so that individual home owners and businessmen can plan and act. A specific route should be chosen as soon as possible.

Deadlock May Give Courts State's Redistricting Chore

Independent, Press-Telegram Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO — The legislature is split 120 ways on how to redistrict the Senate, and a hopeless deadlock is shaping up.

Some Senate leaders privately are predicting the Senate never will agree on a plan to revamp the Senate on a one-man-one-vote population basis as ordered by a federal court.

McCauley

Such redistricting would involve the unpleasant and ticklish business of deciding which northern rural senators must be dumped so 20 seats can be shuffled into urban areas.

Each legislator has his own personal idea how future Senate districts should be carved. Spurred by the incentive for political self-preservation, longtime legislative colleagues are being turned into potential political rivals.

Thus the federal court ultimately may have to make the decision on boundaries. It would result in less infighting and fewer political scars, according to one theory.

As things stand now, the federal court in Los Angeles has given legislators until July 1 to give city dwellers equal representation in the rural-dominated Senate.

If the legislature still is bogged down in reapportionment differences next July—and it probably will be—the court itself will take over the redistricting chore.

Best index of the impending Senate impasse: the many directions being taken by various senators.

A bulk of the senators are concentrating most of their energy on pressing for a federal constitutional amendment that would void the federal court order. They are stumping the nation rather than tending to state business in Sacramento.

Sen. Thomas Rees, D-Los Angeles County, has tried to consult with Southland communities and legislators as to local-level thinking how districts should be drawn.

* * * *

BUT NORTHERN senators also have been undermining Rees by negotiating directly with Southland interests.

Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, who as a legislator from remote Williams may be reapportioned out of a Senate seat, has tried to switch from foe to friend of Long Beach.

O'Sullivan, the sectionalist who tried to revoke the Long Beach tidelands grant, approached Assemblyman Joseph Kennick, D-Long Beach, with a warm handshake.

"I think you would make a fine senator and just wanted you to know I will do what I can to help you get a district," said O'Sullivan. The Williams senator was impressed with Kennick's role in defending Long Beach tidelands interests.

Assemblyman Kennick is giving serious consideration to running for a future Senate seat. But he requires support from O'Sullivan about as much as he needs an endorsement from Public Enemy No. 1.

Kennick figures it is likely that a district may be carved out for a new Senate seat that would include most of North Long Beach, Lakewood, Paramount, Compton, Lynwood and unincorporated harbor areas. It thus would involve most of Kennick's present Assembly district—plus the bulk of the Assembly district now served by Carley Porter of Compton.

Porter, former Long Beach City College history instructor, has indicated he probably won't run for the Senate. Porter already presides over the key Assembly Water Committee, and would be sacrificing a top chairmanship for a role as a freshman in the Senate.

Sen. Rees has reported that it is likely that the Senate may want to carve out Los Angeles County districts so they follow the boundary lines of the 15 existing Congressional districts. Each district should have 393,000 persons—and most of the congressional districts are somewhat in line with that population.

* * * *

ASSEMBLYMAN C. George Deukmejian, who says he hasn't decided whether to run for the Senate someday, revealed that Rees said there is one "alternate map" that shows East Long Beach-Seal Beach-Los Alamitos-Garden Grove and adjoining areas in one new Senate district.

Deukmejian would throw over his post as GOP Assembly Whip if he should run for the Senate.

Long Beach's senior assemblyman, Kennick, would have to yield his powerful chairmanship over the Public Utilities and Corporations Committee if he makes a successful Senate bid. Kennick also heads a budget-deciding Ways and Means subcommittee.

A Senate seat is tempting to any assemblyman. There are only half as many senators and the terms are twice as long — meaning fewer hectic elections and possibly more prestige after seniority is acquired.

Good GOP Fishing but Watch for Kid With Bamboo Pole!

I, P-T Political Editor

IF BROAD-SPECTRUM, mainstream moderation (plus the other middle-road cliches) is properly appraised by Republicans as their key to winning the California governorship in 1966, three names lead all the rest at this writing: Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher and former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

HOUSER

Because of technical and personal brambles involving Kuchel and Knight, Christopher might have the best of it at the moment.

The tie that binds them in the current sweepstakes is the "serious consideration" each is making about running.

Knight is mentioned mainly because he's been there before. Kuchel butts squarely against the State Constitution which says: "No person holding any lucrative office under the United States, or any other power, shall be eligible to any civil office of profit under this State. . . ."

KUCHEL'S SENATE term runs through 1968. It would be dandy for him if he could test the governorship without risking his Senate seat. But his friends say he is not about to resign anything to run for anything.

A state legislative counsel's opinion seems to be firm that he would have to resign to run for Governor. But no legal test has been made. Oakland publisher Bill Knowland ran for Governor in 1958 while still a U.S. Senator but it was at the end of a term. Friends of Kuchel would like to be dead sure of eligibility before pressing him to enter the race; one probable ground would be consideration of whether the state prohibition violated a right under the U.S. Constitution.

Knight has lowered the big fishing hook with a proclamation of his "serious consideration" and his "vigorous health" of the last two years. He is 68 and would be 70 on starting a gubernatorial term in January 1967.

CHRISTOPHER has none of these woes, He is only 56. He has been recently exposed to the statewide electorate running for lieutenant governor in 1962 on the Richard Nixon gubernatorial ticket. He ran behind Kuchel in that election but ahead of Nixon.

Although Christopher lacks a political office as a sounding board he has plenty of speaking invitations. His "serious consideration" at the moment is centered in testing grass roots feeling about his candidacy in Southern California.

As a northerner he is keenly aware the winner's vote lies in the South. Christopher trailed Lt. Gov. Glenn Anderson by 118,000 votes in Los Angeles County in 1962 while Nixon trailed Brown by only 111,000.

In his home San Francisco County, however, Christopher trailed Anderson by only 13,600 while Nixon was losing to Brown by 73,000.

WHILE THESE three are the leading veteran war horses of the moderate stripe, each has a washout potential. The grass roots may not seed; the legal opinion on Kuchel may be adverse.

In such case look for a large rumble from Tracy, the home town of 44-year-old Robert T. Monagan, the new minority leader of the State Assembly.

Readers Discuss Carlton Series

EDITOR:

The recent articles by Mary Ellis Carlton regarding city beautification, and the response of the public in letters to the editor and telephone calls to the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, indicate a decided civic consciousness in this problem. Many of the more severely critical letters perhaps should have been tempered with the realization that nearly every city of any size face this same situation. A more positive approach would be a determined effort by each individual to clean up his own business area. Cleanliness and a desire for beauty are contagious and awaken civic pride.

South Wilmington a City of Dumps

EDITOR:

After being forced to breathe and inhale these poison fumes and gases for over a year, day and night, that come from these four liquid chemical acid waste dumps about 125 feet from the rear of our property, we agree 100% with John Copping that these dangerous acids are not only being disposed with complete disregard for the health and welfare, but also with disregard to the property rights of Los Angeles citizens.

Sulfuric, caustic, and all kinds of acid wastes are being manufactured so fast that the refineries and chemical plants cannot get rid of them. They are being dumped in huge open holes, open tanks, dumped on top of the land or forced with a pump into the water-table under the ground, with poison gases released into the air day and night.

The proof of what we say are the dumps themselves which are located at the Long Beach entrance to the Terminal Island freeway, at Cervera Street and "I" Street, Paul Jones Street and "I" Street, Lawrence Street and "I" Street, and Foot and "I" Street in Wilmington.

The most incredible part is, starting about 500 feet south of Anaheim Street and Paul Jones Street near the Long Beach and Wilmington boundary line there is a city of dumps, all the way to the ocean and clear to Ford Avenue — over one square mile of liquid chemical and waste disposal dumps. These are huge open holes dug to the water-table. Some are over 200 feet long and 100 feet wide, hundreds of them banked up with dirt and filled to overflowing. Acids are taken into these Wilmington dumps in huge tanker trucks from all the cities in and around Los Angeles and dumped in Wilmington.

Southeast Wilmington has become a city of industrial acid waste dumps.

The Ombudsman Cometh

Ombudsman is a Swedish word meaning representative, or agent, and has come to refer specifically to an agent of parliament who investigates citizens' complaints of administrative wrongs.

The Swedes created the office of ombudsman over 150 years ago and since then the situation has been adopted by the other Scandinavian countries as well as New Zealand and Germany.

The word has become current among congressmen because of an effort by Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., and Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., to create a similar office for the Congress. Bills submitted by them are being studied, by the Senate Rules Committee and the House Administration Committee.

Called an administrative counsel by Pell and Reuss, the American ombudsman and their staffs in the ever increasing burden of helping constituents deal with innumerable verbal agencies.

"By lifting a major part of this burden, the administrative counsel could give Congress more time for their primary job of legislation," claim Pell and Reuss.

Thousands of depression era artists adorned—if that's the proper word—public buildings with murals and paintings that seemed to run largely to depicting square-jawed, overall-clad men pushing cogs or plowing fallow fields.

Humphrey Remained Home to Woo Votes

WASHINGTON — Rumors were rife in London, later in Washington, over the failure of President Johnson to appoint Vice President Humphrey as the top American representative at the Churchill funeral.

Some British newspapermen considered it a slight to Churchill, others speculated that there had been a rift between the President and the Vice President.

PEARSON

Real fact is that the Vice President had earlier been alerted to go to London and was standing by, ready to go on Jan. 21 or 22, in case Churchill died either during or immediately after the inauguration.

This, however, was before two important events occurred. One was the President's own illness. The other was the first defeat administered to the Johnson Administration by the House of Representatives, when it tied the President's hands regarding further food for the Egyptian people.

President Johnson is a man who doesn't take defeat at the hands of Congress readily. He likes to win. He was ill at the time of this defeat, unable to use his usual persuasive influence on the Senate to reverse the House; so the Vice President's support was enlisted.

Johnson knew that Humphrey has a great following among Jewish leaders. HHH has been a staunch supporter of Israel, the country which stands in some fear of a Nasser attack. He is also on intimate terms with every Democratic Senator on Capitol Hill, plus many Republicans.

So Hubert stayed home from London and spent the weekend at work wooing votes.

* * * * *

WITH THE retirement of gruff, grim Gen. Curtis LeMay, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara now has his own hand-picked Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Gone are the glittering military figures of the post-war era. The new chiefs are cast in McNamara's own image: Busy and brainy. They are steeped in the statistics of their trade, more interested in efficiency than show.

Typical is the new chairman, Gen. Earle "Bus" Wheeler, whose easy smile and mild manner are merely the moss on a character of granite. He speaks in a low but precise tone, acts quietly but firmly.

Like McNamara, Gen. Wheeler believes in logical solutions based on sound research and supportable facts. He encourages his subordinates to think through each problem, to analyze the pros and cons calmly and carefully before recommending a solution.

Wheeler is such a prodigious worker that he was almost late for his own swearing-in ceremony as Army Chief. He had been called to the Pentagon on an emergency in the middle of the night. He simply stayed at his desk in civilian clothes until shortly before the ceremony.

* * * * *

THE AMERICAN public, which got a picture of Curtis LeMay as a cigar-chomping, hell-bent-for-bombing general, didn't know that he was one of the most considerate men in the Air Force when it came to his men.

During the war when he commanded bombing raids over Germany, his men always knew that he was in the vanguard, that, whatever they faced, he faced ahead of them.

After the war, LeMay created the Family Service Plan for helping wives and families when their husbands were away or were killed on duty. When LeMay toured U.S. bases, one of the first things he wanted to check on was how the Family Service Plan was working.

The tough-talking general also established a plan for taking care of retarded Air Force children.

Some of the younger officers who served under him during the war were surprised afterward that he had taken time to write letters of commendation about them. He didn't tell them about the letters, merely put them in their files. LeMay was looking ahead to the future of the Air Force, wanted to keep good men in it, wrote a record to show who the good men were.

President's Aide Gets Chance to Go Take Look at Real Life

I, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Apart from its immediate significance, which may not in itself be great, the President's decision to send McGeorge Bundy out to South Viet Nam seems like a good idea. Bundy is Mr. Johnson's "Assistant for National Security Affairs," and was scheduled back this weekend from his sudden and short assignment.

An "Assistant for National Security Affairs" is an officer the public rarely sees, and it is likely that few people outside of Washington know he exists or could give his identity if asked without warning. In Washington itself, for that matter, the job and its occupants attract the attention only of the government and the spectator gallery directly occupied with problems and action in the highest field of international policy.

It may be taken as a working hypothesis that Bundy, who was first named to his post by President Kennedy, is able in it. It may be stated not as a hypothesis but as a fact that he and his relatively few predecessors have tended to be anchored so firmly in the White House that they hardly ever have had a chance to get out and see real life, while it is happening, beyond the national boundaries.

Yet there are special reasons why they should. No one is in a better position to level with the President about what is going on in confused situations beyond the reach of his own vision.

Bundy operates in a relatively small office in the cellar of the White House, in artificial light, and in artificial quiet to the extent that it can be maintained. He ventures into the outside world often enough so that he can face daylight without having his eyes water, but the very nature of his job pins him down in his cell, and in times of crisis, as during the affair of the Soviet missiles in Cuba, he may well live there.

BUNDY

Approaching his 46th birthday, Bundy is a man of rather slight build, light-haired, his eyes wide open behind the spectacles of a man who has had to read a lot, rather dogmatic in his utterance, born in Boston, A.B. Yale, a former dean of faculty at Harvard, a political scientist, author (with the late Henry L. Stimson) of "On Active Service" and a Republican, or considered to be one, at least until joining the Kennedy administration.

It is relevant to the point of this piece that Bundy and his two principal predecessors, Robert Cutler and Gordon Gray, have all been members of Phi Beta Kappa, although it is not meant to suggest that their attainments have been exclusively scholarly.

Their steady tenancy in the ivory tower by such men has to be a disadvantage. They have to deal almost exclusively in pieces of paper instead of flesh and blood and the actual scenery on location. Basically, however, no official is better qualified to assess the scene outside the report objectively.

The President can't go to all these places himself, nor to any of them for this special kind of look-see. If he sends a soldier he gets a Pentagon view. If he sends a diplomat, he gets a State Department view. If he sends his Special Assistant for National Security Affairs, he sends someone with a broader and deeper context of knowledge than either a soldier or a diplomat.

If memory serves, this is the first time a President has sent his National Security Assistant into the field. Professedly, he has only been carrying messages out and bringing some back. He can hardly help, however, learning something on his own. It would seem to be a good idea to do this kind of thing more often.

Sukarno's Bamboo Bomb

UPI Foreign News Analysis

ALTHOUGH no one really believed the claim that Indonesia would have an atomic bomb ready for testing next October, even the thought of such a weapon in the hands of Indonesian President Sukarno was shattering.

What an irresponsible leader could do with an atomic bomb long has been obvious, and has been a key factor in the search for international agreement to prevent their spread.

In the United Nations, the Indonesian announcement contributed to a nervous recognition that so far in the current session of the General Assembly not a single step has been taken toward a disarmament agreement of any sort.

U.S. officials quickly ridiculed the Indonesian claim as "puffery" which the dictionary says is to seek publicity through boastful or impudent talk, and placed it in the same category as Indonesian claims of the past.

As a matter of fact it was not the first time this same claim had been made for Indonesia and it came from the same source.

Last November an Indonesian-built rocket plopped into the Java sea after a flight of 21 miles. Indonesian generals boasted that in no time at all, they would have intercontinental ballistic missiles.

It was then that Brig. Gen. Hartono, chief of the Indonesian Army's supply department, added the boast that "we plan to explode an atom bomb next year."

If it was meant to impress the Malaysians, Sukarno's current chief target, it failed of its purpose. The Malaysians promptly labelled it Sukarno's "bamboo bomb."

It was this same Hartono who this week reiterated the claim, attaining wider publicity for it because it was distributed by the nation's official news agency.

Indonesia does, in fact, have two atomic reactors.

Under the atoms-for-peace program they received a small, 250 kilowatt reactor from the United States in June, 1960. It became operational in October, 1964. They also have been given a small research reactor by the Russians.

The state department has described the U.S. reactor as being "designed for research only" and "incapable" of generating power commercially or supplying material for atomic weapons.

Speaking of College Grad Starting Salaries—

DREW PEARSON

Humphrey Remained Home to Woo Votes

WASHINGTON — Rumors were rife in London, later in Washington, over the failure of President Johnson to appoint Vice President Humphrey as the top American representative at the Churchill funeral.

Some British newspapermen considered it a slight to Churchill, others speculated that there had been a rift between the President and the Vice President.

PEARSON

Real fact is that the Vice President had earlier been alerted to go to London and was standing by, ready to go on Jan. 21 or 22, in case Churchill died either during or immediately after the inauguration.

This, however, was before two important events occurred. One was the President's own illness. The other was the first defeat administered to the Johnson Administration by the House of Representatives, when it tied the President's hands regarding further food for the Egyptian people.

President Johnson is a man who doesn't take defeat at the hands of Congress readily. He likes to win. He was ill at the time of this defeat, unable to use his usual persuasive influence on the Senate to reverse the House; so the Vice President's support was enlisted.

Johnson knew that Humphrey has a great following among Jewish leaders. HHH has been a staunch supporter of Israel, the country which stands in some fear of a Nasser attack. He is also on intimate terms with every Democratic Senator on Capitol Hill, plus many Republicans.

So Hubert stayed home from London and spent the weekend at work wooing votes.

WITH THE retirement of gruff, grim Gen. Curtis LeMay, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara now has his own hand-picked Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Gone are the glittering military figures of the post-war era. The new chiefs are cast in McNamara's own image: Busy and brainy. They are steeped in the statistics of their trade, more interested in efficiency than show.

Typical is the new chairman, Gen. Earle "Bus" Wheeler, whose easy smile and mild manner are merely the moss on a character of granite. He speaks in a low but precise tone, acts quietly but firmly.

Like McNamara, Gen. Wheeler believes in logical solutions based on sound research and supportable facts. He encourages his subordinates to think through each problem, to analyze the pros and cons calmly and carefully before recommending a solution.

Wheeler is such a prodigious worker that he was almost late for his own swearing-in ceremony as Army Chief. He had been called to the Pentagon on an emergency in the middle of the night. He simply stayed at his desk in civilian clothes until shortly before the ceremony.

* * * *

THE AMERICAN public, which got a picture of Curtis LeMay as a cigar-chumping, hell bent-for-bombing general, didn't know that he was one of the most considerate men in the Air Force when it came to his men.

During the war when he commanded bombing raids over Germany, his men always knew that he was in the vanguard, that, whatever they faced, he faced ahead of them.

After the war, LeMay created the Family Service Plan for helping wives and families when their husbands were away or were killed on duty. When LeMay toured U.S. bases, one of the first things he wanted to check on was how the Family Service Plan was working.

The tough-talking general also established a plan for taking care of retarded Air Force children.

Some of the younger officers who served under him during the war were surprised afterward that he had taken time to write letters of commendation about them. He didn't tell them about the letters, merely put them in their files. LeMay was looking ahead to the future of the Air Force, wanted to keep good men in it, wrote a record to show who the good men were.

President's Aide Gets Chance to Go Take Look at Real Life

I, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Apart from its immediate significance, which may not in itself be great, the President's decision to send McGeorge Bundy out to South Viet Nam seems like a good idea. Bundy is Mr. Johnson's "Assistant for National Security Affairs," and was scheduled back this weekend from his sudden and short assignment.

An "Assistant for National Security Affairs" is an officer the public rarely sees, and it is likely that few people outside of Washington know he exists or could give his identity if asked without warning. In Washington itself, for that matter, the job and its occupants attract the attention only of the government and the spectator gallery directly occupied with problems and action in the highest field of international policy.

It may be taken as a working hypothesis that Bundy, who was first named to his post by President Kennedy, is able in it. It may be stated not as a hypothesis but as a fact that he and his relatively few predecessors have tended to be anchored so firmly in the White House that they hardly ever have had a chance to get out and see real life, while it is happening, beyond the national boundaries.

Yet there are special reasons why they should. No one is in a better position to level with the President about what is going on in confused situations beyond the reach of his own vision.

Bundy operates in a relatively small office in the cellar of the White House, in artificial light, and in artificial quiet to the extent that it can be maintained. He ventures into the outside world often enough so that he can face daylight without having his eyes water, but the very nature of his job pins him down in his cell, and in times of crisis, as during the affair of the Soviet missiles in Cuba, he may well live there.

BUNDY

Approaching his 46th birthday, Bundy is a man of rather slight build, light-haired, his eyes wide open behind the spectacles of a man who has had to read a lot, rather dogmatic in his utterance, born in Boston, A.B. Yale, a former dean of faculty at Harvard, a political scientist, author (with the late Henry L. Stimson) of "On Active Service" and a Republican, or considered to be one, at least until joining the Kennedy administration.

It is relevant to the point of this piece that Bundy and his two principal predecessors, Robert Cutler and Gordon Gray, have all been members of Phi Beta Kappa, although it is not meant to suggest that their attainments have been exclusively scholarly.

Their steady tenancy in the ivory tower by such men has to be a disadvantage. They have to deal almost exclusively in pieces of paper instead of flesh and blood and the actual scenery on location. Basically, however, no official is better qualified to assess the scene outside the report objectively.

The President can't go to all these places himself, nor to any of them for this special kind of look-see. If he sends a soldier he gets a Pentagon view. If he sends a diplomat, he gets a State Department view. If he sends his Special Assistant for National Security Affairs, he sends someone with a broader and deeper context of knowledge than either a soldier or a diplomat.

If memory serves, this is the first time a President has sent his National Security Assistant into the field. Professedly, he has only been carrying messages out and bringing some back. He can hardly help, however, learning something on his own. It would seem to be a good idea to do this kind of thing more often.

PHIL NEWSOM

Sukarno's Bamboo Bomb

UPI Foreign News Analysts

ALTHOUGH no one really believed the claim that Indonesia would have an atomic bomb ready for testing next October, even the thought of such a weapon in the hands of Indonesian President Sukarno was shattering.

What an irresponsible leader could do with an atomic bomb long has been obvious, and has been a key factor in the search for international agreement to prevent their spread.

In the United Nations, the Indonesian announcement contributed to a nervous recognition that so far in the current session of the General Assembly not a single step has been taken toward a disarmament agreement of any sort.

U.S. officials quickly ridiculed the Indonesian claim as "puffery" which the dictionary says is to seek publicity through boastful or imprudent talk, and placed it in the same category as Indonesian claims of the past.

As a matter of fact it was not the first time this same claim had been made for Indonesia and it came from the same source.

Last November an Indonesian-built rocket plopped into the Java sea after a flight of 21 miles. Indonesian generals boasted that in no time at all, they would have intercontinental ballistic missiles.

It was then that Brig. Gen. Hartono, chief of the Indonesian Army's supply department, added the boast that "we plan to explode an atom bomb next year."

If it was meant to impress the Malaysians, Sukarno's current chief target, it failed of its purpose. The Malaysians promptly labelled it Sukarno's "bamboo bomb."

It was this same Hartono who this week reiterated the claim, attaining wider publicity for it because it was distributed by the nation's official news agency.

Indonesia does, in fact, have two atomic reactors.

Under the atoms-for-peace program they received a small, 250 kilowatt reactor from the United States in June, 1960. It became operational in October, 1964. They also have been given a small research reactor by the Russians.

The state department has described the U.S. reactor as being "designed for research only" and "incapable" of generating power commercially or supplying material for atomic weapons.

MORE THAN 60 HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS TO ATTEND

Teen-Age Traffic Safety Meet Set

By BOB SANDERS

"Teenagers Look at Traffic Responsibilities" is the theme of the ninth annual Teen-Age Traffic Safety Conference to be held Monday.

More than 60 students from eight Long Beach high schools are expected to attend the all-day meeting in the Public Safety Building.

Sponsored by the Long Beach Safety Council and Pilot Club of Long Beach, this year's event will mark the first one that the recently organized Long Beach Student Safety Council will participate in.

• • • • •

COOPERATING in sponsoring the meeting will be the Long Beach Police Department, parochial and public schools, the Automobile Club of Southern California and the Independent Insurance Agents Association of Long Beach.

Opening session will be a general assembly at 9 a.m. with Jim Antenore of Millikan High School as chairman. Speakers will be Chaplain Robert F. Gunter of Memorial Hospital and Peggy Lawlor of St. Anthony's School.

Four sectional meetings at 10 a.m. will cover such subjects as:

—Increasing Insurance Rates for Teen-Age Drivers.
—Courts and Teen-Age Drivers.
—What Influence Legislative Decisions.
—Law Enforcement Looks at Teen-Age Drivers.

The afternoon meeting will be devoted to a review and recommendations session and a tour of the Public Safety Building.

• • • • •

AWARDS TO THE WINNERS of a traffic safety poster contest conducted in each of the high schools during recent weeks will be made. Each school has submitted three posters for consideration by the judges' panel.

Purposes of the Long Beach Student Safety Council, which was organized in September, 1964, include exploration and study of safety problems in individual schools and in the city of Long Beach and planning appropriate student safety education activities involving both students and community leaders.

Members of the council are:

Brethren High School—Marilyn Yocky and Mark Hevering; Jordan High School—Janis Niederberg and Larry Uyeda; Lakewood High School—Tom Evans and Alice Nalibow; Millikan High School—Jim Antenore and Jenele Pereau;

Polytechnic High School—Wayne Fox and David Stearns; Progress High School—Grand Gribble and Sue Ann McCallister; St. Anthony's High School—Pat Saunders, Teresa Maahs and Cynthia Hamel; Wilson High School—Marilyn Oatrin and Shiela Sussman.

President of School Board Candidate for 4th Term

Citing the outstanding record of the Long Beach public schools, M. A. (Bud) Duncan, president of the Board of Education, announced Saturday that he will be a candidate for reelection to a fourth term with the board.

Duncan said the school district has achieved a "climate of success" over the years and expressed hope that its statewide and national renown would not diminish in the future.

Two offices on the five-member board will be at stake at the April 2 school board election. Deadline for registering to vote is today and deadline for filing of candidacy is Feb. 15.

In his announcement statement, Duncan emphasized that local pupils—with a combined average IQ only slightly above the national average—consistently score in the top brackets of statewide tests.

• • • •

HE ALSO stressed that the Long Beach Unified School District—despite having only average taxable wealth—has a tax rate which is lower than that of three-quarters of the other large school districts in Los Angeles County.

A principal factor in the district's success, Duncan indicated, has been tradionally "harmonious" boards of education, "disagreeing frequently but always working together." He added: "Nothing, in my opinion, is more destructive to the progress and morale of a school system than permanently divisive elements on its board of education."

The board president said the school district has always spiced its "essentially conservative" educational philosophy with a willingness to experiment carefully.

"(We have) always insisted first on a far-reaching, comprehensive, basic and essentially conservative educational program," he said. "But (we) have combined this attitude with a willingness to experiment and 'think ahead.'"

• • • •

THE LATTER, he said, has "not only kept the school system 'modern' but (has) made it the acknowledged and widely copied educational leader it is today."

Duncan, operations manager at the Long Beach Procter and Gamble plant, was first elected to the school board in 1953 and has served three times as president and twice as vice president.

Known on the board as a cost-conscious advocate of the "three R's" and teaching about national heritage, Duncan has been an active Long Beach civic leader for three decades.

M. A. DUNCAN
Seeks Reelection

He is a director of the Long Beach Community Welfare Federation and the Long Beach Area Board of the United Way and a former board member of the Long Beach Comunity Chest.

His community memberships also include: California Heights Methodist Church, the advisory board of the Children's Dental Foundation and the Chamber of Commerce.

• • • • •

HE SERVED four years as chairman of the Long Beach Rose Bowl-host committee and is a past master of the Long Beach Lodge No. 327, F and AM, as well as an honorary life member of the PTA.

His educational affiliations include the County School Trustees Association of which he is a former executive board member, the California and National school boards associations, the Phi Beta Kappa Alumni Association and the University of Washington Alumni Association. He headed three Long Beach bond drives for school expansion.

In conclusion, Duncan said: "Our schools are good. But they are not perfect. They will continue to improve only so long as the most important reason for success of all — widespread and generous public support — is maintained. As a board member I will continue to try to do all I can to merit that support."

LBCC Adult Center Adds 2 to Staff

Two instructors in creative writing and music have been added to the Adult Center staff of Long Beach City College for the current semester.

Charlotte Huber, professional writer and editor, will teach a class in Writing Techniques (non-fiction) at 7 p.m. Tuesdays in room 207 at Millikan High School. She is the author of several textbooks, a former staff writer for Vogue magazine, and has had many articles published in national magazines.

Paul Belanger, graduate of the Royal Academy of Music in London, is the instructor for a beginning piano class at Jordan Adult Center on Tuesday evenings and an intermediate-advanced class on the City College Liberal Arts campus Thursday evenings.

Registration continues this week for day and evening classes at all LBCC adult centers and on the Business and Technology campus. Day enrollment on the Liberal Arts campus is closed, but evening registration continues through Wednesday.

Walnut (Ia.) Picnic

The annual Walnut, Iowa, picnic will be held at South Gate City Park next Sunday.

Sunk Boat's Cabin Partly of Cardboard

Bits of wreckage from a recent boating accident in which seven men lost their lives were used by R. Adm. Ned W. Sprow, commander of the 11th Coast Guard District, to dramatize the need for education of the boating public when he addressed more than 200 members of the Long Beach Power Squadron at the Lakewood Country Club.

"Most of the boating accidents in this area can be attributed to a combination of severe weather, an ill-equipped boat operated by a skipper who is inexperienced or too bold—or both," the admiral told the educational-service organization. The occasion marked the graduation and induction of 67 new members into the 540-member squadron, third largest in the state.

To support his contention that Southern California with its ever-increasing sail and power boat fleet presents "a fertile area for education," the admiral passed among the squadron members and their wives photographs of the wreckage of a converted surplus landing craft which went down in the San Pedro Channel two weeks ago with the loss of seven Southland boatmen.

• • • • •

THE BIT OF recovered wreckage indicated that the ill-fated craft had a cabin constructed partly of corrugated cardboard, of the type of which beer cases are made, covered with painted cloth.

"In the past five years 25% of all the lives lost in this district were lost in accidents involving converted government surplus boats. Of the 79 lives lost, 19 were lost while aboard surplus small craft," the admiral said.

"Sixteen of the 19 lives lost were the result of accidents involving converted LCVPs — the same type as that which went down recently," the speaker stated.

• • • • •

"THE NUMBER of search and rescue calls on which the Coast Guard responded during the winter season just ending is up 30% of what it was a year ago," Sprow told the group.

The admiral stated that in the triangle of water between Newport Beach, Catalina, and Pt. Vicenter the number of calls for Coast Guard assistance had increased 60% in 1963 over the previous year and jumped to 75% in 1964.

"You can understand then," the admiral said, "why the Coast Guard wholeheartedly supports and praises the efforts of the power squadrons in their program of safe small boat-handling.

"Southern California's usually fine weather and the easy acess to the sea is conducive to many Southern Californians buying, using, and enjoying small pleasure craft. But," the admiral emphasized, "a very large percentage of these new boat owners have either no knowledge or fear of the sea. There is no need to fear the sea—only respect it. The courses in safe small craft handling offered by your organization teaches the boatman that respect."

American Day Set Feb. 16

"I Am An American Day" will be held at 8 p.m., Feb. 16 at the Veterans Memorial Building, Broadway and Cedar, to honor new American citizens.

The program is sponsored by Arthur L. Peterson Post 27, American Legion, and the Long Beach Unified School District.

Vice Mayor James A. Hayes will give the welcome address and Dr. James G. Law, of Los Angeles, will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will include Commander Hillard Steen and Ray McKinstry, master of ceremonies.

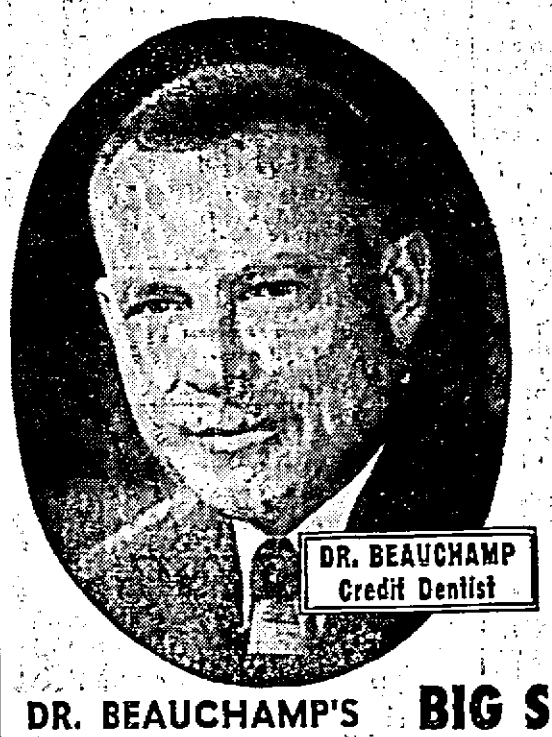

The Municipal Band will play and the Legionettes will post colors. The program is being arranged by Chairman Fred Nessler and Wright M. Atwood, assistant dean, Long Beach City College.

Recreation Schedule

Friday, Lincoln's birthday, is a school holiday and the school playgrounds will be open and supervised from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Millikan and Poly swimming pools will be open at 7 p.m.

The new Junior Theater production, "The Plain Princess," will be given at Houghton Park, 7:30 p.m. Friday and 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

HE ALSO stressed that the Long Beach Unified School District—despite having only average taxable wealth—has a tax rate which is lower than that of three-quarters of the other large school districts in Los Angeles County.

A principal factor in the district's success, Duncan indicated, has been tradionally "harmonious" boards of education, "disagreeing frequently but always working together." He added: "Nothing, in my opinion, is more destructive to the progress and morale of a school system than permanently divisive elements on its board of education."

The board president said the school district has always spiced its "essentially conservative" educational philosophy with a willingness to experiment carefully.

"(We have) always insisted first on a far-reaching, comprehensive, basic and essentially conservative educational program," he said. "But (we) have combined this attitude with a willingness to experiment and 'think ahead.'"

* * * *

THE LATTER, he said, has "not only kept the school system 'modern' but (has) made it the acknowledged and widely copied educational leader it is today."

Duncan, operations manager at the Long Beach Procter and Gamble plant, was first elected to the school board in 1953 and has served three times as president and twice as vice president.

Known on the board as a cost-conscious advocate of the "three R's" and teaching about national heritage, Duncan has been an active Long Beach civic leader for three decades.

He is a director of the Long Beach Community Welfare Federation and the Long Beach Area Board of the United Way and a former board member of the Long Beach Comunity Chest.

His community memberships also include: California Heights Methodist Church, the advisory board of the Children's Dental Foundation and the Chamber of Commerce.

* * * *

HE SERVED four years as chairman of the Long Beach Rose Bowl-host committee and is a past master of the Long Beach Lodge No. 327, F and AM, as well as an honorary life member of the PTA.

His educational affiliations include the County School Trustees Association of which he is a former executive board member, the California and National school boards associations, the Phi Beta Kappa Alumni Association and the University of Washington Alumni Association. He headed three Long Beach bond drives for school expansion.

In conclusion, Duncan said: "Our schools are good. But they are not perfect. They will continue to improve only so long as the most important reason for success of all — widespread and generous public support — is maintained. As a board member I will continue to try to do all I can to merit that support."

LBCC Adult Center Adds 2 to Staff

Two instructors in creative writing and music have been added to the Adult Center staff of Long Beach City College for the current semester.

Charlotte Huber, professional writer and editor, will teach a class in Writing Techniques (non-fiction) at 7 p.m. Tuesdays in room 207 at Millikan High School. She is the author of several textbooks, a former staff writer for Vogue magazine, and has had many articles published in national magazines.

Paul Belanger, graduate of the Royal Academy of Music in London, is the instructor for a beginning piano class at Jordan Adult Center on Tuesday evenings and an intermediate-advanced class on the City College Liberal Arts campus Thursday evenings.

Registration continues this week for day and evening classes at all LBCC adult centers and on the Business and Technology campus. Day enrollment on the Liberal Arts campus is closed, but evening registration continues through Wednesday.

Walnut (Ia.) Picnic

The annual Walnut, Iowa, picnic will be held at South Gate City Park next Sunday.

Sunk Boat's Cabin Partly of Cardboard

Bits of wreckage from a recent boating accident in which seven men lost their lives were used by R. Adm. Ned W. Sprow, commander of the 11th Coast Guard District, to dramatize the need for education of the boating public when he addressed more than 200 members of the Long Beach Power Squadron at the Lakewood Country Club.

"Most of the boating accidents in this area can be attributed to a combination of severe weather, an ill-equipped boat operated by a skipper who is inexperienced or too bold—or both," the admiral told the educational-service organization. The occasion marked the graduation and induction of 67 new members into the 540-member squadron, third largest in the state.

To support his contention that Southern California with its ever-increasing sail and power boat fleet presents "a fertile area for education," the admiral passed among the squadron members and their wives photographs of the wreckage of a converted surplus landing craft which went down in the San Pedro Channel two weeks ago with the loss of seven Southland boatmen.

* * * *

THE BIT OF recovered wreckage indicated that the inflated craft had a cabin constructed partly of corrugated cardboard, of the type of which beer cases are made, covered with painted cloth.

"In the past five years 25% of all the lives lost in this district were lost in accidents involving converted government surplus boats. Of the 79 lives lost, 19 were lost while aboard surplus small craft," the admiral said.

"Sixteen of the 19 lives lost were the result of accidents involving converted LCVPs — the same type as that which went down recently," the speaker stated.

* * * *

"THE NUMBER of search and rescue calls on which the Coast Guard responded during the winter season just ending is up 30% of what it was a year ago," Sprow told the group.

The admiral stated that in the triangle of water between Newport Beach, Catalina, and Pt. Vicenter the number of calls for Coast Guard assistance had increased 60% in 1963 over the previous year and jumped to 75% in 1964.

"You can understand then," the admiral said, "why the Coast Guard wholeheartedly supports and praises the efforts of the power squadrons in their program of safe small boat-handling.

"Southern California's usually fine weather and the easy acess to the sea is conducive to many Southern Californians buying, using, and enjoying small pleasure craft. But," the admiral emphasized, "a very large percentage of these new boat owners have either no knowledge or fear of the sea. There is no need to fear the sea—only respect it. The courses in safe small craft handling offered by your organization teaches the boatman that respect."

American Day Set Feb. 16

"I Am An American Day" will be held at 8 p.m., Feb. 16 at the Veterans Memorial Building, Broadway and Cedar, to honor new American citizens.

The program is sponsored by Arthur L. Peterson Post 27, American Legion, and the Long Beach Unified School District.

Vice Mayor James A. Hayes will give the welcome address and Dr. James G. Law, of Los Angeles, will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will include Commander Hillard Steen and Ray McKinstry, master of ceremonies.

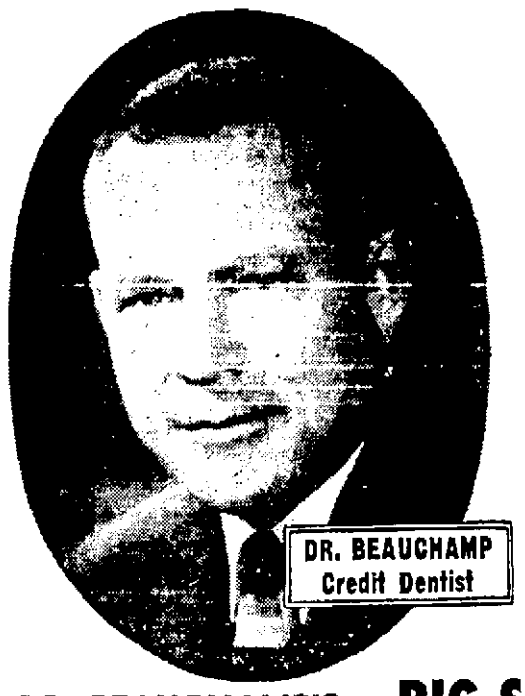

The Municipal Band will play and the Legionettes will post colors. The program is being arranged by Chairman Fred Nessler and Wright M. Atwood, assistant dean, Long Beach City College.

Recreation Schedule

Friday, Lincoln's birthday, is a school holiday and the school playgrounds will be open and supervised from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Millikan and Poly swimming pools will be open at 7 p.m.

The new Junior Theater production, "The Plain Princess," will be given at Houghton Park, 7:30 p.m. Friday, and 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

BECAUSE OF THE huge commitment, relatively few bids are expected for the 80% field contractor's share, most of them from combinations of oil companies.

A smaller award in the harbor district last year attracted only four bids. It went to a six-company combination — Standard of California, Humble, Signal, Continental, C. M. and Long Beach Oil Development Co. The winnig bid will pay the city and state 91% of proceeds after deductible costs.

Officials hope for comparable bids in the new offering. The same bidding factors will apply—percentage of net profits to the city and state. It is the only competitive element. Thus the first day's results will be known immediately after the opening of the bids.

Offers for smaller interests in the field will be opened on each succeeding business day, ending Feb. 17. Speculation is that as many as 100 bids will be reecived for these interests, ranging from 10% of the field to a modest 1%.

* * * *

OF THE WHOLE field, the only portion not committed as yet to unitized operation—another unique feature—is the 400-acre State Park area at the extreme east end of Long Beach. State officials have not indicated as yet whether they will join in the integrated development.

* * * *

Some oil will begin to flow from the extreme west end of the field by midsummer, according to a prediction by Leonard W. Brock, city director of petroleum properties. It will be reached from drill sites along the newly-constructed Pier J.

By that time, construction of the first offshore island will also be under way, Brock said. The first of the four will be seaward of Rainbow Pier.

'Those Calloways' Coming

Another Disney film, "Those Calloways," opens Wednesday in the area, joining "Mary Poppins" which is being held over.

Those Calloways tell the trials and tribulations of the Calloway family which has a dream of turning a lake into a haven for migrating Canada geese. Conflict is with interests who want to turn the town into a heaven for sportsmen.

CONNIE STEVENS plays a look-alike dual mother-daughter role in "Two On a Guillotine" opening Wednesday.

The film, a suspense-shocker, also features Dean Jones and Cesar Romero.

Romero has the role of the father, a master illusionist, who leaves a fortune to his daughter on condition she spend a period of time in a castle.

TWIN HORROR films, "Curse of Frankenstein" and "Horrors of Dracula" also open Wednesday.

"Curse of Frankenstein" deals with hair-raising reign of savagery by a creature made by man. Peter Cushing plays the mad scientist who creates the monster played by Christopher Lee. Hazel Court is the unsuspecting victim of her mad husband's plot.

On the same bill, "Horror of Dracula," Christopher Lee appears this time as Count Dracula, an "undead" fiend that feasts on the blood of humans. Cushing appears in the film as a doctor who hunts Dracula down. Valerie Gaunt is an early victim.

Plan 5 Harlow Films, One Cast

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Electronovision, the new screen process that filmed Richard Burton's stage "Hamlet," announced that it will also make a movie based on Jean Harlow's life.

Of the five announced movies, only one has been cast. That's Joe Levine's production for Paramount. Carroll Baker, who bears a striking resemblance to Harlow, will do the part based on the best-selling biography by Irving Shulman.

ROMY WOULD CHUCK FILMS

Feels She 'Must' Do Stage Play

But she would chuck it all, she vows, for a good play—even if it meant two years away from the screen.

"I've had little experience, virtually none, on the stage," says Romy. "I feel that I love my business so much that I must do this."

Moviegoers can forget a lot in two years—even if the play is a big hit.

"I don't care, "says Romy. "It's something that I want to do very much. And I will do it."

It's obvious that she will, though she is making an international name for herself in American-made movies. First there was "the Cardinal," then "Good Neighbor Sam."

Now she's making "What's New, Pussycat?" with O'Toole, Peter Sellers, Capucine and Paula Prentiss.

As the romantic interest opposite O'Toole, she probably has the best role yet. So why a play?

"I have been in the movies since I was a child. I love acting but I don't feel one can fulfill oneself as an actress without the stage—and the live audience."

Part of Romy's stage desire can be traced to heredity. She is the daughter of Magda Schneider and Walf Albach-Retty, popular stage and screen stars of pre-war Austria.

At first, Romy decided to become an artist but her mother, resuming her movie career, after the war, was signed to play the mother of a teen-age daughter.

Magda presented her own 15-year-old daughter as a candidate. Romy won the part without a screen test and has been movie acting ever since.

Quinn Signed

Anthony Quinn has been signed by Columbia Pictures to a six-year, non-exclusive multiple-picture deal. First picture will be "The Centurions" to be filmed in Spain this spring.

ROMY WOULD CHUCK FILMS
Feels She 'Must' Do Stage Play

But she would chuck it all, she vows, for a good play—even if it meant two years away from the screen.

"I've had little experience, virtually none, on the stage," says Romy. "I feel that I love my business so much that I must do this."

Moviegoers can forget a lot in two years—even if the play is a big hit.

"I don't care, "says Romy. "It's something that I want to do very much. And I will do it."

It's obvious that she will, though she is making an international name for herself in American-made movies. First there was "the Cardinal," then "Good Neighbor Sam."

Now she's making "What's New, Pussycat?" with O'Toole, Peter Sellers, Capucine and Paula Prentiss.

As the romantic interest opposite O'Toole, she probably has the best role yet. So why a play?

"I have been in the movies since I was a child. I love acting but I don't feel one can fulfill oneself as an actress without the stage—and the live audience."

Part of Romy's stage desire can be traced to heredity. She is the daughter of Magda Schneider and Walf Albach-Retty, popular stage and screen stars of pre-war Austria.

At first, Romy decided to become an artist but her mother, resuming her movie career, after the war, was signed to play the mother of a teen-age daughter.

Magda presented her own 15-year-old daughter as a candidate. Romy won the part without a screen test and has been movie acting ever since.

Quinn Signed

Anthony Quinn has been signed by Columbia Pictures to a six-year, non-exclusive multiple-picture deal. First picture will be "The Centurions" to be filmed in Spain this spring.

Manager in U.S. Arranging Third Tour, Wants $5 Admission Ceiling

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Brian Epstein, the boyish-looking, 30-year-old discoverer and manager of The Beatles, very succinctly said to me:

"They're greater than ever! They've never been at such a high level."

WILSON

And, said the former Liverpool record shop manager, who now manages 12 of England's biggest acts, they're going onward and upward.

"I think The Beatles will do even better as film entertainers than as live entertainers," he said. "And they'll make many more films."

• • • •

EPSTEIN WAS here arranging the Beatles' third U.S. tour for August. They're going to Nassau this month to start their second picture. Epstein knows that this both-sides-of-the-street gold mining can't continue forever.

"Can they continue giving their live performances indefinitely . . . will they want to?" I asked.

"No, I don't think so." He poured himself a scotch-and-soda as he sat in his Plaza suite.

"I don't think you can keep asking people to see their films and their personal appearances.

"I think they will explode again in their next picture. Then they must eventually fit into pictures not just as Beatles but as actors . . ."

"Like Rex Harrison playing Caesar in one movie and Professor 'Iggins in another?"

That's it. I think they'll stay together, they'll go on making records and films for many, many years."

• • • •

"WILL YOU charge more or less to see them the next U.S. tour?"

"I want to stipulate that the promoters won't charge more than $5. One thing I'm sure of is, The Beatles should get the bulk of the profits."

Epstein explained, "I want to see the promoters make a dollar or two. But the promoters get many fringe benefits and much prestige from playing The Beatles."

• • • •

"WOULD YOU as their manager discourage marriage of Ringo, Paul or George?"

"No!"

"Has the problem come up?"

"No, but it could. But these boys are my friends. I would not interfere. I'd have no right to."

"Aren't there times when other English groups seem to outsell them in England?"

"The Beatles," Epstein replied cooly, "can't be compared with other groups. The other groups aren't sort of in the same field as The Beatles."

• • • •

"WHY IS IT that American groups haven't made the same impact in England, when actually your sound is American folk music with a special treatment?"

"I don't know. The Americans seem to have forgotten how to do it. By the way, I've got a group called 'The Scaffold'—singers who decided to talk rather than sing."

"Why did you call them 'The Scaffold'? Has it anything to do with hanging?"

"No—just because it's a good name."

And, said the former Liverpool record shop manager, who now manages 12 of England's biggest acts, they're going onward and upward.

"I think The Beatles will do even better as film entertainers than as live entertainers," he said. "And they'll make many more films."

* * * *

EPSTEIN WAS here arranging the Beatles' third U.S. tour for August. They're going to Nassau this month to start their second picture. Epstein knows that this both-sides-of-the-street gold mining can't continue forever.

"Can they continue giving their live performances indefinitely . . . will they want to?" I asked.

"No, I don't think so." He poured himself a scotch-and-soda as he sat in his Plaza suite.

"I don't think you can keep asking people to see their films and their personal appearances.

"I think they will explode again in their next picture. Then they must eventually fit into pictures not just as Beatles but as actors . . ."

"Like Rex Harrison playing Caesar in one movie and Professor 'Iggins in another?"

That's it. I think they'll stay together, they'll go on making records and films for many, many years."

* * * *

"WILL YOU charge more or less to see them the next U.S. tour?"

"I want to stipulate that the promoters won't charge more than $5. One thing I'm sure of is, The Beatles should get the bulk of the profits."

Epstein explained, "I want to see the promoters make a dollar or two. But the promoters get many fringe benefits and much prestige from playing The Beatles."

* * * *

"WOULD YOU as their manager discourage marriage of Ringo, Paul or George?"

"No!"

"Has the problem come up?"

"No, but it could. But these boys are my friends. I would not interfere. I'd have no right to."

"Aren't there times when other English groups seem to outsell them in England?"

"The Beatles," Epstein replied cooly, "can't be compared with other groups. The other groups aren't sort of in the same field as The Beatles."

* * * *

"WHY IS IT that American groups haven't made the same impact in England, when actually your sound is American folk music with a special treatment?"

"I don't know. The Americans seem to have forgotten how to do it. By the way, I've got a group called 'The Scaffold'—singers who decided to talk rather than sing."

"Why did you call them 'The Scaffold'? Has it anything to do with hanging?"

"No—just because it's a good name."

UCLA Tips Huskies, 78-75; Troy Romps

By JEROME HALL

The kind of contest that fills arenas and gymnasiums all across the country and makes basketball the world's noisiest game was played in the L.A. Sports Arena Saturday night.

It was a contest between the No. 2-ranked UCLA Bruins and the completely unranked Washington Huskies, which the Bruins won in the closing seconds, 78-75.

USC's Trojans whacked Washington State, 88-65, in the first half of the AAWU doubleheader attended by 8,213.

• • • •

UCLA, WHICH will have to face the same Huskies in Seattle next weekend, boosted its conference record to 6-0 and its season mark to 16-2 with eight games remaining on the schedule before the anticipated challenge for a repeat national championship.

This was the closest Washington has come to beating UCLA in Los Angeles in 12 years, and close it was. The lead changed hands 16 times and the score was tied 14 times.

The Huskies held a nine-point lead early in the second half but it was wiped out by one of those patented UCLA explosions. This one saw UCLA tally 16 points while Washington got but two free throws.

• • • •

GALE GOODRICH led all scorers with 27. Husky Lynn Nance got 25. Washington's record now is 6-10, 3-3 in conference.

UCLA grabbed a 41-40 halftime lead when Goodrich tipped in a follow shot at the buzzer, but the Huskies came back after the rest period with five baskets before the Bruins could score.

So with five minutes gone and the scoreboard favoring Washington, 50-45, UCLA coach John Wooden ordered his men into their hard-press defense. The pressure got to the Huskies for the first time and UCLA scored five consecutive points in 90 seconds to tie the count at 50-all.

From there it was a back-and-forth battle to the end.

Washington trailed by three points going into the final 90 seconds, but a pair of UCLA free throws with 1:20 remaining ended the threat to the Bruins' unblemished record in two seasons of AAWU competition.

Trojan stringbean center John Block, with a fine all-round performance, scored 33 points as USC evened its conference record at 3-3 and its season record at 9-9.

• • • •

WASHINGTON STATE, which scored only 41 points in a record loss by a 52-point margin to UCLA Friday night, began even slower against the Trojans. After 14 minutes of play the Cougars had only two field goals, and one of those was a tip-in.

It wasn't so much that the Cougars were missing their shots, they were missing their passes to each other and the Trojans were stealing the ball for easy, driving lay-ups.

Troy ran up a 21-6 advantage as Allan Young scored 15 of those first 21 points. Shortly before the half the Cougars broke out of their cocoon and narrowed the margin to 28-20. They had found the solution to their problems. They quit trying to pass the ball to each other and they threw it at the hoop, through which it went with startling regularity.

• • • •

YOUNG, who, on Friday night while the Trojans were losing 78-77 to the Washington Huskies became the fourth man in USC history to go over a 1,000-point career milestone, totaled 27 points Saturday night. He now has 1,033 in two and one-half seasons, and with eight games remaining he needs only to average 7 points to pass Bill Sharman and Roy Irvin and rank No. 2 on the all-time list behind John Rudometkin. Rudometkin's record (1,484) is out of reach.

The Trojans increased the lead steadily through the second half until they were 20 points in front with 10 minutes remaining. But it was never a dull contest in spite of the one-sidedness, for the Washington State team came up with a number of unbelievable ways of losing the ball without taking a shot.

Shooting averages show the Cougars, a young and inexperienced team, are not bad when they don't get the ball before getting into range. They connected on 44% from the field, compared to USC's 39%. The Cougars' leader was Bud Norris, a soph from the village of Sedro Woolly, Wash., who got 23.

In an afternoon game, the USC frosh defeated Glendale, 90-80.

Bellamy Sparks Baltimore Over Lakers, 116-112

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Baltimore Bullets received four quarter help from Walt Bellamy Saturday night and overcame great shooting performances by Jerry West and Elgin Baylor to beat Los Angeles, 116-112.

BELLAMY

Bellamy saved 12 of his 30 points for the last 12 minutes and also dominated the backboards as the Bullets rallied in the last five minutes.

West, who led all scorers with 39 points, gave the Lakers a 101-96 lead with 4:50 left, but the Bullets spurted for 10 straight points in the next two minutes to move on top, 106-101.

• • • •

WEST and Baylor brought the Lakers back to within one point, 108-107, but Gus Johnson and Don Ohl hit the key field goals that enabled the Bullets to hold on. Baylor, who had 15 points in the third quarter, finished with 38 points.

In addition to his 30 points, Bellamy also established a club and civic center record by grabbing 30 rebounds.

The Lakers play the Celtics in Boston today. The game will be televised (delayed tape) at 2 p.m. on KABC (7). The Lakers then return home to play the Philadelphia 76ers Monday night.

4:01.7 Mile Fastest of Season

SEATTLE (AP) — John Camien of College of Emporia, Kansas, blazed a mile in 4:01.7 for the fastest mile of the current indoor season Saturday night in the Seattle Invitational Indoor Track Meet.

Camien's time beat the 4:03 posted last week in Boston as a season best by John Davies of New Zealand.

Bob Day of UCLA finished second in 4:02.4 after a shoulder to shoulder last lap duel with Camien.

Little Gerry Lindgren was named the meet's outstanding athlete on an 8:40.9 clocking in the two-mile, three seconds above his best for the distance.

William Fosdick of Southern California upset John Uelses in the pole vault, 15-7 to 15-4.

Roscoe Devine of Vancouver won the high school mile in 4:16.5.

U.S. Record of 48.1 in Indoor 440

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—Texas Southern's Ray Saddler set a U.S. record of 48.1 seconds in the 440-yard dash at the Albuquerque indoor track meet Saturday night.

He won easily over Mike Larabee and Adolph Plummer of the Southern California Striders.

Saddler topped the old mark of 48.2 set by Ron Cochran in 1942 and was only one-tenth of a second off the world indoor mark of 48.0, held by Wendell Mottley of Yale.

America's best long jumper, Ralph Boston, posted a double win, taking his specialty with a leap of 25-8½ inches and also winning the 60-yard high hurdles in 7.3 seconds.

Rex Cawley of the Pasadena Athletic Club hit a hurdle and was forced to drop out of the race, and also scratched in the 440.

Motley Freed, Appears Feb. 11

Marvin Ray Motley, 19-year-old Long Beach City College football star, was released on bail Saturday. He was arrested Friday night on charges of disturbing the peace at The Hutch, a Recreation Department Canteen at 2611 Locust Ave.

Motley, "player of the game" in last year's Junior Rose Bowl classic, was freed on $110 bail pending his appearance at 10 a.m. Feb. 11 in Dept. 1 of the Municipal Court.

GALLERY CHEERS, BUT BILLY JUST LEERS

Gallery surrounding 12th green at Indian Wells salutes Billy Casper's sand explosion with cheer, but the man himself retains a stoic expression. Shot lipped cup and Casper got his par en route to 72-hole lead in Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Casper in Two-Shot Desert Classic Lead

By JERRY WYNN
L. P-T Staff Writer

PALM SPRINGS — It was Crosby's weather for Hope's tournament, there were Japanese girls for caddies and they finished 72 holes without finishing the tournament.

All was topsy-turvy Saturday except for the name of the new leader.

Bill Casper, the bulbous birdie-man of San Diego, is back knocking at golf's golden victory gates again. He takes a two-stroke lead into the final round of the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic today.

• • • •

DESPITE a day of capricious winds mixed with pelting rain and brilliant sunshine, Casper fired a five-under par 67 at Indian Wells for a 72-hole total of 276.

"I hope I can keep up this trend," said Bill in reference to his downhill scores of 70-70-69-67. "I've had two chances to win this tournament before. Maybe I'll get lucky this time."

Casper was tied for the lead after four rounds of the 1961 and 1964 Desert Classics only to tail off in the payoff round. Today, a jackpot of $15,000 and a new Chrysler Imperial auto awaits him if he keeps the victory date.

"I'll take that car off his hands," said smiling Shirley Casper. "Bill does public relations work for Buick and it might be embarrassing to him."

Casper plays at Bermuda Dunes today along with the 70 pros who got under the 293 cutoff mark. He will tee off at 9:30, unusually early for the leader, to accommodate national television, which begins at 12:30.

Situated alone in second place is young Frank Beard, the first-round leader, who shot 68 at Indian Wells Saturday for a total of 278.

There is a three-way tie for third place at 279 and looming menacingly there is Arnold Palmer, twice a Classic champion and the greatest stretch-runner in golf history. Palmer eagled the 18th hole at Indian Wells on a 32-foot putt for a 67 Saturday.

In 1962, another San Diego star, Gene Littler, led Palmer by three strokes going into the final round only to have Arnie blow by him with five successive front nine birdies.

Tied with Palmer today are little Davey Marr, who carded an excellent 69 at wind-blown LaQuinta, and tall Tommy Aaron, who blew up on the back side at Eldorado to finish with a 72.

Aaron was four-under par after 12 holes and the apparent leader. But he bogied the 13th and 16th and took a double bogey on the 17th when he buried a 4-iron approach into a trap.

• • • •

JACK NICKLAUS also had back nine trouble at Indian Wells to erase a 33 on the front side and finish with a 72 for 283. He hit into a trap for a double bogey on the par-three 13th.

Chief among the crestfallen was Rod Funseth, the surprising third-round leader, who hit his first drive out of bounds at Eldorado and finished with a 78 for 284.

Casper had six birdies and one bogey for nines of 34-33.

• • • •

THE 33-YEAR-OLD former Notre Dame student and graduate of the U.S. Navy birdied the par-five fifth hole by chipping stiff to the pin and the seventh on a 9-iron and six-foot putt.

Coming home, Bill bogied the 10th when the wind caught his drive and flew it into a bunker. But he reeled off birdies on the 14th, 15th and 16th on putts of 25, 12 and 12 feet and barely missed an eagle on the 19th. He hit a 3-iron 10 feet behind the 482-yard, par-five hole and two putted.

"The wind was horrible because it never stayed the same," said Casper. "I had my umbrella up about three times, but the rain didn't bother me."

One of Casper's amateur partners Saturday was actor Jim Garner. But they were not accompanied by one of the six specially imported Japanese girl caddies.

• • • •

Two teams tied for the amateur title at 53 under par. One was Lloyd Rossi, Jim Clarke and Sylvester Enea and the other Melvin Erickson, Joe Dyer and Merlin Witte.

Among Long Beach amateurs, Earl Lundhigh finished fourth at 51 under, Tommy Murphy was 49, Al Dean 44, Jim Crooker and Harold Hofman 40 and Barney Whisenant 39.

Ara Parseghian was 46 and host Bob Hope 41.

MILWAUKEE WOULD WIN IN ANTI-TRUST

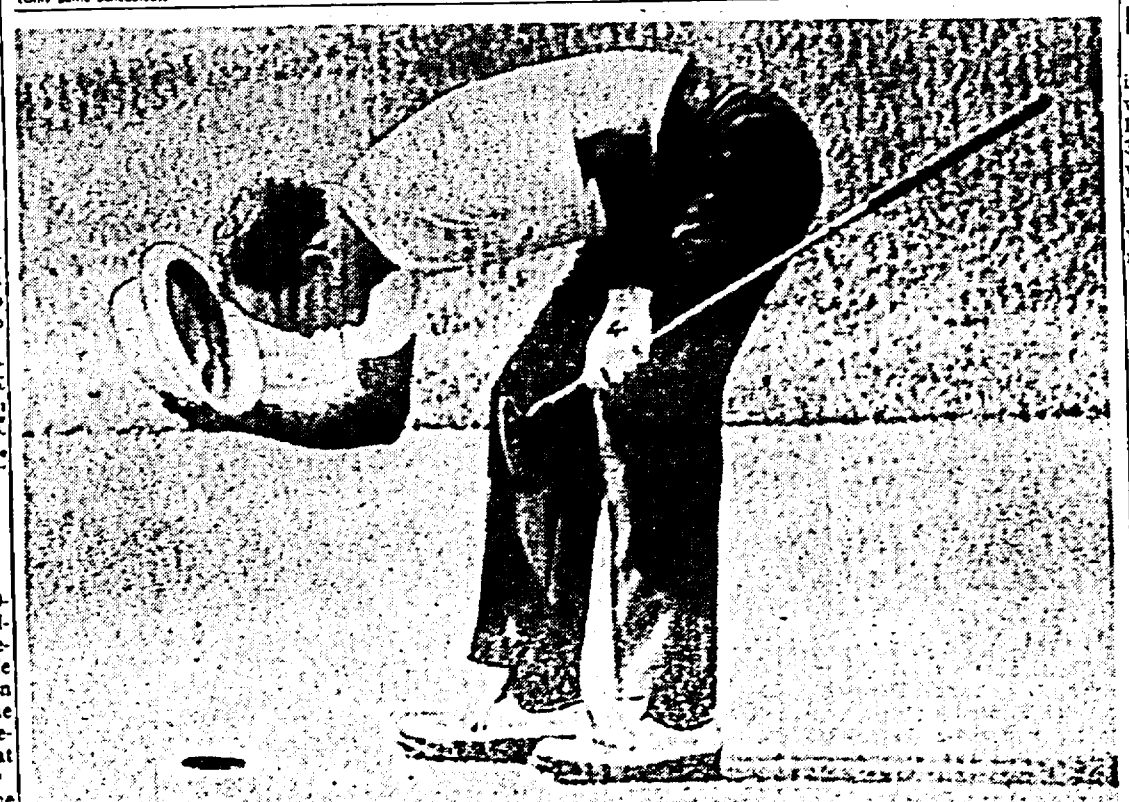

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said Saturday he was hopeful Milwaukee County will start a federal anti-trust suit against the Milwaukee Braves, and added the county could likely win.

"All that's left of baseball is the chase for the almighty dollar," Celler said. "And it's purely a business operation."

Curious Clover Triumphs in Santa Margarita 'Cap

By ERNIE MASON

There was nothing curious about the winner of Saturday's Santa Margarita Handicap at Santa Anita before nearly 46,000 racing fans.

The margin in the $60,350 event, which traditionally determines the distaff championship of the meeting, was four and one-half lengths.

The five-year-old daughter of Berseem covered the nine furlongs in 1:49 3/5. Skies were cloudy but the track was rated as fast.

William Haggin Perry's highly regarded Batteur, a co-winner in 1964, was well placed going to the first turn, but hung back later and finished a disappointing fourth.

Curious Clover, with Kenny Church in the saddle, jumped to an early lead out of the gate and was in command going to the first turn, a wire-to-wire victor. Church never fully extended her until he rode her out a bit at the finish.

The winner returned $11.00, $5.60 and $6.40. Treachery, ridden by Bill Shoemaker, paid $4.80 and $4.80, and Petticoat paid $4.60 for the show.

Treachery, owned by Patrice Jacobs, was an entry with Batteur by trainer Hirsch Jacobs. She advanced strongly on the last turn but never really challenged Curious Clover.

Petticoat, with Miguel Yanez up, was close to the pace at the outset and moved to make a bid on the far turn but then slowly gave ground.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Affectionately, mentioned prominently as a top entry earlier in the week, was scratched. Had she run it would have given Hirsch Jacobs a triple entry.

UCLA Tips Huskies, 78-75; Troy Romps

By JEROME HALL

The kind of contest that fills arenas and gymnasiums all across the country and makes basketball the world's noisiest game was played in the L.A. Sports Arena Saturday night.

It was a contest between the No. 2-ranked UCLA Bruins and the completely unranked Washington Huskies, which the Bruins won in the closing seconds, 78-75.

USC's Trojans whacked Washington State, 88-65, in the first half of the AAWU doubleheader attended by 8,213.

* * * *

UCLA, WHICH will have to face the same Huskies in Seattle next weekend, boosted its conference record to 6-0 and its season mark to 16-2 with eight games remaining on the schedule before the anticipated challenge for a repeat national championship.

This was the closest Washington has come to beating UCLA in Los Angeles in 12 years, and close it was. The lead changed hands 16 times and the score was tied 14 times.

The Huskies held a nine-point lead early in the second half but it was wiped out by one of those patented UCLA explosions. This one saw UCLA tally 16 points while Washington got but two free throws.

* * * *

GALE GOODRICH led all scorers with 27. Husky Lynn Nance got 25. Washington's record now is 6-10, 3-3 in conference.

UCLA grabbed a 41-40 halftime lead when Goodrich tipped in a follow shot at the buzzer, but the Huskies came back after the rest period with five baskets before the Bruins could score.

So with five minutes gone and the scoreboard favoring Washington, 50-45, UCLA coach John Wooden ordered his men into their hard-press defense. The pressure got to the Huskies for the first time and UCLA scored five consecutive points in 90 seconds to tie the count at 50-all.

From there it was a back-and-forth battle to the end.

Washington trailed by three points going into the final 90 seconds, but a pair of UCLA free throws with 1:20 remaining ended the threat to the Bruins' unblemished record in two seasons of AAWU competition.

Trojan stringbean center John Block, with a fine all-round performance, scored 33 points as USC evened its conference record at 3-3 and its season record at 9-9.

* * * *

WASHINGTON STATE, which scored only 41 points in a record loss by a 52-point margin to UCLA Friday night, began even slower against the Trojans. After 14 minutes of play the Cougars had only two field goals, and one of those was a tip-in.

It wasn't so much that the Cougars were missing their shots, they were missing their passes to each other and the Trojans were stealing the ball for easy, driving lay-ups.

Troy ran up a 21-6 advantage as Allan Young scored 15 of those first 21 points. Shortly before the half the Cougars broke out of their cocoon and narrowed the margin to 28-20. They had found the solution to their problems. They quit trying to pass the ball to each other and they threw it at the hoop, through which it went with startling regularity.

* * * *

YOUNG, who, on Friday night while the Trojans were losing 78-77 to the Washington Huskies became the fourth man in USC history to go over a 1,000-point career milestone, totaled 27 points Saturday night. He now has 1,033 in two and one-half seasons, and with eight games remaining he needs only to average 7 points to pass Bill Sharman and Roy Irvin and rank No. 2 on the all-time list behind John Rudometkin. Rudometkin's record (1,484) is out of reach.

The Trojans increased the lead steadily through the second half until they were 20 points in front with 10 minutes remaining. But it was never a dull contest in spite of the one-sidedness, for the Washington State team came up with a number of unbelievable ways of losing the ball without taking a shot.

Shooting averages show the Cougars, a young and inexperienced team, are not bad when they don't get the ball before getting into range. They connected on 44% from the field, compared to USC's 39%. The Cougars' leader was Bud Norris, a soph from the village of Sedro Woolly, Wash., who got 23.

In an afternoon game, the USC frosh defeated Glendale, 90-80.

U.S. Record of 48.1 in Indoor 440

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—Texas Southern's Ray Saddler set a U.S. record of 48.1 seconds in the 440-yard dash at the Albuquerque indoor track meet Saturday night.

He won easily over Mike Larabee and Adolph Plummer of the Southern California Striders.

Saddler topped the old mark of 48.2 set by Ron Cochran in 1942 and was only one-tenth of a second off the world indoor mark of 48.0, held by Wendell Mottley of Yale.

America's best long jumper, Ralph Boston, posted a double win, taking his specialty with a leap of 25-8½ inches and also winning the 60-yard high hurdles in 7.3 seconds.

Rex Cawley of the Pasadena Athletic Club hit a hurdle and was forced to drop out of the race, and also scratched in the 440.

60 high hurdles—1. Ralph Boston, Southern Calif. Striders, 7.3. 2. Roy Hicks, Texas Southern, 7.4. 3. Blaine Lindgren, Utah Track Club, 7.4.
440—1. Bernie Rivers, N.M., 6.1. 2. Clyde Duncan, TS, 6.2. 3. Steve Caminiti, N.M., 6.2.

Motley Freed, Appears Feb. 11

Marvin Ray Motley, 19-year-old Long Beach City College football star, was released on bail Saturday. He was arrested Friday night on charges of disturbing the peace at The Hutch, a Recreation Department Canteen at 2611 Locust Ave.

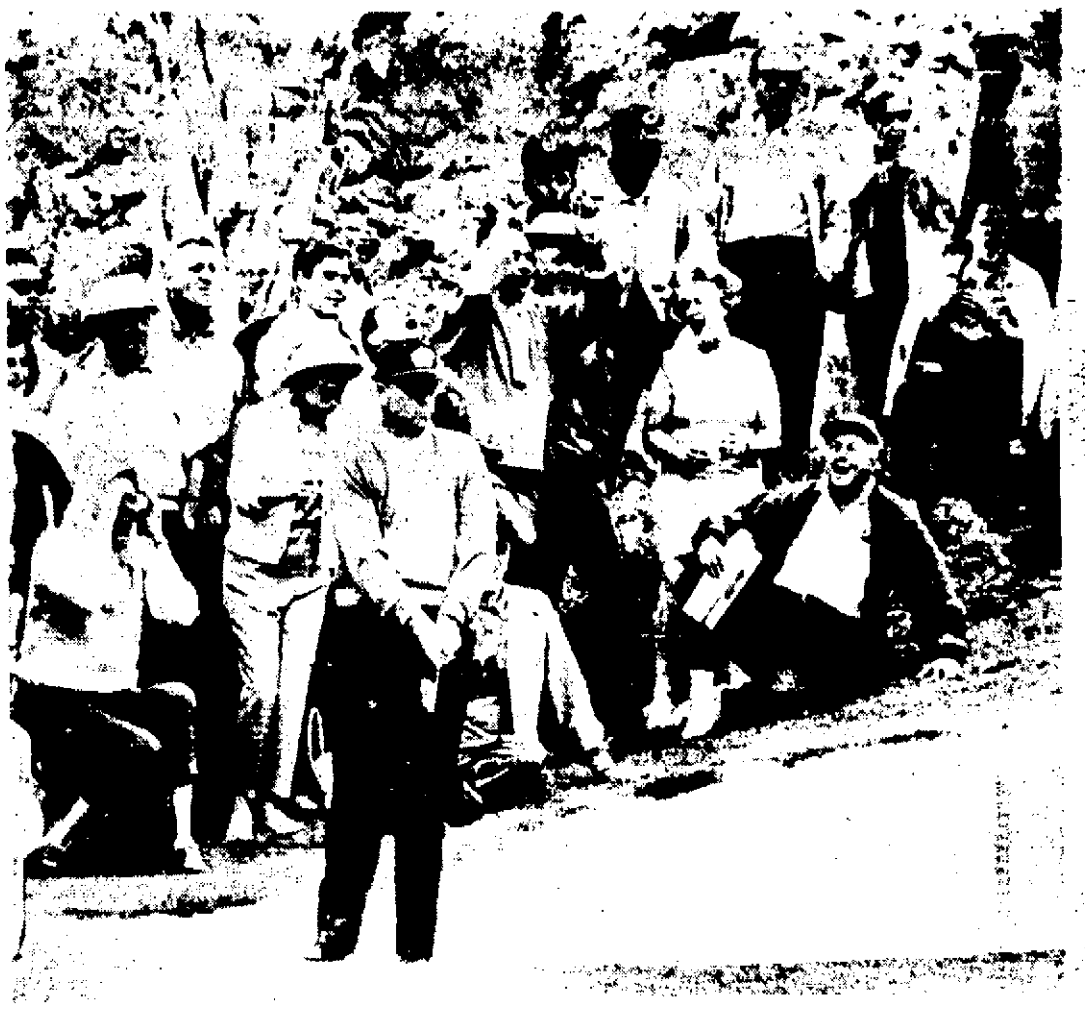

Motley, "player of the game" in last year's Junior Rose Bowl classic, was freed on $110 bail pending his appearance at 10 a.m. Feb. 11 in Dept. 1 of the Municipal Court.

S'AWRIGHT? . . . S'AWRIGHT!

Chi Chi Rodriguez doffs hat to ball, which obligingly has come to rest at bottom of third hole for scrambling par in Bob Hope Golf Classic at Palm Springs. Nevertheless, he is far back.

GALLERY CHEERS, BUT BILLY JUST LEERS

Gallery surrounding 12th green at Indian Wells salutes Billy Casper's sand explosion with cheer, but the man himself retains a stoic expression. Shot lipped cup and Casper got his par en route to 72-hole lead in Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Casper in Two-Shot Desert Classic Lead

By JERRY WYNN
I.-P-T Staff Writer

PALM SPRINGS — It was Crosby's weather for Hope's tournament, there were Japanese girls for caddies and they finished 72 holes without finishing the tournament.

All was topsy-turvy Saturday except for the name of the new leader.

Bill Casper, the bulbous birdie-man of San Diego, is back knocking at golf's golden victory gates again. He takes a two-stroke lead into the final round of the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic today.

* * * *

DESPITE a day of capricious winds mixed with pelting rain and brilliant sunshine, Casper fired a five-under par 67 at Indian Wells for a 72-hole total of 276.

"I hope I can keep up this trend," said Bill in reference to his downhill scores of 70-70-69-67. "I've had two chances to win this tournament before. Maybe I'll get lucky this time."

Casper was tied for the lead after four rounds of the 1961 and 1964 Desert Classics only to tail off in the payoff round. Today, a jackpot of $15,000 and a new Chrysler Imperial auto awaits him if he keeps the victory date.

"I'll take that car off his hands," said smiling Shirley Casper. "Bill does public relations work for Buick and it might be embarrassing to him."

Casper plays at Bermuda Dunes today along with the 70 pros who got under the 293 cutoff mark. He will tee off at 9:30, unusually early for the leader, to accommodate national television, which begins at 12:30.

Situated alone in second place is young Frank Beard, the first-round leader, who shot 68 at Indian Wells Saturday for a total of 278.

There is a three-way tie for third place at 279 and looming menacingly there is Arnold Palmer, twice a Classic champion and the greatest stretch-runner in golf history. Palmer eagled the 18th hole at Indian Wells on a 32-foot putt for a 67 Saturday.

In 1962, another San Diego star, Gene Littler, led Palmer by three strokes going into the final round only to have Arnie blow by him with five successive front nine birdies.

Tied with Palmer today are little Davey Marr, who carded an excellent 69 at wind-blown LaQuinta, and tall Tommy Aaron, who blew up on the back side at Eldorado to finish with a 72.

Aaron was four-under par after 12 holes and the apparent leader. But he bogied the 13th and 16th and took a double bogey on the 17th when he buried a 4-iron approach into a trap.

* * * *

JACK NICKLAUS also had back nine trouble at Indian Wells to erase a 33 on the front side and finish with a 72 for 283. He hit into a trap for a double bogey on the par-three 13th.

Chief among the crestfallen was Rod Funseth, the surprising third-round leader, who hit his first drive out of bounds at Eldorado and finished with a 78 for 284.

Casper had six birdies and one bogey for nines of 34-33.

* * * *

THE 33-YEAR-OLD former Notre Dame student and graduate of the U.S. Navy birdied the par-five fifth hole by chipping stiff to the pin and the seventh on a 9-iron and six-foot putt.

Coming home, Bill bogied the 10th when the wind caught his drive and flew it into a bunker. But he reeled off birdies on the 14th, 15th and 16th on putts of 25, 12 and 12 feet and barely missed an eagle on the 19th. He hit a 3-iron 10 feet behind the 482-yard, par-five hole and two putted.

"The wind was horrible because it never stayed the same," said Casper. "I had my umbrella up about three times, but the rain didn't bother me."

One of Casper's amateur partners Saturday was actor Jim Garner. But they were not accompanied by one of the six specially imported Japanese girl caddies.

* * * *

Two teams tied for the amateur title at 53 under par. One was Lloyd Rossi, Jim Clarke and Sylvester Enea and the other Melvin Erickson, Joe Dyer and Merlin Witte.

Among Long Beach amateurs, Earl Lundhigh finished fourth at 51 under, Tommy Murphy was 49, Al Dean 44, Jim Crooker and Harold Hoffman 40 and Barney Whisenant 39.

Ara Parseghian was 46 and host Bob Hope 41.

Norris Stars in Bruins' NHL Win

BOSTON (AP) — Reg Fleming's goal-mouth deflection with 1:58 remaining gave the Boston Bruins a hard-earned 3-2 National Hockey League victory over New York Saturday night.

Rookie goalie Jack Norris was outstanding in the Boston nets, making 32 saves.

MILWAUKEE WOULD WIN IN ANTI-TRUST

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said Saturday he was hopeful Milwaukee County will start a federal anti-trust suit against the Milwaukee Braves, and added the county could likely win.

"All that's left of baseball is the chase for the almighty dollar," Celler said. "And it's purely a business operation."

Curious Clover Triumphs in Santa Margarita 'Cap

By ERNIE MASON

There was nothing curious about the winner of Saturday's Santa Margarita Handicap at Santa Anita before nearly 46,000 racing fans.

The margin in the $60,350 event, which traditionally determines the distaff championship of the meeting, was four and one-half lengths.

The five-year-old daughter of Berseem covered the nine furlongs in 1:49.3/5. Skies were cloudy but the track was rated as fast.

William Haggin Perry's highly regarded Batteur, a co-winner in 1964, was well placed going to the first turn, but hung back later and finished a disappointing fourth.

Curious Clover, with Kenny Church in the saddle, jumped to an early lead out of the gate and was in command going to the first turn, a wire-to-wire victor. Church never fully extended her until he rode her out a bit at the finish.

The winner returned $11.00, $5.60 and $6.40. Treachery, ridden by Bill Shoemaker, paid $4.80 and $4.80, and Petticoat paid $4.80 for the show.

Treachery, owned by Patrice Jacobs, was an entry with Batteur by trainer Hirsch Jacobs. She advanced strongly on the last turn but never really challenged Curious Clover.

Petticoat, with Miguel Yanez up, was close to the pace at the outset and moved to make a bid on the far turn but then slowly gave ground.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Affectionately, mentioned prominently as a top entry earlier in the week, was scratched. Had she run it would have given Hirsch Jacobs a triple entry.

Golf's Youngsters Take Over

By OSCAR FRALEY

TEQUESTA, Fla.—The time has come, said Toney Penna in what may provide a golfing earthquake, for the early greats of the fairway to admit that they were merely prehistoric men walloping stones with a stick.

Now when you speak of the fabulous forerunners you are including automatically such fabled figures as Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour and Gene Sarazen.

WES ELLIS
Knocks Off Big Names

Your brassie buff doesn't take too kindly to dulling the glitter of the early glamor boys of the greens. But Toney has a heap of ammunition, starting with a muffin-faced Texan named Wes Ellis who recently walked off with the San Diego Open.

Ellis is only a "home club pro," meaning he prefers to stay with his family and takes only an occasional shot at the tour. Yet, while his credentials may be somewhat ordinary, this extraordinary fellow knocked off most of the big names in winning one of the early winter tourneys.

"EVERYTHING ABOUT his victory proves without doubt how much farther ahead of the early greats the players are today," asserted Penna as casually as a high iron worker in a subway. "He shot an unbelievable 66-65-71-65—267 and all he got was a tie, winning on the first extra hole."

One bite doesn't make a dinner, he proceeded, so how about last year's PGA championship?

"Jack Nicklaus shot two 68s and two 69s, and remember no winner ever had four rounds in the 60s," he said. "So all it gets him is second place."

Well, maybe that was just a fluke.

"No sir," Penna argued aggressively. "When Ben Hogan won the U.S. Open at Oakland Hills in 1951 he shot 287. That's only 13 years ago. But last summer Bobby Nichols won the Carling at the same course.

"Now, before they teed off," Penna continued, "every player in the field would have taken 282 and gladly stayed in the clubhouse. So Nichols wins it with a 278—and 282 was good for no better than fourth place."

I SUGGEST TO PENNA that maybe it's the precision-made tools of the golfing trade and all you get from him is a snort of derision.

"They talk about how much the wedge has meant to the game but let me tell you that Byron Nelson, one of the greatest just a few years back, never carried a wedge at the height of this success," says Penna, chief club designer for MacGregor. "I know. I made his clubs."

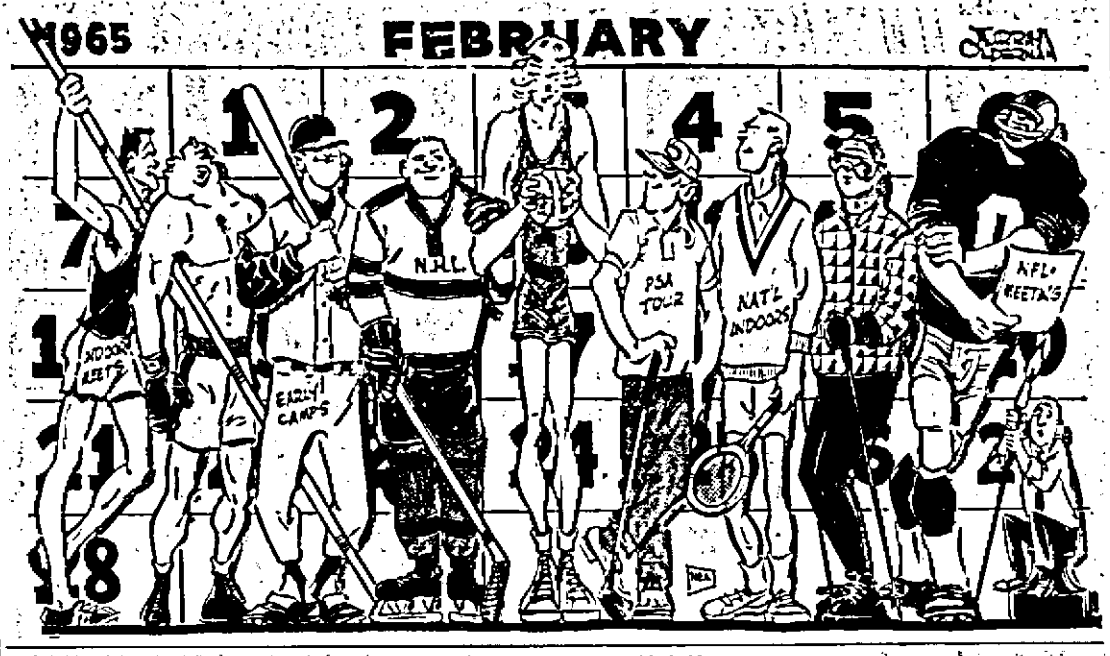

Well, anyhow, somebody said, the classic swing is no more and the current crop can't maneuver the ball like in the old days.

"Bunk," snapped the intense little man. "It isn't how you swing but how many strokes you take. These guys get the job done today like nobody ever thought of doing it."

It has become de rigueur among the golfing analysts to put the rap on Arnold Palmer's form as a man who blocks out his shots but all it gets is a chuckle from Penna.

"He's not a stylist, for sure," he nodded. "But I'll put him up against anybody on any kind of a shot. He'll play with any of them and has power to boot. If they think Palmer has a lousy swing, watch his action through the hitting area and forget about classic style. He's a winner and that ought to be great enough."

Any arguments?

Iowa, Gophers Threaten Michigan's Big 10 Rule

Compiled from Wire Reports

Powerful Michigan enjoyed a night of leisure Saturday but the Wolverines awoke this morning to find a shadow lingering over each shoulder.

While the cat was away, two of its prey did play—and Iowa and Minnesota played well enough to turn the Big 10 basketball race into a three-way affair with little breathing room.

Iowa, conqueror of UCLA one week ago and probably the most improved team in the nation, turned back Northwestern's second half rally, 78-72, while Minnesota rode a 32-point performance by Lou Hudson to an 88-79 victory over Michigan State.

The Hawkeyes and Gophers each boast 5-1 league records, one-half game behind Michigan. Iowa and the Wolverines collide Monday night.

Northwestern closed to within two points of Iowa, 41-39, in the second half, but then lost four starters via fouls and was never again a threat. George Peeples led Iowa with 29 points.

In another Big Ten attraction, Illinois came within one point of matching the conference scoring record with a 121-93 rout of Purdue. The Illini barrage diminished a 41-point effort by the Boilermakers' Dave Schellhase.

While such nationally ranked titans as Davidson and Indiana joined Michigan on the sidelines Saturday, third-ranked St. Joseph's, fourth-ranked Providence, sixth-ranked Duke, eighth-ranked Wichita and ninth-ranked Vanderbilt all triumphed.

• • • •

ST. JOSEPH'S hit 26 of 34 last half shots to bury Wake Forest, 117-91. In scoring its 19th victory in 20 starts, St. Joseph ran up the highest point total ever registered against the Deacons.

Tim Walker scored 32 points as undefeated Providence flooded Niagara, 74-55. It was the Friars' 16th victory in a row.

Duke ran its winning streak to five and brought its season record to 13-2 with a 109-89 decision over West Virginia. Jack Marin led the Blue Devils with 32 points while sophomore Bob Verga added 28.

• • • •

PLAYING without all-America Dave Stallworth for the first time in three years, Wichita whipped St. Louis, 72-64, to keep its Missouri Valley Conference slate clean.

Vanderbilt toppled Tulane, 85-67, despite a 24-point performance by the Green Waves' Al Andrews. Vandy is now 15-2 over-all and 7-2 in the SEC.

While suffering defeats in several international skirmishes, the Pentagon was still smiling Saturday over a minor victory by its Army. This one was by West Point and it was a 58-56 upset of St. John's. Dan Schrage's lay-in was the decider after Schrage had intercepted a St. John's pass.

In another upset, Miami of Ohio whipped Loyola of Chicago, 79-74. Jeff Gehring paced the victors with 27 points. Miami hit 51% from the floor.

• • • •

ALL-AMERICA Bill Bradley overcame a first-half thigh injury and scored 28 points as Princeton whipped Yale, 67-62. Bradley caught a knee in his left thigh late in the first half and spent five minutes recuperating on the bench.

Ole Miss committed 34 fouls as Kentucky won its fourth in a row, 102-65. Four Rebel starters fouled out.

Missouri shackled Oklahoma State with its first Big Eight setback, 49-42, snapping the Cowboy's eight-game winning streak. Villanova kept a winning streak intact, making it five in a row by defeating DePaul, 85-67.

St. Bonaventure remained on the trail of a post-season tourney bid by defeating Seton Hall, 79-63. Detroit exchanged the lead 12 times with Notre Dame before outlasting the Irish, 77-74. Detroit is 13-6.

Dr. Parker Leads in Curling Finals

Dr. Jerry Parker won three matches without a loss Saturday to move into the lead in the California curling championship playdowns at the Norwalk Ice Skating Center.

With three matches scheduled for today at 8 a.m., 12:30 and 6 p.m., Dr. Parker holds a one-match lead over Alex Cowie of West Covina and Wilf Flager of San Francisco. The winner will advance to the national finals at Seattle, March 1-6.

9th-Ranked Dons Near NCAA Berth

RICHMOND (UPI) — Ninth ranked University of San Francisco moved closer to a berth in the NCAA basketball tournament Saturday night by knocking off St. Mary's, 83-60, for its 20th consecutive West Coast Athletic Conference victory.

It was the Dons' 15th win of the season in 18 games and fifth in the WCAC without a setback.

RICKEY LAUDS DARK AS MANAGER

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Long-time major league star Alvin Dark was inducted into Oklahoma's baseball hall of fame Friday night at the 15th annual diamond dinner.

Veteran major league executive Branch Rickey, principal speaker at the dinner, lauded Dark, a native of Comanche, Okla.

"If I owned a ball club 100 per cent," Rickey said, "he would be one of my two choices for manager." The other, he said, would be Johnny Keane.

Washington Return Leads LBSC, 104-79

ORANGE—Washington did not sleep here Saturday night.

Belatedly returning to action for the first time in four games after an ankle injury, Long Beach State guard Carl Washington turned impending disaster into an enemy rout as the 49ers overwhelmed Chapman, 104-79, on the loser's floor.

Although he played less than 17 minutes, Washington led Long Beach scorers with 22 points, only two less than Joe Cucinella's game high of 24 for the Panthers.

• • • • •

ENTERING at 10:07 of the first half with his squad on the short end of a 24-17 count, Washington inspired three quick Long Beach field goals, saw Chapman score once more, and then checked in nine straight points, including a field goal with 7:45 remaining which gave his team a 27-26 lead—and Long Beach never looked back as it sprinted to a 51-33 halftime advantage.

Then, with Washington again on the bench after intermission, coach Dick Perry's squad increased the lead to 55-33 before Chapman made a last but futile gesture, scoring four consecutive field goals to narrow the margin to 58-43 and forcing Long Beach into a timeout to regroup.

But State came back to trade basket-for-basket in the next two minutes and then forged continually ahead until the 49ers had their biggest lead of the night, 97-64, with 4:12 remaining.

Washington, of course, wasn't the whole story.

John Rambo scored 21 and, after a slow start, rebounded like he owned the boards. Chuck Hagen was Mr. Consistency with 16, John Barnicoat had 15, Dave Brown had a steady 12 and big Harold Hines chipped in 10.

In bringing their record to 12-8, the 49ers beat Chapman for the fourth straight time and took a 12-11 lead in a series which goes back to Long Beach's cage inception.

The win, one of the more spectacular for 49er fans, saw Long Beach hit 58% from the field and 83 from the foul line.

RAMS FALL, 77-62

Speed Decisive as Rabbits Romp

By DOUG IVES

Millikan High's inspired Rams dogged Poly for three quarters Saturday night before the Rabbit roadrunners made endurance the decisive factor in a furious fourth period to post a 77-62 victory.

It was Poly's most difficult win in five unbeaten Moore League contests and a crowd of 3,700 in the City College gym delighted in watching the Rabbits get a run for their money.

The score was deadlocked 39-all at halftime and Poly's lead was a shaky four points (55-51) after three periods, but bench strength and aggressive rebounding took their tolls thereafter.

• • • • •

MILLIKAN stayed in contention by breaking Poly's full-court press via long passes and crisp ball-handling, and by hitting a torrid 19-of-23 from the foul line in the first half.

Poly threatened to pull away three times in the third period, but the Rams didn't give in until the law of numbers caught up with them about two minutes into the final stanza.

The Rabbits had alternated eight players to six for Millikan, and the battle-weary Rams couldn't keep pace with Poly's fast break in those final six minutes.

The turning point came with the Hares leading 61-53. Big Phil Muckelroy blocked a clear Millikan shot, retrieved it and fired a court-long pass to Ken Booker for a lay-in. The 10-point spread took the fight out of the Rams.

• • • •

CHUCK MOORE was the game's outstanding player. He worked smoothly inside and out to garner 25 points. Gene Washington's rebounding in the second half and Booker's 10-point contribution as a reserve also was important.

Dale Millette sparkled for Millikan, scoring 14 points while holding Poly hotshot Trent Gaines to nine. The playmaking of Rich Keller and the overall play of Bob Davis also was worth noting. Davis had 17 points despite four first-half fouls.

Angels Take 46 to Springs

The Angels will take a 46-player contingent to their Palm Springs training base, general manager Fred Haney announced Saturday.

Included are 39 roster players and seven non-roster players, five of whom belong to the Angels' Seattle farm club. The two exceptions are free agent pitcher Don Mossi and El Paso catcher Del Bates.

Seattle players training with the Angels are pitcher Bob Duliba and infielders Julio Gotay, Joe Koppe, Les Kuhnz, Winston Llenas and Felix Torres.

DOWN, BUT NOT FOR LONG

Poly's Trent Gaines falls for no gain, losing ball as Millikan's Dale Millette (30) stands by. Jackrabbits bounced back for 77-62 victory.

Golf's Youngsters Take Over

By OSCAR FRALEY

TEQUESTA, Fla.—The time has come, said Toney Penna in what may provide a golfing earthquake, for the early greats of the fairway to admit that they were merely prehistoric men walloping stones with a stick.

Now when you speak of the fabulous forerunners you are including automatically such fabled figures as Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour and Gene Sarazen.

WES ELLIS
Knocks Off Big Names

Your brassie buff doesn't take too kindly to dulling the glitter of the early glamor boys of the greens. But Toney has a heap of ammunition, starting with a muffin-faced Texan named Wes Ellis who recently walked off with the San Diego Open.

Ellis is only a "home club pro," meaning he prefers to stay with his family and takes only an occasional shot at the tour. Yet, while his credentials may be somewhat ordinary, this extraordinary fellow knocked off most of the big names in winning one of the early winter tourneys.

"EVERYTHING ABOUT his victory proves without doubt how much farther ahead of the early greats the players are today," asserted Penna as casually as a high iron worker in a subway. "He shot an unbelievable 66-65-71-65—267 and all he got was a tie, winning on the first extra hole."

One bite doesn't make a dinner, he proceeded, so how about last year's PGA championship?

"Jack Nicklaus shot two 68s and two 69s, and remember, no winner ever had four rounds in the 60s," he said. "So all it gets him is second place."

Well, maybe that was just a fluke.

"No sir," Penna argued aggressively. "When Ben Hogan won the U.S. Open at Oakland Hills in 1951 he shot 287. That's only 13 years ago. But last summer Bobby Nichols won the Carling at the same course.

"Now, before they teed off," Penna continued, "every player in the field would have taken 282 and gladly stayed in the clubhouse. So Nichols wins it with a 278—and 282 was good for no better than fourth place."

SUGGEST TO PENNA that maybe it's the precision-made tools of the golfing trade and all you get from him is a snort of derision.

"They talk about how much the wedge has meant to the game but let me tell you that Byron Nelson, one of the greatest just a few years back, never carried a wedge at the height of this success," says Penna, chief club designer for MacGregor. "I know. I made his clubs."

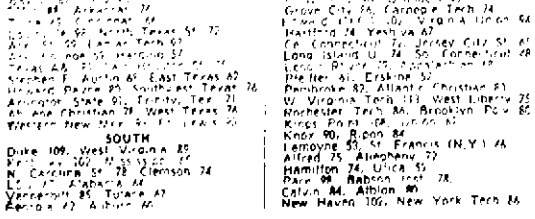

Well, anyhow, somebody said, the classic swing is no more and the current crop can't maneuver the ball like in the old days.

"Bunk," snapped the intense little man. "It isn't how you swing but how many strokes you take. These guys get the job done today like nobody ever thought of doing it."

It has become de rigueur among the golfing analysts to put the rap on Arnold Palmer's form as a man who blocks out his shots but all it gets is a chuckle from Penna.

"He's not a stylist, for sure," he nodded. "But I'll put him up against anybody on any kind of a shot. He'll play with any of them and has power to boot. If they think Palmer has a lousy swing watch his action through the hitting area and forget about classic style. He's a winner and that ought to be great enough."

Any arguments?

Iowa, Gophers Threaten Michigan's Big 10 Rule

Compiled from Wire Reports

Powerful Michigan enjoyed a night of leisure Saturday but the Wolverines awoke this morning to find a shadow lingering over each shoulder.

While the cat was away, two of its prey did play—and Iowa and Minnesota played well enough to turn the Big 10 basketball race into a three-way affair with little breathing room.

Iowa, conqueror of UCLA one week ago and probably the most improved team in the nation, turned back Northwestern's second half rally, 78-72, while Minnesota rode a 32-point performance by Lou Hudson to an 88-79 victory over Michigan State.

The Hawkeyes and Gophers each boast 5-1 league records, one-half game behind Michigan. Iowa and the Wolverines collide Monday night.

Northwestern closed to within two points of Iowa, 41-39, in the second half, but then lost four starters via fouls and was never again a threat. George Peeples led Iowa with 29 points.

In another Big Ten attraction, Illinois came within one point of matching the conference scoring record with a 121-93 rout of Purdue. The Illini barrage diminished a 41-point effort by the Boilermakers' Dave Schellhase.

While such nationally ranked titans as Davidson and Indiana joined Michigan on the sidelines Saturday, third-ranked St. Joseph's, fourth-ranked Providence, sixth-ranked Duke, eighth-ranked Wichita and ninth-ranked Vanderbilt all triumphed.

* * * *

ST. JOSEPH'S hit 26 of 34 last half shots to bury Wake Forest, 117-91. In scoring its 19th victory in 20 starts, St. Joseph ran up the highest point total ever registered against the Deacons.

Tim Walker scored 32 points as undefeated Providence flooded Niagara, 74-55. It was the Friars' 16th victory in a row.

Duke ran its winning streak to five and brought its season record to 13-2 with a 109-89 decision over West Virginia. Jack Marin led the Blue Devils with 32 points while sophomore Bob Verga added 28.

* * * *

PLAYING without all-American Dave Stallworth for the first time in three years, Wichita whipped St. Louis, 72-64, to keep its Missouri Valley Conference slate clean.

Vanderbilt toppled Tulane, 85-67, despite a 24-point performance by the Green Waves' Al Andrews. Vandy is now 15-2 over-all and 7-2 in the SEC.

While suffering defeats in several international skirmishes, the Pentagon was still smiling Saturday over a minor victory by its Army. This one was by West Point and it was a 58-56 upset of St. John's. Dan Schrage's lay-in was the decider after Schrage had intercepted a St. John's pass.

In another upset, Miami of Ohio whipped Loyola of Chicago, 79-74. Jeff Gehring paced the victors with 27 points. Miami hit 51% from the floor.

* * * *

ALL-AMERICA Bill Bradley overcame a first-half thigh injury and scored 28 points as Princeton whipped Yale, 67-62. Bradley caught a knee in his left thigh late in the first half and spent five minutes recuperating on the bench.

Ole Miss committed 34 fouls as Kentucky won its fourth in a row, 102-65. Four Rebel starters fouled out.

Missouri shackled Oklahoma State with its first Big Eight setback, 49-42, snapping the Cowboy's eight-game winning streak. Villanova kept a winning streak intact, making it five in a row by defeating DePaul, 85-67.

St. Bonaventure remained on the trail of a post-season tourney bid by defeating Seton Hall, 79-63. Detroit exchanged the lead 12 times with Notre Dame before outlasting the Irish, 77-74. Detroit is 13-6.

Dr. Parker Leads in Curling Finals

Dr. Jerry Parker won three matches without a loss Saturday to move into the lead in the California curling championship playdowns at the Norwalk Ice Skating Center.

With three matches scheduled for today at 8 a.m., 12:30 and 6 p.m., Dr. Parker holds a one-match lead over Alex Cowie of West Covina and Wilf Flager of San Francisco. The winner will advance to the national finals at Seattle, March 1-6.

9th-Ranked Dons Near NCAA Berth

RICHMOND (UPI) — Ninth ranked University of San Francisco moved closer to a berth in the NCAA basketball tournament Saturday night by knocking off St. Mary's, 83-60, for its 20th consecutive West Coast Athletic Conference victory.

It was the Dons' 15th win of the season in 18 games and fifth in the WCAC without a setback.

RICKEY LAUDS DARK AS MANAGER

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Long-time major league star Alvin Dark was inducted into Oklahoma's baseball hall of fame Friday night at the 15th annual diamond dinner.

Veteran major league executive Branch Rickey, principal speaker at the dinner, lauded Dark, a native of Comanche, Okla.

"If I owned a ball club 100 per cent," Rickey said, "he would be one of my two choices for manager." The other, he said, would be Johnny Keane.

Washington Return Leads LBSC, 104-79

ORANGE—Washington did not sleep here Saturday night.

Belatedly returning to action for the first time in four games after an ankle injury, Long Beach State guard Carl Washington turned impending disaster into an enemy rout as the 49ers overwhelmed Chapman, 104-79, on the loser's floor.

Although he played less than 17 minutes, Washington led Long Beach scorers with 22 points, only two less than Joe Cucinella's game high of 24 for the Panthers.

* * * *

ENTERING at 10:07 of the first half with his squad on the short end of a 24-17 count, Washington inspired three quick Long Beach field goals, saw Chapman score once more, and then checked in nine straight points, including a field goal with 7:45 remaining which gave his team a 27-26 lead—and Long Beach never looked back as it sprinted to a 51-33 halftime advantage.

Then, with Washington again on the bench after intermission, coach Dick Perry's squad increased the lead to 55-33 before Chapman made a last but futile gesture, scoring four consecutive field goals to narrow the margin to 58-43 and forcing Long Beach into a timeout to regroup.

But State came back to trade basket-for-basket in the next two minutes and then forged continually ahead until the 49ers had their biggest lead of the night, 97-64, with 4:12 remaining.

Washington, of course, wasn't the whole story.

John Rambo scored 21 and, after a slow start, rebounded like he owned the boards. Chuck Hagen was Mr. Consistency with 16, John Barnicoat had 15, Dave Brown had a steady 12 and big Harold Hines chipped in 10.

In bringing their record to 12-8, the 49ers beat Chapman for the fourth straight time and took a 12-11 lead in a series which goes back to Long Beach's cage inception.

The win, one of the more spectacular for 49er fans, saw Long Beach hit 58% from the field and 83 from the foul line.

RAMS FALL, 77-62

Speed Decisive as Rabbits Romp

By DOUG IVES

Millikan High's inspired Rams dogged Poly for three quarters Saturday night before the Rabbit roadrunners made endurance the decisive factor in a furious fourth period to post a 77-62 victory.

It was Poly's most difficult win in five unbeaten Moore League contests and a crowd of 3,700 in the City College gym delighted in watching the Rabbits get a run for their money.

The score was deadlocked 39-all at halftime and Poly's lead was a shaky four points (55-51) after three periods, but bench strength and aggressive rebounding took their tolls thereafter.

* * * *

MILLIKAN stayed in contention by breaking Poly's full-court press via long passes and crisp ball-handling, and by hitting a torrid 19-of-23 from the foul line in the first half.

Poly threatened to pull away three times in the third period, but the Rams didn't give in until the law of numbers caught up with them about two minutes into the final stanza.

The Rabbits had alternated eight players to six for Millikan, and the battle-weary Rams couldn't keep pace with Poly's fast break in those final six minutes.

The turning point came with the Hares leading 61-53. Big Phil Muckelroy blocked a clear Millikan shot, retrieved it and fired a court-long pass to Ken Booker for a lay-in. The 10-point spread took the fight out of the Rams.

* * * *

CHUCK MOORE was the game's outstanding player. He worked smoothly inside and out to garner 25 points. Gene Washington's rebounding in the second half and Booker's 10-point contribution as a reserve also was important.

Dale Millette sparkled for Millikan, scoring 14 points while holding Poly hotshot Trent Gaines to nine. The playmaking of Rich Keller and the overall play of Bob Davis also was worth noting. Davis had 17 points despite four first-half fouls.

Angels Take 46 to Springs

The Angels will take a 46-player contingent to their Palm Springs training base, general manager Fred Haney announced Saturday.

Included are 39 roster players and seven non-roster players, five of whom belong to the Angels' Seattle farm club. The two exceptions are free agent pitcher Don Mossi and El Paso catcher Del Bates.

Seattle players training with the Angels are pitcher Bob Duliba and infielders Julio Gotay, Joe Koppe, Les Kuhnz, Winston Llenas and Felix Torres.

Man to Man

WYNN HOPE

By JERRY WYNN

PALM SPRINGS—For Bob, hope swings eternal.

A 10-handicap amateur more famous than Arnold Palmer or Jack Nicklaus, Bob Hope plays tournament golf for a purpose which seldom coaxes birdies from the trees.

Hope plays because people love to watch him play and will contribute money to charity because he is playing.

Just as every other of the 384 amateurs in the Bob Hope Desert Classic, Hope paid his $350 entry fee.

Why did you want your own tournament, Bob?

"Bing Crosby has one and even Cassius Clay has one named after him—the National Open."

Is your tournament a challenge to Crosby?

"Yes. I think we should have a personal home-and-home match series during the tournaments, each man to replace his own divots. We both have bursitis, you know. Crosby's in his shoulder. Mine is in my swing."

If Crosby accepts your challenge, how do you visualize the outcome of the match?

"I visualize taking my attorney along and also an IBM machine to count the strokes. Bing can't count until he gets to the income tax man."

How have your matches with Crosby come out before?

"As a whole Bing is more consistent. My game is flamboyant. I'm an exhibitionist who leans on the comedy. He plays charming golf. I play loose and spectacular."

What do you consider the strong point of your game?

"The way I keep score. My forte is really chipping. I'm long with my chips and short with my woods."

Did you play well here in the classic?

"I don't know why people pick on my golf game. Yesterday the maid giggled, 'Mister Hope, I made a hole-in-one with an iron—a flatiron right in your best golf slacks.'"

Do you like the four-course format used in the tournament?

"Yes. When I drive, usually the ball, tee, club and I all go in different directions with none of the four landing on a fairway. With four courses, I can't miss."

Did you enjoy playing with the pros?

"What a break to get 128 pros here. Where else could I get swearing lessons with 128 different techniques.

"Speaking of bad words, the boys who carry the clubs in this tournament never are referred to as 'caddie.' This one's sponsored by Chrysler and I'm scared to death that Doug Ford will win."

Do you consider yourself a gallery favorite?

"Yes. I am a favorite of the famous divot birds in Palm Desert. That's a species which follows guys who take too much turf. Divot birds are the kind that are so lazy they won't even dig for their own worms."

Is everything in golf funny to you?

"When I miss a putt I don't think anything in golf is funny. Someone once wrote a story explaining my habits while in the area, that 'you'll find him on the course whenever he's here. Just look for a gent with a loud sweater doing a gooney bird dance before he hits the ball.'

"But my game has improved greatly since that was written. I don't wear loud sweaters anymore. Just quiet red shirts."

The greatest. That's Bob Hope.

Palm Desert Asks for Just Deserts, Dings 'Springs

PALM SPRINGS—Putt-ing one little word after another:

The Palm Desert Board of Realtors filed a protest with the newspaper wire services over the use of the Palm Springs dateline on Bob Hope Classic stories. All four courses are located in the Palm Desert area about 20 miles from Palm Springs.

. . . Phil Harris calls hot-tempered young Davey Hill "the only golfer who can make a cocktail fork out of a 1-iron."

. . . There is a new three-some to rival Barber, Beard and Shave on reporters' featured pairings. It's Lotz, Botts and Pott.

. . . An amateur showed up for a 10:15 starting time at Bermuda Dunes the other day demanding to play. His name was not on the starting list. A further check revealed he should have been on the tee at La Quinta.

BEARD SANDERS

. . . Personable Frank Beard was asked why he remains a bachelor. "I can't see how a married golfer can make the tournament swing. So it's OK for him, I just can't see how a wife can take it."

• • • • •

. . . BUT vivacious Marilyn Zarley, wife of pro Kermit, is having a ball on the tour. "I just love every minute of it," says the blond from Pasadena, Tex. "We were married last September and have been on the road most of the time since."

. . . A wife partial to Palm Springs is Susan Marr. "Davey and I were married here five years ago. He shot a 67 in the final round of the tournament and we went right from the course to the church."

. . . Walter Hagen Jr., son of the great pro, is playing as an amateur. He has a handicap of seven.

. . . Stan Thirsk, the unheralded club pro from Kansas City, Kan., who was the second round co-leader, told of the first job he had as assistant pro. "It was at Mission Hills Country Club, which is half in Kansas and half in Missouri. They built the golf course in Kansas, which is a dry state, and the clubhouse in Missouri, which is wet."

. . . Someone in the gallery asked Doug Sanders what would happen if he lengthened his famous short backswing. Answered Doug, "I'd be a good eight-handicapper."

. . . A nearby hotel rocked Friday night when Lionel Hebert and Harry James added their trumpets to the Murray Arnold combo. Phil Harris and Desi Arnaz take part in nightly jam sessions at Indian Wells.

• • • • •

. . . AMONG THE dozen Houston U. products on the golf tour, who has the best chance to gain stardom? "None of them playing now," answered Kermit Zarley. "The greatest will be Homero Blancas when he gets out of the army this year."

. . . Jill St. John, the tournament queen, boasts one unusual statistic. She has an IQ of 162.

. . . Ara Parseghian's No. 1 booster is Joe DeFranco, the Studebaker vice-president from South Bend, Ind., who for many years assisted Bob Kelley on Ram broadcasts. "Ara could be a great golf pro if he wasn't such a great football coach," claims DeFranco.

. . . Otto Graham kidded Parseghian about his fine play in the tournament. "Ara, this is your country. It's Armenia in California."

• • • • •

. . . THERE ARE 18 golf courses in a 25-mile area here and five more are planned.

. . . You've heard the expression about golfers taking the gas. But it was newsmen who suffered when gas leaked into the press tent and caused a mass evacuation.

Jacinto West Derby Hope in May 1 Test

Wide-Open Race Looms as Bold Lad, Sadair Scratched

NEW YORK (AP)—The 91st running of the Kentucky Derby still is nearly three months away but the retirement of the flashy Sadair and the injury to the two-year-old champion Bold Lad already has the experts predicting a wide-open race when the three-year-olds clash at Churchill Downs May 1.

Until Sadair, holder of the money-winning record for two-year-olds with earnings of $498,217, was forced into retirement early in the week with a chipped bone in his left forefoot, the Derby shaped up as a three-horse affair involving Sadair, Bold Lad and Jacinto.

Then Bold Lad, winner of eight and second in his other two starts last year, popped a small splint on his right front leg. He was scratched from his scheduled debut as a three-year-old in the Bahamas at Hialeah Park last Wednesday.

• • • •

TRAINER Bill Winfrey hopes to have the son of Bold Ruler ready for the Flamingo at Hialeah March 3.

Meantime, Jacinto, another offspring of Bold Ruler, has the experts talking on the West Coast. William Haggin Perry's sensation wasn't among the two-year-old leaders last year, when he raced only twice. He finished third at Saratoga in August before suffering a slight injury, then late in the season he jumped into prominence with a 10-length triumph at Aqueduct.

Since then the colt has won three in a row at Santa Anita.

• • • •

THE SIDELINING of Sadair and Bold Lad has given owners and trainers new hope for the top winter stakes and the Triple Crown of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

However, two of the colts which figure in the Derby dope sheet will not make their 3-year-old debuts until spring. They are Michael Ford's Royal Gunner and Raymond Guest's Tom Rolfe.

Tom Rolfe, who has not been out since beating Royal Gunner and Sadair in the Cowdin at Aqueduct last fall, is expected to make his debut at Laurel this spring.

Royal Gunner, considered the better of the two Ford hopefuls, is getting his prep at the St. Lucie, Fla., training track.

NAMATH LIMPS HOME TO KISSIN' WELCOME

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Joe Namath brought his famous right knee back to Alabama Saturday and, despite a driving rainstorm, was greeted at the airport by more than a hundred fans.

Limping noticeably as he left the plane, the $400,000 New York Jets' rookie quarterback obliged photographers by kissing a stewardess three times, the third time for good measure.

"Man, that was good," Joe said with a big smile across his handsome face.

He left the airport with friends for the 65-mile drive back to Tuscaloosa, home of the University of Alabama, where he gained collegiate fame with his quarterbacking exploits.

"I won't be able to drive back," Joe said. "I still can't bend my knee properly."

Namath had difficulty getting into his new green convertible, a gift from the Jets to cement the biggest professional football deal in history. He had to slide in sideways with help from friends.

At the university, Joe must register for a new semester.

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—The two youngest national senior titleholders in history will defend their titles this week in the 1965 U.S. Figure Skating Championships.

Scott Ethan Allen, 15, of Smoke Rise, N.J., is heavily favored to retain his men's singles crown, but Peggy Fleming, 16, of Pasadena, Calif., faces strong opposition in her bid for a second women's singles title.

The four-day meet, which has drawn more than 100 amateur qualifiers from across the nation, runs Wednesday through Saturday at the Olympic Arena.

Allen, a bronze medalist in last year's Winter Olympics, is expected to duel Alain Calmat of France for the world crown.

Miss Fleming, who came out of nowhere to grab the women's title a year ago, has her hands full defending against Olympic teammates Christine Haigler, 17, of Colorado Springs and Albertina Noyes, 16, of Arlington, Mass.

OULU, Finland (AP)—Russian skaters held four of the first five places in over-all standings Saturday after the first two races of the women's World Speed Skating Championship in this northern Finnish town.

Inga Voronina, winner of the 500 meters, was first with the low point total of 96.700 and 30-year-old Valentina Stenina, the 1,500-meter winner, was second with 96.887.

PARK CITY, Utah (UPI)—High flying Frithjof Prydz and little Jimmy Huega won top individual honors and Denver University took the team championship Saturday in concluding events of the University of Utah snow carnival ski meet.

Prydz, a lanky Norwegian and two-sport letter winner at Utah, displayed near-perfect form in winning the jumping title. Huega, the big man on Colorado University's alpine squad, captured the giant slalom.

SHE SLIPS GOLF FOES 'MICKEY'

Record Book Indicates Nothing Wrong with Wright

DALLAS (AP)—Mickey Wright said a little wistfully, "I wish I had wanted something else as badly as golf so I might have something I liked to do when I finish my career."

Mary Kathryn Mickey Wright, the greatest woman golfer, has just about run out of goals.

She figures that in a couple of years she will have reached that point where there is no place to go in golf, and she would like something that could take its place.

Mickey has accomplished everything important in golf—won more tournaments, 63; more money, $177,000; most tournaments in a year, 13; most money in a year, $31,700; the lowest round, 62; lowest stroke average, 72.46.

So, how much longer does she plan to play the tour?

"I think it'll be about two years," she said at her attractive apartment here where she spends the three months away from golf each year.

WRIGHT

"I am trying to decide what I'll do when I retire ('retire' doesn't sound just right for a woman who's only 29) and I have three things in mind—clinical psychology, the stock market or teaching golf."

The tall, husky blonde who can drive a golf ball 260 yards is so dedicated to the game that she passed up marriage in 1961.

"Sure, I loved the guy and I had a lot of regrets over giving him up, but I was at the age when you look at the practical side and romance doesn't blind you. A girl can't play golf and be a housewife, too. I wanted golf more than marriage."

She earns about $40,000 a year. "I could make more than $50,000 if I took all the opportunities offered me."

She also retains her femininity. When she is on tour, she has a half-dozen pairs of slacks, 30 pairs of shorts and five or six cocktail dresses.

She did something new last year — developed an ulcer while playing in the Dallas Women's Civitan Open.

In other words, the gal has seen and done everything in golf, so why shouldn't she retire?

Rain forced postponement of all matches Saturday in the Lakewood Country club junior and senior veterans tennis tourney. Opening round matches in the county-sponsored event meet will be played today.

NL Sheds Daylight on '65 Schedule

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National League is reducing the amount of scheduled night work for its 10 teams for 1965 as compared with last year.

The 1965 schedule, announced Saturday, calls for 430 night games. Last year 438 games were scheduled, but re-scheduling at night of postponed day games increased the number played to 446, an all-time high.

The program of home openers again will be a mixed-up affair.

There once was a time when four teams opened at home on the same day in alternate years—with the exception of Cincinnati, which always opens at home—and the other four teams opened at home on the same day a few days later.

Expansion of the league to 10 teams and its spread from coast to coast has changed all that, however.

All five first openers will be played on April 12 this year with Los Angeles at New York, San Francisco at Pittsburgh, St. Louis at Chicago, Milwaukee at Cincinnati and Philadelphia at Houston.

Philadelphia will have its home opener on April 14 against San Francisco. Chicago and St. Louis will be at home for the first time on April 15 with the Braves entertaining Chicago and the champion Cardinals being host to Cincinnati.

It will be April 20 before Los Angeles and San Francisco perform before home fans for the first time with the Dodgers meeting New York and the Giants playing Pittsburgh.

The Houston Astros and Philadelphia Phils will be the leading night workers at home with 59 games each scheduled under the lights. Los Angeles will be close behind with 56. Cincinnati will have 55 night games, St. Louis 52, Pittsburgh 49 and Milwaukee 45.

The New York Mets will have 34 night games and San Francisco only 21. The Chicago Cubs, of course, will have no home games at night since there are no lights at Wrigley Field.

Pennant-race forecasters can have a field day studying the schedule for the last couple of weeks of the season.

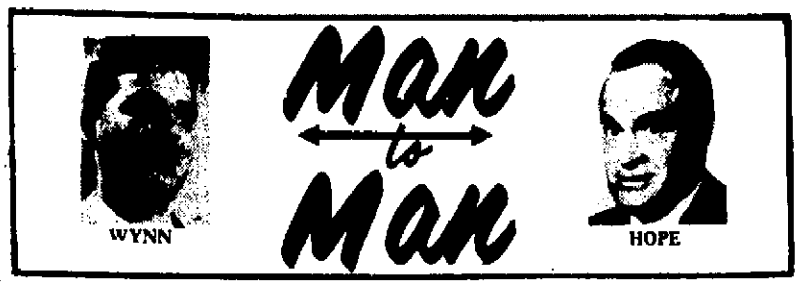

In 1964, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and San Francisco all went into the last week or so of the season with a chance for the pennant.

If that should happen again, the schedule-makers would appear to have smiled on the Phils, who blew what looked like a sure pennant last season.

In the last two weeks of the coming season the Phils will have six games each against Chicago and New York, neither of which is expected to figure very high in the race.

St. Louis, Cincinnati and Milwaukee will play most of the last two weeks on the road with San Francisco and Los Angeles providing a big share of the opposition.

The Dodgers and the Giants will play St. Louis, Cincinnati and Milwaukee exclusively in the final two weeks.

PALM SPRINGS—For Bob, hope swings eternal.

A 10-handicap amateur more famous than Arnold Palmer or Jack Nicklaus, Bob Hope plays tournament golf for a purpose which seldom coaxes birdies from the trees.

Hope plays because people love to watch him play and will contribute money to charity because he is playing.

Just as every other of the 384 amateurs in the Bob Hope Desert Classic, Hope paid his $350 entry fee.

Why did you want your own tournament, Bob?

"Bing Crosby has one and even Cassius Clay has one named after him—the National Open."

Is your tournament a challenge to Crosby?

"Yes. I think we should have a personal home-and-home match series during the tournaments, each man to replace his own divots. We both have bursitis, you know. Crosby's in his shoulder. Mine is in my swing."

If Crosby accepts your challenge, how do you visualize the outcome of the match?

"I visualize taking my attorney along and also an IBM machine to count the strokes. Bing can't count until he gets to the income tax man."

How have your matches with Crosby come out before?

"As a whole Bing is more consistent. My game is flamboyant. I'm an exhibitionist who leans on the comedy. He plays charming golf. I play loose and spectacular."

What do you consider the strong point of your game?

"The way I keep score. My forte is really chipping. I'm long with my chips and short with my woods."

Did you play well here in the classic?

"I don't know why people pick on my golf game. Yesterday the maid giggled, 'Mister Hope, I made a hole-in-one with an iron—a flatiron right in your best golf slacks.'"

Do you like the four-course format used in the tournament?

"Yes. When I drive, usually the ball, tee, club and I all go in different directions with none of the four landing on a fairway. With four courses, I can't miss."

Did you enjoy playing with the pros?

"What a break to get 128 pros here. Where else could I get swearing lessons with 128 different techniques.

"Speaking of bad words, the boys who carry the clubs in this tournament never are referred to as 'caddie.' This one's sponsored by Chrysler and I'm scared to death that Doug Ford will win."

Do you consider yourself a gallery favorite?

"Yes. I am a favorite of the famous divot birds in Palm Desert. That's a species which follows guys who take too much turf. Divot birds are the kind that are so lazy they won't even dig for their own worms."

Is everything in golf funny to you?

"When I miss a putt I don't think anything in golf is funny. Someone once wrote a story explaining my habits while in the area, that 'you'll find him on the course whenever he's here. Just look for a gent with a loud sweater doing a gooney bird dance before he hits the ball.'

"But my game has improved greatly since that was written. I don't wear loud sweaters anymore. Just quiet red shirts."

The greatest. That's Bob Hope.

Jacinto West Derby Hope in May 1 Test

Wide-Open Race Looms as Bold Lad, Sadair Scratched

NEW YORK (AP)—The 91st running of the Kentucky Derby still is nearly three months away but the retirement of the flashy Sadair and the injury to the two-year-old champion Bold Lad already has the experts predicting a wide-open race when the three-year-olds clash at Churchill Downs May 1.

Until Sadair, holder of the money-winning record for two-year-olds with earnings of $498,217, was forced into retirement early in the week with a chipped bone in his left forefoot, the Derby shaped up as a three-horse affair involving Sadair, Bold Lad and Jacinto.

Then Bold Lad, winner of eight and second in his other two starts last year, popped a small splint on his right front leg. He was scratched from his scheduled debut as a three-year-old in the Bahamas at Hialeah Park last Wednesday.

Meantime, Jacinto, another offspring of Bold Ruler, has the experts talking on the West Coast. William Haggin Perry's sensation wasn't among the two-year-old leaders last year, when he raced only twice. He finished third at Saratoga in August before suffering a slight injury, then late in the season he jumped into prominence with a 10-length triumph at Aqueduct.

Since then the colt has won three in a row at Santa Anita.

THE SIDELINING of Sadair and Bold Lad has given owners and trainers new hope for the top winter stakes and the Triple Crown of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

However, two of the colts which figure in the Derby dope sheet will not make their 3-year-old debuts until spring. They are Michael Ford's Royal Gunner and Raymond Guest's Tom Rolfe.

Tom Rolfe, who has not been out since beating Royal Gunner and Sadair in the Cowdin at Aqueduct last fall, is expected to make his debut at Laurel this spring.

Royal Gunner, considered the better of the two Ford hopefuls, is getting his prep at the St. Lucie, Fla., training track.

NAMATH LIMPS HOME TO KISSIN' WELCOME

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Joe Namath brought his famous right knee back to Alabama Saturday and, despite a driving rainstorm, was greeted at the airport by more than a hundred fans.

Limping noticeably as he left the plane, the $400,000 New York Jets' rookie quarterback obliged photographers by kissing a stewardess three times, the third time for good measure.

"Man, that was good," Joe said with a big smile across his handsome face.

He left the airport with friends for the 65-mile drive back to Tuscaloosa, home of the University of Alabama, where he gained collegiate fame with his quarterbacking exploits.

"I won't be able to drive back," Joe said. "I still can't bend my knee properly."

Namath had difficulty getting into his new green convertible, a gift from the Jets to cement the biggest professional football deal in history. He had to slide in sideways with help from friends.

At the university, Joe must register for a new semester.

Gabfest With Gabler

And Gabe, who once pitched for the Giants, Braves and White Sox, was in rare form the other day as he began getting ready for a special scouting mission for the Houston Astros, for whom he has served for the past three years.

The conversation started out in a serious vein . . . about pitching techniques. And whenever you talk about pitching, the subject of the spitball always pops up and the question asked why it isn't legalized since so many guys throw it.

FRANK GABLER
Last 'Legal' Spitter

Gabe laughed. "You know," he said, "I guess I'm the last one who actually got away with throwing it 'legally' since it was outlawed.

"It happened when I was a playing-manager in the old Sunset League a few years ago.

"I assigned myself to pitch one night when we were playing in Mexicali. I decided to use the spitter as long as I could get away with it.

"Usually, you can get enough moisture from your neck, head, forehead or wrist for a 'spitter,'" he explained, "but that night I was loading up with good old tobacco juice.

"I stuffed my cheek full of chewin' tobacco and the more juice I manufactured, the more I'd put on the ball. It actually was spraying the batters as it sailed past 'em.

"Adolf Luque, the old-time pitching star, was managing the Mexicali club and it didn't take him long to spot what I was doing and he promptly complained to the umpire.

"So, the next time I used it, the umpire called time, came walking out to the mound and said 'you are using a spitter. That pitch has been outlawed since 1925. Cut it out.'

"'Wait a minute,' I protested, 'That's just in the United States. Don't you know where we are? We're in Mexico. Anything goes here.'

"Well, that stopped him cold and he finally begrudgingly admitted 'guess you're right' or something like that and resumed his position behind the plate.

"So I merrily continued spraying everybody from the infield to the 17th row in the stands.

"Three innings later just as I was loading up an extra juicy one, it suddenly dawns on the ump that whether we were in Mexico or the U.S., it was still organized baseball so he rips off his mask, yells 'time,' comes running out to the mound and screamed, 'not even here can you do it.'

GABE INSISTS that he helped make Hank Greenberg's reputation as a long-ball hitter while pitching for the Chicago White Sox . . . at the insistance of manager Jimmy Dykes.

Frank was pitching against Detroit one afternoon when the game reached a critical stage in the late innings with Greenberg coming to bat.

"I look over to the bench for instructions and Dykes is waving for me to pitch to him. But I question the strategy and the first two pitches are outside for balls.

"Dykes yells 'time' and walks out to the mound and growls, 'can't you get it over.' Gabe looks around at the loaded bases, nods his head and says 'yeah, I can get it over. But wouldn't it be better to settle for one run instead of four?'

"'Pitch to him right down the middle even if he hits it downtown,' Dykes said.

"Well, Greenberg's rabbit ears take it all in and he knows I'm gonna come in with it and he's prepared.

"And he really got hold of it, too. He parked it in the 19th row of the bleachers some 447 feet away.

"When the inning finally ends and I return to the dugout, I find Ted Lyons doubled up with laughter. He's almost hysterical.

"'Gabe,' he finally says, 'if it hadn't been for those bleachers, damned if it wouldn't have gone all the way downtown.'

"You know, Dykes never did appreciate the humor in the situation!"

There was a time when they couldn't play ball on Sunday in Philadelphia and the A's would always move to another town in order to get in a doubleheader on the Sabbath.

This, of course, prevented Miller from attending church regularly, and one afternoon he met the preacher on the street.

"I haven't seen you in church for some time," he said.

"Well, sir," Bing explained, "that's a big day for me. We play a doubleheader out of town."

"It's a big day for me, too, only I'm in the right field," the preacher replied.

"Why I am too," the surprised Bing says, "and ain't that sun awful?"

BEEP-BEEP BLADES OR MORE BLUNTLY--

SRA Is Some Rookie Allowance

By ROSS NEWHAN

The financial future of the rookie entering athletics has been brightened. He will soon share responsibilities with the established star for informing the world that Blunt Blades are preferable to beep-beep brand.

This knowledge was imparted at a press conference last week introducing Sports Representatives Association. Long in the embryo stage, SRA has now taken its first steps toward delivering an athletic package to Madison Avenue.

"Our purpose is two-fold," indicated attorney Jerry Weber, SRA president. "One, we intend to create new financial vistas for the athlete and, two, we intend to put that money to work.

"The sports personality has never been pitched directly to the advertising agency and the important factor in our plans is that we will not be negotiating for one player but for all our players."

With the signing of Jim Fregosi this week, SRA now has 75 players under contract and has yet to delve outside the area of baseball.

Besides Fregosi, some of the more important names in the SRA vault are Dean Chance, Roger Maris, Jim Piersall, Ron Santo, Bo Belinsky, Roberto Clemente and Roger Craig. Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Mickey Mantle are currently studying the SRA contract which has come as quite a jolt to Frank Scott, the noted New York agent.

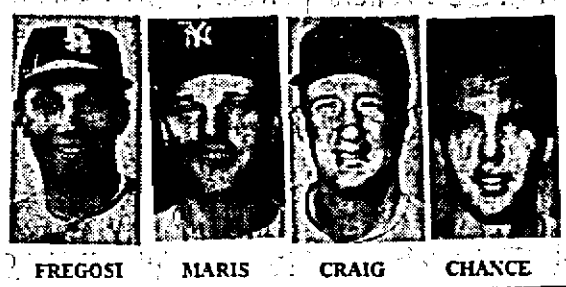

For years, Scott has held verbal contracts with the leading athletic luminaries but he is now faced with an organization moving swifter than a Chance fast ball.

"Frank Scott has done wonderful things for many players," admitted the 22-year-old business magnate, Fregosi. "But, he has showed interest only in the players on the East Coast and primarily the Yankees."

"We realize that a Mantle or Koufax are the type sought for appearances and endorsements," said director of player representation, Tom Bunetta, "but if we deliver, say, Roger Maris for a TV appearance we demand a subsequent date for a player who would have no chance of negotiating such a deal on his own."

Allied with the JAC Agency, which is responsible for commercials, endorsements, movie and TV work and the merchandising and licensing of the player's name, SRA is confident of netting more than $250,000 during its first year through the correlation of its athletes with toys.

In return for a minimum guarantee from SRA based on his salary, the player signs a five-year contract. The player nets 75% of each contract (endorsement, appearance, etc.) SRA negotiates for him while 10% reverts to a trust fund in which all SRA members share and 15% is withheld for agent's fee.

FREGOSI MARIS CRAIG CHANCE

"Perhaps the most important clause in the contract," said Bunetta, "is the one which reads the player's contract with his club will supersede ours if there is a conflict. We wrote these contracts with the aid of Buzzie Bavasi and Fred Haney, not behind their backs."

SRA was the brainchild of Bunetta, who served last year in the promotion department of KTLA and thus became intimate friends with the Angels and Dodgers through that station's broad sports program. He enlisted the aid of advertising man Pete Malatesta and attorney John Curtin and SRA was born with this trio the principal stockholders.

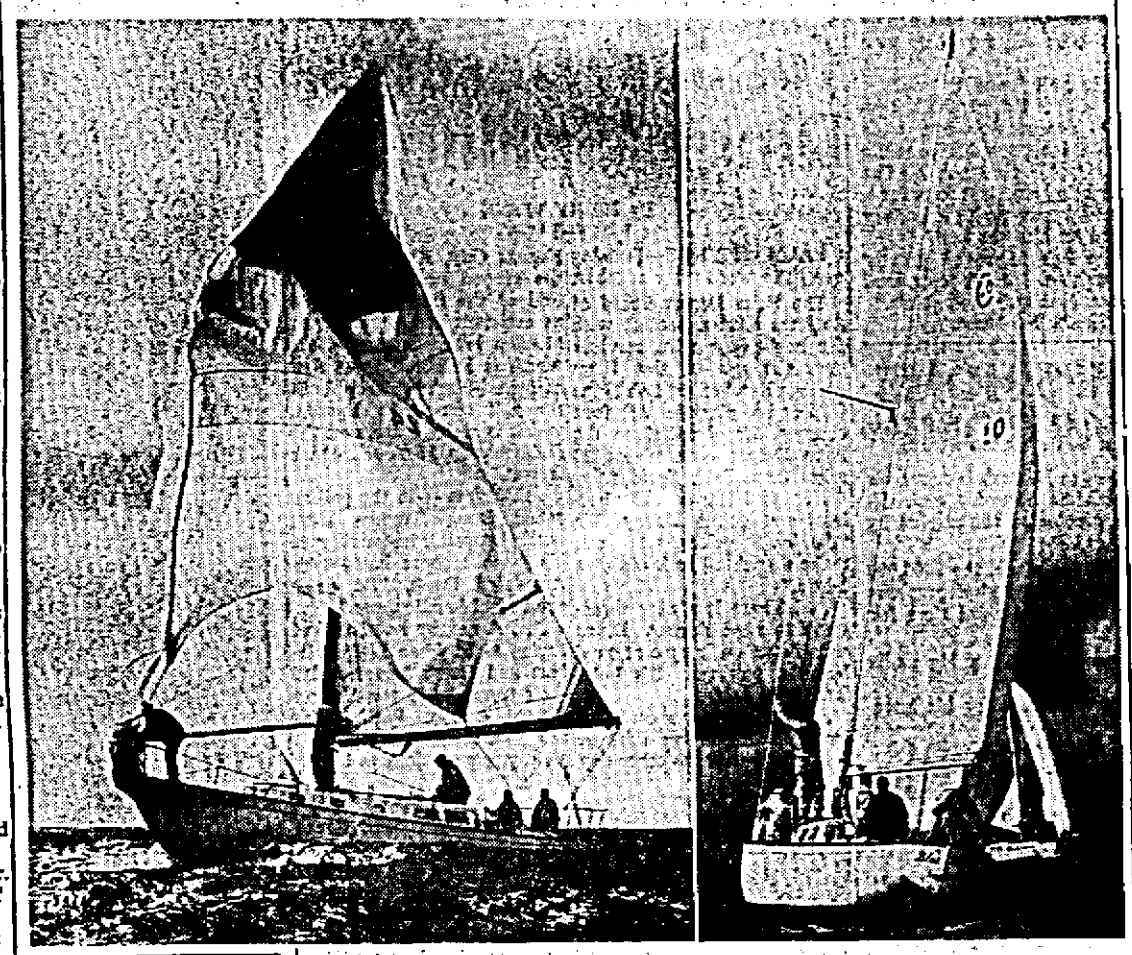

"Certainly," said Malatesta, "our first aim is to increase the remuneration for the player during his active career, but we are also interested in what happens to him when he retires. We have an agreement with the testing centers at UCLA and NYU and if it's the player's desire we will help him discover his aptitudes off the field."

"Generally, a .220 hitter is asked to speak only on opposing hitters and poverty," laughed Albie Pearson, "but I'd like to say that SRA is the best thing that's ever happened to the athlete."

"That's right," agreed Angel coach Del Rice. "No one ever wanted to do anything for a Del Rice before."

Especially if he used beep-beep blades.

A Gale in the Sail, as Free as the Sea

SKIPPERS in second day's racing of Congressional Cup series off Alamitos Bay Saturday had hands full. Their Cal-40 sloops endured 25 - 30 knot winds, rain, hail and a high surge, but will be back on course for final action today.

Banner Year for NL Hitters

NEW YORK (UPI) — The .300 hitter is rapidly disappearing from the baseball scene, but 1964 was one of the best years in the past quarter century for National League sluggers.

Official 1964 batting averages revealed that 15 players in the league batted .300 or better (among qualifiers for the batting championship—502 or more plate appearances).

Sixteen National Leaguers were .300 hitters in 1953 and that is the only season since 1940 that the number of players to reach .300 topped that of last season.

Those achieving the feat last year were:

Rico Carty, Hank Aaron, Joe Torre and Lee Maye of the Braves; Lou Brock, Curt Flood and Bill White of the world champion Cardinals; Ron Santo and Billy Williams of the Cubs; Ron Hunt and Joe Christopher of the Mets; Frank Robinson of the Reds; Richie Allen of the Phils; Orlando Cepeda of the Giants and league leader Roberto Clemente of the Pirates.

Other facts uncovered by the final season statistics:

Maury Wills of the Dodgers led the NL in stolen bases with 53, setting a league record for the most consecutive years leading the league (5).

Ken Boyer of the Cardinals and Santo of the Cubs took over their respective club's all-time leadership in runs batted in by a third baseman for one season. Boyer's 119 of 1964 outdistanced Pie Traynor's 115 of 1923 and Santo's 114 erased the mark of 111 set by Andy Pafko in 1948.

Santo also set a Cub team record of 38 home runs for a third baseman, surpassing the 30-year-old mark of 37 set by Ed Williamson in 1884.

Houston pitching staff issued only 351 bases-on-balls in 1,428 innings in 1964, the lowest mark in the 14-team league, including 53 intentional. The club's fielding average of .976 was third best in the league.

Tony Gonzales of the Philadelphia Phillies, who played outfield in 148 games with a .996 percentage, he was charged with only one error while handling 346 chances. He holds the all-time major league record for most consecutive errorless games (200) set in 1961.

Ernie Broglio, ace pitch of the Pittsburgh Pirates, set major league records for most games lost by a relief pitcher, 16, (all time (19)), most games finished by a reliever (63) and most career wins by a relief pitcher (77) in 1964.

Jim Wynn's 33 home runs were the most by a San Francisco third baseman in one season and just five short of the all-time Giant mark of 38 set by Mel Ott in 1938.

Poor Weather Slows Dragsters

POMONA — Rain cooled off some of the nation's fastest drivers Saturday, turning the drag strip into a slippery asphalt hazard.

After 2½-hours of steady rain, officials decided to postpone major qualification runs until today in time trials of the Winternationals Drag Championship.

Track officials said the trials would resume at 7 a.m. today, barring continued bad weather. A spokesman said that more rain probably would result in a one-week postponement.

Five hundred of the nation's top drag-strip drivers are participating in the event that was scheduled to wind up Sunday.

In Friday action, Don Garlitz of Tampa, Fla., blazed across the line at a record 206.88 mph but his earlier mark of 201.34 will stand because meet competition speeds are ineligible for national records.

Garlitz, driving a Class AA, supercharged, hot fuel Dodge-powered rail machine, covered the quarter-mile in 7.81 seconds.

Maredea Winner in Florida Yacht Run

VENICE, Fla. (AP)—Newly built Maredea, at 60 feet the world's largest fiber glass ocean racer, won the 160-mile St. Petersburg-to-Venice sailing race Saturday against the largest opening field in the history of the Southern Ocean Racing Conference.

Owner Homer Denius of St. Petersburg, Fla., was third inside the Venice jetties at 4:01:14 a.m. Saturday. His craft, in its first race, won on corrected time of 12 hours, 14 minutes, 12 seconds over Ticonderoga which had to forfeit after finishing first on regular time.

NO EYES FOR ICE

Don't Mix Drink With Blue Lines

INGERSOLL, Ont. (AP) — "Heck," chuckled George Hayes, "I've tested my eyes for years in bars reading labels on whisky bottles. I can still do it, so who needs an eye test?"

Hayes was fired after 19 years as a National Hockey League linesman last week because he refused to take an eye test as ordered by Clarence Campbell, the league president.

"A guy is an inch offside and I can call it from 85 feet away. There's nothing wrong with my eyesight and there never has been," Hayes insisted. "Campbell is a dictator and if he doesn't like you, you've had it. I can live without the NHL."

Ruffling his shock of black hair, Hayes admitted, "Sure, I took drinks after a game. Who doesn't. You've got to relax. But I've never taken a drink before a game."

Hayes' method of relaxing between games is widely known among NHL players.

"One time," he remembered, "I called an offside after Bob Pulford of Toronto got the puck and came in all alone on the Montreal goalie.

"We were getting ready to face-off inside the Toronto blueline and Pulford says to me, 'What's the matter, George, you have four or five beers last night and can't see too well?'

"Jean Beliveau of the Canadiens turns to me and says, 'George, that is an insult to you.' Then he turns to Pulford and says, 'He does not drink four or five bottles. He drinks the whole case'."

Hayes, a 6-foot, 218-pounder, said there is the likelihood of a court battle over his firing.

"Imagine, 19 years with one outfit and they fire me because I won't have my eyes examined," he moaned. "There was nothing about eye tests in my contract. The only penalty I'm liable for is a fine of $100."

Hayes said his annual salary as recently as 1962 was only $2,500 with additional pay for play-off games. This was increased in 1963 to $4,000.

"Last season I made about $6,300 including bonus, playoffs and league games," Hayes said.

S.D. Yachtsman Leader in Cup Races

By DAVE TAYLOR

San Diego Yacht Club's J. G. Driscoll piloted his Blue Marlin through 25-30 knot gale winds off Alamitos Bay Saturday to stack up a perfect score lead on the field of 10 top U.S. yacht skippers in the second day's sailing of the Congressional Cup Races.

Going into Saturday's racing with three match-race victories scored in the regatta-opener Friday, Driscoll and his crew staged an outstanding exhibition of seamanship to win all three heats of the day and finish with six consecutive victories in the series.

Driscoll and his crew, including Lowell North, Lucky Edwards, Fred Covalt, David Randolf, Max Smith and John Rumsey, maintained an advantage on the fleet with consistantly precise sail handling despite the winds, spotty rain and hail and high surge.

Bob Allen of Newport Harbor Yacht Club came up from behind Saturday, scoring three wins to capture second position with a five-out-of-six record and put on the pressure in the Cal-40 Congressional Cup series. Allen will sail his Holiday Too in a showdown match against Driscoll in the first series of today's final heat that could throw the regatta into a tie.

Deadlocked for fourth place with four wins apiece in the 45-race round-robin series are Willis Boyd of hosting Long Beach Yacht Club, Arthur Knapp, Jr. of Larchmont YC, N.Y., George Griffith of Los Angeles YC and Barney Flam of Santa Monica YC.

Flam finished Friday's opener in a first-place tie with Driscoll and three wins to his credit, but managed only one victory over California YC's Gary Hoefler Saturday.

The racing fleet sustained considerably sail damage in Saturday's high wind and Long Beach Yacht Club had a crew of sailmakers working through the night to ready the boats for today's final heat of the series.

Results of the three series match races Saturday:

Series 6—San Diego Yacht Club beat Los Angeles YC, Santa Monica beat California, Newport Harbor beat St. Francis, Long Beach beat Larchmont, Cabrillo Beach beat Alamitos Bay.
Series 5—Long Beach beat Alamitos Bay, Newport Harbor beat Cabrillo Beach, Los Angeles beat St. Francis, San Diego beat Santa Monica and Larchmont beat California.
Series 4—Larchmont beat Cabrillo Beach, St. Francis beat California, San Diego beat Alamitos Bay, Newport Harbor beat Long Beach and Los Angeles beat Santa Monica.

Gabfest With Gabler

And Gabe, who once pitched for the Giants, Braves and White Sox, was in rare form the other day as he began getting ready for a special scouting mission for the Houston Astros, for whom he has served for the past three years.

The conversation started out in a serious vein . . . about pitching techniques. And whenever you talk about pitching, the subject of the spitball always pops up and the question asked why it isn't legalized since so many guys throw it.

FRANK GABLER
Last 'Legal' Spitter

Gabe laughed. "You know," he said, "I guess I'm the last one who actually got away with throwing it 'legally' since it was outlawed.

"It happened when I was a playing-manager in the old Sunset League a few years ago.

"I assigned myself to pitch one night when we were playing in Mexicali. I decided to use the spitter as long as I could get away with it.

"Usually, you can get enough moisture from your neck, head, forehead or wrist for a 'spitter,'" he explained, "but that night I was loading up with good old tobacco juice.

"I stuffed my cheek full of chewin' tobacco and the more juice I manufactured, the more I'd put on the ball. It actually was spraying the batters as it sailed past 'em.

"Adolf Luque, the old-time pitching star, was managing the Mexicali club and it didn't take him long to spot what I was doing and he promptly complained to the umpire.

"So, the next time I used it, the umpire called time, came walking out to the mound and said 'you are using a spitter. That pitch has been outlawed since 1925. Cut it out.'

"'Wait a minute,' I protested. 'That's just in the United States. Don't you know where we are? We're in Mexico. Anything goes here.'

"Well, that stopped him cold and he finally begrudgingly admitted 'guess you're right' or something like that and resumed his position behind the plate.

"So I merrily continued spraying everybody from the infield to the 17th row in the stands.

"Three innings later just as I was loading up an extra juicy one, it suddenly dawns on the ump that whether we were in Mexico or the U.S., it was still organized baseball so he rips off his mask, yells 'time,' comes running out to the mound and screamed, 'not even here can you do it.'

GABE INSISTS that he helped make Hank Greenberg's reputation as a long-ball hitter while pitching for the Chicago White Sox . . . at the insistance of manager Jimmy Dykes.

Frank was pitching against Detroit one afternoon when the game reached a critical stage in the late innings with Greenberg coming to bat.

"I look over to the bench for instructions and Dykes is waving for me to pitch to him. But I question the strategy and the first two pitches are outside for balls.

"Dykes yells 'time' and walks out to the mound and growls, 'can't you get it over.' Gabe looks around at the loaded bases, nods his head and says 'yeah, I can get it over. But wouldn't it be better to settle for one run instead of four?'

"'Pitch to him right down the middle even if he hits it downtown,' Dykes said.

"Well, Greenberg's rabbit ears take it all in and he knows I'm gonna come in with it and he's prepared.

"And he really got hold of it, too. He parked it in the 19th row of the bleachers some 447 feet away.

"When the inning finally ends and I return to the dugout, I find Ted Lyons doubled up with laughter. He's almost hysterical.

"'Gabe,' he finally says, 'if it hadn't been for those bleachers, damned if it wouldn't have gone all the way downtown.'

"You know, Dykes never did appreciate the humor in the situation!"

There was a time when they couldn't play ball on Sunday in Philadelphia and the A's would always move to another town in order to get in a doubleheader on the Sabbath.

This, of course, prevented Miller from attending church regularly, and one afternoon he met the preacher on the street.

"I haven't seen you in church for some time," he said.

"Well, sir," Bing explained, "that's a big day for me. We play a doubleheader out of town."

"It's a big day for me, too, only I'm in the right field," the preacher replied.

"Why I am too," the surprised Bing says, "and ain't that sun awful?"

BEEP-BEEP BLADES OR MORE BLUNTLY--

SRA Is Some Rookie Allowance

By ROSS NEWHAN

The financial future of the rookie entering athletics has been brightened. He will soon share responsibilities with the established star for informing the world that Blunt Blades are preferable to beep-beep brand.

This knowledge was imparted at a press conference last week introducing Sports Representatives Association. Long in the embryo stage, SRA has now taken its first steps toward delivering an athletic package to Madison Avenue.

"Our purpose is two-fold," indicated attorney Jerry Weber, SRA president. "One, we intend to create new financial vistas for the athlete and, two, we intend to put that money to work.

"The sports personality has never been pitched directly to the advertising agency and the important factor in our plans is that we will not be negotiating for one player but for all our players."

With the signing of Jim Fregosi this week, SRA now has 75 players under contract and has yet to delve outside the area of baseball.

Besides Fregosi, some of the more important names in the SRA vault are Dean Chance, Roger Maris, Jim Piersall, Ron Santo, Bo Belinsky, Roberto Clemente and Roger Craig. Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Mickey Mantle are currently studying the SRA contract which has come as quite a jolt to Frank Scott, the noted New York agent.

For years, Scott has held verbal contracts with the leading athletic luminaries but he is now faced with an organization moving swifter than a Chance fast ball.

"Frank Scott has done wonderful things for many players," admitted the 22-year-old business magnate, Fregosi. "But, he has showed interest only in the players on the East Coast and primarily the Yankees."

"We realize that a Mantle or Koufax are the type sought for appearances and endorsements," said director of player representation, Tom Bunetta, "but if we deliver, say, Roger Maris for a TV appearance we demand a subsequent date for a player who would have no chance of negotiating such a deal on his own."

Allied with the JAC Agency, which is responsible for commercials, endorsements, movie and TV work and the merchandising and licensing of the player's name, SRA is confident of netting more than $250,000 during its first year through the correlation of its athletes with toys.

In return for a minimum guarantee from SRA based on his salary, the player signs a five-year contract. The player nets 75% of each contract (endorsement, appearance, etc.) SRA negotiates for him while 10% reverts to a trust fund in which all SRA members share and 15% is withheld for agent's fee.

FREGOSI MARIS CRAIG CHANCE

"Perhaps the most important clause in the contract," said Bunetta, "is the one which reads the player's contract with his club will supersede ours if there is a conflict. We wrote these contracts with the aid of Buzzie Bavasi and Fred Haney, not behind their backs."

SRA was the brainchild of Bunetta, who served last year in the promotion department of KTLA and thus became intimate friends with the Angels and Dodgers through that station's broad sports program. He enlisted the aid of advertising man Pete Malatesta and attorney John Curtin and SRA was born with this trio the principal stockholders.

We have an agreement with the testing centers at UCLA and NYU and if it's the player's desire we will help him discover his aptitudes off the field."

"Generally, a .220 hitter is asked to speak only on opposing hitters and poverty," laughed Albie Pearson, "but I'd like to say that SRA is the best thing that's ever happened to the athlete."

"That's right," agreed Angel coach Del Rice. "No one ever wanted to do anything for a Del Rice before."

Especially if he used beep-beep blades.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The .300 hitter is rapidly disappearing from the baseball scene, but 1964 was one of the best years in the past quarter century for National League sluggers.

Official 1964 batting averages revealed that 15 players in the league batted .300 or better (among qualifiers for the batting championship—502 or more plate appearances).

Sixteen National Leaguers were .300 hitters in 1953 and that is the only season since 1940 that the number of players to reach .300 topped that of last season.

Other facts uncovered by the final season statistics:

Maury Wills of the Dodgers led the NL in stolen bases with 53 setting a league record for the most consecutive years leading the league (5).

Ken Boyer of the Cardinals and Santo of the Cubs took over their respective club's all-time leadership in runs batted-in by a third baseman for one season. Boyer's high of 119 eclipsed the previous high of 112 set by Ray Jablonski in 1953 and Santo's 114 erased the mark of 101 set by Andy Pafko in 1948.

Santo also set a Cub team record of 30 home runs for a third baseman, surpassing the 30-year-old mark of 27 set by Ed Williamson in 1894.

Houston pitching staff issued only [illegible] walks in the major league, leading [illegible]. The club's fielding average of .976 was third best in the league.

Tony Gonzales of the Philadelphia Phillies led NL outfielders in fielding with a .996 percentage. He was charged with only one error while handling 646 chances. He holds the all-time major league record for most consecutive error-less games (259) set in 1963.

Floyd Face, relief ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates, set major league records for most games by a relief pitcher, 1,0[illegible] (66[illegible]), most games finished by a reliever ([illegible]) and most career wins by a relief pitcher (1[illegible]).

Jim Hart's 31 home runs were the most by a San Francisco third baseman in one season and just five short of the Giants' all-time mark of 36, set by Mel Ott in 1938.

Nitehawks Sign All-America Pitcher Sarno

By CHUCK MEDICK

The Long Beach Nitehawks took a giant step toward the International Softball Congress championship Saturday when manager Joe Rodgers acquired the signed contract of pitcher Don Sarno, recently released from the world champion Downey Impalas.

A righthander who not only throws hard but has a drop and rise ball which are the talk of the softball world, Sarno has had a glittering career. In 1958 Sarno hurled the Culver City Comets to the state championship. He since has performed for the Downey Impalas and never has had a losing season in Western Softball Congress play.

In 1960, Sarno boasted an 0.45 earned run average, the lowest in WSC history. He has appeared in nine world championships and last year won the title game for Downey, 3-2, over the Etiwanda Bombers. His performance made him a unanimous choice for the all-America team.

• • • •

"I ALWAYS wanted to be a Nitehawk," said Sarno. "I've admired the Nitehawk spirit, and I believe I can help them to the world championship this year."

Never at a loss for words, manager Joe Rodgers of the Hawks added, "This is the biggest move we have made in five years. I wanted Don because I've always liked a guy who won't give up. That's Sarno. We never beat Don; we outhucked him and most of the time he beat us. Now he's on our side."

McClendon Signs 5-Year LSU Pact

McClendon's salary was increased $1,000 a year to $20,750.

Red Smith's Views of Sports—

Sour Case of George

Darrell Royal, football coach at the University of Texas, is a man of many parts. He excelled as a quarterback at Oklahoma, he was architect of some of the finest college teams in the nation, and now he emerges as an award-winning master of pious humbug, fatuous absurdity, and specious misrepresentation.

"When the pros," he has said, "talk a boy out of receiving his degree to play for money, it's like talking against motherhood."

He was referring to the decision of George Sauer Jr. to try for a job with the New York Jets this year instead of catching passes for Royal as a fifth-year student. Considering the nobility of Royal's sentiments, it may seem like quibbling to point out that the pros have not talked to young Sauer at all and the young man has every intention of taking his degree and working for a masters with the full encouragement of his employers and his family and without benefit of an athletic scholarship.

To be sure, this doesn't involve a sacrifice on the boy's part. He is passing up the opportunity to play another season under Royal, who unselfishly protected his eligibility for 1965 by keeping him under glass as a sophomore. The fact that the kid wanted to play as a sophomore and worked faithfully as a member of the squad is beside the point. Probably he was too young then to know what was best for him.

• • • • •

GEORGE SAUER SR. is the Jets' personnel director and so, of course, the pros were aware that he had another season of eligibility at Texas when they drafted him. They took him as a "future" choice, to join them in 1966. In view of the family connection, no National League team cared to use up a draft choice on him. According to the Jets president, Sonny Werblin, this is what followed:

"Weeb Ewbank (the Jets coach) and I met the boy for one second after the Orange Bowl game. His father asked us into the dressing room, we shook hands, and left immediately.

"Later, at our league meeting in Boston, there was a call for Joe Foss. The commissioner wasn't around, so I took it. A voice said, 'You're the man I want to talk with, anyway.' It was Darrell Royal.

"He asked me not to talk with the boy or try to sign him. I told him it was our policy never to talk to a boy in school without his coach's consent, but I pointed out that this was a special case, all in the family. Then Weeb talked to Royal.

"I heard Weeb saying, 'I can't promise that,' and I assume Royal wanted a flat promise that we wouldn't touch the kid this year. You'd think the kid's parents could be trusted to do whatever they thought best for him.

• • • •

"SINCE THEN, the boy's father has told us that young George has decided he wants to play pro ball this year and then take his degree. He doesn't need many credit hours.

"Originally he went to Texas as a pre-med, but found he couldn't play their kind of football and still get the A's and B's he needed to get into medical school. He asked for some relief during spring practice and, I understand, was occasionally allowed a little time off for study.

"Even so, the load was too big and ultimately he changed from pre-med to a major in mathematics. Royal red-shirted him in his sophomore year. The boy was a member of the squad, worked out faithfully, was in uniform on the bench ready and eager to play, but Royal didn't use him. It was because the boy had to lighten the study load that he hasn't enough credits to graduate in June, not because he wanted to play another year.

"IN FACT, he has already turned back his athletic scholarship and moved out of the players dormitory. He has registered for this spring semester and isn't asking for any help. There's no financial problem in the family. He's willing and able to pay his own way.

"Except for that one-second meeting in Miami, neither Weeb nor I have talked to him. Now Royal is screaming that if we sign him, Texas will bar American League scouts. Whose interest is he protecting?"

Red-shirting — holding a player out of games to have him eligible after his class is graduated—is a cynical practice that is not permitted in conferences like the Ivy League and the Big Ten. There an athlete's varsity eligibility is limited to three seasons within a four-year span.

Rams' Grier to Entertain Baseballers

The Rams are contributing to the eighth annual Baseball Writers' Awards Dinner set for the Hollywood Palladium Friday night.

The footballers will be represented on the entertainment bill by Roosevelt Grier, the guitar-strumming defensive tackle—all 285 pounds of him.

Grier, a tremendous hit in his Sunset Strip debut at Ciro's Le Disc last Friday night, will offer his own composition and other standards.

The BBWAA Dinner will honor the Dodgers and Angels as the two clubs prepare for the start of spring training.

Tickets, at $20 each, including tax and tip, are available at the Baseball Writers' Assn. headquarters, MA 6-7678.

NHL's Cool Ear to L.A. Still Better Than Cold Shoulder

By RICH ROBERTS

The ice finally is starting to break on the Southland's hope for big league hockey.

The first crack appeared a few days ago—just a crack, mind you, but enough to allow Southland influences to apply a wedge to the prosperously stagnant owners of the National Hockey League.

The NHL'S Board of Governor's including owners from each of the six clubs, scheduled a special March meeting to discuss expansion, indicating that our frantic clamor finally has caught their attention.

True, it's a cool ear they have turned our way, but it's better than a cold shoulder.

NHL president Clarence Campbell was quick to point out, lest our optimism run amuck, that "this doesn't mean that we will expand in the immediate future. We will establish a firm policy and then be ready when the time to expand does come."

Campbell added, though, that the league might—just might—be in a position to receive expansion bids during its annual summer meeting in Montreal, June 7-10.

• • • •

YOU COULD almost hear him yawning as he said it.

Hockey is unique among professional sports.

National Basketball Association teams live in tents, ready to pull up stakes the moment the bookkeeper reaches for the red ink.

Only the Brave-est baseball club will sign a long-term lease, and only recently has football settled into a reasonable state of stability.

But last season the National Hockey League played to 90% capacity audiences, and tickets in Montreal, Toronto, Detroit and Chicago go faster than dollar bills for 98 cents.

The waiting list for season tickets looks like a telephone book, and don't bother to wait for somebody to die. He probably already willed them to a relative.

CLARENCE CAMPBELL
Problem of Prosperity

As Campbell puts it, "Our problem is inordinate prosperity. I believe expansion can be justified only by economics and that it will have to be linked with a major television contract.

• • • • •

"OTHERWISE, expansion to eigth teams would not put one dollar into the pocket of any present owner in the NHL."

It is believed that Jim Piggott, owner of the Blades, was in New York during the meeting last week, ready to drive that wedge into the first crack of hope.

His cause is earnest and worthwhile, but it would be easier selling ice boxes to Eskimos.

Podres Will Test Arm in Anaheim

Gene Mauch's Major League All-Stars battle the Dodger All-Stars today in the 14th annual Southern California Baseball Assn.'s medical benefit game at La Palma Park in Anaheim.

Game time is 1:30 and the first pitch will be thrown by Johnny Podres, a major factor in the Dodgers' bid to regain National League supremacy.

Dodger general manager Buzzie Bavasi approved manager Lefty Phillips' request to use Podres for one inning. It will be the veteran southpaw's first test under game conditions since last May when bone chips on his elbow removed Podres from the Dodger rotation.

• • • •

AN OPERATION proved successful and Podres has been drilling at Dodger Stadium. His first test will be significant, for he'll be faced by such power hitters as Leon Wagner, Floyd Robinson, Bob Bailey and Billy Moran.

Mauch will be seeking his fifth victory in as many managerial assignments in this game and he boasts the most impressive major league roster ever assembled for the charity contest.

• • • •

BESIDES THE aforementioned sluggers, Bobby Knoop, Ken McMullen, Camilo Carreon, Don Buford, Ed Roebuck, Denny Leamaster, Barry Latman, Tom Satriano, Joe Amalfitano, Ed Kirkpatrick, Roman Mejias and Don Rudolph will appear.

The Dodgers will present their lineup of the future with a sprinkling of veterans such as Podres, Wally Moon and Dick Tracewski. Phillips will take a long look at such Dodger rookies as Willie Crawford, Bill Parlier, Jim Campanis, Walt Peterson, Charles Bohling and Mike Kekich.

Tickets will be on sale at the stadium for $1.50 and 75 cents.

L.B. Bearcats on Ice Tonight

Art Brewster's Long Beach Bearcats of the Greater Los Angeles Minor Hockey League battle undefeated Van Nuys at Torrance's Olympic Ice Area tonight at 9.

The Bearcats, competing in the seven-team junior division for players ages 16-18, have lost only once and tied once in 15 games—both times against Van Nuys.

New goalie Ralph Mullen from Winnipeg, Manitoba, has allowed only 10 goals in his nine games. Top offensive players are Brian Cowie and Barry Carr, who are students at Long Beach City College, and center Pat Lampman, a Long Beach State freshman whose accumulation of assist give him the team scoring lead.

29 Olympians in L.A. Indoor Meet Saturday

With the field almost complete, 29 Olympians from 12 nations will be represented in the Los Angeles Indoor Games in the Sports Arena Saturday night.

The feature event is the 1,000-yard run.

It matches Olympic twin-gold medal winner Peter Snell of New Zealand, Tokyo runnerup Bill Crothers of Canada, Olympian Valeriy Bulishev of Russia, Tokyo veteran Dieter Bogatski of Germany and Archie San Romani Jr., formerly of Oregon U.

At Tokyo Snell won the 800 in 1:45.1, an Olympic record. San Romani was second in 1:45.6.

Two years ago they met on the L.A. indoor boards, Snell setting an indoor record of 2:06.0 and Crothers placing second in 2:07.4.

Snell Needs Incentive; Next Goal Is 3:50 in Mile

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Peter Snell, the world's greatest miler, will make one brief stop in the United States and then head for Europe in what probably will be his last bid for more running records.

His goal is 3:50 in the mile, but there is some question that he will improve on his existing marks.

"I need considerable incentive to keep training," the New Zealand comet said, before departing on his overseas trip. "The Olympics provided one and I was in the best form of my life. I knew after that that it would be hard to turn around and get into intensive preparation for the European trip."

• • • •

HE WILL RUN in the Los Angeles Indoor Games Saturday before continuing on to Europe. It's his only U.S. appearance.

"You never know about Peter," fellow New Zealander John Davies told New York track writers.

"He'll either run like hell in a race, and win it, or toss it away."

Snell, winner of the 800 and 1,500-meter races in the Tokyo Olympics last October, followed up this double gold medal performance by setting a world mark of 2:16.6 in the 1,000 meters and running the mile in 3:54.1.

He achieved both records in Auckland within the space of a week.

Snell admitted that he had eased off training considerably since his great Olympic showing and the two record races shortly afterward.

"I've just been doing enough to retain reasonable form," he said.

"I'm trying to work up gradually to a stage of running 100 miles a week and training for Europe."

In Europe, he said he would shoot for the record in the 1,500 meters. He ran the distance for the first time at Tokyo. He normally runs the mile.

He said he believed that, with concentrated effort, he might run the mile in 3:50.

• • • •

"AFTER THE European trip, I'll definitely retire," Snell said. "I'll just run enough to keep fit, because it's something you never want to lose completely. I'm going to enjoy playing other sports for fun, golf and tennis."

He is a topflight tennis player, who might have been his country's best if he had given the sport as much time as he has to track. He shoots in the 80s in golf.

He said he and his wife may some day move to the United States, possibly California. He currently is employed by a New Zealand cigarette firm.

Schollander Sets Record in Debut

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Don Schollander, winner of four gold medals in the 1964 Olympics, made his Yale swimming debut Saturday and set a record as Yale defeated Hill School 59-36.

In the 200-yard medley he swam the butterfly stroke leg in 23.6, a Yale freshman record time. Yale won the event with 1:40.4.

Schollander swam the anchor leg of the 200-yard freestyle in 21.8. The team's winning time was 1:31.6.

Nitehawks Sign All-America Pitcher Sarno

By CHUCK MEDICK

The Long Beath Nitehawks took a giant step toward the international Softball Congress championship Saturday when manager Joe Rodgers acquired the signed contract of pitcher Don Sarno, recently released from the world champion Downey Impalas.

A righthander who not only throws hard but has a drop and rise ball which are the talk of the softball world, Sarno has had a glittering career. In 1958 Sarno hurled the Culver City Comets to the state championship. He since has performed for the Downey Impalas and never has had a losing season in Western Softball Congress play.

In 1960, Sarno boasted an 0.45 earned run average, the lowest in WSC history. He has appeared in nine world championships and last year won the title game for Downey, 3-2, over the Etiwanda Bombers. His performance made him a unanimous choice for the all-America team.

* * * *

"I ALWAYS wanted to be a Nitehawk," said Sarno. "I've admired the Nitehawk spirit, and I believe I can help them to the world championship this year."

Never at a loss for words, manager Joe Rodgers of the Hawks added, "This is the biggest move we have made in five years. I wanted Don because I've always liked a guy who won't give up. That's Sarno. We never beat Don; we outlucked him and most of the time he beat us. Now he's on our side."

McClendon Signs 5-Year LSU Pact

McClendon's salary was increased $1,000 a year to $20,750.

Red Smith's Views of Sports—

Sour Case of George

Darrell Royal, football coach at the University of Texas, is a man of many parts. He excelled as a quarterback at Oklahoma, he was architect of some of the finest college teams in the nation, and now he emerges as an award-winning master of pious humbug, fatuous absurdity, and specious misrepresentation.

"When the pros," he has said, "talk a boy out of receiving his degree to play for money, it's like talking against motherhood."

He was referring to the decision of George Sauer Jr. to try for a job with the New York Jets this year instead of catching passes for Royal as a fifth-year student. Considering the nobility of Royal's sentiments, it may seem like quibbling to point out that the pros have not talked to young Sauer at all and the young man has every intention of taking his degree and working for a masters with the full encouragement of his employers and his family and without benefit of an athletic scholarship.

To be sure, this doesn't involve a sacrifice on the boy's part. He is passing up the opportunity to play another season under Royal, who unselfishly protected his eligibility for 1965 by keeping him under glass as a sophomore. The fact that the kid wanted to play as a sophomore and worked faithfully as a member of the squad is beside the point. Probably he was too young then to know what was best for him.

* * * *

GEORGE SAUER SR. is the Jets' personnel director and so, of course, the pros were aware that he had another season of eligibility at Texas when they drafted him. They took him as a "future" choice, to join them in 1966. In view of the family connection, no National League team cared to use up a draft choice on him. According to the Jets president, Sonny Werblin, this is what followed:

"Weeb Ewbank (the Jets coach) and I met the boy for one second after the Orange Bowl game. His father asked us into the dressing room, we shook hands, and left immediately.

"Later, at our league meeting in Boston, there was a call for Joe Foss. The commissioner wasn't around, so I took it. A voice said, 'You're the man I want to talk with, anyway.' It was Darrell Royal.

"He asked me not to talk with the boy or try to sign him. I told him it was our policy never to talk to a boy in school without his coach's consent, but I pointed out that this was a special case, all in the family. Then Weeb talked to Royal.

"I heard Weeb saying, 'I can't promise that,' and I assume Royal wanted a flat promise that we wouldn't touch the kid this year. You'd think the kid's parents could be trusted to do whatever they thought best for him.

"SINCE THEN, the boy's father has told us that young George has decided he wants to play pro ball this year and then take his degree. He doesn't need many credit hours.

"Originally he went to Texas as a pre-med, but found he couldn't play their kind of football and still get the A's and B's he needed to get into medical school. He asked for some relief during spring practice and, I understand, was occasionally allowed a little time off for study.

"Even so, the load was too big and ultimately he changed from pre-med to a major in mathematics. Royal red-shirted him in his sophomore year. The boy was a member of the squad, worked out faithfully, was in uniform on the bench ready and eager to play, but Royal didn't use him. It was because the boy had to lighten the study load that he hasn't enough credits to graduate in June, not because he wanted to play another year.

* * * *

"IN FACT, he has already turned back his athletic scholarship and moved out of the players dormitory. He has registered for this spring semester and isn't asking for any help. There's no financial problem in the family. He's willing and able to pay his own way.

"Except for that one-second meeting in Miami, neither Weeb nor I have talked to him. Now Royal is screaming that if we sign him, Texas will bar American League scouts. Whose interest is he protecting?"

Red-shirting — holding a player out of games to have him eligible after his class is graduated—is a cynical practice that is not permitted in conferences like the Ivy League and the Big Ten. There an athlete's varsity eligibility is limited to three seasons within a four-year span.

TOP 'ANITA JOCKEYS AT CALIENTE TODAY

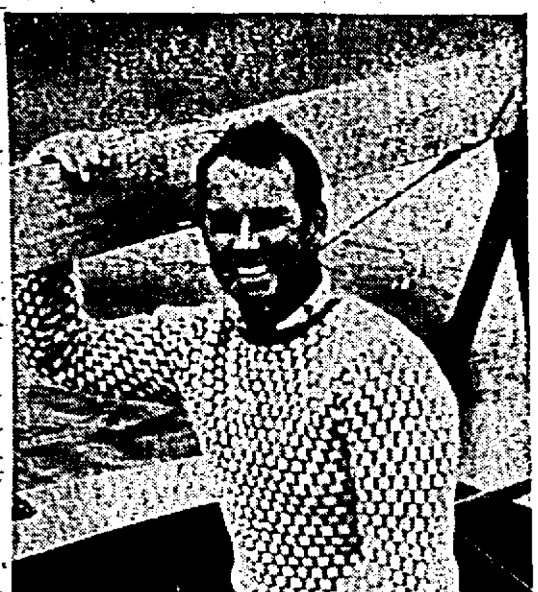

CALIENTE—The 19th running of the George Woolf Memorial will be staged today at the Caliente race track.

Honoring the late "Iceman of the Turf," the event will be at a mile and one-sixteenth and nearly all of the leading Santa Anita jockeys will be on hand.

Funny Thing, which disappointed many last week by running third to Silk Rings and Stem Winder, drew the top impost of 120. Silk Rings is in at 115, while Evereux, a good winner last Saturday, will carry 119 pounds.

Among the greats of the reinsmen expected for the Woolf are Johnny Longden, three-time winner of the Stakes; Bill Harmatz, also a three-time winner of the event, and Bill Shoemaker who won it twice.

GEORGE O'DAY
A Real Sailing Man

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

He's a Sailing Fool

The Long Beach Yacht Club presented George O'Day to the membership last Tuesday night and what a turnout the club had! All the chairs available were filled and there were dozens who stood for two hours while O'Day showed in slides and movies America Cup races from the inception through 1964.

An excellent narrator, O'Day had the audience in hysterics much of the time. Black and white slides depicted the early years of the America Cup races; there was no color film in those days.

To say that O'Day is one of the most successful racers in the United States is putting it mildly. He is the holder of more than 400 trophies and is still going strong. He won a gold medal in the Olympic Games, the Pan American Games and has been a crew member of several successful America Cup defenders.

Few persons today have more sailing experience and sailing knowledge in boats from eight to 80 feet. He started collecting trophies at 12 years of age just after he joined Marblehead's famed junior yacht club, Pleon.

Although not a large man, O'Day, now 41, played on the varsity team at Harvard in 1943 and 1944. In those same years he headed the very successful sailing team.

HE SERVED IN THE NAVY in World War II and made lieutenant (jg) and three years later was married to Miriam Williamson. They now have three children, Pamela, Mark and Elizabeth. Their hobbies: sailing, naturally!

O'Day is chairman of the board of the O'Day Corporation, manufacturer of Sprites, Day Sailers, Rhodes, Widgeon, Tempest, Mariner, Ospray, Javelin, Seven-Eleven, Swift and Super Swift, all fiber-glass boats.

His connection on the Pacific Coast is Hanna, Inc., of Costa Mesa, maker of sails and other marine products. He is a vice president of that company. He also is a vice president of Sparcraft Corporation, and the Canada Yacht and Boat Center. Also, he is president of the O'Day Insurance Agency and the Compact Insurance Agency.

With all of that, he still finds time for sailing. This year he was technical advisor for the American Eagle, which raced and lost to Constellation in the trials preceding the America Cup Race. In 1962 he was helmsman on Easterly and later technical advisor to Weatherby.

He got aboard Yankee, 1937 defender of America's Cup, and, through a bit of wily chatter, became a member of the crew. He was then only 14 years of age. His home is Dover, Mass., although the O'Day Corporation is situated in Boston.

HIS BLACK AND WHITE SLIDES showed the famous J-Boats of almost a century ago. Those boats have had a worse fate than the square-riggers; the Js are rotting away while the squares are still sailing.

In those days, the Americans and the British thought nothing of building boats up to 135 feet, with a beam of 22 feet, a waterline of 87 feet and a draw of 19 feet, or 24 feet with the centerboard down. The masts rose to 167 feet and the main and jibs had 7,000 square feet. One spinnaker on a J in those days had 18,000 square feet.

Those boats were beautiful in the water, but gradually the two countries began to cut down the sizes of the America Cup boats until they reached the 12-meter craft such as were used in the 1964 Cup event.

Let's look at the sizes of the 12-meter craft as compared to the Js. It is 67 feet long, has a beam of 11 feet, 10 inches, 47-foot waterline, draws six feet and has a mast of 90 feet. Sails are limited to 2,000 square feet and 3,000 extra for the spinnaker.

The 12-meter boat weighs 60,000 pounds as compared to the gigantic J, which weighed 350,000 pounds.

O'Day left Friday for Boston, but he makes frequent trips to this coast. If you ever receive an invitation to see his slides and movies of the Cup races, don't turn it down. His show and wit are the greatest.

Hicks to Conduct 8 Baseball Clinics

Joe Hicks, former coach at Long Beach City College and prominent baseball tactician, will conduct a series of eight coaching technique sessions with emphasis upon youth baseball, beginning Feb. 10.

The series, open to all adult coaches and those interested in baseball techniques, will be held at Hoover Junior High School Auditorium (3501 Country Club Drive) from 7 to 10 p.m. every Wednesday, Feb. 10 through March 31.

Hicks, who also coached Salta Pontiac in the Stan Musial League last summer, will place emphasis upon four basic areas—rules, skills and drills on fundamentals, practice session organization and a question and answer session.

Information about the program may be obtained by contacting Hicks at Long Beach City College (HA 5-1221).

RACING ROUNDUP

Sunstruck Wins Seminole 'Cap

Hobeau Farms' Sunstruck led all the way in the $65,800 Seminole Handicap at Hialeah Saturday and won by a nose with Piave a surprising second and Point du Jour third in the field of 13.

Sunstruck, with William Boland up, ran the 1⅛ miles in a slow 1:50⅗.

Point du Jour was a neck behind Piave and Tibaldo closed fast to take fourth money over such better known runners as Chateaugay, Roman Brother and Intercepted.

Sunstruck, favorite with the crowd of 23,473, paid $7.20, $5.40 and $5. Piave returned $38 and $18.80 while show price on Point de Jour was $10.

It was the slowest running of this feature since 1953 when Crafty Admiral won in 1:53 2/5.

Phimordial 2nd closed fast to be fifth, followed in order by Hot Dust, Roman Brother, Chateaugay, Intercepted, Temper, Knightly Manner, Babington and Suspicious.

"My orders were to go to the front and open up as much as I could," Boland said. "As we came into the stretch, the others moved to him and Point de Jour actually got a head in front of him but my horse came on again.

"I thought that the other horse (Piave) might have nipped him at the wire but he didn't."

Seven-year-old Tilmar, oldest member of a 10-horse field, downed his younger rivals with an upset victory in the $20,000-added Southern Maryland Handicap at Bowie.

Three horses finished in the photo finish picture and Tilmar paid $18.40, $8 and $5.40 in winning by a head from Terminator, who returned $5.20 and $3.60. Just a nose back, Amastar returned a show mutuel of $4.40.

Tilmar, a son of Cortil and Lady Dorimar, was just off Amastar's pace in the early stages, moved strongly in the stretch to take the lead leaving the sixteenth pole.

Ridden by Robert McCurdy, Tilmar clocked the six furlongs in 1:11⅗.

10-Team Pro Grid League Set for East

NEW YORK (AP)—A 10-team professional football league was formed Saturday with a combination of clubs from the United and Atlantic Coast Leagues, plus Philadelphia and Toronto.

"We are in business—all we need is a name," said Alex Schoenbaum of Charleston, West Va., chairman of the executive committee of the United Football League.

"We're going to have the best pro league in the United States and Canada," said Sol Rosen, general manager of the Newark Bears of the Atlantic Coast League.

The new league will consist of Philadelphia (taking over the Canton franchise), Toronto (replacing Montreal), Charleston, Wheeling and Fort Wayne (formerly Indianapolis) of the UFL and Newark, Richmond, Springfield and Hartford of the ACFL.

L.B. Ruggers Tip UCLA, 12-11, on O'Hara's Heroics

The victory left Long Beach as the league's only unbeaten team with a 4-0 record, 7-1 on the season. It was UCLA's first loss in three games.

O'Hara took care of the L.B. scoring on four penalty kicks ranging from 10 to 35 yards. The Bruins were leading, 11-9, until O'Hara came through from 20 yards with two minutes remaining.

2 MAIN EVENTS AT AUD MATCHES

Two main events are on the bill for this week's wrestling program at Municipal Auditorium.

In the first, Ernie (Big Cat) Ladd tackles heavyweight champion The Masked Destroyer. The other one-hour match Tuesday night has The Axeman against Pedro Morales.

All-Star Soccer Today

Southern California soccer players will be bidding for positions on the United States team for World Cup games against Mexico in two all-star games between the Greater L.A. and California Leagues today at Rancho Cienega Stadium. Main event is at 2:30.

The U.S. faces Mexico's all-star professionals in the Coliseum March 7, in a World Cup elimination with the return game in Mexico City, March 12. Total goals decide the survivor. Forward Al Zerhusen, halfback Bayardo Abaunza and halfback Freddy Cameron of the Greater L.A. League reportedly have already won positions on the USA team. Also under consideration are Manuel Abaunza and Helmut Bicek of the Greater L.A. League and Juan Angula of the California League.

Hurry to Market Makes '65 Debut

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hurry to Market, 1963's top two-year-old thoroughbred, will make his first start in 15 months Monday at the Fair Grounds.

Hurry to Market has been sidelined since winning the 1963 Garden State Stakes by a series of ailments.

GEORGE O'DAY
A Real Sailing Man

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

He's a Sailing Fool

The Long Beach Yacht Club presented George O'Day to the membership last Tuesday night and what a turnout the club had! All the chairs available were filled and there were dozens who stood for two hours while O'Day showed in slides and movies America Cup races from the inception through 1964.

An excellent narrator, O'Day had the audience in hysterics much of the time. Black and white slides depicted the early years of the America Cup races; there was no color film in those days.

To say that O'Day is one of the most successful racers in the United States is putting it mildly. He is the holder of more than 400 trophies and is still going strong. He won a gold medal in the Olympic Games, the Pan American Games and has been a crew member of several successful America Cup defenders.

Few persons today have more sailing experience and sailing knowledge in boats from eight to 80 feet. He started collecting trophies at 12 years of age just after he joined Marblehead's famed junior yacht club, Pleon.

Although not a large man, O'Day, now 41, played on the varsity team at Harvard in 1943 and 1944. In those same years he headed the very successful sailing team.

HE SERVED IN THE NAVY in World War II and made lieutenant (jg) and three years later was married to Miriam Williamson. They now have three children, Pamela, Mark and Elizabeth. Their hobbies: sailing, naturally!

O'Day is chairman of the board of the O'Day Corporation, manufacturer of Sprites, Day Sailers, Rhodes, Widgeon, Tempest, Mariner, Osprey, Javelin, Seven-Eleven, Swift and Super Swift, all fiber-glass boats.

His connection on the Pacific Coast is Hanna, Inc., of Costa Mesa, maker of sails and other marine products. He is a vice president of that company. He also is a vice president of Sparcraft Corporation, and the Canada Yacht and Boat Center. Also, he is president of the O'Day Insurance Agency and the Compact Insurance Agency.

With all of that, he still finds time for sailing. This year he was technical advisor for the American Eagle, which raced and lost to Constellation in the trials preceding the America Cup Race. In 1962 he was helmsman on Easterly and later technical advisor to Weatherby.

He got aboard Yankee, 1937 defender of America's Cup, and, through a bit of wily chatter, became a member of the crew. He was then only 14 years of age. His home is Dover, Mass., although the O'Day Corporation is situated in Boston.

HIS BLACK AND WHITE SLIDES showed the famous J-Boats of almost a century ago. Those boats have had a worse fate than the square-riggers; the Js are rotting away while the squares are still sailing.

In those days, the Americans and the British thought nothing of building boats up to 135 feet, with a beam of 22 feet, a waterline of 87 feet and a draw of 19 feet, or 24 feet with the centerboard down. The masts rose to 167 feet and the main and jibs had 7,000 square feet. One spinnaker on a J in those days had 18,000 square feet.

Those boats were beautiful in the water, but gradually the two countries began to cut down the sizes of the America Cup boats until they reached the 12-meter craft such as were used in the 1964 Cup event.

Let's look at the sizes of the 12-meter craft as compared to the Js. It is 67 feet long, has a beam of 11 feet, 10 inches, 47-foot waterline, draws six feet and has a mast of 90 feet. Sails are limited to 2,000 square feet and 3,000 extra for the spinnaker.

The 12-meter boat weighs 60,000 pounds as compared to the gigantic J, which weighed 350,000 pounds.

O'Day left Friday for Boston, but he makes frequent trips to this coast. If you ever receive an invitation to see his slides and movies of the Cup races, don't turn it down. His show and wit are the greatest.

Hicks to Conduct 8 Baseball Clinics

Joe Hicks, former coach at Long Beach City College and prominent baseball tactician, will conduct a series of eight coaching technique sessions with emphasis upon youth baseball, beginning Feb. 10.

The series, open to all adult coaches and those interested in baseball techniques, will be held at Hoover Junior High School Auditorium (3501 Country Club Drive) from 7 to 10 p.m. every Wednesday, Feb. 10 through March 31.

Hicks, who also coached Salta Pontiac in the Stan Musial League last summer, will place emphasis upon four basic areas—rules, skills and drills on fundamentals, practice session organization and a question and answer session.

Information about the program may be obtained by contacting Hicks at Long Beach City College (HA 5-1221).

TOP 'ANITA JOCKEYS AT CALIENTE TODAY

Honoring the late "Iceman of the Turf," the event will be at a mile and one-sixteenth and nearly all of the leading Santa Anita jockeys will be on hand.

Funny Thing, which disappointed many last week by running third to Silk Rings and Stem Winder, drew the top impost of 120. Silk Rings is in at 115, while Evereux, a good winner last Saturday, will carry 119 pounds.

Among the greats of the reinsmen expected for the Woolf are Johnny Longden, three-time winner of the Stakes; Bill Harmatz, also a three-time winner of the event, and Bill Shoemaker who won it twice.

RACING ROUNDUP

Sunstruck Wins Seminole 'Cap

Hobeau Farms' Sunstruck led all the way in the $65,800 Seminole Handicap at Hialeah Saturday and won by a nose with Piave a surprising second and Point du Jour third in the field of 13.

Sunstruck, with William Boland up, ran the 1⅛ miles in a slow 1:50⅘.

Point du Jour was a neck behind Piave and Tibaldo closed fast to take fourth money over such better known runners as Chateaugay, Roman Brother and Intercepted.

Sunstruck, favorite with the crowd of 23,473, paid $7.20, $5.40 and $5. Piave returned $38 and $18.80 while show price on Point de Jour was $10.

It was the slowest running of this feature since 1953 when Crafty Admiral won in 1:53 2/5.

Phimordial 2nd closed fast to be fifth, followed in order by Hot Dust, Roman Brother, Chateaugay, Intercepted, Temper, Knightly Manner, Babington and Suspicious.

"My orders were to go to the front and open up as much as I could," Boland said. "As we came into the stretch, the others moved to him and Point de Jour actually got a head in front of him but my horse came on again.

"I thought that the other horse (Piave) might have nipped him at the wire but he didn't."

Seven-year-old Tilmar, oldest member of a 10-horse field, downed his younger rivals with an upset victory in the $20,000-added Southern Maryland Handicap at Bowie.

Three horses finished in the photo finish picture and Tilmar paid $18.40, $8 and $5.40 in winning by a head from Terminator, who returned $5.20 and $3.60. Just a nose back, Amastar returned a show mutuel of $4.40.

Tilmar, a son of Cortil and Lady Dorimar, was just off Amastar's pace in the early stages, moved strongly in the stretch to take the lead leaving the sixteenth pole.

Ridden by Robert McCurdy, Tilmar clocked the six furlongs in 1:11⅗.

10-Team Pro Grid League Set for East

NEW YORK (AP)—A 10-team professional football league was formed Saturday with a combination of clubs from the United and Atlantic Coast Leagues, plus Philadelphia and Toronto.

"We are in business — all we need is a name," said Alex Schoenbaum of Charleston, West Va., chairman of the executive committee of the United Football League.

"We're going to have the best pro league in the United States and Canada," said Sol Rosen, general manager of the Newark Bears of the Atlantic Coast League.

The new league will consist of Philadelphia (taking over the Canton franchise), Toronto (replacing Montreal), Charleston, Wheeling and Fort Wayne (formerly Indianapolis) of the UFL and Newark, Richmond, Springfield and Hartford of the ACFL.

The victory left Long Beach as the league's only unbeaten team with a 4-0 record, 7-1 on the season. It was UCLA's first loss in three games.

O'Hara took care of the L.B. scoring on four penalty kicks ranging from 10 to 35 yards. The Bruins were leading, 11-9, until O'Hara came through from 20 yards with two minutes remaining.

2 MAIN EVENTS AT AUD MATCHES

Two main events are on the bill for this week's wrestling program at Municipal Auditorium.

In the first, Ernie (Big Cat) Ladd tackles heavyweight champion The Masked Destroyer. The other one-hour match Tuesday night has The Axeman against Pedro Morales.

All-Star Soccer Today

Southern California soccer players will be bidding for positions on the United States team for World Cup games against Mexico in two all-star games between the Greater L.A. and California Leagues today at Rancho Cienega Stadium. Main event is at 2:30.

The U.S. faces Mexico's all-star professionals in the Coliseum March 7, in a World Cup elimination with the return game in Mexico City, March 12. Total goals decide the survivor. Forward Al Zerhusen, halfback Bayardo Abaunza and halfback Freddy Cameron of the Greater L.A. League reportedly have already won positions on the USA team. Also under consideration are Manuel Abaunza and Helmut Bicek of the Greater L.A. League and Juan Angula of the California League.

Hurry to Market Makes '65 Debut

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hurry to Market, 1963's top two-year-old thoroughbred, will make his first start in 15 months Monday at the Fair Grounds.

Hurry to Market has been sidelined since winning the 1963 Garden State Stakes by a series of ailments.

Dental Hints for Children

National Children's Dental Health Week begins today. In cooperation with the Harbor Dental Society, The Independent, Press-Telegram gives dental information which members of the society feel will be of interest to you.

My pediatrician says I should take my three-year-old son to the dentist. I wonder if this is necessary?

Dental authorities agree that the child should make his first visit to the dentist at about age 2½ or 3. At this time, he has all of his baby teeth, and the dentist can check early for any minute sign of decay or any malformation which might lead to orthodontic problems when the child is older.

Even though your child does not "seem to have any cavities" it does not mean that some decay may not be present.

When a child is exposed to routine treatment at an early age, he rarely develops the fear which many adults have so long associated with dental treatment.

My 14-year-old son has been told by his dentist that he has 12 cavities, which the dentist plans to fill. Is there anything my children can do to keep from having so much tooth decay?

There are simple rules which, if followed faithfully, can help to reduce decay. These are:

1. Cut down on sweets, especially between meals.

2. Brush your teeth immediately after eating (snacks as well as regular meals). When this is not possible, rinse your mouth thoroughly with water.

3. Have regular dental checkups. This enables the dentist to discover decay and other problems at an early stage. Just as with other diseases, early treatment of dental disease is easier and more likely to be effective.

4. Fluoridation of community water supplies greatly reduces decay. Where water supplies are not fluoridated, dentists may suggest applying fluoride directly to the teeth.

While playing baseball, my son was struck by a bat and had his front tooth knocked out. I did not take him to the dentist because it was one of his baby teeth, and I knew that others would soon grow in. Later, a friend told me that I should have taken the child to the dentist immediately. Can you tell me why this is so important?

When your child breaks a bone, you immediately take him to a physician. Similarly, when a tooth is knocked out, the child should be taken to the dentist as quickly as possible.

Because the wound caused by the lost tooth is usually a clean one and the gum is rarely injured, it is often possible for the dentist to re-implant the child's tooth in its socket.

Just as the physician uses splints and a plaster cast to keep broken bones in place, a dentist will use a splint and sometimes a cast to keep the tooth in the socket while the gum heals around it. In many cases the tooth, gums, and bone structure effect a healing process, and the tooth once again becomes functional.

If it is not possible to re-implant a tooth successfully, the dentist may construct a wire appliance or a type of bridge to keep the other teeth from shifting into the space left by the missing tooth.

IT IS VERY IMPORTANT for the first teeth to remain in the mouth until the permanent teeth erupt and replace them. If the space is not maintained the permanent tooth, when it erupts, may find its allotted space already filled. This, of course, causes the permanent tooth to come in out of this proper position.

What should you do when a child loses a tooth? First, wrap the tooth in a wet towel or place it in water. And, most important, don't clean the tooth or you may remove vital tissue.

Next, take your child and the tooth to your dentist as quickly as possible. The earlier your dentist is able to treat the child, the greater the chance of complete success.

Author of Medicare Rival Bill to Speak

By BOB HOUSER
L P-T Political Editor

Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, will address the 11th annual Lincoln Day Dinner of the 32nd Congressional District Republican Central Committee at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Lafayette Hotel International Ball Room.

J. K. (Ken) McCall is committee chairman. Wesley Knuppel is dinner chairman and Eugene Zechmeister is ticket chairman. Ticket information may be obtained by phoning Republican headquarters, 2487 Atlantic Ave.

Bow, 64, a member of Congress since 1951, is the ranking Republican on the House Appropriations Committee. He made headlines last October by accusing the U. S. Employment Service of making "one of the most ambitious power grabs in U. S. history.

He is the author of House Resolution 21 (the Bow Bill) which would provide federal tax incentives and assistance to provide comprehensive medical-care insurance for retired persons. It has become known as a principal alternative to the administration's proposal to finance through Social Security a hospitalization program for persons over 65.

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained from Zechmeister, all committee members and all Republican club presidents. A 7 p.m. no-host cocktail hour will precede the dinner.

• • • •

GOV. LOVE AT BALBOA

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado will speak at the 15th annual Lincoln Day luncheon in Balboa Bay Club Thursday, under auspices of the Orange County Federation of Republican Women.

Mrs. Jack Cairns, president of the sponsoring countywide group, said Love will be introduced by Mrs. Pat Hitt of Orange, former national committeewoman for California.

LOVE

Handling reservations will be Mrs. L. J. Tucker of Garden Grove, a former president of both the county federation and the Garden Grove unit.

• • • •

CDC DISCUSSION

Whether the California Democratic Council should accept issues or candidates will be the theme of a discussion by members of the Tom Paine Democratic Club at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Los Altos Branch Library.

The discussion will consider the question of whether the CDC can continue to take stands on issues and still win elections or if it should soft-pedal issues in order to put Democrats in office. Many CDC people believe the latter course to be one of compromise and a sacrifice of integrity while others believe it to be the course of political realism in the context of current California politics.

Thomas D. Griffin, Long Beach attorney, will speak on "The CDC: Past, Present and Future." He is a delegate to the CDC State Convention March 19-21 in Sacramento. Other club delegates are George Bishop, Mrs. Ruth Bishop, Mrs. Nila Hastings and Mrs. Inez Moore.

New club officers are M. Hugh Schwab, president; Mrs. Sally Stabrawa, vice president; Mrs. Jean Draves, secretary, and Ralph Lisle, treasurer.

• • • •

MRS. BOWLER TALK

Mrs. Ann Bowler of Long Beach, Republican national committeewoman, will speak at the Wednesday-noon luncheon meeting of 32nd Congressional District Republican Women Federated in the Pacific Coast Club.

Mrs. Joseph Spivey, president, will conduct a business meeting starting at 11 a.m. Mrs. Bowler's noon talk will cover the January Republican National Committee meeting in Chicago. Mrs. Bowler also is California chairman for the 13th annual Republican Women's Conference March 31-April 3 in Washington, D.C. Luncheon will be served after Mrs. Bowler's talk.

REDISTRICTING EXPERT

Dr. Leroy C. Hardy, professor of political science at Long Beach State College and redistricting, will speak on reopportionment of the State Senate at a meeting of the Alamitos Bay Democratic Club at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Bay Shore Branch Library, 195 Bay Shore Ave. The meeting is public.

FRANK T. BOW
To Address GOP Unit

EL DORADO CRA

The El Dorado 39th Assembly District Republican Assembly has selected four delegates to the March convention of the California Republican Assembly in San Diego.

They are President Felix E. and Mrs. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Dale J. Fairbanks.

• • • •

GOP ALLIANCE

Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan of Tracy will be honored guest and speaker at a 7:30 p.m. Wednesday dinner meeting of the newly formed Republican Alliance of Los Angeles County in the Inn of the Santa Fe Trails, El Monte. Roy O. Day of Pomona will be master of ceremonies.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Seondaries Spotlighted as 'Chips' Digest Gains

NEW YORK (UPI)—Investors and traders neglected the blue chips and turned their attention to a host of secondary shares on the New York Stock Exchange last week. Volume dipped slightly from the week before.

The blue chip sector was in the process of digesting the gains which helped run the Dow Jones Industrial average through the 900 level the previous week and, although that average managed to touch a new peak of 906.30 Wednesday, it finished in the red on the week.

Chemicals alone of the blue chips showed strength with the rest either subjected to profit taking or neglected.

• • • •

MEANWHILE, the secondary shares, which for the most part have failed to participate in the market's two-year upswing, began to receive some attention.

Favorable dividend and earnings news continued to add to bullish sentiment and technicians gained further confidence in the market from the orderliness of the correction. The dividend increases especially were seen as a reflection of management's confidence in its ability to maintain a higher payment rate.

The economic picture continued bright with new peaks reached in consumer spending and employment. The aircraft section of the market received a boost from Britain's decision to place two airplane contracts with American firms.

DOW-JONES Industrial average was down 1.29 on the week at 901.57 and rails were off 1.80 at 210.98. Utilities managed to advance 2.39 to a new peak of 163.07. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index slipped 0.27 to 87.29.

Trading slowed to 29,207,443 shares from 30,816,190 shares a week before but compared with 21,310,646 shares in the same week last year. Of the 1,543 issues traded, 759 advanced, 309 to new 1964-65 highs while 615 declined, 19 to new lows.

General Tire & Rubber's dividend boost helped to make it the most active issue of the week. It rose 1⅛ to 20⅞ on 371,000 shares.

Chrysler was second most active. It fell ⅞ to 57⅞ on 369,000 shares. There have been rumors circulating the auto producer would seek new financing, either through a rights offering or the sale of debentures, estimated to be in the $200 million area. The company declined to comment on the reports.

• • • •

TEXAS GULF finished unchanged at 63 on 328,900 shares in third place. Lockheed also was among the actives. It gained 1½ after the British government placed a multi-million dollar contract for about 100 planes with it.

McDonnell Aircraft, although not in the active list, gained 2⅛ after it received a British award.

Sunshine Mining advanced 1⅛ in active dealings after insurgent stockholders gained unqualified control of the company. Sunshine's president and five directors resigned and were replaced by the dissident group.

Consolidated Foods soared 4 points after it and American Tobacco announced a tentative merger agreement. American Tobacco picked up 1⅝.

Steels continued in the doldrums with most losing small fractions. Lukens and Youngstown Sheet were exceptions, dropping 2 and 1 respectively.

FORECAST FOR TODAY

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Cycle remains high. You begin to understand results of endeavors, strengthen family ties. What you need is available. Sense of values due to receive best. Come through with flying colors!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Time when you are perceptive. You make right moves at right time. Certain basic factors become "clear." Key is receptivity. Member of opposite sex provides encouragement.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You will learn true value of friendship. Do not permit false pride to upset harmony. Be true to yourself. Realize familiar approach is superior to untried scheme.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Same weakness, some blemishes now can actually add up to beauty. Be realistic. If loved one confesses weakness—be sympathetic. Being needed is valuable asset.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): The more responsible you are to the more you get paid. Display seriousness of purpose. Neighbor who asks advice should be treated cordially. Be cooperative. Mistight maturity.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Be aware of "messages" family member wants to impart. Involves hope, security and money. Take broad view . . . avoid petty rejection. Highlight generosity, understanding on to past. Future is bright. If you but seek . . . you will "see."

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Skeptical associates may be merely "testing" you. React with confidence. Realize your intuition is apt to be correct. Be receptive. Listen and learn.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Key to productivity is being VERSATILE. Keep mind open. Consider alternative methods. Be aware of progress, new ideas. Shake off emotional lethargy!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 19): Many benefits available. Be observant — and grateful. You asked for specific opportunities. Here you will begin to see their availability. Make the most of it!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your natural qualities of investigation come to fore. Be analytical. Find out reasons why. Build solid foundation. Realize many do think as you. Respond accordingly.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Activity increases. You will have more of an opportunity to express yourself. Key is cooperating to preserve present. Best to tear down in order to rebuild.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . your ideas are progressive. But you need one to provide inspiration . . . you succeed when right person is by your side.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Taurus, Gemini, Special award to Capricorns: Romantic interests come to fore. Combine idealism with practicality.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You have chance to add to income. But this depends upon powers of observation. Probe deep. Be aware of fine print. Find reasons for recent happenings. Collect information.

Dental Hints for Children

National Children's Dental Health Week begins today. In cooperation with the Harbor Dental Society, The Independent, Press-Telegram gives dental information which members of the society feel will be of interest to you.

My pediatrician says I should take my three-year-old son to the dentist. I wonder if this is necessary?

Dental authorities agree that the child should make his first visit to the dentist at about age 2½ or 3. At this time, he has all of his baby teeth, and the dentist can check early for any minute sign of decay or any malformation which might lead to orthodontic problems when the child is older.

Even though your child does not "seem to have any cavities" it does not mean that some decay may not be present.

When a child is exposed to routine treatment at an early age, he rarely develops the fear which many adults have so long associated with dental treatment.

My 14-year-old son has been told by his dentist that he has 12 cavities, which the dentist plans to fill. Is there anything my children can do to keep from having so much tooth decay?

There are simple rules which, if followed faithfully, can help to reduce decay. These are:

1. Cut down on sweets, especially between meals.

2. Brush your teeth immediately after eating (snacks as well as regular meals). When this is not possible, rinse your mouth thoroughly with water.

3. Have regular dental checkups. This enables the dentist to discover decay and other problems at an early stage. Just as with other diseases, early treatment of dental disease is easier and more likely to be effective.

4. Fluoridation of community water supplies greatly reduces decay. Where water supplies are not fluoridated, dentists may suggest applying fluoride directly to the teeth.

While playing baseball, my son was struck by a bat and had his front tooth knocked out. I did not take him to the dentist because it was one of his baby teeth, and I knew that others would soon grow in. Later, a friend told me that I should have taken the child to the dentist immediately. Can you tell me why this is so important?

When your child breaks a bone, you immediately take him to a physician. Similarly, when a tooth is knocked out, the child should be taken to the dentist as quickly as possible.

Because the wound caused by the lost tooth is usually a clean one and the gum is rarely injured, it is often possible for the dentist to re-implant the child's tooth in its socket.

Just as the physician uses splints and a plaster cast to keep broken bones in place, a dentist will use a splint and sometimes a cast to keep the tooth in the socket while the gum heals around it. In many cases the tooth, gums, and bone structure effect a healing process, and the tooth once again becomes functional.

If it is not possible to re-implant a tooth successfully, the dentist may construct a wire appliance or a type of bridge to keep the other teeth from shifting into the space left by the missing tooth.

IT IS VERY IMPORTANT for the first teeth to remain in the mouth until the permanent teeth erupt and replace them. If the space is not maintained the permanent tooth, when it erupts, may find its allotted space already filled. This, of course, causes the permanent tooth to come in out of this proper position.

What should you do when a child loses a tooth? First, wrap the tooth in a wet towel or place it in water. And, most important, don't clean the tooth or you may remove vital tissue.

Next, take your child and the tooth to your dentist as quickly as possible. The earlier your dentist is able to treat the child, the greater the chance of complete success.

Author of Medicare Rival Bill to Speak

By BOB HOUSER
I. P-T Political Editor

Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, will address the 11th annual Lincoln Day Dinner of the 32nd Congressional District Republican Central Committee at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Lafayette Hotel International Ball Room.

J. K. (Ken) McCall is committee chairman. Wesley Knuppel is dinner chairman and Eugene Zechmeister is ticket chairman. Ticket information may be obtained by phoning Republican headquarters, 2487 Atlantic Ave.

Bow, 64, a member of Congress since 1951, is the ranking Republican on the House Appropriations Committee. He made headlines last October by accusing the U. S. Employment Service of making "one of the most ambitious power grabs in U. S. history.

He is the author of House Resolution 21 (the Bow Bill) which would provide federal tax incentives and assistance to provide comprehensive medical-care insurance for retired persons. It has become known as a principal alternative to the administration's proposal to finance through Social Security a hospitalization program for persons over 65.

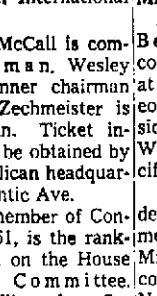

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained from Zechmeister, all committee members and all Republican club presidents. A 7 p.m. no-host cocktail hour will precede the dinner.

CDC DISCUSSION

Whether the California Democratic Council should accent issues or candidates will be the theme of a discussion by members of the Tom Paine Democratic Club at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Los Altos Branch Library.

The discussion will consider the question of whether the CDC can continue to take stands on issues and still win elections or if it should soft-pedal issues in order to put Democrats in office. Many CDC people believe the latter course to be one of compromise and a sacrifice of integrity while others believe it to be the course of political realism in the context of current California politics.

Thomas D. Griffin, Long Beach attorney, will speak on "The CDC: Past, Present and Future." He is a delegate to the CDC State Convention March 19-21 in Sacramento. Other club delegates are George Bishop, Mrs. Ruth Bishop, Mrs. Nila Hastings and Mrs. Inez Moore.

New club officers are M. Hugh Schwab, president; Mrs. Sally Stabrawa, vice president; Mrs. Jean Draves, secretary, and Ralph Lisle, treasurer.

MRS. BOWLER TALK

Mrs. Ann Bowler of Long Beach, Republican national committeewoman, will speak at the Wednesday-noon luncheon meeting of 32nd Congressional District Republican Women Federated in the Pacific Coast Club.

Mrs. Joseph Spivey, president, will conduct a business meeting starting at 11 a.m. Mrs. Bowler's noon talk will cover the January Republican National Committee meeting in Chicago. Mrs. Bowler also is California chairman for the 13th annual Republican Women's Conference March 31-April 3 in Washington, D.C. Luncheon will be served after Mrs. Bowler's talk.

REDISTRICTING EXPERT

Dr. Leroy C. Hardy, professor of political science at Long Beach State College and redistricting, will speak on reopportionment of the State Senate at a meeting of the Alamitos Bay Democratic Club at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Bay Shore Branch Library, 195 Bay Shore Ave. The meeting is public.

FRANK T. BOW

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Seondaries Spotlighted as 'Chips' Digest Gains

NEW YORK (UPI)—Investors and traders neglected the blue chips and turned their attention to a host of secondary shares on the New York Stock Exchange last week. Volume dipped slightly from the week before.

The blue chip sector was in the process of digesting the gains which helped run the Dow Jones Industrial average through the 900 level the previous week and, although that average managed to touch a new peak of 906.30 Wednesday, it finished in the red on the week.

Chemicals alone of the blue chips showed strength with the rest either subjected to profit taking or neglected.

* * * *

MEANWHILE, the secondary shares, which for the most part have failed to participate in the market's two-year upswing, began to receive some attention.

Favorable dividend and earnings news continued to add to bullish sentiment and technicians gained further confidence in the market from the orderliness of the correction. The dividend increases especially were seen as a reflection of management's confidence in its ability to maintain a higher payment rate.

The economic picture continued bright with new peaks reached in consumer spending and employment. The aircraft section of the market received a boost from Britain's decision to place two airplane contracts with American firms.

* * * *

DOW-JONES Industrial average was down 1.29 on the week at 901.57 and rails were off 1.80 at 210.98. Utilities managed to advance 2.39 to a new peak of 163.07. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index slipped 0.27 to 87.29.

Trading slowed to 29,207,443 shares from 30,816,190 shares a week before but compared with 21,310,646 shares in the same week last year. Of the 1,543 issues traded, 759 advanced, 309 to new 1964-65 highs while 615 declined, 19 to new lows.

General Tire & Rubber's dividend boost helped to make it the most active issue of the week. It rose 1⅛ to 20⅞ on 371,000 shares.

Chrysler was second most active. It fell ⅞ to 57⅛ on 369,000 shares. There have been rumors circulating the auto producer would seek new financing, either through a rights offering or the sale of debentures, estimated to be in the $200 million area. The company declined to comment on the reports.

* * * *

TEXAS GULF finished unchanged at 63 on 328,900 shares in third place. Lockheed also was among the actives. It gained 1½ after the British government placed a multi-million dollar contract for about 100 planes with it.

McDonnell Aircraft, although not in the active list, gained 2⅛ after it received a British award.

Sunshine Mining advanced 1⅛ in active dealings after insurgent stockholders gained unqualified control of the company. Sunshine's president and five directors resigned and were replaced by the dissident group.

Consolidated Foods soared 4 points after it and American Tobacco announced a tentative merger agreement. American Tobacco picked up 1⅝.

Steels continued in the doldrums with most losing small fractions. Lukens and Youngstown Sheet were exceptions, dropping 2 and 1 respectively.

Envoy Back to Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer returned to Tokyo Saturday night from the United States where he had gone in connection with the recent talks between President Johnson and Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato.

Our famous California Dri-Aire Lamp does just that—gives you and your children dry, warm, easy-to-breathe air . . . just what the doctor ordered to bring relief from paroxysms of sneezing and nasal fever, symptoms of head colds, sinus upset and bronchial conditions. Only $14.95 complete and, if you like, our rental applies toward purchase price of $54.95.

A Puppy at the Pound

Music Center

Goodwill Industries Antiques

The "Pepsi Generation"

We spend a good deal of time protecting people's money and helping increase it for college educations, trips abroad, trips home, retirement in Tahiti, and Heaven only knows what else. But if you can't wait for life to be richer, discover a puppy at the Los Angeles Pound, the joy of the Los Angeles Music Center, an antique hunt at Goodwill Industries, the carbonated music of the Pepsi generation. Life is fuller when the riches are in the heart of the saver. Have you discovered that?

Tourist Don't Flock to France

PARIS (AP)—Pierre Dumas, Secretary of State for Tourism, confirmed that tourists no longer flock to France.

Dumas reported to a weekly cabinet meeting that France in 1962 had a favorable balance of payments in the tourism industry of one billion francs ($200 million) and this dropped to 100 million francs ($20 million) in 1964. He said the government is trying to stop the trend with measures to improve moderate and low priced hotel accommodations.

All-electric apartments from $85 per month!

TOTAL ELECTRIC GOLD MEDALLION HOME — LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY — AWARD

Why rent anything but a Flameless All-Electric Gold Medallion Apartment when it's so easy to afford today!

The Gold Medallion Award tells you your new apartment is completely flameless—the easiest ever to care for—and fully equipped for the best of living.

Enjoy flameless electric heating—more comfort than you've ever known. Clean and quiet as sunshine too. Helps furnishing, drapes, carpets stay bright and new far longer.

Flameless electric water heating—the carefree way to have hot water instantly—without a hot, burning pilot light.

A modern all-electric kitchen—the cleanest and coolest!

Full "Housepower" wiring with all the circuits and outlets you'll ever need.

Fully insulated for maximum soundproofing, comfort and economy.

Move in now to cleaner, quieter, easier living in an all-electric apartment.

Custom Built for Discriminating Buyers

PROVINCIAL CHARM

Located in one of our finest areas is this 1,900-sq.-ft., 3-br., family-room, 3-bath home, featuring quality hardwood floors & old brick log burning fireplace, set in a wall of built-in bookcases, a family-sized kitchen with built-in range, oven, dishwasher, natural wood cabinets, spacious separate service porch, etc. Outside is a large covered patio overlooking a professionally built 16'x36' swimming pool, surrounded by loads of warm sundecking, all enclosed by high tinted block wall. No down to a qualified vet or submit your terms. Priced well below appraisal at $28,900.

CONTEMPORARY LOVELINESS

RAMBLING MODERN

3,500 sq. ft. plus a separate guest house with bath provides luxurious comfort with this fabulous 5-br., large family room, cozy den, 4-bath home situated on approx. ½ acre in our finest all-custom area. Inside are many, many features which include 100% wool pile wall-to-wall carpets throughout, built-in bookcases and storage cabinets, a massive 2-way Arizona sandstone fireplace, between the living room and family room, a 2nd fireplace in the den, sliding glass doors opening from the family room, den, and 2 bdrms. to the large covered patio, 2 separate forced air units providing perimeter heating, etc. The convenient kitchen features a built-in range, double oven, refrigerator, stainless steel fixtures, and loads of cabinets. The beautifully landscaped grounds boast a 20'x44' heated & filtered swimming pool. There's plenty of off-street parking for those social activities. Offered at $87,500.

WHAT IS A BARGAIN?
The lingering taste of quality far outlasts the short joy of a buck saved on a "Real Bargain."
Whether it be a high-priced car or a "cheapie" this thought would certainly hold true.

WHAT IS A BARGAIN?

The lingering taste of quality far outlasts the short joy of a Buck saved on a "Real Bargain."

Whether it be a high-priced car or a "cheapie" this thought would certainly hold true.

Instruments Repaired for Schools

By VERN ANTHONY
Progress Section Editor

Among the multitude of small businesses in Long Beach and environs few strike a happier note than Music-Craft Repair and Supply at 701 E. Artesia Blvd.

For here damaged or dilapidated musical instruments are turned in for repairs—and they go back to the customers looking like new.

Owner William Meyer is assisted by a former partner, Wayne Thompson, who for years played trombone with numerous Southland bands.

L.B. Shoreline Profile Due for Changes

IF ALL GOES AS PLANNED BY THE CITY, this ocean frontage profile of Long Beach will begin to change by late summer, when dredging is due to start on a $12 million "fill" which will extend the land area some 250 feet seaward. Eventually, the old Rainbow Pier (2) will be removed and a new lagoon put in south of Municipal Auditorium (1). Plans call for a Maritime Museum south of the lagoon. A new shoreline drive would run from Long Beach Freeway (at left out of picture), curving easterly around the downtown area to connect with Ocean Boulevard at Alamitos Avenue, near the Villa Riviera (4). There would be additional parking for several thousand cars east and west of the Arena (3). Urban Renewal changes are due along the West Beach (to left of picture); and changes also are due in the Nu-Pike Amusement Zone (also at left). A small-boat recreational base is planned southwest of the new lagoon. Principal initial operations will focus on land-fill work later this year. Project will extend over number of years and is being financed from tideland oil revenues.

DEDICATION SET TODAY
Dedication exercises for the new Salvation Army Long Beach Temple and Community Center at 455 E. Spring St. will be held today at 2:30 p.m. Church and civic dignitaries will participate. A reception and tour will follow the ceremony. The center includes the sanctuary, seating 340 people, and all-purpose classrooms.

Urge Utility Firms Pay Installation

Installation of underground utilities in subdivisions, with a recommendation that all delivery and installation costs be paid by the utility company benefitting thereby, has been approved by the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties by unanimous action of its board of directors.

Announcement of the policy stand of the largest home building group in California, and one of the largest in the nation, was made by Larry Armour, community developer and home builder of Anaheim, who is president of the association.

The home builders spelled out their answer to the problem of who will pay for the underground utilities which has been in controversy throughout California. The utility companies have insisted that the home builders pay the costs.

GG to Have New Plant

Groundbreaking is planned Monday for a new plant to be built in Garden Grove by Kinkead Industries, Inc., of Chicago.

First construction stage calls for a quarter million dollar office complex covering 45,000 square feet on a six acre site on Western Avenue, between Lampson and the Garden Grove Freeway.

The completed plant will cover 150,000 square feet.

Kinkead is among the nation's largest producers of stainless steel and aluminum mouldings, industrial roll formed shapes and like items.

Union Pacific Steps Up Industrial Development

In a move to provide added emphasis to the Union Pacific Railroad's industrial development program, the Long Beach area included, John W. Godfrey has been appointed assistant to the president-industrial relations, UP President Edd H. Bailey announced last week.

Godfrey, until his promotion, was district engineer of Union Pacific's south-central district, from Salt Lake City to Southern California.

• • • • •

"UNION PACIFIC has long been active in industrial development throughout the territory it serves," Bailey said. "However, in order to stimulate our program — to coordinate and expand the efforts of the several departments concerned, and to expedite the handling to a successful conclusion of the often complex requirements of industrial expansion — this new position of assistant to president-industrial relations is being added to my staff.

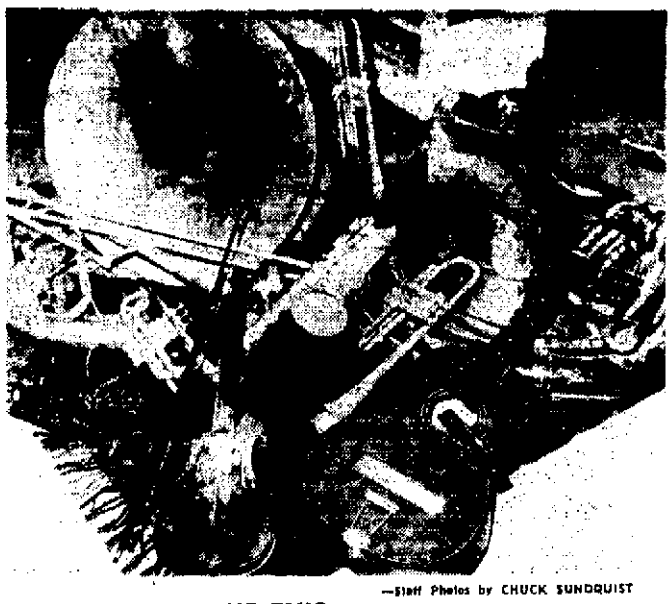

"We hope to bring new industry into our territory even more rapidly than in the past. At the same time, we are devoted to assisting existing industries in their expansion plans."

• • • • •

GODFREY began his Union Pacific career in 1934 as a machinist apprentice in Cheyenne. He later became an instrumentman and draftsman, was made an engineering inspector in 1945 and was promoted to assistant engineer at Cheyenne in 1948.

He was named Utah division engineer the following year and later served in the same capacity on the railroad's Wyoming division. He has had the post of district engineer since Aug. 1, 1957.

BANQUET MONDAY NIGHT

Executives Club to Honor Salesmen

The Sales and Marketing Executives Club of Long Beach will hold its 16th Annual Distinguished Salesman Award Banquet Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the International Ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel.

DR. VREDEVOE

The "DSA" program is part of National Salesmen's Week.

Twenty-five top - ranked local firms are participating in this year's event. The top salesman from each of the firms will receive a "Sammy" award from Mayor Edwin W. Wade. Many other civic and community leaders will be in attendance.

Highlight of the evening will be presentation of the SME-Long Beach Annual "Salesman of the Year" award which is given each year to the man who does the most to sell the City of Long Beach.

A committee composed of past winners Dr. Orville Cole, Daniel H. Ridder and H. E. Ridings—plus Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President Harry Krusz and Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram Editor Malcolm Epley—will select the winner who will be announced during the evening.

• • • •

KEYNOTER of the evening will be Dr. Lawrence E. Vredevoe, UCLA professor. Dr. Vredevoe is a graduate of Hope College and the University of Michigan and is a recognized leader in the field of education and research.

John Regan is chairman of this year's event and Robert P. Graham, president of the club, will preside at the evening's activities.

L.B. Area Engineers to Join in Observance

Benefits of engineering will be stressed to the Southland public during Engineers' Week, Feb. 21-27, with some 65,000 engineers, civic and government officials, educators, schools and colleges, and engineer-employing agencies and firms combine their efforts in the week's program.

Setting Engineers' Week aside will be proclamations and other official recognition by civic and municipal officials throughout Southern California joined to those of Gov. Edmund Brown and President Lyndon Johnson.

• • • •

FOLLOWING custom, the week is set for the birthday week of George Washington, one of the nation's first engineers.

The annual "George" award, the engineers' counterpart of Oscar and Emmy, will be presented at that time to the area's "Engineer of the Year." In 1963, Dr. Pickering of Jet Propulsion Laboratory was the winner; in 1964 it was Dr. Ruben Mettler, president of STL.

A full schedule of activities will be under way in San Fernando Valley, Long Beach, and Orange County in addition to those in metropolitan Los Angeles.

• • • •

FOR THE first time in Engineers' Week history all engineering groups in Southern California are coordinating their planning to avoid duplication and to increase efficiency.

Under the general theme "Engineering for Human Needs," five separate subthemes have been designated for major attention. These are smog and waste disposal, water, power, transportation and communications, industry building and construction, and education.

All Engineers' Week activities and publicity are being directed along these themes.

There will be exhibits and open houses at industry and engineering schools; engineering speakers at service clubs, schools and civic meetings.

Two Douglas Missle, Space Execs Named

Appointment of C. J. Dorrenbacher and C. S. Perry as vice presidents of the Douglas Missile & Space Systems Division has been announced by Charles R. Able, group vice president, Missile & Space Systems.

Dorrenbacher was named vice president - advance systems and technology, and Perry was appointed vice president - development engineering. Both will report directly to Able.

Able said Dorrenbacher's new position increases the MSSD emphasis on research, technological developments, program planning and management in three advance systems areas: launch vehicles, offense missiles and defense missiles. In addition, it supplements the newly announced Manned Spacecraft organization under the direction of R. L. Johnson, as vice president.

• • • •

PERRY directs a development organization responsible for the engineering aspects of MSSD's programs located at Santa Monica, such as the Thor and Delta launch vehicles and Zeus anti-missile missile, Able said. Functions of the development engineering group include design technology, engineering administration and engineering laboratories and services.

Previously Dorrenbacher was director of advance systems and technology, and Perry was director of development engineering, both in the Missile & Space Systems Division.

C. J. DORRENBACHER
Systems, Technology

C. S. PERRY
In Development Field

• • • •

DORRENBACHER, a 14-year veteran with the company, was chief engineer, responsible for direction of over-all engineering programs for all Douglas space systems, before becoming director of advance systems and technology.

Perry, before being named to his previous position, was deputy director of research and engineering, MSSD chief engineer and missiles administrative engineer. He joined Douglas in 1947.

Sales Record Set by Kaiser Steel

Kaiser Steel Corp. is reporting preliminary 1964 net earnings of $12,217,000 and a new annual sales record of $281,-298,000, it has been announced by Jack L. Ashby, president.

These earnings represent $2.77 per common share after provision for dividends on the preferred and preference stocks.

The 1964 results compare with 1963 net earnings of $11,317,000 or $2.49 per common share, on sales of $245,-048,000.

The 1963 earnings, however, were not subject to federal income taxes because of loss carryovers from prior years. Net earnings for 1964 reflect deduction of $5,950,000 as provision for federal income taxes.

On a comparable "before tax" basis, 1964 earnings rose $6,850,000 over 1963, a 60% improvement.

Deal Made for Bayfront Home

The residence, on Bayshore Walk, was sold by Mrs. Donald T. Hunter of Long Beach, according to John Clerc-Scott, vice president of Previews, Inc., Los Angeles, international real estate marketing service. Betty G. Tebbetts, Long Beach realtor, handled the sale.

There is waterfrontage of about 70 feet on the bay, with a dock, three boat slips and a large float.

Long Beach Robertshaw Exec Named

M. F. Grace has been promoted to sales manager by Robertshaw Controls Company's Grayson Controls Division.

He succeeds H. F. Jacobsmeyer, who resigned.

Grace, who has been product sales manager for heating controls, will be based at the division's Long Beach headquarters, 100 W. Victora St.

M. F. GRACE

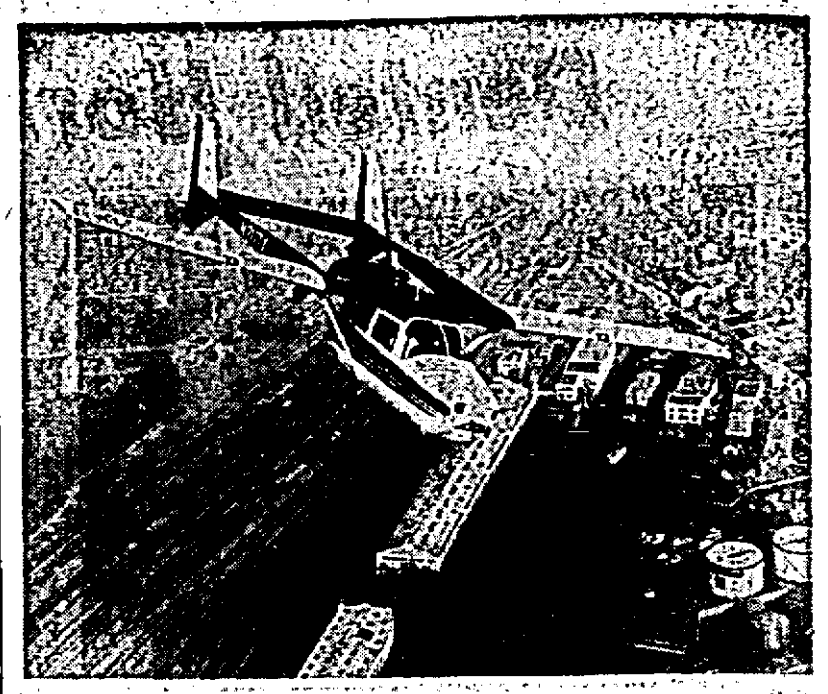

A graduate of Auburn University, he joined Grayson in 1947 as Los Angeles sales representative. He was district sales manager in Dallas and later in Chattanooga before being named product sales manager for heating controls.

Realtor Week Slogan Chosen

Slogan for Realtor Week, opening May 23, has been announced by the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

It will be: "Pick the Right Home — Through a Realtor."

The week is observed annually in the real estate business to acquaint the public better with Realtor objectives and practices.

REPORT ON TEST FLIGHT

Big Improvements Noted in New Skymaster Planes

(Editor's note: This is another in a series of articles by Lee Craig, aviation editor of the Independent, Press-Telegram, discussing 1965 model light aircraft. He is flying different planes from Long Beach Airport, a leader in light plane activity, and reporting on them.)

Cessna's new double-ender, its twin-engined Super Skymaster, is going to make last year's buyers of the airplane very unhappy.

For the same price — $39,950—the 1965 version has improved styling, visibility improvements, an aerodynamic cleanup and retractable gear.

This last goes a long way toward removing the two biggest criticisms of last year's Skymaster; its low cruise speed and its odd appearance.

The foldup gear and aerodynamic detail work add better than 20 miles an hour to the Skymaster's top speed, which now is a satisfactory 200.

• • • •

The Super Skymaster, whether you agree that it now looks like an airplane, ranks head, shoulders and navel over any other light twin in several important respects.

• • • •

LOSING AN ENGINE on takeoff resulted in no yaw, no control problem. It did give us a disturbing feeling, however, to go on charging upward, despite the motionless propellor before us.

The Skymaster also excells in roominess, cabin quiet and ease of flying. Visibility is superb and the airplane stalls as softly as a kitten, although with plenty of warning.

You can't overlook the advantage of those six seats, either, although this points up the only real criticism we could find.

• • • •

THE EXTRA two seats go where the other four occupants would normally put their baggage, so all hands would have to carry, their suitcases on their laps.

Of course with six aboard and full fuel, the bags would have to be pretty small, anyway, to stay under gross weight.

Even without a baggage compartment, however, the newest Skymaster is a whale of an airplane . . . in more ways than one.

Open Manageme Seminar Feb. 23

Starting Feb. 23 and slated for six succeeding Tuesday nights, a Management Seminar will be held at Long Beach State College from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

The sessions are being sponsored by the college's Division of Business Administration in cooperation with the United States Small Business Administration. The meetings will be held in Building LA-2, Room 109.

Declares Dividend

The board of directors of Marathon Oil Co. has declared a dividend of 50 cents per share payable March 10, 1965, to shareholders of record at the close of business on Feb. 15, 1965.

Millie Corrigan
JANUARY WINNER FOR SPAROW REALTY

Now in her fifth year of real estate selling, Mrs. Corrigan was previously a supervisor for the telephone company, and graduated from Wilson Hi in 1941.

In presenting the award Oliver Sparow, President of Sparow Realty said, "Mrs. Corrigan has given exceptional, capable service to her clients. This has resulted in increased referrals for her each year, which means the growth of any individual or company."

Instrument Repairing Takes Skill, Patience

pair shop in downtown Long Beach and retired in 1946.

"I worked in Los Angeles after the war (in 1946) and repaired instruments for such bandmen as Lawrence Welk, Skinny Ennis and Spade Cooley," Meyer reminisced.

"We now repair many instruments for school bands," he continued.

HIS SHOP does about 60% of the repair work for Long Beach school bands, he said. Instruments have been rebuilt for the championship Grossmont High band from the San Diego area and for schools in Compton, among other places; also for numerous music stores.

"Our business has doubled the past three years," Meyer noted.

"Many guitars are brought in for repairs." He credits this to the Beatles and the rock and roll era, which finds so many youngsters taking up the guitar and similar instruments.

MEN SKILLED in reworking instruments are hard to find, Meyer observed. Factory-trained men really are good for just assembling instruments, he added, and are not satisfactory when it comes to fixing battered horns, etc.

A repair man needs patience as well as skill, and it takes time—as well as special tools, some of which have to be handmade—to pound dents out of a horn.

Incidentally, with instruments priced as they now are, it usually pays to have a damaged one repaired, Meyer said.

Most horns can be rebuilt, he added, unless their valves are beyond repair.

AMONG MEYER'S prized instruments is one his father used to have, a clarinet more than 200 years old.

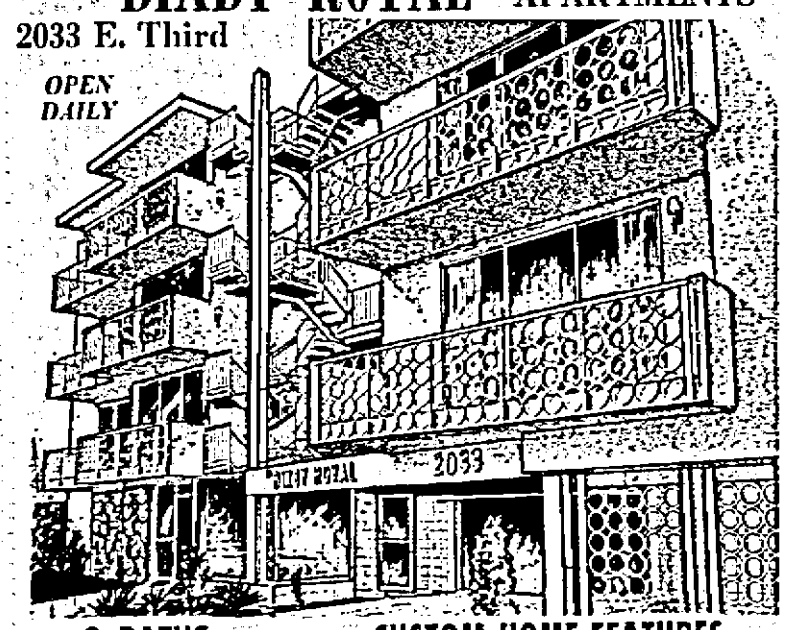

Silver-plated horns are less popular now than brass, Meyer said, as silver will tarnish more. However, Salvation Army bands still prefer silver-plated horns.

Music-Craft will tackle repair work on any band or orchestra instrument.

What's the toughest to fix?

The double reed types, Meyer and Thompson agreed —like bassoons, oboes and bass clarinets.

L.B. Area Engineers to Join in Observance

Benefits of engineering will be stressed to the Southland public during Engineers' Week, Feb. 21-27, with some 65,000 engineers, civic and government officials, educators, schools and colleges, and engineer-employing agencies and firms combine their efforts in the week's program.

Setting Engineers' Week aside will be proclamations and other official recognition by civic and municipal officials throughout Southern California joined to those of Gov. Edmund Brown and President Lyndon Johnson.

* * * *

FOLLOWING custom, the week is set for the birthday week of George Washington, one of the nation's first engineers.

The annual "George" award, the engineers' counterpart of Oscar and Emmy, will be presented at that time to the area's "Engineer of the Year." In 1963, Dr. Pickering of Jet Propulsion Laboratory was the winner; in 1964 it was Dr. Ruben Mettler, president of STL.

A full schedule of activities will be under way in San Fernando Valley, Long Beach, and Orange County in addition to those in metropolitan Los Angeles.

* * * *

FOR THE first time in Engineers' Week history all engineering groups in Southern California are coordinating their planning to avoid duplication and to increase efficiency.

Under the general theme "Engineering for Human Needs," five separate subthemes have been designated for major attention. These are smog and waste disposal, water, power, transportation and communications, industry building and construction, and education.

All Engineers' Week activities and publicity are being directed along these themes.

There will be exhibits and open houses at industry and engineering schools; engineering speakers at service clubs, schools and civic meetings.

Two Douglas Missle, Space Execs Named

Appointment of C. J. Dorrenbacher and C. S. Perry as vice presidents of the Douglas Missile & Space Systems Division has been announced by Charles R. Able, group vice president, Missile & Space Systems.

Dorrenbacher was named vice president - advance systems and technology, and Perry was appointed vice president - development engineering. Both will report directly to Able.

Able said Dorrenbacher's new position increases the MSSD emphasis on research, technological developments, program planning and management in three advance systems areas: launch vehicles, offense missiles and defense missiles. In addition, it supplements the newly announced Manned Spacecraft organization under the direction of R. L. Johnson, as vice president.

* * * *

PERRY directs a development organization responsible for the engineering aspects of MSSD's programs located at Santa Monica, such as the Thor and Delta launch vehicles and Zeus anti-missile missile, Able said. Functions of the development engineering group include design technology, engineering administration and engineering laboratories and services.

Previously Dorrenbacher was director of advance systems and technology, and Perry was director of development engineering, both in the Missile & Space Systems Division.

* * * *

DORRENBACHER, a 14-year veteran with the company, was chief engineer, responsible for direction of over-all engineering programs for all Douglas space systems, before becoming director of advance systems and technology.

Perry, before being named to his previous position, was deputy director of research and engineering, MSSD chief engineer and missiles administrative engineer. He joined Douglas in 1947.

Sales Record Set by Kaiser Steel

Kaiser Steel Corp. is reporting preliminary 1964 net earnings of $12,217,000 and a new annual sales record of $281,798,000, it has been announced by Jack L. Ashby, president.

These earnings represent $2.77 per common share after provision for dividends on the preferred and preference stocks.

The 1964 results compare with 1963 net earnings of $11,317,000 or $2.49 per common share, on sales of $245,048,000.

The 1963 earnings, however, were not subject to federal income taxes because of loss carryovers from prior years. Net earnings for 1964 reflect deduction of $5,950,000 as provision for federal income taxes.

On a comparable "before tax" basis, 1964 earnings rose $6,850,000 over 1963, a 60% improvement.

Deal Made for Bayfront Home

The residence, on Bayshore Walk, was sold by Mrs. Donald T. Hunter of Long Beach, according to John Clerc-Scott, vice president of Previews, Inc., Los Angeles, international real estate marketing service. Betty G. Tebbetts, Long Beach realtor, handled the sale.

There is waterfrontage of about 70 feet on the bay, with a dock, three boat slips and a large float.

Long Beach Robertshaw Exec Named

M. F. Grace has been promoted to sales manager by Robertshaw Controls Company's Grayson Controls Division.

He succeeds H. F. Jacobsmeyer, who resigned.

Grace, who has been product sales manager for heating controls, will be based at the division's Long Beach headquarters, 100 W. Victora St.

M. F. GRACE

A graduate of Auburn University, he joined Grayson in 1947 as Los Angeles sales representative. He was district sales manager in Dallas and later in Chattanooga before being named product sales manager for heating controls.

Realtor Week Slogan Chosen

Slogan for Realtor Week, opening May 23, has been announced by the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

It will be: "Pick the Right Home — Through a Realtor."

The week is observed annually in the real estate business to acquaint the public better with Realtor objectives and practices.

REPORT ON TEST FLIGHT

Big Improvements Noted in New Skymaster Planes

(Editor's note: This is another in a series of articles by Lee Craig, aviation editor of the Independent, Press-Telegram, discussing 1965 model light aircraft. He is flying different planes from Long Beach Airport, a leader in light plane activities, and reporting on them.)

Cessna's new double-ender, its twin-engined Super Skymaster, is going to make last year's buyers of the airplane very unhappy.

For the same price — $39,950—the 1965 version has improved styling, visibility improvements, an aerodynamic cleanup and retractable gear.

This last goes a long way toward removing the two biggest criticisms of last year's Skymaster; its low cruise speed and its odd appearance.

The foldup gear and aerodynamic detail work add better than 20 miles an hour to the Skymaster's top speed, which now is a satisfactory 200.

* * * *

The Super Skymaster, whether you agree that it now looks like an airplane, ranks head, shoulders and navel over any other light twin in several important respects.

* * * *

LOSING AN ENGINE on takeoff resulted in no yaw, no control problem. It did give us a disturbing feeling, however, to go on charging upward, despite the motionless propellor befor us.

The Skymaster also excells in roominess, cabin quiet and ease of flying. Visibility is superb and the airplane stalls as softly as a kitten, although with plenty of warning.

You can't overlook the advantage of those six seats, either, although this points up the only real criticism we could find.

* * * *

THE EXTRA two seats go where the other four occupants would normally put their baggage, so all hands would have to carry, their suitcases on their laps.

Of course with six aboard and full fuel, the bags would have to be pretty small, anyway, to stay under gross weight.

Even without a baggage compartment, however, the newest Skymaster is a whale of an airplane . . . in more ways than one.

Open Manageme Seminar Feb. 23

Starting Feb. 23 and slated for six succeeding Tuesday nights, a Management Seminar will be held at Long Beach State College from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

The sessions are being sponsored by the college's Division of Business Administration in cooperation with the United States Small Business Administration. The meetings will be held in Building LA-2, Room 109.

Declares Dividend

The board of directors of Marathon Oil Co. has declared a dividend of 50 cents per share payable March 10, 1965, to shareholders of record at the close of business on Feb. 15, 1965.

Millie Corrigan
JANUARY WINNER FOR SPAROW REALTY

Now in her fifth year of real estate selling, Mrs. Corrigan was previously a supervisor for the telephone company, and graduated from Wilson Hi in 1941.

In presenting the award Oliver Sparow, President of Sparow Really said, "Mrs. Corrigan has given exceptional, capable service to her clients. This has resulted in increased referrals for her each year, which means the growth of any individual or company."

Instrument Repairing Takes Skill, Patience

pair shop in downtown Long Beach and retired in 1946.

"I worked in Los Angeles after the war (in 1946) and repaired instruments for such bandmen as Lawrence Welk, Skinny Ennis and Spade Cooley," Meyer reminisced.

"We now repair many instruments for school bands," he continued.

HIS SHOP does about 60% of the repair work for Long Beach school bands, he said. Instruments have been rebuilt for the championship Grossmont High band from the San Diego area and for schools in Compton, among other places; also for numerous music stores.

"Our business has doubled the past three years," Meyer noted.

"Many guitars are brought in for repairs." He credits this to the Beatles and the rock and roll era, which finds so many youngsters taking up the guitar and similar instruments.

MEN SKILLED in reworking instruments are hard to find, Meyer observed. Factory-trained men really are good for just assembling instruments, he added, and are not satisfactory when it comes to fixing battered horns, etc.

A repair man needs patience as well as skill, and it takes time—as well as special tools, some of which have to be handmade—to pound dents out of a horn.

Incidentally, with instruments priced as they now are, it usually pays to have a damaged one repaired, Meyer said.

Most horns can be rebuilt, he added, unless their valves are beyond repair.

AMONG MEYER'S prized instruments is one his father used to have, a clarinet more than 200 years old.

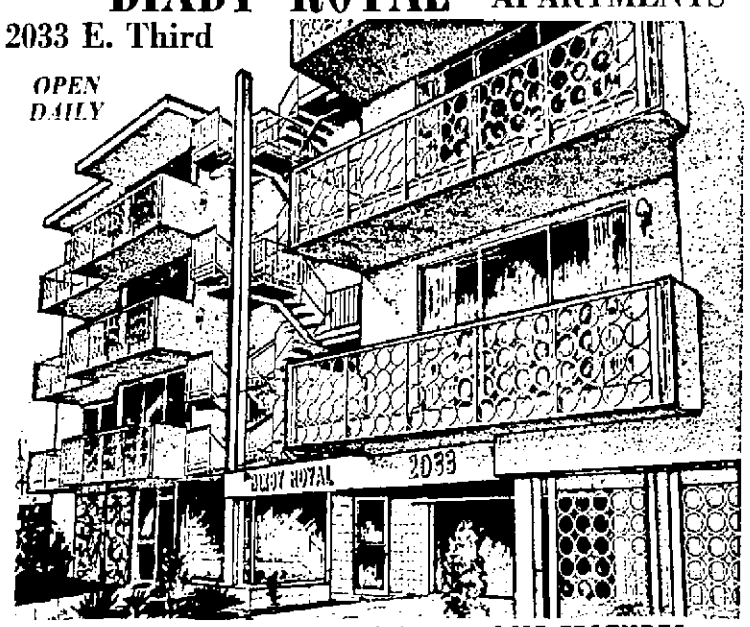

Silver-plated horns are less popular now than brass, Meyer said, as silver will tarnish more. However, Salvation Army bands still prefer silver-plated horns.

Music-Craft will tackle repair work on any band or orchestra instrument.

What's the toughest to fix?

The double reed types, Meyer and Thompson agreed - like bassoons, oboes and bass clarinets.

RAPID GROWTH AT SAN PEDRO
First 20 days of operation doubled assets of Fishermen and Merchants Savings & Loan Association in this new building at 29229 S. Western Ave., San Pedro. Assets have passed $4 million, according to William H. McKee, manager. Clowes M. Christie of Rolling Hills is president.

Vote Bank Merger OK

Merger of City National Bank, based in Beverly Hills, and First National Bank of South Gate in South Gate, was approved last week by the City National Bank shareholders at a special meeting, and by the First National Bank of South Gate shareholders at a meeting in South Gate.

The merger is subject to the approval of the comptroller of the currency.

First National Bank of South Gate, operating a single bank in South Gate, had year-end total resources of more than $8 million. City National Bank, with 12 branch offices in Los Angeles and Riverside counties, had total resources at year-end of more than a quarter of a billion dollars.

Alfred Hart, president of City National Bank, stated that this merger would bring full service banking to South Gate. He further reported that an agreement to merge has been executed by the majority of the directors of City National and the Guaranty Bank, Torrance.

"The addition of such important economic areas as South Gate and Torrance tie in strongly with our present branch office network," Hart commented.

L.B. Man Cited for Sales Production

Harry T. Terpstra, Long Beach insurance representative, has earned one of his company's top production honors. Figures released by Bankers Life Nebraska General Agent Kenneth H. Dunnigan revealed that in 1964 Terpstra issued more than $750,000 of new insurance.

He was given the honorary title of territorial vice president of the company's production club officers.

Only 24 others among more than 500 associates throughout the country reached the $750,000 protection mark last year.

Some GIs Face Loan Deadline

Webster pointed out that a veteran's loan cannot be guaranteed unless the loan application is received by the VA before the vet's eligibility expires.

An application for a certificate of eligibility is not a loan application, Webster warns. The veteran, therefore, should see that his loan application reaches the VA before his titlement expires.

EXCEPT FOR THOSE discharged for service-connected disabilities, individual deadline dates for Korean conflict vets are determined by the length of service and date of discharge.

Under the formula in the law, 10 years is added to the date of each veteran's discharge from his last period of active military service, which included service in the Korean conflict. Then one year is added for each three months of actual Korean conflict service.

However, the law provided that no eligibility would expire before Jan. 31, 1965, so all Korean conflict veterans were eligible until tomorrow. Thereafter, eligibility will terminate on the individual deadline dates.

The building is being constructed by Union Development Co., headed by Thornton Ibbetson, who lives in Long Beach. His developments include the Dutch Village shopping center.

Californian Installed as NAREB Chief

Satellite cities and other new growth in outlying areas are required by the urban future of this nation, in addition to revitalization of central cities, Maurice G. Read, Berkeley, Calif., said in Houston, Tex., as he was installed as president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards last week.

This long-range view is based "on the population growth projected for the next decade and a half with an understanding of the forces that are drawing the bulk of increased population toward urban centers," he told hundreds of Realtors at a banquet at which other officers of NAREB and its affiliates also were inaugurated. Read succeeds Ed Mendenhall, High Point, N. C.

• • • • •

WARNING AGAINST the tendency to think of the revitalization of central areas as something "versus" growth in outlying regions, he stated that satellite cities will be recognized as a necessary and desirable adjunct to the metropolitan community of the future.

He added that 20 or more of these new towns are in design or well along with their land acquistion program and plans.

Calling for a new program to improve the quality of housing lived in by dependent families, said NAREB will ask for consideration of its proposal to revise the submarket interest rate mortgage insurance program of the Federal Housing Administration to serve families of low income.

Rice Hotel was Houston headquarters for the five-day session which drew approximately 1,200 Realtors from all parts of the nation, including several hundred newly-elected presidents of local real estate boards who attended a special orientation session.

• • • • •

JAMES C. HOFFMAN, president of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors, Dorothy E. Annis, executive secretary, and Barbara Moss, Brokers Institute representative for the board, were among those present.

Kentucky Gov. Edward T. Breathitt accepted for his state the 1964 Professional Trophy Award presented annually by the Society of Industrial Realtors (a NAREB affiliate) to the state or Canadian province with the most effective industrial development program.

Help Plan for L.B. Conference

COMPTON—R. L. Dressendorfer and other officers of the Compton-Lynwood Board of Realtors met with David N. Robinson of Berkeley, president; H. Jackson Pontius, executive vice president, and members of the education committee of the California Real Estate Association recently to help complete plans for the association's 1965 education activities in this area.

Dressendorfer announced that the Compton-Lynwood board will co-sponsor the educational and sales conference for local realtors and salesmen in Long Beach at Municipal Auditorium on Thursday, Feb. 25.

Building Tops $62 Million at Torrance

TORRANCE — Building valuation hit an all-time high here in 1964, totaling $62.8 million.

An announcement from the Chamber of Commerce showed housing leading the list, with a total valuation of $50.5 million in both single and multiple units. Permits were issued for 665 single homes and 3,679 apartment and duplex units, spokesmen for the city building department said.

Highest months in the year were July, with $12.3 million, and April, with just over $12 million.

Permits were issued for 60 new commercial buildings, valued at $2.9 million, and for 19 new industrial buildings, valued at $1 million.

Construction Futures Off

December contracts for future construction in the 11 states west of the Rocky Mountains totaled $708,583,000, down 19% compared to the year ago month, F. W. Dodge Company, a division of McGraw-Hill, Inc., announced Saturday.

Nonresidential contracts amounted to $223,147,000, a decrease of 4% compared to December 1963. Contracts were up for hospital, public, social & recreational and miscellaneous nonresidential buildings. Decreases were registered in contracts for commercial, manufacturing, educational & science, and religious buildings.

Residential contracts in December totaled $332,178,000, down 14% compared to the year ago month.

Nonbuilding construction contracts amounted to $153,258,000, a decrease of 41% compared to December 1963.

Changes in Buying Staff Announced by Walker's

Walker's store last week announced resignation of Mrs. Lillian Putnam as cosmetics and costume jewelry buyer and also the following staff changes, now in effect:

Mrs. Jean Westfall, buyer of street floor sportswear, neckwear and handbags, was named buyer of cosmetics. She also will continue to buy for sportswear and neckwear, and will be assisted by Mrs. Margaret Dullinger.

• • • •

MRS. VIVIAN MELONE, buyer of stationery and street floor foundations, has been given added duties of buying for gloves and handbags. Her new assistant is Miss Nancy Titone.

Mrs. LaVene Wehr, buyer of hosiery and gloves, was named buyer of costume jewelry and street floor foundations; and will continue to buy for the hosiery and casual footwear departments. Named as her assistants were Mrs. Willene Bowker and Mrs. Florence Greene.

• • • •

RETIRING Mrs. Putnam had been with Walker's since 1948. Starting in sales, she transferred to the office and worked for Joseph Bishop four years. She returned to merchandising and trained as assistant buyer under Mrs. Oma Lynn. In 1955, she was named buyer of cosmetics and in 1962 buyer of costume jewelry.

As for her new leisure time, she plans to catch up on her bowling and take golf lessons, hoping she eventually can win a game from her husband, who is City Attorney Leonard Putnam.

Bufnel, with facilities in Santa Fe Springs, is a leading manufacturer of steel and aluminum grating and grid products. Smith Industries is also a leading manufacturer of drilling bits for the oil and mining industries and for horizontal tunneling.

L.B. Man Cited for Sales Production

Harry T. Terpstra, Long Beach insurance representative, has earned one of his company's top production honors. Figures released by Bankers Life Nebraska General Agent Kenneth H. Dunnigan revealed that in 1964 Terpstra issued more than $750,000 of new insurance.

He was given the honorary title of territorial vice president of the company's production club officers.

Only 24 others among more than 500 associates throughout the country reached the $750,000 protection mark last year.

Some GIs Face Loan Deadline

Webster pointed out that a veteran's loan cannot be guaranteed unless the loan application is received by the VA before the vet's eligibility expires.

An application for a certificate of eligibility is not a loan application, Webster warns. The veteran, therefore, should see that his loan application reaches the VA before his titlement expires.

EXCEPT FOR THOSE discharged for service-connected disabilities, individual deadline dates for Korean conflict vets are determined by the length of service and date of discharge.

Under the formula in the law, 10 years is added to the date of each veteran's discharge from his last period of active military service, which included service in the Korean conflict. Then one year is added for each three months of actual Korean conflict service.

However, the law provided that no eligibility would expire before Jan. 31, 1965, so all Korean conflict veterans were eligible until tomorrow. Thereafter, eligibility will terminate on the individual deadline dates.

Trillion Dollar Year Seen in Life Insurance

The Spectator, Chilton insurance publication, forecast last week that insurance, in 1965, in all of its several branches will be prosperous and expand. Life insurance ownership will attain a new frontier, one trillion dollars.

Property coverages, responding to unprecedented industrial activity and fluid money, will increase both assets and income. After years of underwriting losses more realistic rate schedules can produce an underwriting profit, it said.

Of the trillion dollars in life insurance protection owned, almost $900 billion will be in regular old line carriers.

• • • •

THE FUNDS so accumulated will not only sustain the integrity of American families and American business, but also these assets will stabilize the American economy, as government and industry, both, rely on its support.

Total premiums written during the year, according to The Spectator, will amount to some $40 billion. Personal and property companies will share in this income about equally. Aggregate assets of approximately $200 billion will incude almost $160 billion in life insurance funds and $40 billion in property.

Represents West on Marketing Advisory Group

Ferdie A. Falk, Western Division manager, Browne-Vintners Co., was named recently to represent the western area of the United States on a newly created Marketing Advisory Committee suggested by Lord Watkinson, who is chairman of the Committee for Exports to the USA.

Chief function of this committee is to offer guidance and assistance to potential exporters in the United Kingdom on exactly how to approach the U.S. market.

OPENING IN MID-FEBRUARY
New $320,000 home of the Bellflower National Bank on Bellflower Boulevard at Alondra (shown in sketch above), is nearing completion for a planned opening Monday, Feb. 15. Architect is E. M. Brakensiek of Bellflower. Harry L. Torrence, also of Bellflower, is the building contractor. The bank is capitalized at $1,250,000. It was organized by 34 civic, business and professional leaders of the area. President is Charles A. Victory, formerly of the Bank of America.

L.B. Group Will Honor Student

Long Beach Chapter, National Association of Accountants, will present an award Feb. 17 to a selected honor student from Long Beach State College.

Choice will be made from one of five under consideration: Carl Agren, Larry Dodson, Roger Geyer, James Johnson and Ron Nagy, according to Clay Beaton, chapter president.

The award will be presented at a technical meeting in the Elks Club.

M. G. CHAPMAN
Owner and Manager

Personnel Agency in L.B. Office

The 160th office of Snelling and Snelling, coast-to-coast personnel service and employment agency, opened last week in Long Beach.

Mark G. Chapman is franchise owner and manager of the new office, which opened Wednesday in Suite 727 of the Jurgins Trust Building in the downtown business district.

The local agency is affiliated with the nationwide system which processes more than half a million job applicants annually for its clients.

• • • •

CHAPMAN is a former resident of Pittsburgh, where he was an executive of the H. J. Heinz Co. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon and was a chief officer in the U.S. Merchant Marine.

"We have a staff of 11 highly qualified counselors now," the manager said, "and we plan in the near future to have 20. We believe our business will be a fine asset to downtown Long Beach."

Other office personnel include:

Lee Kaye and Stuart B. Reed, sales counselors; Frank Kelly, retail counselor; Mrs. Virginia Miller and Mrs. Ness Cooper, lady counselors; Art Anderson, administrative counselor; Robert Brewer and Mack Britton, technical counselors; and Mrs. B. Bonebrake, receptionist.

L.B. Man Makes $10½ Million St. Louis Deal

Long Beach architect J. Richard Shelley has announced acquisition of St. Louis properties valued in excess of $10½ million.

He was architect on the projects involved.

These include two Parkway House hotels, Park Towne garden apartments, and controlling interest in the Forest Park Medical Center.

J. R. SHELLEY

Shelley obtained the package of properties from the estate of Wilbur R. Rosenblum, making the purchases through corporations he owns. His Long Beach offices are at 4311 E. Seventh St.

Some Home-O-Rama Visitor to Win House

Grand prize at the 1965 Long Beach Home-O-Rama, Feb. 24-28, will be a two-bedroom leisure home valued at more than $10,000, according to Louis J. Anfinson, general chairman of the home show.

The home, called "The Lucerne," utilizes large windows and sliding glass doors to project the feeling of outdoor living but solid construction provides a sense of protected snugness, Anfinson said.

• • • •

VISITORS to the show may see the home, which will be constructed in front of the Long Beach Arena where the five-day show will be held.

Construction will be by Lindal Homes, Inc., leaders in manufactured homes and the largest manufacturer of leisure homes in North America.

For exhibit purposes, the home will be furnished by Lloyds of Long Beach in contemporary Spanish style. The firm's decorators presently are planning furnishings and decor, Anfinson added.

• • • •

THE LUCERNE, a balanced power home, will have built-in gas appliances in the 11 by 10-ft. 8 in. kitchen.

Presentation of the home is being made possible by the Home-O-Rama management, Southern California Gas Co., Southern Counties Gas Co., Lindal Homes and the Long Beach Builders Exchange, sponsor of the annual show.

Anfinson said adults may qualify to win the home merely by registering during the Home-O-Rama.

New Investment Executive Named

Stanley M. Carlson, veteran marketing, advertising and public relations executive, has been named Southern California Investment Manager for Pacific Plan of California.

The appointment was announced at the Menlo Park headquarters of the mortgage loan brokerage and real estate investment firm by President Robert A. McNeil.

S. M. CARLSON

Carlson, a resident of Santa Monica for 12 years, will work out of the company's Los Angeles office at 8469 S. Vermont Ave.

Carlson will be directing investment sales through six Pacific Plan offices now located in Lakewood, Reseda, Santa Ana, Buena Park, West Covina and Los Angeles.

A seventh office will be opened in Burbank in February.

Named to Firm's Vice President Club

Robert W. Van Der Meid with the Long Beach office of Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., has been named to the company's vice president club for outstanding agents who have won prestige with high standards in quality to service to clients and sales performance.

The announcement was made last week by Jack N. Rodgers, C.L.U., manager of the local office, stating that Van Der Meid was also selected "Man of the Year" by his associates in the branch.

Van Der Meid is the immediate past president of the Long Beach branch of the Harbor Life Underwriters Association.

Big Arizona Ranch Changes Hands

A group of Phoenix and Salt Lake City investors recently purchased the 40,000-acre Coyote Springs Ranch in Arizona for almost $1 million.

The purchasers were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conlin and Mr. and Mrs. David Conlin Jr., all of Phoenix, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Siegel of Salt Lake City.

Harold James, former owner, confirmed sale of the ranch, located in Lonesome Valley north of Prescott.

CPM Office Adds Business Associate

Beryl Linville, 3960½ Studebaker Road, realtor and certified property manager (CPM), has announced a new business associate, Fred Middaugh, CPM.

A former Navy man, Middaugh has had eight years' experience in leasing and management of income properties. He managed the Hollywood Ardmore apartment building and now is with the Royal Palms Co-op Apartments in Long Beach.

He and his wife have a son at USC law school and another soon to enter the real estate business.

AWAY SHE GOES
Down the ways and into the water goes the SS President Polk, newest cargoliner of the American President Lines, as she is launched at National Steel & Shipbuilding Co. in San Diego. Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson, wife of the senior Senator from Washington, was sponsor. The 23,000-ton Master Mariner cargoliner will enter APL's transpacific service in August. Immediately following the launching, the keel for another Master Mariner cargoliner, the President Harrison, was laid on the same ways by George Killion, APL president.

Property Tax Relief Program Proposed

The California Real Estate Association has just approved a four-point program aimed at relieving the tax burden on property owners, it was announced by James C. Hoffman, president of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors.

He said that at a three-day meeting in San Francisco more than 1,000 officers and directors of the 173 member real estate boards making up CREA approved these actions:

1. Recommend that the State Legislature broaden the tax base by removing all provisions from the state taxation code which exempt nonprofit or other organizations from paying taxes on residential real property.

2. Advocate definite legislation for a ½% increase in sales taxes, which would be distributed to the counties of source, such funds to be used only to reduce real property taxes.

3. Recommend legislative steps to limit the tax on real property.

4. Go on record as completely opposed to any levy by the State of California of ad valorum taxes on real property; that it, a state tax which would be in addition to that already levied by other taxing agencies.

• • • •

"THE PROPERTY owner in California is being hit hard by rising taxes and is just about at the limit he can endure, in our opinion," Hoffman said.

"Continued growth in our community and throughout the state creates the need for additional tax revenues. At the same time, asking the property owner to carry too much of the load could injure that growth.

"We must seek other ways of raising needed funds."

Hoffman also reported that over $2,600 for flood relief in northwestern California was raised when the group passed the hat at the meeting. It was turned over, through the Eureka Board of Realtors, to the Humboldt-Del Norte County Disaster Relief, which has an announced goal of $100,000.

APL Fills New Posts

Creation of two new executive positions, and the filling of two other key positions, were approved last week by the board of directors of American President Lines (APL) upon the recommendation of Ralph K. Davies, chairman, and George Killion, president.

CLAY MILLER JR. H. B. LUCKETT

H. Boyce Luckett was named to the new post of executive vice president of the company. He will be succeeded in his former post of vice president, freight traffic, by Clay Miller Jr., who has been serving as assistant vice president, freight traffic.

• • • •

J. E. ESPEY, presently managing director of APL's operations in Southeast Asia, headquartered in Singapore, was appointed to the new post of general manager, freight sales, with responsibility for freight sales and promotional activities throughout the company's worldwide network of operations. His offices will be at company headquarters in San Francisco.

George S. Hinkins, who has been serving as freight sales manager, Eastern Division, was appointed assistant vice president, Eastern Division.

More Passengers

Wholesale Price Index Levels Off

The wholesale price index, which has been creeping upyard for the past five months, leveled off in January, reports Purchasing Week, McGraw-Hill publication.

The publication's Index stood at 102.0 (1957=100), unchanged from December, and only about one-half a per cent above last summer lows.

Year-to-year comparisons of the index pointed up the lack of any broad-gauge inflationary push.

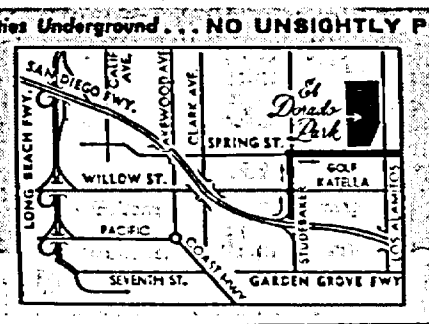

Named Manager

J. T. Doyle, a veteran of 32 years with Shell Oil Co., has been named manager of the company's Pacific Coast production department. He succeeds O. L. Odale, who retired at the end of 1964.

Home Improvement Factors to Be Aired

Factors pointing to record expenditures for home improvements in Southern California this year will be described by a nationally prominent construction economist at an industry meeting cosponsored by the Modernization Council of the Building Contractors Association of California and Southern California Edison Co. to be held Wednesday evening at Rodger Young Auditorium, Los Angeles.

Dr. James M. Gillies, director of real estate research at UCLA and economic adviser to the BCA, will detail the characteristics of the remodeling market and the changes taking place in the type of modernization work desired by homeowners, Verne A. Hall, BCA council president disclosed.

More than 150 contractors specializing in residential remodeling have been invited to attend the meeting, which also will feature displays of new building products developed by manufacturers for the requirements of remodeling.

Woman Realty Unit to Meet Thursday

NORWALK — Women's Council of the Norwalk - La Mirada Board of Realtors will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the conference room of the American Savings & Loan Association, 11618 Rosecrans Ave.

Speaker will be Richard E. Wellman of Title Insurance & Trust Co., who will discuss estate planning.

Change Slow Loan Rule

John E. Horne, new chairmon of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board has announced adoption of a regulation changing the definition of slow loans.

The change is significant, Horne pointed out, because slow loans are an important factor in determining the amount that must be placed in reserves by FSLIC-insured savings and loan associations.

The board's action also benefits the public, he said, by allowing greater latitude in the treatment of temporary delinquencies in mortgage loan payments.

Under the amendment, loans older than two years no longer will be classified as slow for supervisory purposes, provided the delinquency has not existed for 30 days and the loan previously has not been modified or refinanced.

Before the change was adopted, any loan was classified as slow if modified or refinanced during the preceding 12 months while contractually delinquent.

Advertising Recognition Week Opens

Observance of national "Advertising Recognition Week" opened here today backed by the full support of Mayor Edwin W. Wade, City Council and the Advertising Club of Long Beach.

The story of advertising's role in the modern American way of life is being conveyed to the American public this year through a special program of informational advertising built on real-life stories of real people in the advertising business.

• • • •

THE INFORMATION program will continue throughout the year under direction of a joint commission of the Advertising Association of the West and the Advertising Federation of America.

The year-round plan will go "inside" the advertising business to show how advertising people contribute to the big, complex free enterprise system and how they work to bring more goods, better goods and lower prices to all the people.

• • • •

THE PROGRAM will reach beneath the surface of the billion-dollar-a-month advertising business to focus on the individuals who make it work —writers, artists and producers as well as marketing experts, researchers, media people, fashion designers, accountants and many others.

National Chairman for the program is Herbert G. Drake of N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., of San Francisco. Local chairman is Ray Cunningham, member of the board of directors of the Advertising Club of Long Beach.

Home Improvement Factors to Be Aired

Factors pointing to record expenditures for home improvements in Southern California this year will be described by a nationally prominent construction economist at an industry meeting cosponsored by the Modernization Council of the Building Contractors Association of California and Southern California Edison Co. to be held Wednesday evening at Rodger Young Auditorium, Los Angeles.

Dr. James M. Gillies, director of real estate research at UCLA and economic adviser to the BCA, will detail the characteristics of the remodeling market and the changes taking place in the type of modernization work desired by homeowners, Verne A. Hall, BCA council president disclosed.

More than 150 contractors specializing in residential remodeling have been invited to attend the meeting, which also will feature displays of new building products developed by manufacturers for the requirements of remodeling.

Woman Realty Unit to Meet Thursday

NORWALK — Women's Council of the Norwalk - La Mirada Board of Realtors will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the conference room of the American Savings & Loan Association, 11618 Rosecrans Ave.

Speaker will be Richard E. Wellman of Title Insurance & Trust Co., who will discuss estate planning.

Change Slow Loan Rule

John E. Horne, new chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board has announced adoption of a regulation changing the definition of slow loans.

The change is significant, Horne pointed out, because slow loans are an important factor in determining the amount that must be placed in reserves by FSLIC-insured savings and loan associations.

The board's action also benefits the public, he said, by allowing greater latitude in the treatment of temporary delinquencies in mortgage loan payments.

Under the amendment, loans older than two years no longer will be classified as slow for supervisory purposes, provided the delinquency has not existed for 30 days and the loan previously has not been modified or refinanced.

Before the change was adopted, any loan was classified as slow if modified or refinanced during the preceding 12 months while contractually delinquent.

Advertising Recognition Week Opens

Observance of national "Advertising Recognition Week" opened here today backed by the full support of Mayor Edwin W. Wade, City Council and the Advertising Club of Long Beach.

The story of advertising's role in the modern American way of life is being conveyed to the American public this year through a special program of informational advertising built on real-life stories of real people in the advertising business.

THE INFORMATION program will continue throughout the year under direction of a joint commission of the Advertising Association of the West and the Advertising Federation of America.

The year-round plan will go "inside" the advertising business to show how advertising people contribute to the big, complex free enterprise system and how they work to bring more goods, better goods and lower prices to all the people.

Property Tax Relief Program Proposed

The California Real Estate Association has just approved a four-point program aimed at relieving the tax burden on property owners, it was announced by James C. Hoffman, president of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors.

He said that at a three-day meeting in San Francisco more than 1,000 officers and directors of the 173 member real estate boards making up CREA approved these actions:

1. Recommend that the State Legislature broaden the tax base by removing all provisions from the state taxation code which exempt nonprofit or other organizations from paying taxes on residential real property.

2. Advocate definite legislation for a ½% increase in sales taxes, which would be distributed to the counties of source, such funds to be used only to reduce real property taxes.

3. Recommend legislative steps to limit the tax on real property.

4. Go on record as completely opposed to any levy by the State of California of ad valorum taxes on real property; that it, a state tax which would be in addition to that already levied by other taxing agencies.

* * * *

"THE PROPERTY owner in California is being hit hard by rising taxes and is just about at the limit he can endure, in our opinion," Hoffman said.

"Continued growth in our community and throughout the state creates the need for additional tax revenues. At the same time, asking the property owner to carry too much of the load could injure that growth.

"We must seek other ways of raising needed funds."

Hoffman also reported that over $2,600 for flood relief in northwestern California was raised when the group passed the hat at the meeting. It was turned over, through the Eureka Board of Realtors, to the Humboldt - Del Norte County Disaster Relief, which has an announced goal of $100,000.

More Passengers

APL Fills New Posts

Creation of two new executive positions, and the filling of two other key positions, were approved last week by the board of directors of American President Lines (APL) upon the recommendation of Ralph K. Davies, chairman, and George Killion, president.

CLAY MILLER JR. H. B. LUCKETT

H. Boyce Luckett was named to the new post of executive vice president of the company. He will be succeeded in his former post of vice president, freight traffic, by Clay Miller Jr., who has been serving as assistant vice president, freight traffic.

* * * *

J. E. ESPEY, presently managing director of APL's operations in Southeast Asia, headquartered in Singapore, was appointed to the new post of general manager, freight sales, with responsibility for freight sales and promotional activities throughout the company's worldwide network of operations. His offices will be at company headquarters in San Francisco.

George S. Hinkins, who has been serving as freight sales manager, Eastern Division, was appointed assistant vice president, Eastern Division.

Wholesale Price Index Levels Off

The wholesale price index, which has been creeping upyard for the past five months, leveled off in January, reports Purchasing Week, McGraw-Hill publication.

The publication's Index stood at 102.0 (1957=100), unchanged from December, and only about one-half a per cent above last summer lows.

Named Manager

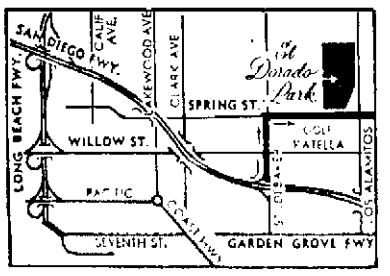

J. T. Doyle, a veteran of 32 years with Shell Oil Co., has been named manager of the company's Pacific Coast production department. He succeeds O. L. Odale, who retired at the end of 1964.

CPA Chief Sees Better Informed Stockholders

Economic growth depends importantly on an informed investing public, and the American investor, already the "best informed stockholder in the world," can look forward to even more useful knowledge in this field, according to the president of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Addressing the New York Society of Security Analysts recently, Thomas D. Flynn, head of the 52,000 member professional organization of CPAs, declared that there has been "remarkable progress" in the amount of financial information furnished to stockholders.

"Thirty or forty years ago," he said, "many companies did not disclose net sales, depreciation, and transactions in the capital and earned surplus accounts. Information on foreign operations was usually meager or non-existent. Stock dividends from affiliated companies were not infrequently reported at market values, thereby inflating net income."

THESE AND similar practices, he added, have been substantially eliminated — thus raising the level of financial reporting.

Further progress is to be anticipated, Flynn said, citing AICPA studies now being made of problems connected with corporate accounting for pension costs, research and development, allocation of income taxes and other items.

Isenberg Rejoins Dempsey-Tegeler

Samuel S. Isenberg Jr. has been named manager of the Long Beach office, 4342 Atlantic Ave., of Dempsey-Tegeler & Co., Inc., members of the New York Stock Exchange and other leading securities and commodity exchanges.

Isenberg returns to Dempsey-Tegeler, where he was assistant manager of the Long Beach office, after nearly two years in a similar capacity with Hill, Richards & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Isenberg live at 2822 Eckleson St., Lakewood.

Located in New Offices

The Manufacturers Life Insurance Company-Toronto, Canada, occupied its new Long Beach offices last week, moving from 338 E. Third St. to 4014 Long Beach Blvd.

"This change of location reflects the growth of the company's services to Long Beach area people since it opened local offices in 1946," it was stated by James V. Evans, co-resident representative of the branch. "General administrative function will remain with the company's office in Los Angeles," he said.

Sharing the new Long Beach facility is Stanley Luker, a native of the city and a former student of Long Beach State and USC. An avid sportsman, Luker sailed for several years in the Long Beach to Encinitas Regatta and participated regularly in local racing events.

Evans is currently vice-president of Long Beach Life Underwriters Association; is chairman of Business Solicitation-Heart Fund and member of its board of directors; and is a member of Long Beach Estate Planning and Trust Council and the Veterans Administration Voluntary Advisory Council. He has consistently qualified for his company's national quality award.

The local office will screen temporary applicants and conduct background checks. Other services will include aptitude evaluation, persanalysis and labor relations.

Bellflower Board to Hear State Deputy

BELLFLOWER — Deputy Commissioner Ralph B. Bell, California Division of Real Estate, will be guest speaker at the breakfast meeting of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors Thursday morning, according to Bob Reed, program chairman.

The meeting will be held at the Student Center, Cerritos College, beginning at 7:30 a.m. with President Ray Smith presiding.

Bell, a veteran of 14 years service with the Division of Real Estate, will speak on the "Importance of Trust Money Accounts."

INCOME TAX TIP

Part of Auto Fees Still Deductible in California

Taxpayers still can deduct portions of auto fees in some states including California, even though the Revenue Act of 1964 mostly abolished their deduction, except as a business expense or expense in the production of income, says Commerce Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law.

In some states, auto fees include personal property tax on the vehicle. To qualify for income tax deduction, such registration fees must meet the requirements of a personal property tax which is defined as an "ad valorem tax imposed on an annual basis in respect of personal property," according to the new tax law.

* * * * *

A MOTOR vehicle tax based on weight, model year, and horsepower is not an "ad valorem" tax, CCH says. But if an auto license fee is based on other criteria, it could be a personal property tax, and, to that extent, would be deductible.

The Internal Revenue Service has set out three tests which must be met for a tax to qualify as a personal property tax: (1) the tax must be ad valorem — based on the value of the property; (2) the tax must be imposed on an annual basis, even if collected more or less frequently; and (3) the tax must be imposed on personal property.

* * * *

THUS, AUTO license fees imposed by Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nevada, Oklahoma, Washington and Wyoming are deductible, in whole or in part, as personal property taxes, CCH says.

By way of illustration, a state imposes a motor vehicle registration tax of 2% of the value of the vehicle plus 30 cents per hundredweight. The taxpayer owns a car having a value of $2,000 and weighing 3,100 pounds. He pays an annual registration fee of $49.30. Of this amount, $40 (2% of $2,000) would be deductible and a personal property tax. The remaining $9.30, based on the vehicle's weight, would not be deductible.

Taxpayers in states affected by this situation should check with their local IRS District directors to determine which part of the license fees is based on value and thus is deductible for federal tax purposes, CCH said.

Extension Classes Set

Spring semester courses leading toward the Certificate in Real Estate will be presented by Continuing Education in Real Estate Department of University Extension at West Junior High School in Downey, beginning the week of Feb. 8.

The three real estate courses scheduled at the Junior High School, 11985 Old River School Road, are: Real Estate Practice, to begin Feb. 9; Legal Aspects of Real Estate, starting Feb. 10; and Intermediate Real Estate Appraisal, Feb. 9.

Information regarding the program may be obtained through University of California Extension information offices, 813 South Hill St., Los Angeles 14.

Open House Set Tuesday

James Northrup and William L. Walcott, who recently opened offices in the Simon, McKinsey, Miller Building in the Los Altos Area at 2750 Bellflower Blvd., to provide a "complete personnel service" under the

WM. WOLCOTT JAMES NORTHRUP

"PARTAKE—approved AvailABILITY" franchise, will hold an open house Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Northrup and Wolcott's appointment was announced recently by J. Lowell Hawkinson, president of AvailABILITY, Inc., Rockford, Ill., national headquarters of a nationwide network of affiliated offices.

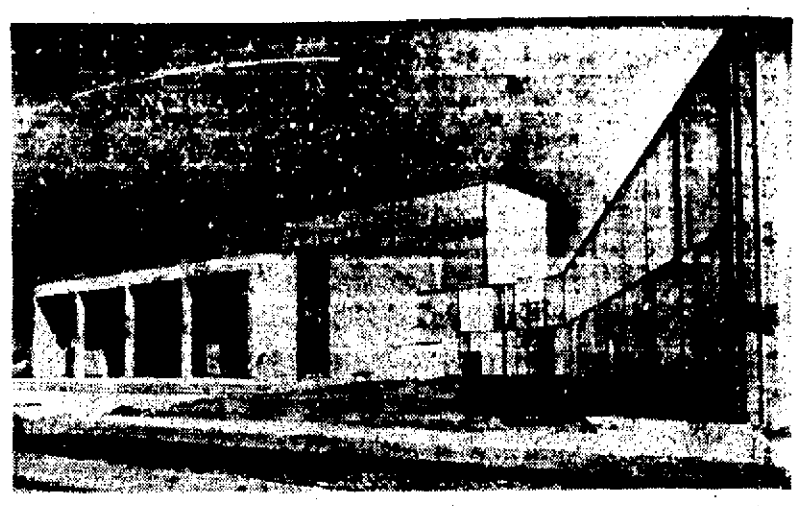

The local office will screen temporary applicants and conduct background checks. Other services will include aptitude evaluation, persanalysis and labor relations.

Bellflower Board to Hear State Deputy

BELLFLOWER — Deputy Commissioner Ralph B. Bell, California Division of Real Estate, will be guest speaker at the breakfast meeting of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors Thursday morning, according to Bob Reed, program chairman.

The meeting will be held at the Student Center, Cerritos College, beginning at 7:30 a.m. with President Ray Smith presiding.

Bell, a veteran of 14 years service with the Division of Real Estate, will speak on the "Importance of Trust Money Accounts."

INCOME TAX TIP

Part of Auto Fees Still Deductible in California

Taxpayers still can deduct portions of auto fees in some states including California, even though the Revenue Act of 1964 mostly abolished their deduction, except as a business expense or expense in the production of income, says Commerce Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law.

In some states, auto fees include personal property tax on the vehicle. To qualify for income tax deduction, such registration fees must meet the requirements of a personal property tax which is defined as an "ad valorem tax imposed on an annual basis in respect of personal property," according to the new tax law.

* * * *

A MOTOR vehicle tax based on weight, model year, and horsepower is not an "ad valorem" tax, CCH says. But if an auto license fee is based on other criteria, it could be a personal property tax, and, to that extent, would be deductible.

The Internal Revenue Service has set out three tests which must be met for a tax to qualify as a personal property tax: (1) the tax must be ad valorem — based on the value of the property; (2) the tax must be imposed on an annual basis, even if collected more or less frequently; and (3) the tax must be imposed on personal property.

* * * *

THUS, AUTO license fees imposed by Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nevada, Oklahoma, Washington and Wyoming are deductible, in whole or in part, as personal property taxes, CCH says.

By way of illustration, a state imposes a motor vehicle registration tax of 2% of the value of the vehicle plus 30 cents per hundredweight. The taxpayer owns a car having a value of $2,000 and weighing 3,100 pounds. He pays an annual registration fee of $49.30. Of this amount, $40 (2% of $2,000) would be deductible and a personal property tax. The remaining $9.30, based on the vehicle's weight, would not be deductible.

Taxpayers in states affected by this situation should check with their local IRS District directors to determine which part of the license fees is based on value and thus is deductible for federal tax purposes, CCH said.

Schools and Parks Are Close to Homes

Schools and parks abound around Garden Park Estates, in Garden Grove, according to a spokesman for the builder, S & S Construction Co.

Within the walls of Garden Park community eight schools from elementary through high school exist. The Long Beach State College is five minutes away, and the new University of California at Irvine will be an additional educational asset in the immediate future.

Another vital factor in youth development, recreation areas, abound around Garden Park, including beaches, parks, the marina and such famed entertainment spots as Knotts Ghost Town and Disneyland, the spokesman stated.

• • • •

IN ONE and two-story models, Garden Park homes offer three, four and five-bedroom homes. They feature colored plumbing fixtures in the baths, wood-burning fireplaces, thermostatically-controlled forced-air heating and concrete driveways.

Built-in gas range and oven, color-matched with hood and exhaust fan, are among the balanced-power highlights.

Garden Park Estates feature low down payments and prices starting from $21,200. FHA financing of 30 and 35 years is available. Veterans pay only costs and impounds as down payment.

Visitors are invited to see the furnished model homes on Garden Grove Blvd., Garden Grove, and may reach them by driving east on Seventh St., the Garden Grove Freeway.

Building Platform for Alaska Drilling

A huge offshore drilling platform, tall as a 25-story building and capable of handling 32 producing wells, will be constructed in Oakland, for service in Alaska's Middle Ground Shoal oil field.

The structure will be built by J. Ray McDermott & Co., New Orleans, prime contractor to Pan American Petroleum Corp. for the design, fabrication and installation. Pan American, co-owner with Skelly Oil Co., Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. and Phillips Petroleum Co., will operate the platform which will be permanently positioned in deep water on acreage leased from the State of Alaska.

• • • •

BASED ON ice studies, the platform is designed to withstand great stresses caused by massive ice floes moving through Cook Inlet during the winter months.

The construction site is a 20-acre area on Oakland's Outer Harbor recently leased by Kaiser Steel Corp., which will fabricate and assemble the steelwork for the mammoth structure.

The platform's leg structure will be constructed as a unit at Oakland, then towed on its side to Cook Inlet. There, it will be positioned upright in 102 feet of water and the two-level deck structure and 173-foot high drilling tower erected on top.

• • • •

WHEN COMPLETED, the platform will be a fully equipped drilling and producing unit with quarters for 60 people. It will include a heliport.

Ad Section Sets Record

What may well be the largest single company advertisement in the history of American newspaper or magazine publishing appeared Jan. 31 in the Sunday magazine supplement, PARADE, of the Independent, Press-Telegram and the Evening News at Garden Grove.

The ad, a special supplement report on The Sperry & Hutchinson Co., distributor of S&H Green Stamps, appeared here and in 92 other major marketing areas, reaching an estimated audience of 50,000,000.

Based on number of pages, 21 of them in color, and in dollars invested, it was said to be the largest single magazine ad ever, according to Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles, the advertising agency that prepared and placed the report.

New Anaheim Building

ANAHEIM—Opening of the new BBC professional building at La Palma Avenue and Brookhurst Street has been announced by owners George F. Bailey, Paul B. Behm and Ralph Callen. A second office building is planned nearby within a year.

Oceana Is Opening 65 Apartment Homes

"Grand opening of Oceana's Unit Six consisting of 65 garden-apartment homes, of which only 34 are spectacular view locations, will be held today," Armando Ortega, sales director, announced.

"Five floor plans, ranging from a one and two bedroom, one bath to a two-bedroom, two-bath with 25 different exteriors, will be available," Ortega said.

Features included are shake shingles, heavy three-foot overhangs, marbalene pullmans, ceramic tile set on a one-inch cement base in kitchens and baths.

OCEANA IS a $25,000,000 adult resort community consisting of one member over 40 years of age and no children under 16. Complete exterior maintenance, landscaping and a vast recreational complex, subject to a monthly maintenance fee, are included. Prices range from $11,495 to $17,495 with view locations carrying a $1,200 premium.

Oceana may be reached via 101 freeway to the Mission Blvd. (Hwy. 76) turnoff, in Oceanside, east to El Camino Real, then right to the top of the hill.

Premier's '4 Ways Better' Homes Approach Sell Out

KITCHENS APPEAL
"Total Convenience" kitchens at Premier Homes in Huntington Beach feature all-electric built-ins. Full-size doube ovens, built-in dishwasher, food center and range, ceramic tile counter tops and custom cabinetry included.

The combination of Premier Homes, "4 Ways Better" formula and the surge of buyer interest in Huntington Beach as a residential area has brought the subdivision close to sell-out in just over 12 weeks. In reporting this, sales agent Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattocks said that Premier's success was due to "correct understanding of buyer needs and building to meet those needs."

The Realtor opined that Huntington Beach has become one of the most desirable residential areas in Southern California. "The region is genuinely smog-free all year round, with the San Diego Freeway through to Bolsa Chica Road, commuting 35 minutes to business in Los Angeles is quite feasible," McFarland said. He added that the forthcoming extension of the San Diego Freeway to Beach Boulevard would further accelerate the growth of Huntington Beach.

• • • • •

LOS ANGELES County buyers currently interested in moving to Huntington Beach have a wide choice of prime home offerings, in McFarland's view. He said that Premier Homes had carefully studied competitive offerings and tried to then assemble a superior value. "Most Premier buyers to date have visited upwards of ten other home offerings in the area, and have found Premier's "4 Ways Better" approach to the best value," he said.

The "4 Ways Better" formula refers to "Total Convenience" kitchens, FHA-guaranteed construction, custom extras and "below market" pricing.

Premier prices start at $23,400. VA no down and FHA minimum down financing is available. There are no second trust deeds. Premier Homes are still available in both three and four-bedroom models, all with two baths.

Visitors take Bolsa Chica Road south from the San Diego Freeway to Warner and turn left to Premier Homes, located just east of Meadowlark Country Club.

Agency Qualifies for Plaque Again

Fred H. Massey, Long Beach area resident manager of the Standard Insurance Company, Portland, Ore., was notified last week that, for the third time, the Long Beach agency has been awarded the company's Health Insurance Plaque, given annually to the agency which has established the best record in protecting its community with health insurance.

"In leading the company, the men of the Long Beach agency more than doubled their 1963 health insurance sales," Massey stated.

The company also announced Wendall C. Jensen, a representative of the Long Beach agency, as Standard's leading individual health insurance producer.

Anti-Litter

NEW YORK (UPI)—America is becoming litter conscious, so much so that more than 100 companies now make a good thing out of selling litterbags with advertising slogans printed on them.

Petrolane's Earnings Up

Petrolane Gas Service, Inc., 1600 E. Hill St., Signal Hill, has reported net income for the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1964, was $1,056,000, a 15% increase over the $915,000 of the year earlier.

R. J. Munzer, president, told shareholders that Petrolane's annual liquefied petroleum gas sales now are running at the rate of 300 million gallons in a 30-State coast to coast marketing area.

Munzer also forecast that the dollar gain in revenue and net operating profits in fiscal 1965 will be the best in the company's history.

For the 12 months ended Dec. 31, 1964, sales increased 20% to $36,205,000. Net operating income was $2,557,000 versus $2,293,000 in 1963. Per share earnings in the current period were $1.48 compared to $1.33 in the previous year.

Lake Park Sales Are Accelerating

With sales continuing to move at a heavily accelerated pace at Lake Park, Jack T. Heller, sales manager for the planned $40 million residential community, announced that Lake Park's new Meadowbrook section is quickly moving toward an early sell-out.

"Among the many factors contributing to its great popularity among homebuyers," Heller stated, "is its close proximity to Orange County's major employment centers. However, of equal importance, I believe is the fact that our new Meadowbrook sections offers the widest selection of two story homes available in Orange County at the lowest price.

"The two-story 'Berkshire' and the one-story 'Walden' have proved particularly popular," Heller continued, "because of their spacious floor plans which feature decorator fireplaces, extra-large family rooms, separate dining rooms and four bedrooms with two and three baths."

• • • • •

PRICED FROM $21,950, Lake Park offers a choice of 20 different exterior stylings and five floor plans. FHA, VA, Cal-Vet and conventional financing programs are available.

Kitchens in all Lake Park homes have been homemaker planned with built-in kitchen appliances, double sinks with disposals, custom hardwood cabinetry, family-height snack bars and ceramic tile counter-tops. Window space affords maximum light and panoramic view.

Lake Park is minutes from schools, shopping centers, recreational facilities and churches. To reach Lake Park from the Long Beach-Lakewood area, drive east on Carson (which becomes Lincoln Blvd.) to the model homes east of Moody.

Sales Are Good in Lark Village

Excellent sales were made last week at Lark Village, states Charles W. Hester, developer of the popular Fountain Valley community.

According to Hester the new, no-down payment financing now available at Lark Village has proven most attractive to buyers. Hester added that monthly payments at Lark Village remain as low as possible and no balloon payments are required. The homes are priced from $24,900.

Lark Village offers dwellings of one and two stories, three, four and five bedrooms, family room, two and two and one-half baths. The homes have been given the Medallion Award for electrical excellence.

• • • • •

KITCHENS at Lark Village feature Roper built-in range, oven and dishwasher. Also included in the sales price are redwood fencing in the rear and side yards with gate, wall-to-wall carpeting of continuous filament nylon. Landscaping and underground sprinklers are optional.

Lark Village is located in the fast-growing city of Fountain Valley on Edinger just east of Brookhurst. From Long Beach go out Seventh St., Spring or Carson to Brookhurst then south to Edinger and east to models.

Premier's '4 Ways Better' Homes Approach Sell Out

KITCHENS APPEAL

"Total Convenience" kitchens at Premier Homes in Huntington Beach feature all-electric built-ins. Full-size doube ovens, built-in dishwasher, food center and range, ceramic tile counter tops and custom cabinetry included.

The combination of Premier Homes, "4 Ways Better" formula and the surge of buyer interest in Huntington Beach as a residential area has brought the subdivision close to sell-out in just over 12 weeks. In reporting this, sales agent Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattocks said that Premier's success was due to "correct understanding of buyer needs and building to meet those needs."

All-Adult Living For Residents in Fernhill

CUSTOM BUILT-INS

Fernhill's spacious kitchens are highlighted by Custom Imperial built-ins from Frigidaire. All-adult Fernhill offers two and three-bedroom, two-bath homes from $22,400. Fernhill is a planned development adjoining Meadowlark Country Club in Huntington Beach.

All-adult Fernhill in Huntington Beach offers a combination of location, pricing and spaciousness ideally suited to the needs of the active adult. In voicing this view, sales agent Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattacks, said that Fernhill had been specifically designed for mature, active adults, whose needs are different to any other group of Southland homeowners.

McFarland said that the basic concept of planned development living, sometimes loosely referred to as "condominium home ownership", appeals to mature couples whose families have grown up and married.

• • • • •

"ACTIVE ADULTS in this category often find themselves with an oversized home and a huge burden of home maintenance," he said. Such people frequently find home maintenance irksome, since it clashes with a natural tendency to relax and enjoy life once the family is raised, he continued.

Planned development home ownership provides for the professional maintenance of exteriors at Fernhill, including all the facilities enjoyed by Fernhill residents in common. All building exteriors, the swimming pool, tennis, shuffleboard and badminton courts, grounds, gardens and putting greens at Fernhill are all maintained professionally for residents.

• • • •

FERNHILL HOMES are offered in two and three bedroom models, all with two baths. Prices range from $22,400 to $25,500.

The homes provide up to 1500 square feet of living space. Medallion kitchens are equipped with Custom Imperial built-ins by Frigidaire.

Parking Lot Site Bought

Purchase of nearly 20,000 square feet of Los Angeles property at the northeast corner of Ninth and Hope streets as a parking area for State Mutual Savings & Loan Association's new headquarters building has been announced by Robert H. Greene, president.

Construction of the new 11-story building has started at Wilshire Boulevard and Hope Street. Completion is due in 1966.

Purchase of the Ninth and Hope land was made by Far West Financial Corp., parent company of State Mutual Savings, whose corporate offices also will be in the new steel, concrete and glass structure.

The newly-purchased property, with 165 feet of frontage on Ninth Street, and 115 feet on Hope Street, is presently a parking lot. It will be operated for State Mutual Savings and Far West by Allright Parking Systems under a lease agreement.

Condominium Units Offer Much Privacy

Privacy, a convenient location, and luxurious living are the three most popular features with viewers visiting the Hyde Park Condominium Estates reports Winston W. Hodge, president of the Marus Development Co., developers of the unique 44-unit residential park at 700 East Taft Ave. in the City of Orange.

Privacy is assured through the use of electronically controlled entrance gates which can be actuated with a key card from a car window or from each of the residences to permit guests to enter the premises.

The secluded walled-in, balanced power estates are styled in classic New England architecture. Unlike many other condominium developments, these feature construction of one and two-family, two-story homes spaced independently throughout the 10-acre park-like grounds.

Professional caretakers will maintain the lawns, gardens, care for the swimming pool, the recreational facilities and the exteriors of the homes for a modest monthly charge.

Each of the Hyde Park homes has a General Electric dishwasher, a garbage disposal, a built-in stove and conventional oven plus the revolutionary MicroRay oven for rapid cooking, and gas air conditioning and forced air heat.

NO CROWDING OF UNITS

Hyde Park Condominium Estates in Orange are spaced independently throughout park-like grounds to avoid the crowded appearance.

Let's Go

NEW YORK (UPI) — Only 35% of the families in the United States took vacation trips in 1963, the American Society of Travel Agents said today. The society hopes to increase the percentage.

Realty Club Will 'Meet Mr. Sound'

"Meet Mr. Sound," a colorful-demonstration tracing the spectacular development of sound from the early crude talking machine to the highly sensitive stereo of today, will be presented at the Thursday meeting of the North Long Beach Real Estate Club by General Telephone Co.

Al Hanson, the company's public relations representative, will be behind the movie projector and Lela Starr will be in the chairman's seat.

The meeting starts at 8 a.m. at the Crown Bowl, 1301 Artesia Blvd.

Bixby Royal Open House Continuing

Open house is continuing at The Bixby Royal, 30-unit de luxe own-your-own at 2033 E. Third St.

Built by R. W. Randall, the two-bedroom, two-bath units are priced from $19,250, including a garage for each unit. Moore Realty is the sales agency.

The Gold Medallion units have many outstanding luxury appointments. These include electric eye garage door controls, thermo ceiling heat, elevator, built-in colored TV antenna, intercom system from outside to all apartments, large enclosed storage space in the garages and locked lobby.

McFarland said that the basic concept of planned development living, sometimes loosely referred to as "condominium home ownership", appeals to mature couples whose families have grown up and married.

* * * *

"ACTIVE ADULTS in this category often find themselves with an oversized home and a huge burden of home maintenance," he said. Such people frequently find home maintenance irksome, since it clashes with a natural tendency to relax and enjoy life once the family is raised, he continued.

Planned development home ownership provides for the professional maintenance of exteriors at Fernhill, including all the facilities enjoyed by Fernhill residents in common. All building exteriors, the swimming pool, tennis, shuffleboard and badminton courts, grounds, gardens and putting greens at Fernhill are all maintained professionally for residents.

* * * *

FERNHILL HOMES are offered in two and three bedroom models, all with two baths. Prices range from $22,400 to $25,500.

The homes provide up to 1500 square feet of living space. Medallion kitchens are equipped with Custom Imperial built-ins by Frigidaire.

Parking Lot Site Bought

Purchase of nearly 20,000 square feet of Los Angeles property at the northeast corner of Ninth and Hope streets as a parking area for State Mutual Savings & Loan Association's new headquarters building has been announced by Robert H. Greene, president.

Construction of the new 11-story building has started at Wilshire Boulevard and Hope Street. Completion is due in 1966.

Purchase of the Ninth and Hope land was made by Far West Financial Corp., parent company of State Mutual Savings, whose corporate offices also will be in the new steel, concrete and glass structure.

The newly-purchased property, with 165 feet of frontage on Ninth Street, and 115 feet on Hope Street, is presently a parking lot. It will be operated for State Mutual Savings and Far West by Allright Parking Systems under a lease agreement.

Condominium Units Offer Much Privacy

Privacy, a convenient location, and luxurious living are the three most popular features with viewers visiting the Hyde Park Condominium Estates reports Winston W. Hodge, president of the Marus Development Co., developers of the unique 44-unit residential park at 700 East Taft Ave. in the City of Orange.

Privacy is assured through the use of electronically controlled entrance gates which can be actuated with a key card from a car window or from each of the residences to permit guests to enter the premises.

The secluded walled-in, balanced power estates are styled in classic New England architecture. Unlike many other condominium developments, these feature construction of one and two-family, two-story homes spaced independently throughout the 10-acre park-like grounds.

Professional caretakers will maintain the lawns, gardens, care for the swimming pool, the recreational facilities and the exteriors of the homes for a modest monthly charge.

Each of the Hyde Park homes has a General Electric dishwasher, a garbage disposal, a built-in stove and conventional oven plus the revolutionary MicroRay oven for rapid cooking, and gas air conditioning and forced air heat.

NO CROWDING OF UNITS

Hyde Park Condominium Estates in Orange are spaced independently throughout park-like grounds to avoid the crowded appearance.

Capistrano West Is Popular

Joe Terry, sales manager of the Parmik Corp. reports public response to the Capistrano homesite continues to be overwhelming. Also, he reminds residents of Capistrano West in San Juan Capistrano that they can look forward to the new Dana Point small boat marina, which will offer year 'round beach facilities. This, he said, was just another bonus that homebuyers at Capistrano West will realize.

According to Builder Leslie Miklosy, Capistrano West was built to appeal to the executive-minded homebuyer, one who can appreciate outstanding home value in a prestige beach location. He reports very enthusiastic response to the new view home site and said that early viewers may select choice sites and home styles.

AVAILABLE are one- and two-story homes with three and four bedrooms, two baths and family rooms. Features include: fireplaces with gas lighters, wall-to-wall carpeting throughout, built-in, balanced power kitchens, deluxe double ovens with barbecue rotisserie, deluxe range and matching ventilating hood with fan and light, automatic dishwasher.

Additional features are acoustically plastered ceilings, double-door entries, planter boxes and exterior facings, private dressing alcoves and built-in vanity table.

To view the furnished model homes go south on the Santa Ana Freeway through Santa Ana to the Pacific Coast Hwy. (Hwy. 101) turnoff. Continue north approximately 2 miles on 101 to Del Obispo St. Make right turn on Del Obisbo to Capistrano West.

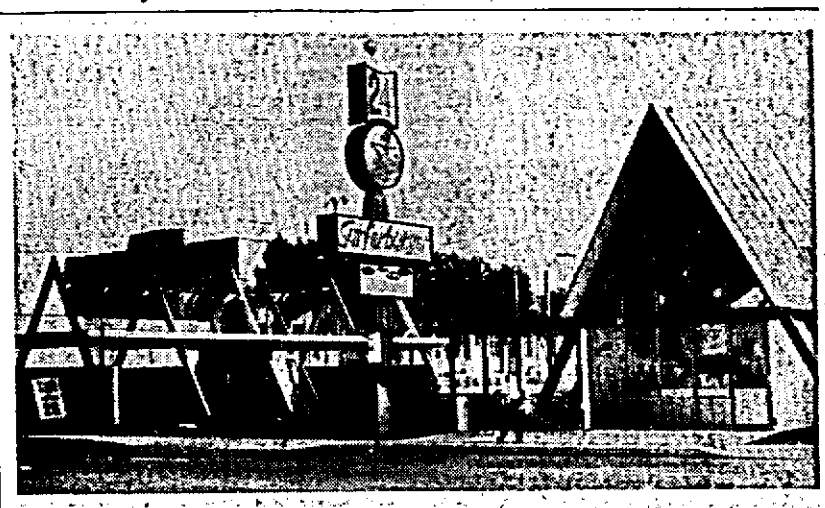

APPEALING HOME VALUE

Models such as this in Capistrano West are proving popular with buyers who are attracted by the spaciousness and values. They are available in one or two-story models.

Many Tunnels

VARES, Yugoslavia (AP) — On the 16 kilometer (10 mile) railway line connecting this mining town with Breza there are 22 tunnels.

FIRST OF 14 SUCH UNITS

Don May, well known cafe operator, and Ian Tosh have announced plans for development of 14 Surferburger stands and do-it-yourself car wash places in Southern California. Here is the first, now in operation at 1444 Pacific Coast Hwy. Standard Engineering Corp. of Hawthorne operates the car washes as a joint venture. Standard has 24 such units in operation in Los Angeles and Orange Counties. May said the restaurant facilities will be franchised to individual operators.

Suburbia Units Are Complete

Suburbia Townhouses, fashionable development of two-bedroom homes in Huntington Beach, are available for immediate occupancy. Designed by Dorius & Bell, AIA, as a fastidious haven for fun-lovin' folks who enjoy beach living, the development contains only 36 units.

"This, of course, is a big selling point", said sales director Edith Jensen. "The pool, cabanas, etc. are for the exclusive use of the owners of our 36 homes. Unlike many developments with 200 or 300 units, our facilities are always available and accessable."

Another very popular feature of the Gold Medalion homes is the electric heating. Since there's no flame with electric heating, it's clean, quiet, modern and odorless. Drapes, walls, furnishings, ceilings and windows are all easier to keep clean and bright. Radiant heating is evenly distributed throughout each room by electric cables embedded in the ceilings during construction.

• • • •

SITUATED JUST 3,000 feet from the Huntington Beach Country Club and 3 minutes from the Pacific shoreline, the recreation oriented homes offer a host of features including: King-size bedrooms and closets; luxurious carpeting; full-size enclosed garages; and private courtyards.

Also, marble-topped pullmans in the baths; exquisite lighting fixtures; and laundry areas. Family size kitchens feature built-in Hotpoint electric range, ovens, hooded exhaust fan, disposal and built-in dishwasher.

Model homes, luxuriously appointed are located at Deleware and 17th St. in Huntington Beach.

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Whole burley tobacco plants are hung on sticks in a well-ventilated barn for air-curing. The normal drying period is six to eight weeks.

Rossmoor Townhouse Values Boosted by Nearby Freeway

"Opening of the San Diego Freeway to Los Alamitos Boulevard has raised the value of my Rossmoor Townhouse a $1,000," is the way one new owner of the luxury homes development expressed his feelings.

With 50% of the homes already sold, Rossmoor Townhouses, a $4 million development within the walled community of the original Rossmoor, has the quality stamp of approval from modern home seekers.

Lush landscaping, complete family shopping facilities nearby, fun and beauty at the new Rossmoor Townhouse owner's front door are just a few of the exciting features catching the eye of the townhouse viewer. Rossmoor Townhouse living is a delightful new concept of homeownership that has overcome one of the largest cost factors—the ever rising price of land. It has made more efficient use of the land, creating large savings reflected in the purchase price. It combines an investment with high resale potential.

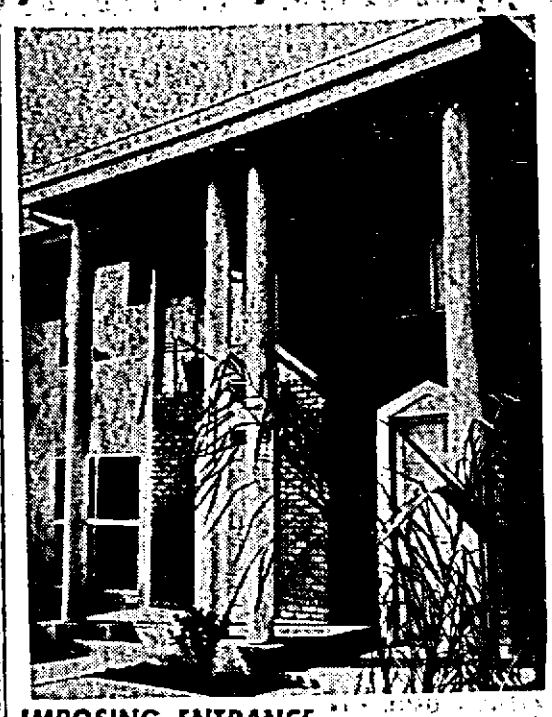

• • • •

LUXURY FEATURES in each unit include wall-to-wall nylon carpeting; all-electric kitchen with built-in oven and range, dishwasher, disposal and combination washer-dryer; two-car garage; private concrete patio; and privacy (separate areas for adults and children).

Recreational facilities enable every resident to enjoy a daily swim in the huge pool, the jacuzzi whirl-pool or wading for the little people and then a turn around the putting greens or fun on the shuffleboard courts.

Price from $19,950, each townhouse is set amidst the splendor of country club living and is within walking distance of all shopping facilities

Rossmoor Townhouses may be reached from Long Beach by going east on Seventh St. to Los Alamitos Blvd. North Exit, then left 5 blocks to Rossmoor.

Laguna Leisure World Units Selling Rapidly

MANY LIVE THERE NOW

There are approximately 1,200 persons residing at Ross W. Cortese's $375 million "people-over-52" community, Rossmoor Leisure World at Laguna Hills. Unit Eight currently is being offered. Here a couple nears a home.

Rossmoor Leisure World at Laguna Hills, Ross W. Cortese's thriving "people-over-52" community, which will contain 18,000 manors upon completion, met with another astonishing reception by the public last week when mutual Unit Eight was offered, William G. Brangham, announced.

Brangham, president of New Horizons, Inc., the national Leisure World sales corporation, reported that 101 manors were sold in a three-day period at an average price of $16,500, totaling $1,666,500.

"There are 374 manors involved in Unit Eight and current sales represent one-third of the unit," Brangham said.

• • • •

NEARLY 1,200 residents are now living in the $375 million Laguna Hills community, he reported, with residents taking occupancy of their manors at the rate of 60 a week in the first mutual units as their manors are being constructed.

"New residents are making full use of the community's 18-hole golf course from dawn to dusk. The existing $550,000 clubhouse and swimming pool complex is bustling with a choice of social activities, including square dancing classes," he added.

• • • •

THE COMMUNITY is located on 2,460 acres of the former Grace Moulton Ranch on the Santa Ana Freeway at El Toro Road, approximately five minutes driving from the Laguna Beach art colony.

Unit Eight contains one and two-bedroom manors. The two-bedroom manors range in price from $14,995 to $17,495. The average down-payment is $1500.

A portion of the down-payment, $334 to $526, purchases a membership in a mutual corporation which, together with the execution of an occupancy agreement, entitles the buyer to occupy the membership-ownership manor of choice in purchase.

• • • •

MONTHLY PAYMENT for these two-bedroom manors ranges from $174.50 to $191.50, subject to modification.

One-bedroom manors in Unit Eight have been sold out. They ranged in price from $11,095 to $11,795.

The monthly payment on all manors includes principal, interest, taxes, insurance, complete exterior maintenance; an intra-community transportation system; security guard; 80% of costs at the community's Medical Center and hospital when completed.

Purchasers must be 52 years or older. No physical examination is required prior to purchase.

Foothill Village Townhouses Offer Quality, Spaciousness

The quality of the spacious interiors — as much as 1776 square feet—is one of the factors interesting buyers in Foothill Village Townhouses, declares H. R. Brookman Jr., one of the developers of the project.

Considerable research has been undertaken by the developers to determine what the buying public is seeking in townhouse living.

"The results," Brookman states, "is one Concept . . . quality." Foothill Village community with its park-like atmosphere of trees and shrubbery offers the residents a source of constant satisfaction rather than a source of continuing chores. Provided is all upkeep for the landscaped grounds, swimming pools and other facilities.

• • • •

THE LARGE recreational building provides many facilities for large and small group gatherings, plus swimming pools, playgrounds and putting greens.

Features include built-in range and oven, dishwasher and disposal, individually controlled air conditioning and heating, fireplaces and private patios.

Foothill Village Townhouses start at $18,900, offer a wide range of plans and settings including two, three and four bedrooms and two and three baths. Financing is available at 6% for 30 years. Payments for both principal and interest are as low as $91.00 monthly after a normal down payment.

Furnished models located on Placentia, just north of Chapman in Fullerton, are open daily.

PLENTY OF LIVING SPACE

With a variety of floor plans and up to 1,776 square feet of living space, Foothill Village Townhouses offer a quality home with ample living space. The Townhouses, located in Fullerton on Placentia north of Chapman, start at $18,900.

Homes in El Dorado in Ideal Location

An excellent investment growth opportunity exists in the homes at El Dorado Park Estates, Long Beach, according to a spokesman for S & S Construction Co., builders.

"These homes are located in the fastest growing area in the world," he said, "and values are going up, up and up."

With the fine yacht anchorages and expanding harbor activities and the mushrooming residential and industrial area building up, El Dorado Park Estates are in the middle of growth. This means increasing land values, and to the home-owner it means greater investment value in his home, the spokesman pointed out.

The homes feature three, four and five-bedroom models in one-story, two-story, split-level and tri-level luxury residences. There are two and three baths. Seven floor plans are offered in 35 exterior designs.

• • • •

At El Dorado the prices start from $31,450, and offer conventional financing. The "Avenue of Model Homes" invites the visitor on Spring Street at Los Alamitos Blvd., Long Beach.

NOTES OF BUSINESS, ECONOMY

Shell Oil Is Gambling for Big Field Off Oregon Coast

By KEN CHILCOTE
Business Editor

In the quest for new oil supplies to meet the growing demands on the West Coast, most major companies have gambled and some have had good results while others have lost.

Now Shell Oil Co. is getting set for a huge gamble in seeking a new oil field off the coast of Oregon. The company acquired leases from the federal government on 132,215 acres lying offshore from Oregon and Washington at a bonus payment cost of $8,906,077.

When drilling gets under way early this summer at a point 12 to 15 miles northwest of Coos Bay, several more million of dollars will be included in the venture.

G. A. Burton, Shell's vice president in charge of the Pacific Coast area, admits that finding oil offshore from Oregon will mean beating really big odds.

• • • •

NATIONALLY, the chance of a wildcat well finding oil in sufficient quantity to be commercially profitable is about one in 45.

But when a company like Shell will gamble around $15 million the odds surely are better than one to 45. The company must know what it is doing since they are paying such a price.

Oil drilling in Oregon has not been profitable in the past. In more than 60 years oil men have drilled 180 holes in the state with no commercially significant find because of thick volcanic formations.

Perhaps Shell believes the volcanic formations do not extend seaward, making the area worth the big gamble. Newport, Ore., will be the base for operations.

Lawndale Contract Let

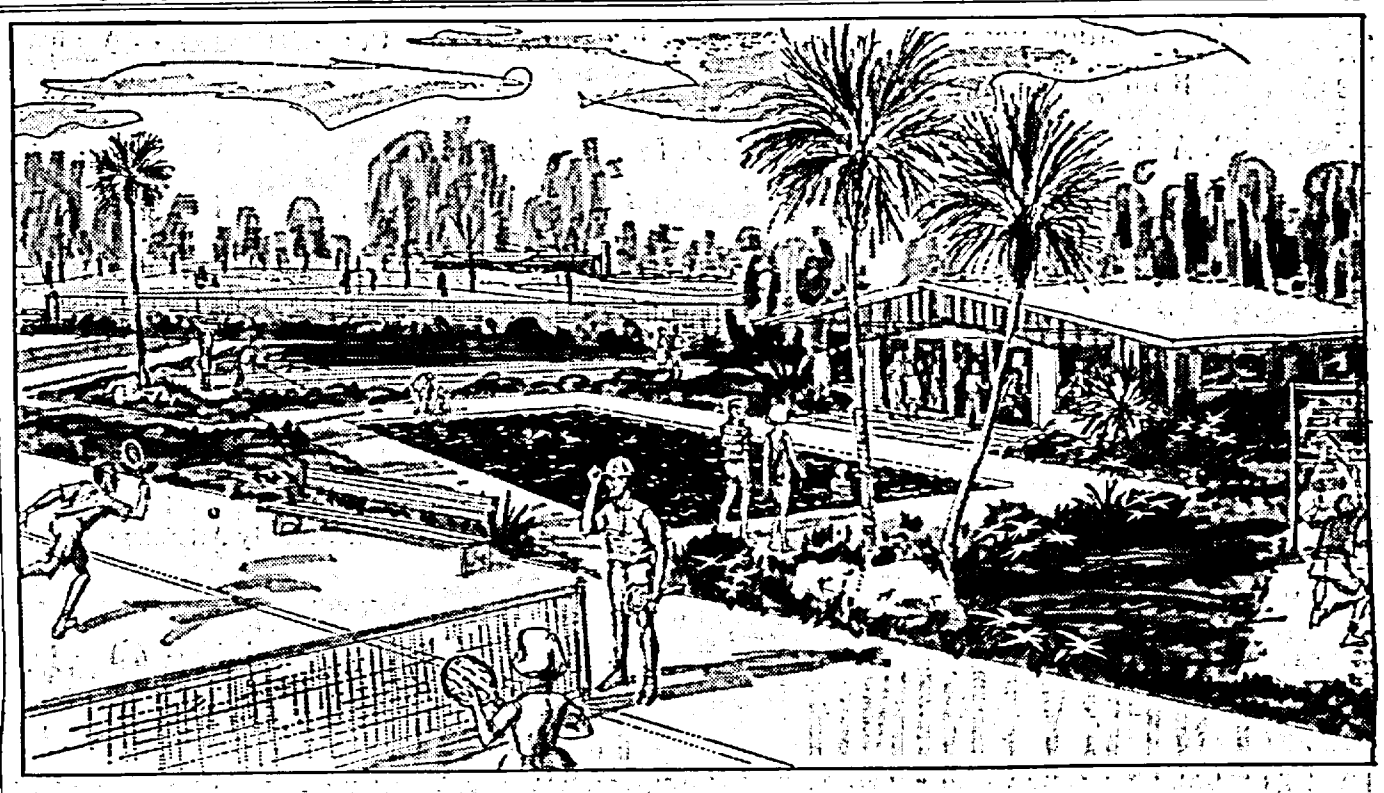

The U. S. Army has awarded the first of two contracts for the renovation of two government - owned contractor-operated plants which will manufacture the Shillelagh missile system.

The Army Corps of Engineers awarded $789,444 to the Alex Robertson Construction Co. of Los Angeles to begin work on the first plant at Lawndale.

Renovation of the second, the Army Ammunition Plant at Burlington, Iowa, will be initiated in the near future.

An Army spokesman said the Lawndale facility will manufacture components and will produce certain non-explosive sub-assemblies of the Shillelagh system. Final assembly of the system will be done at Burlington. Shillelagh rounds will leave the plant ready to be fired by using units.

Once production begins missiles will be mass produced under a contract of more than $25 million which was awarded earlier to Aeronutronic Division of Philco Corp., a subsidiary of Ford Motor Co.

Laguna Leisure World Units Selling Rapidly

MANY LIVE THERE NOW

There are approximately 1,200 persons residing at Ross W. Cortese's $375 million "people-over-52" community, Rossmoor Leisure World at Laguna Hills. Unit Eight currently is being offered. Here a couple nears a home.

Rossmoor Leisure World at Laguna Hills, Ross W. Cortese's thriving "people-over-52" community, which will contain 18,000 manors upon completion, met with another astonishing reception by the public last week when mutual Unit Eight was offered, William G. Brangham, announced.

Brangham, president of New Horizons, Inc., the national Leisure World sales corporation, reported that 101 manors were sold in a three-day period at an average price of $16,500, totaling $1,666,500.

"There are 374 manors involved in Unit Eight and current sales represent one-third of the unit," Brangham said.

* * * *

NEARLY 1,200 residents are now living in the $375 million Laguna Hills community, he reported, with residents taking occupancy of their manors at the rate of 60 a week in the first mutual units as their manors are being constructed.

"New residents are making full use of the community's 18-hole golf course from dawn to dusk. The existing $850,000 clubhouse and swimming pool complex is bustling with a choice of social activities, including square dancing classes," he added.

* * * *

THE COMMUNITY is located on 2,460 acres of the former Grace Moulton Ranch on the Santa Ana Freeway at El Toro Road, approximately five minutes driving from the Laguna Beach art colony.

Unit Eight contains one and two-bedroom manors. The two-bedroom manors range in price from $14,995 to $17,495. The average down-payment is $1500.

A portion of the down-payment, $334 to $526, purchases a membership in a mutual corporation which, together with the execution of an occupancy agreement, entitles the buyer to occupy the membership-ownership manor of choice in purchase.

* * * *

MONTHLY PAYMENT for these two-bedroom manors ranges from $174.50 to $191.50, subject to modification.

One-bedroom manors in Unit Eight have been sold out. They ranged in price from $11,095 to $11,795.

The monthly payment on all manors includes principal, interest, taxes, insurance, complete exterior maintenance; an intra-community transportation system; security guard; 80% of costs at the community's Medical Center and hospital when completed.

Purchasers must be 52 years or older. No physical examination is required prior to purchase.

Foothill Village Townhouses Offer Quality, Spaciousness

The quality of the spacious interiors — as much as 1776 square feet—is one of the factors interesting buyers in Foothill Village Townhouses, declares H. R. Brookman Jr. one of the developers of the project.

Considerable research has been undertaken by the developers to determine what the buying public is seeking in townhouse living.

"The results," Brookman states, "is one Concept . . . quality." Foothill Village community with its park-like atmosphere of trees and shrubbery offers the residents a source of constant satisfaction rather than a source of continuing chores. Provided is all upkeep for the landscaped grounds, swimming pools and other facilities.

* * * *

THE LARGE recreational building provides many facilities for large and small group gatherings, plus swimming pools, playgrounds and putting greens.

Features include built-in range and oven, dishwasher and disposal, individually controlled air conditioning and heating, fireplaces and private patios.

Foothill Village Townhouses start at $18,900, offer a wide range of plans and settings including two, three and four bedrooms and two and three baths. Financing is available at 6% for 30 years. Payments for both principal and interest are as low as $91.00 monthly after a normal down payment.

Furnished models located on Placentia, just north of Chapman in Fullerton, are open daily.

PLENTY OF LIVING SPACE

With a variety of floor plans and up to 1,776 square feet of living space, Foothill Village Townhouses offer a quality home with ample living space. The Townhouses, located in Fullerton on Placentia north of Chapman, start at $18,900.

Homes in El Dorado in Ideal Location

An excellent investment growth opportunity exists in the homes at El Dorado Park Estates, Long Beach, according to a spokesman for S & S Construction Co., builders.

"These homes are located in the fastest growing area in the world," he said, "and values are going up, up and up."

With the fine yacht anchorages and expanding harbor activities and the mushrooming residential and industrial area building up, El Dorado Park Estates are in the middle of growth. This means increasing land values, and to the home-owner it means greater investment value in his home, the spokesman pointed out.

The homes feature three, four and five-bedroom models in one-story, two-story, split-level and tri-level luxury residences. There are two and three baths. Seven floor plans are offered in 35 exterior designs.

* * * *

At El Dorado the prices start from $31,450, and offer conventional financing. The "Avenue of Model Homes" invites the visitor on Spring Street at Los Alamitos Blvd., Long Beach.

Shell Oil Is Gambling for Big Field Off Oregon Coast

By KEN CHILCOTE
Business Editor

In the quest for new oil supplies to meet the growing demands on the West Coast, most major companies have gambled and some have had good results while others have lost.

Now Shell Oil Co. is getting set for a huge gamble in seeking a new oil field off the coast of Oregon. The company acquired leases from the federal government on 132,215 acres lying offshore from Oregon and Washington at a bonus payment cost of $8,906,077.

When drilling gets underway early this summer at a point 12 to 15 miles northwest of Coos Bay, several more million of dollars will be included in the venture.

G. A. Burton, Shell's vice president in charge of the Pacific Coast area, admits that finding oil offshore from Oregon will mean beating really big odds.

* * * *

NATIONALLY, the chance of a wildcat well finding oil in sufficient quantity to be commercially profitable is about one in 45.

But when a company like Shell will gamble around $15 million the odds surely are better than one to 45. The company must know what it is doing since they are paying such a price.

Oil drilling in Oregon has not been profitable in the past. In more than 60 years oil men have drilled 180 holes in the state with no commercially significant find because of thick volcanic formations.

Perhaps Shell believes the volcanic formations do not extend seaward, making the area worth the big gamble. Newport, Ore., will be the base for operations.

. . . . Mrs. George P. Taubman sizes up immensity of year's city beauti fication project . . .

Betsy Sets Sights on Beauty

by Mary Ellis Carlton
Director, Women's News

'All that is beautiful shall abide; all that is base shall die.'
—Robert William Buchanan

Just take one look at red-haired Betsy Taubman and, right off, you think of crystal chandeliers, dinner by candlelight, magnolias and mint juleps.

There's never any doubt about the silver spoon or the southern plantation in her background . . . and you're pretty sure she's never washed a dish in her life.

She's feminine and china-like, with a beauty parlor gloss and a helpless air. Men scurry from all directions to help her on with her mink and to open Cadillac doors.

They forget she's about as helpless as a battalion of tanks and has more wheels turning than a store full of Swiss watches. And she has a list of accomplishments longer than the social register to prove it.

She's launched ships, landed in the Arctic, served as president of everything from Junior League to 18th Congressional District of Republican Women. She's organized a summer camp for underprivileged children, the local Toy Loan Center, a West Coast housing program for Army-Navy war brides. And, most recently, the Women's Guild of Civic Light Opera.

She's in "Who's Who Among American Women" and knows what's what about civic affairs, politics, home management, party-giving, the social graces and UNICEF (among other responsibilities in the latter, she was appointed by President Eisenhower to serve as chairman of the U.S. delegation in Geneva, Switzerland in 1959, and the same year was official representative for UNICEF in Poland).

And there's a lot more. But she doesn't want to talk about that.

Right now she wants to talk about Long Beach. She's major domo of the biggest "all-out, this-has-got-to-work" challenge of her organizing, let's get-it-done career. She's carrying the big broom in Long Beach's "1965: Year of Beauty" campaign. Not that she's a broom-swinger, literally . . . but, figuratively, she has a way of sweeping recruits into a worthy cause.

BETSY TAUBMAN (husband George, a local attorney, calls her his "better⅞") first took up the cause of beautifying Long Beach when she assumed chairmanship of the civic beautification committee of the C of C Women's Division, organized three years ago.

As opening gun in their war against unsightliness, 11 survey teams—armed with cameras and notebooks—covered the city, recording eyesores and beauty spots. Eyesores became their objective; beauty spots, the most impressive ones, received their accolades at the committee's first Awards Banquet.

As the two intervening years swept by, Betsy's committee and its scope gained momentum, now branching out into all sorts of by-committees (ordinance, master plan, schools, etc.). Business men, architects, city officials and male-type civic leaders have joined the ranks.

This year, the full membership of the Chamber of Commerce—even those males who, at first blush, were reticient about a petticoat organization within the Chamber—has tailored its year-long objective to what Betsy and 300,000 other Long Beach citizens want: city beautification and downtown revitalization.

Friday night, all were on hand for the "Year of Beauty" kick-off dinner, ready to help carry the ball for Long Beach's goal: a more beautiful city, worthy of its heritage.

It was a spontaneous group fired for community action, all set to tackle the city's numerous problems: littered grounds, weed-choked vacant lots, tawdry billboards, flag-smothered car lots, unsightly approaches to the city, blighted conditions that have spread through much of Long Beach's core area and older districts.

Many projects to improve our usual environment already are under way, Mrs. George P. Taubman Jr., public speaker extraordinary, told the group. Clubs and organizations throughout the city are expressing a desire to join the "War Against Ugliness."

We're ready to sign up all recruits," says Betsy. "Long Beach has more potential than any city, anywhere . . . climate, ocean, natural beauties, wonderful people, everything."

Then she went on to drawl off a long list of organizations and groups ready to take up broom, rake, hoe and money for Long Beach's Year of Beauty. And even when Betsy reads a list, no matter how long, she lights up an audiance.

As one converted beautifier remarked: "She could read the phone book and make it interesting."

Come to think of it, that's a pretty good idea. Everybody in the book is needed! And Betsy would make it interesting.

IT'S NURSERY WEEK

Tots Brush-Up for Mom, Pop

All over town studious pre-schoolers, such as those pictured right, are busily making like pint-sized Picassos.

The reason? They're out to decorate their classrooms for the BIG visit—when a multitude of moms and pops make their way to the classrooms.

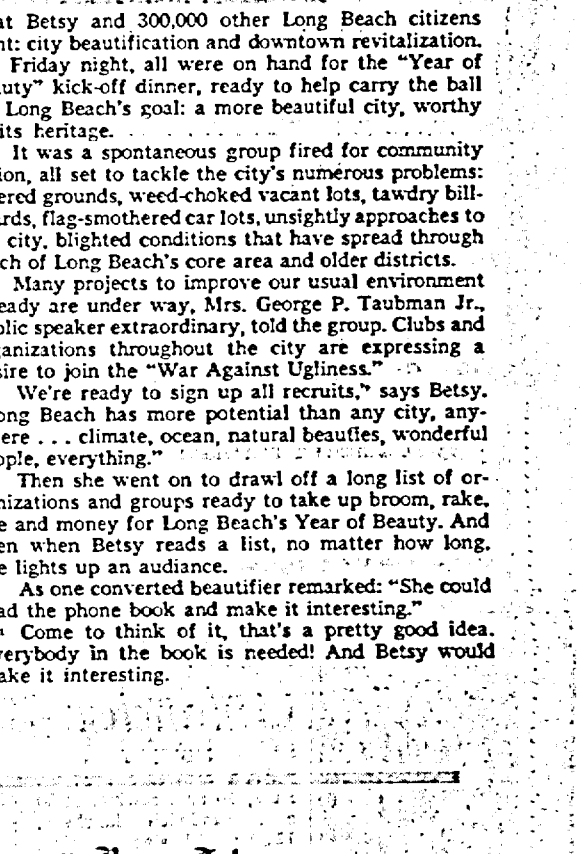

This is Nursery-Education Week in Long Beach and pre-schools (private and public) are holding open-houses, starting today.

The week, sponsored by the Association for Nursery Education, will point-up programs that get tiny tots on their toes and ready for elementary school.

LOCAL RADIO stations will have informative programs on pre-school study and Long Beach public libraries will have nursery school exhibits.

Among those taking part in the week's emphasis on toddler topics will be the 17 parent-participating nursery groups of the area; the city's Child Care Centers, the Child Development Center at Long Beach City College and the 34 pre-school parent education classes sponsored by the Unified School District.

A film, "Adventure into Nursery Education," produced by the Long Beach Harbor Association for Nursery Education, also will be shown at branch libraries during the week.

We're ready to sign up all recruits," says Betsy. "Long Beach has more potential than any city, anywhere . . . climate, ocean, natural beauties, wonderful people, everything."

Then she went on to drawl off a long list of organizations and groups ready to take up broom, rake, hoe and money for Long Beach's Year of Beauty. And even when Betsy reads a list, no matter how long, she lights up an audiance.

As one converted beautifier remarked: "She could read the phone book and make it interesting."

Come to think of it, that's a pretty good idea. Everybody in the book is needed! And Betsy would make it interesting.

SITTING PRETTY model demonstrates turn-about versatility of Scandinavian saddle chair which won coveted AID award for Edward Frank's exclusive import firm, Moreddi Inc., 1326 Obispo Ave. Chair, patterned after favorite of King Frederick VII of Denmark, who evidently liked sitting tall in the saddle, can be sat in astraddle, side-saddle, or back-to-back. Remove reading leaves and six of the saddle chairs fit together to form handsome hexangonal table and chair set. For story on designer and his influence in the home furnishings field, see page W-4.

IT'S NURSERY WEEK

Tots Brush-Up for Mom, Pop

All over town studious pre-schoolers, such as those pictured right, are busily making like pint-sized Picassos.

The reason? They're out to decorate their classrooms for the BIG visit—when a multitude of moms and pops make their way to the classrooms.

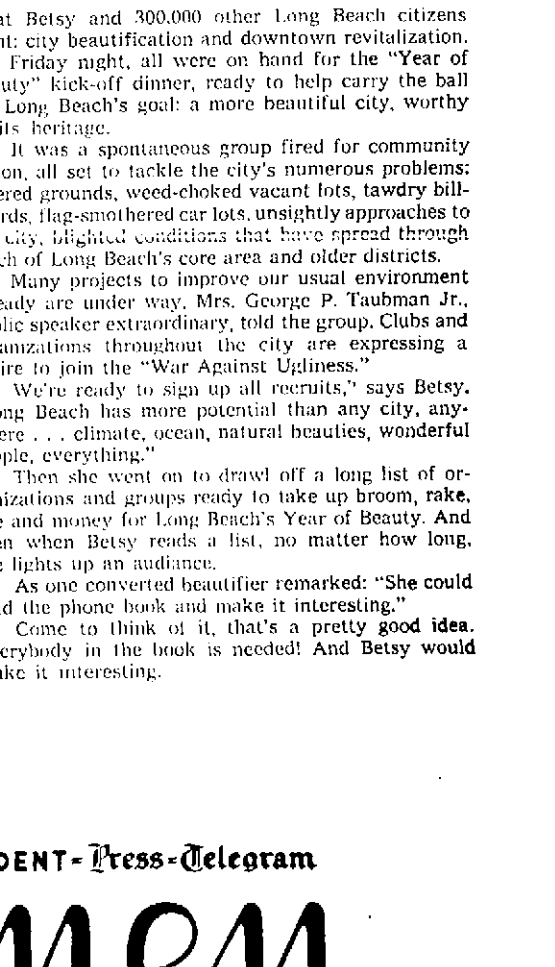

This is Nursery-Education Week in Long Beach and pre-schools (private and public) are holding open-houses, starting today.

The week, sponsored by the Association for Nursery Education, will point-up programs that get tiny tots on their toes and ready for elementary school.

LOCAL RADIO stations will have informative programs on pre-school study and Long Beach public libraries will have nursery school exhibits.

Among those taking part in the week's emphasis on toddler topics will be the 17 parent-participating nursery groups of the area; the city's Child Care Centers, the Child Development Center at Long Beach City College and the 34 pre-school parent education classes sponsored by the Unified School District.

A film, 'Adventure into Nursery Education, produced by the Long Beach Harbor Association for Nursery Education, also will be shown at branch libraries during the week.

Judge to Relate 'Life of Lincoln' for City Club

By JOYCE KENT
L. P-T Club Editor

A vital interest in the life of Abraham Lincoln spanning more than 30 years will be shared with Woman's City Club members Friday when they hear "Great Moments in the Life of Abraham Lincoln."

Sharing his knowledge of this "humble and compassionate man" will be Municipal Court Judge Martin DeVries, known as this city's foremost authority on the life of Lincoln.

Judge Martin DeVries
. . . Authority on Lincoln

Judge DeVries traces his interest in "Lincolnia" to a day in 1934 when he was digging in the soil at New Salem, Ill., and ran across an old homemade red brick in back of the store where Lincoln once served as clerk.

Says the judge, "an old-timer seeing the brick in my hand commented, 'It could have been made by Old Abe. He supposed to build that ole chimney.'"

• • • •

THAT BRICK opened the door to a new interest in biography and in Lincoln. In succeeding years, Judge DeVries built up a library of Lincoln until it became too large to keep.

An inveterate traveler, he since has distributed many of his precious volumes to Silliman University in the Philippines; International Christian University in Japan; and more recently to Pacific Christian College in Long Beach.

The speaker will be heard following noon luncheon and a 1:30 p.m. business session in the clubhouse, 1309 E. Third St.

LBYC Ladies

Long Beach Yacht Club's monthly ladies day luncheon will take place at 11:30 a.m. Thursday at the clubhouse, 6201 Appian Way. Ko Ito, interior decorator, will discuss "The Philosophy of Beauty from Various Cultures: The Orient, Scandinavia and Mexico." Informal fashions will be modeled during luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

Ebell Club

"Eighty Years Young" members of Ebell will be special guests at noon luncheon Monday in the clubhouse. The 1:30 p.m. business session will be followed by a musical program presented by the husband-wife team of Peggy and Bill Coburn. She is a contralto, he is a composer-pianist.

Morning meetings: Art Department, 10 a.m., "Venetian Painting Before Titian," Mary King, and "Giovanni and Gentile Bellini," Mrs. Harry E. O'Melveny. Business and Protective Law Department, 11 a.m., "The Laws Affecting Women," Attorney Elsie M. Farris. California History Department, 11 a.m., "California Redwoods," Mrs. Louis J. Oberson. Art Alumnae Department meets Friday for noon luncheon and a talk on "I Light My Candle from Their Torch," by Mrs. R. L. Yankie.

Calendar of Clubwomen

Woman's Music Club

Valerie Silver's ballet group will present "Dance Suite" by Rachmaninoff and excerpts from Tchaikowsky's "Sleeping Beauty Ballet" before Woman's Music Club at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday. Diane Racek will be featured artist. Annette Gridley will play the organ prelude. Luncheon will be served at noon.

Church Music Section meets at 11 a.m. for talk on "The Organ and Its Role in Worship," by James R. Weeks, minister of music at First Congregational Church.

City College Patrons

Members of Presidents Club will be guests of Patrons of Long Beach City College at a 1:30 p.m. meeting Friday at St. Luke's Episcopal Church. A tea and program are planned.

CFWC Board

State Board of California Federation of Women's Clubs will convene Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Hacienda Motel, Bakersfield. Plans for state convention May 10-13 at Biltmore Motel, Los Angeles, will highlight the sessions.

Patio Club

Lakewood Country Club has been selected by Patio Club for its noon luncheon and afternoon of contract bridge Friday. Reservations may be made with Mrs. M. E. Manning or Mrs. M. B. Lowe.

Discussion Club

Friday Morning Discussion Club will hear talks by first division speakers during 10 a.m. meeting in the home of Miss Mabel Shipherd, 269 Quincy Ave. Mrs. Newman Door will evaluate and Mrs. H. E. Lewis will give the English drill.

Couples Say 'I Do'

Winter Weddings in Southland

Lundin-Maddox

Marsha Ann Maddox and Richard S. Lundin recited nuptial vows Saturday in the East Side Christian Church of Long Beach.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loy B. Maddox of 3039 Heather Road, Long Beach, wore a Cahill sheath gown of chiffon over crepe appliqued with Chantilly lace.

Mrs. Donald Montgomery was matron of honor with Mrs. Jon Haney, Mary Wright, Lorna Cherrick and Judy Everett, bridesmaides, and Christie Saladin, flower girl, completing the entourage.

• • • •

THE GROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lundin of Arcadia, chose Goeffrey Smith as best man with Robert Davis, Gene Miller, Roger Boman and Donald Hand seating guests.

The new Mrs. Lundin was graduated from Millikan High School and California State College, Long Beach, where she was a member of Delta Zeta. Her husband was graduated from San Diego State College.

Following a honeymoon trip to Carmel and San Francisco, the newlyweds will reside in Long Beach.

Smith-Carter

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Carter, 4470 Linden, are parents of the bride, who wore a floor-length, long-sleeved sheath gown of imported, reembroidered Chantilly lace. The groom is son of Mrs. Earl K. Smith, 6017 Seaside Walk, and the late Mr. Smith.

Carolyn Carter attended her sister as maid of honor. Mrs. Jules Hooper, Lou Ann LeLacheur, Joanne Reynolds and Suzanne Just completed the entourage.

• • • •

THE GROOM chose Leroy Robinson as best man. Completing the wedding party were Bill Hite, Ted Flood, Steve Cannon and Rick Hanson, ushers; Lorraine and Larry Brewer, candlelighters; Robert Roy Carter, brother of the bride, ring bearer; and Leslie Worden, flower girl.

The new Mrs. Smith was graduated from Poly High School and attended California State College, Long Beach, where she was a member of Alpha Phi. Her husband, a graduate of Wilson High, is now attending California Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo, where he is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He was a member of the varsity crew team when attending CSLB.

Abrams-Mayne

The North Long Beach Presbyterian Church was scene of the wedding ceremony of Russell Charles Abrams and Sharon Lee Mayne on Saturday.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard W. Mayne, 6431 Cerritos, wore a floor-length sheath gown trimmed with Chantilly lace.

Beverly Walker was maid of honor with Mrs. Terrell Kaucher as an attendant. Jeff Hylton was best man with Ron Snelling and David Downen seating guests.

• • • •

THE NEW Mrs. Abrams, who was graduated from Jordan High School, attended Long Beach Business College and is now attending Long Beach City College. Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Abrams, 1401 E. 55th St., was also graduated from Jordan High School and attended LBCC.

The newlyweds will reside in Torrance following a honeymoon in Carmel.

Spindler-Derbyshire

Dickylee Derbyshire of Long Beach became the bride of Alan H. Spindler, Burlingame, Saturday in Our Savior's Lutheran Chapel in Long Beach.

The bride, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John W. Derbyshire, Sebastopol, wore a taffeta gown trimmed with reembroidered lace and seed pearls. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Spindler, Middletown, Ohio.

Mrs. Thomas Weese was matron of honor with Judith Corbett as bridesmaid and 11-year-old Nancy Joan Derbyshire, sister of the bride, junior bridesmaid. Arthur C. Orr was best man; Remington A. Johnston III and Winsted J. Smith seated guests.

• • • •

THE NEW Mrs. Spindler attended the University of Oregon and was graduated from Occidental College, where she was a member of Delta Zeta. The groom was graduated from Cornell University where he also received his master's degree. He was a member of Psi Upsilon, Tau Beta Pi and Phi Kappa Phi.

The newlyweds will reside in Burlingame.

Las Vegas Trip Benefit Prize

Members of the Wedding Band, a club for young married couples of Temple Beth Zion, will hold a game night Saturday, 8 p.m., at the temple, 6440 Del Amo Blvd., Lakewood. The public is invited.

Door prizes will be awarded, including a two-day stay at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas.

Additional information may be obtained from Mmes. Barry Hirsch, 6445 Turnergrove Ave., Lakewood, or Jack MacDonald, 4720 Boyar Ave., Long Beach.

Folk-Dance Classes Set

Local International Folk Dance groups, in cooperation with the recreation department, are sponsoring a beginning class of international folk dances.

The classes will be held 12 consecutive Wednesdays, beginning Feb. 17, in Whaley Park, 5620 E. Atherton St.

Al Vincent will instruct classes.

Travelogue Is Set Tonight

A travelogue sponsored by Ruth Circle will be given by Rhea Young tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the East Long Beach Methodist Church.

The film will feature her trips to Europe and other foreign countries.

He's Tall in the Saddle and Sitting Pretty

By MARY NETH
Home Furnishings Editor

Edward Frank, whose AID award-winning saddle chair is pictured on W-1, has done more than his part to give America the streamlined, clean-cut look it boasts today. Owner of both Frank Bros. (largest Scandinavian furniture store in the United States) and Moreddi, Inc. (one of the largest distributors of such furniture), he envisioned modernity as we know it, long before it became a fact.

"What we call Danish modern isn't a certain look—a style," says Edward Frank, discerning devotee of Scandinavian design.

"It's a standard of quality."

For Frank there's no substitute.

It was just such a definite statement of quality that first attracted his eye to Scandinavian furniture.

That was back in the 30's when we were Danes or the Swedes: when the American way "was weighted down with massive, gloom-stained furniture all a-clutter with furbelows and covered with dust-collecting fabrics—plush, velour, mohair.

"I first saw Scandinavian chairs and such at International trade shows," he recalls.

"Logic told me the sleek lines and easy-care flat fabrics would quickly replace the heavy impractical furniture of the time."

Frank and his later brother, Maurice, began handling contemporary Danish and Swedish pieces in their family furniture store as early as 1938. But, it wasn't until Frank returned from the war in '47 that their import trade really gained momentum.

It was during that year that Frank Bros. moved to its present building on Long Beach Blvd. and that Moreddi Inc. came into being. (The latter, by the way, is a combination of the brothers' nicknames — Morrie and Eddie).

"Since 1947 we've gone through all sorts of furniture fads — Chinese modern, Italian Provincial (neither Italian or provincial), neo-classic and Spanish, to name a few.

They've come and gone but the Scandinavian has stayed," Frank points out.

"Why? Because, it's esthetically styled (pleasing in form, line and proportion), and that never goes out of style.

Frank's AID award-winning saddle chair is a prime example of the timelessness of a good piece.

"The chair, a modern version of one designed for King Frederick VII (a great horseman, who liked to sit tall in the saddle), was the brainstorm of an editor of a Danish home furnishings magazine, who saw the original at Rosenborg Castle, Copenhagen, and decided it would make a terrific modern reading or writing chair.

Moreddi designers agreed.

They added a padded back rest (you don't HAVE to sit astride) and scooped out the seat, so ladies in short, snug skirts can sit side-saddle.

They also made the book rest more versatile—from two to six chairs can be fitted together to form a small or large gaming tables.

The resultant saddle chair, which took the only home furniture award given this year, isn't the only Moreddi piece to be honored by AID.

"We've won five awards since 1962," says Frank, who makes trips to Europe on an average of three times a year in search of new ideas.

"I work with leading European artists and architects, also do my own designing," he explains.

Frank has found that furniture made with the American market in mind never fails to make a big impact on the European scenes, too.

As he sees it, furniture for the future will be lighter, and airier in design—paced to space-age living.

Backed by his award-winning chairs, Edward Frank looks to the future. Saddle chair, left, won AID awards for '64. Steel and leather lounge chair, by Paul Norreklit of Denmark, took prize last year.

"IN furniture, it's the silhouette that's significant. Choose a simple, esthetically pleasing one and you've captured timelessness."

Mary Neth

Mrs. Mary Neth, staff feature writer for the Independent, Press-Telegram Women's Department for the past five years, has been named Home Furnishings Editor, it was announced Saturday by Mary Ellis Carlton, Director of Women's News for the I, P-T.

Mrs. Carlton said the appointment was made in line with plans to greatly expand the coverage of news and features of interest to readers of the Women's Section of the I, P-T.

Mrs. Neth brings a wealth of experience to the newly created position. She is a student of art and home decorations and has traveled extensively, living in Europe for a number of years. Her appointment is effective immediately.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I am 16 and have been going with a man who is 21. My parents don't like my dating him but I refuse to stop seeing him. Mother is continually saying things about him that I know aren't true and I try to laugh it off.

He was going to give me a diamond for Christmas but Mother said I couldn't accept it. I plan to finish school before I get married

Dear Molly Mayfield

but she won't believe it. She says I'm too young to know my own mind so she has to make my decisions for me. What do you think? — IN LOVE

DEAR IN LOVE:

I'm saying silly, silly you. What's to worry about? Your mother is allowing you to see your boy but not allowing you to become engaged.

If the two of you can go together for a couple of more years and still feel the same way about each other, your mother will realize you are serious and very likely stop objecting to the boy. You really are too young to be engaged, you know, but if you two truly love each other, everything will work out all right.—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My husband left me and our three small children about four years ago. Since then he has been living with his girl friend who is 10 years younger than he.

I tried hard to make a go of our marriage and did everything he asked, and in spite of what he has done, I still love him and want him back. I've dated other men but it's still my ex-husband who means the most to me.

My friends tell me he's a "louse" and I suppose he is. He likes the children but doesn't want to help support them. Would I be better off to try harder to forget him? He knows I still worship him and that I will do whatever he says.

Am I crazy? —SLAVE

DEAR SLAVE:

The simple fact that he doesn't want to help support the children makes him a louse with a capital L. How a woman can continue to "worship" a guy like that is beyond me. He "likes" the children? He has a most peculiar way of showing it!

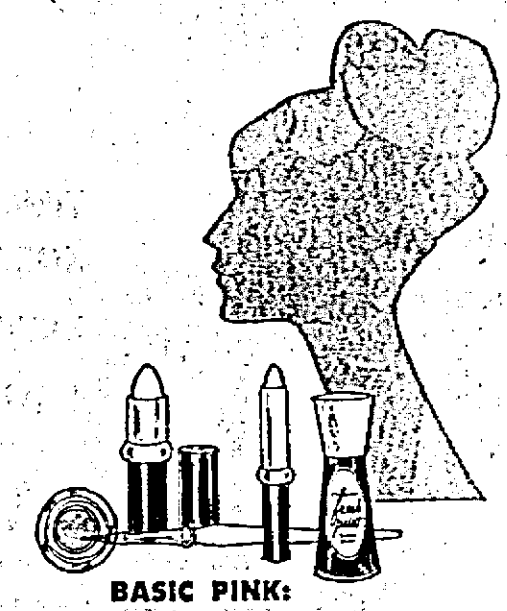

Since he knows how you feel about him and he still stays away, it's about time you started building a new life for you and the children. It's obvious there is no future with him. You've wasted too many years already obviously carrying the torch for someone who just isn't interested. —M.M.

Saturday Brides

Couples Exchange Nuptial Vows

Kribs-Flanagan

A home in Lakewood awaits Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Kribs (the former Mary J. Flanagan) following a honeymoon trip to Northern California. They were married Saturday in St. Pancratius Catholic Church of Lakewood.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Flanagan of Lakewood, chose a gown of Italian silk with empire waistline trimmed in Alencon lace and pearls.

• • • •

THE NEW Mrs. Kribs was graduated from St. Anthony Girls' High School and attended Long Beach City College and Cal. State at Long Beach. Her husband, son of Mrs. Henry J. Kribs Jr. of Lakewood and the late Mr. Kribs, was graduated from Lakewood High School and Long Beach City College. He is now attending CSLB.

Scott-Campbell

The Chapel of Roses in Pasadena was the setting for the wedding of Sandra Jeanne Campbell and James Edward Scott on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Pasadena, are parents of the bride who wore a floor-length gown with chapel train trimmed in seed pearls.

Ann Brannon was maid of honor with Patricia Wegener, Diana Scholl, Sherry and Suzanne Campbell as bridesmaids.

• • • •

ROBERT AVERY was best man for the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Scott, Long Beach. Steven Stump, John Scholl, Don Savrenman and John Robinson served as ushers. Pam Scott and Joanne Velasquez, flower girls, completed the bridal party.

The new Mrs. Scott is attending Pasadena City College. Her husband, a graduate of Poly High School, was graduated from LBCC, where he was president of Mu Kappa.

Following a honeymoon trip to San Moritz and Lake Gregory, the newlyweds will reside in Pasadena.

McDonough-White

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. White, Lakewood, were a gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace with bouffant skirt and circular chapel train.

• • • •

THE GROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. McDonough of North Long Beach, chose his brother Michael to serve as best man and Richard Jung, Vern McNair and William Lott seated the 100 guests. Kimberley Dell 'Anna was flower girl and Terry Heckman was ring bearer.

The new Mrs. McDonough was graduated from Mayfair High School and attended Cerritos College. Her husband, a graduate of Jordan High School, is now serving in the U.S. Marine Corps.

The newlyweds will reside in Fallbrook.

Shay-Oswalt

Diana Marie Oswalt and Loren Patrick Shay were married Saturday in the Our Lady of Refuge Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Price Oswalt, 2161 Euclid Ave., wore an empire-styled Cahill gown of white satin trimmed with re-embroidered lace bodice.

Mrs. Robert Craine served as matron of honor; Penny Schnurr and Michele Wallace were bridesmaids.

• • • •

FRANK DIBELLA was best man for the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Shay, 4247 Quigley Ave., Lakewood, with Dennis Oswalt and James Shay serving as ushers.

The new Mrs. Shay was graduated from Wilson High School and her husband was graduated from Lakewood High School.

Following a honeymoon trip to Big Bear, the newlyweds will reside in Long Beach.

BETROTHAL REVEALED

Wedding Date Told by Meredith Sawyer

Mr. and Mrs. Vaile Gilbert Young revealed the betrothal of her daughter, Meredith Helen Sawyer to Thomas William Medanick at a dinner party in their Bay Shore Walk home honoring the bride-elect's birthday.

The future bride, also daughter of William Herbert Sawyer of San Diego, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mathias Wise and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brown Sawyer, all long-time residents of Long Beach.

SHE WAS GRADUATED from Wilson High School and attended the University of Geneva in Switzerland and California State College, Long Beach. Miss Sawyer was presented at the Junior League Debutante Ball in 1960.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank William Medanick of Piedmont, was graduated from UC at Berkeley where he was a member of Theta Delta Chi.

He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Muller of Oakland and the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Medanick, Los Angeles.

An Aug. 21 wedding date has been chosen.

Bridge Lessons to Be Offered

Mrs. Louise Morrison will begin a series of eight bridge lessons starting Friday, 10:30 a.m., at the Pacific Coast Club, 850 E. Ocean Blvd.

Mrs. Morrison, who was made Life Master at the Disneyland Regional, is a member of the American Contract Bridge League.

ROBERT AVERY was best man for the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Scott, Long Beach. Steven Stump, John Scholl, Don Savrenman and John Robinson served as ushers. Pam Scott and Joanne Velasquez, flower girls, completed the bridal party.

The new Mrs. Scott is attending Pasadena City College. Her husband, a graduate of Poly High School, was graduated from LBCC, where he was president of Mu Kappa.

Following a honeymoon trip to San Moritz and Lake Gregory, the newlyweds will reside in Pasadena.

McDonough-White

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. White, Lakewood, were a gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace with bouffant skirt and circular chapel train.

* * * *

THE GROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. McDonough of North Long Beach, chose his brother Michael to serve as best man and Richard Jung, Vern McNair and William Lott seated the 100 guests. Kimberley Dell 'Anna was flower girl and Terry Heckman was ring bearer.

The new Mrs. McDonough was graduated from Mayfair High School and attended Cerritos College. Her husband, a graduate of Jordan High School, is now serving in the U.S. Marine Corps.

The newlyweds will reside in Fallbrook.

Shay-Oswalt

Diana Marie Oswalt and Loren Patrick Shay were married Saturday in the Our Lady of Refuge Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Price Oswalt, 2161 Euclid Ave., wore an empire-styled Cahill gown of white satin trimmed with reembroidered lace bodice.

Mrs. Robert Craine served as matron of honor; Penny Schnurr and Michele Wallace were bridesmaids.

* * * *

FRANK DIBELLA was best man for the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Shay, 4247 Quigley Ave., Lakewood, with Dennis Oswalt and James Shay serving as ushers.

The new Mrs. Shay was graduated from Wilson High School and her husband was graduated from Lakewood High School.

Following a honeymoon trip to Big Bear, the newlyweds will reside in Long Beach.

BETROTHAL REVEALED

Wedding Date Told by Meredith Sawyer

Mr. and Mrs. Vaile Gilbert Young revealed the betrothal of her daughter, Meredith Helen Sawyer to Thomas William Medanick at a dinner party in their Bay Shore Walk home honoring the bride-elect's birthday.

The future bride, also daughter of William Herbert Sawyer of San Diego, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mathias Wise and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brown Sawyer, all long-time residents of Long Beach.

SHE WAS GRADUATED from Wilson High School and attended the University of Geneva in Switzerland and California State College, Long Beach. Miss Sawyer was presented at the Junior League Debutante Ball in 1960.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank William Medanick of Piedmont, was graduated from UC at Berkeley where he was a member of Theta Delta Chi.

He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Muller of Oakland and the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Medanick, Los Angeles.

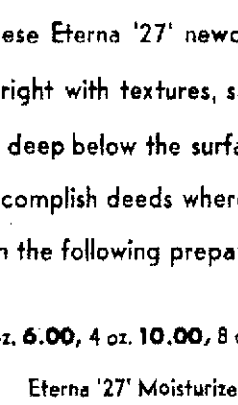

An Aug. 21 wedding date has been chosen.

After a SMALL Problem

It's On With Hats

AND

. . . On With the Fashion Show!

By MARGARET McKEAN

Beautifully engraved invitations were out with top billing for the fashion diva. . . .

The press had touted the elegant style show as 'the only couturier event in the harbor-peninsula area." . . .

And a cast of committee members stood poised to swing into supporting roles.

But there was trouble behind the seams. The star of the show, Edith Small, couldn't be found anywhere.

"We were ready to pivot around her," exclaimed the show's producer. "But, instead, her absence sent us into a swivet!"

It was a quiet swivet, though, for only general chairman Mrs. Oscar Gregory and president Mrs. Dan Pataposs knew the noted California designer was incommunicado—at least to their barrage of letters, phone calls and wires.

SHE WAS to have shown her new line for Las Damas de Lasuen's highly anticipated fashion show, set for Tuesday. But "as Feb. 9 drew nearer and nearer, we couldn't find her even to discuss arrangements," moaned Mrs. Gregory.

"What we found, instead, were marvelous friends in the California fashion industry—people like Don Loper, Helen Rose, William Pierson, Travila—each so helpful that our show will have the greatest of the season's right way of fashion!"

Commentary will be television's poised and pretty Dorothy Gardiner, who will introduce professional mannequins wearing the best from spring collections of Helen Rose, Travilla, Mr. Blackwell, Sidney North, Lanz, Alex Colman, Rene Firestone, Marjorie Webb, Oscar of Beverly Hills and more.

THE STAGE setting is ready at the elegant Regency Ballroom of Airport Marina Hotel, Lincoln and Manchester Boulevards, Los Angeles . . . lilac and cherry blossoms will fill epergnes arranged by talented Palos Verdes decorator Helen Gunsley.

Patrons will be received by Mmes. Roger Aubuchon and George Murphy; alumni mothers will be welcomed by Mrs. Andrew Svorinich.

Behind the scenes, Ester Gregory, mayhap, will murmur to co-chairman Mrs. Anthony de Rocco: "Some show, eh, what?"

And 400 fashion-conscious women won't have missed one Small thing from the production!

Trouble in Overcall

West's vulnerable overcall was not the sort of bid that should be made into a steady diet and when North doubled West was on his way to the cleaners. East's rescue to one spade was no better but West got out of trouble with his two club bid and would have remained out of trouble if his partner had not made just about the worst two bids made in the world championship team trials.

North suspected that West had been fooling with his heart overcall and bid two hearts. South went to three diamonds. He did have a mighty good diamond suit. North persisted with hearts and at this point East started his career of misdoubling.

East knew that his partner would actually have some sort of a heart suit and East reasoned that a club lead would hurt North at hearts. He was right about that. Repeated club leads would have held North to seven tricks and if East had been able to put glue on his heart double the bid would have been fine.

• • • •

SOUTH PASSED. He had told his story and trusted that his partner knew what he was doing. It turned out that North did know what he was doing because North ran out of three hearts into four diamonds.

East pounced on this bid like a hungry wolf but East should have been glad to get out of the auction alive. East did have four diamonds but his only high card strength was in his partner's club suit and it should have been apparent to him that he was not going to make many club tricks.

Thus his first double drove his opponents out of a losing contract to a winning one. His second double increased their plus from 150 to 910 because South managed to make five odd at his doubled four-diamond contract.

...From Mali to Managua, Here to Stop-over 'n Stock-

SHE SAYS BYE AND BUYS BY THE CASE

... Dale in a Dilemma ...

By MARY NETH

Dale McKenzie has a good case of buy-buy blues.

For the past week, she's been carting off mundane merchandise—razor blades, bath soap, tissue paper, hand cream, shampoo, toothpaste—by the case.

"I wouldn't want to be caught short," says she.

Here visiting her mother, Mrs. Sarah Hennessey, 237 Siena Drive, from two years in Mali, Africa, where she and her husband James (native of Erie, Pa.) worked in State Department communications, Dale's an old hand at buying by the caseful.

She's had to be.

"In Bambara, where we met, married and lived, there were practically no stores—only a butcher's shop and market place.

"We grocery shopped through the pages of a Danish mail-order catalog."

BUT, DALE'S shopping spree of the moment is no mere hold-over from life in Mali-land. She's getting ready for the next assignment—Managua, Nicaragua.

Besides laying in a year's supply of toiletries ("we've been told they're expensive and scarce there"), Dale's picking out a houseful of furniture (including water heater, freezer and air-conditioner) for a home that hasn't been found—much less rented, as yet.

But, she's not pacing her new rug in worry. She's long since achieved a state of "State Department adaptability."

TAKE HER life in Bamako, for example; it wasn't like Long Beach, her native city—but she not only lived in it, she liked it.

She found the people of Mali's capital "friendly and helpful" . . . became accustomed to the heat (it soars to 130 during part of the year) . . . even got used to lack of night life (no movies—only a couple of bars, where cokes cost $2 each) . . . and adjusted, after a time, to being from two to six months behind in current events (newspapers and magazines, hungrily awaited by the American colony, arrived by slow mail).

"The only thing I couldn't become accustomed to were the beggars—for the most part, ravaged leper victims."

IN ALL, according to Dale, life was slower-paced and, in some ways, more luxurious than here.

"Our home (rented by the government for $900 a month) was spacious and airy. We had two servants (a house boy and cook) and use of the Embassy swimming pool.

"We entertained often. It IS true what they say about State Department people—we do party a lot.

"But what State siders don't note is the hours we put in. I worked a seven-day week, up to 10 hours a day.

"I regret, only, that the time on the job kept me from learning more of the country itself—from studying the native language and meeting more of its people."

ACCORDING TO DALE, a graduate of St. Anthony's High and Long Beach City College, the majority of the Malis are Moslems, who live in mud huts (all other housing is very expensive) and exist on a diet of rice and vegetables.

"There's much yet to be accomplished where education and agriculture are concerned," she notes. "But progress is being made."

Did she see signs of the Chinese infiltration we've been hearing about?

"Unfortunately—yes," she says. "Mali isn't a rich country. The main export is peanuts (literally), but the Red Chinese seem to be interested.

"You see them everywhere. They live, unlike we did, native-style in mud huts.

"They worry me.

"I wish they weren't there."

WHEN A WOMAN HAS FIVE O'CLOCK SHADOW... IT'S LATER THAN SHE THINKS!

Los Angeles — If you are among the 4-out-of-5 women who suffer the embarrassment of superfluous hair, you can throw away your tweezers, razors and depilatories. Now, with the electronic development of the Kree Dermatron Method, hair can be removed permanently and safely, from the face, arms and legs.

"Our customers are thrilled with this new gentle electrolysis system — and with their new hair-free loveliness," said a Kree technician at May Company where the method is offered. And the technician reports, the new bare look in fashions is causing concern with excess hair on other body areas where Kree is equally effective.

Trained Kree technicians are staffed at May Co. Beauty Salons. To those interested in learning more about this revolutionary electrolysis, consultations are offered without obligation. Phone for an appointment: Lakewood, ME 3-0111, Ext. 342, and find out how to get rid of five o'clock shadow forever.

American Primitives Exhibit Is 'Vacation'

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

American Primitive Paintings, presented by the Fine Arts Patrons of Newport Harbor, continues at the Pavilion Gallery, 400 Main St., Balboa, through Feb. 28. Viewing hours are 1 to 5 p.m., Wednesdays through Sundays.

The works are vitally interesting, and fun besides; they are humorous, sharp, engaging, expressive and decorative. As Dr. Thomas Leavitt, who spoke at the opening, put it, "This Show is a vacation." The previous undertakings of the Patrons, a lively volunteer group, have been works of the contemporary avant garde.

• • • • •

PRIMITIVE painters are innocent of the long traditions of Western painting. Many of these works derive from drawings. The custom in the 18th century for itinerate portrait painters to travel with a stock of canvases completed except for faces, then adding those of sitters, results in some arresting effects. The faces are expressive and characterful.

There are a number of works showing daily life in the early West: "Three-Fingered Jack" by Diez, 1875, is shown robbing and shooting two coolies. Nearby is a dynamic action "shot" of "Stagecoach Attacked by Indians," 1870, by T. R. Davis. There's a great "End of the Oregon Trail," 1846, and several views of Cliff House, San Francisco.

• • • • •

SOME OF the primitives are contemporary — an engaging "Bringing in the Yule Log" by Grandma Moses, and a marvelous "Early Drugstore" painted in 1954 by Streeter Blair, among others.

We were charmed to find portraits of five members of a New England ancestor's family done in 1831. Everyone will find ways in which he relates to this show, for primitive painting is an important part of the great American heritage. There are some furnishings, accessories, and wood carvings. This exhibit is highly recommended for all members of the family.

'Suzie' in Final Week in Anaheim

"The World of Suzie Wong," starring Nobu McCarthy, John Smith and Howard Morton opens its final week today at Melodyland, Anaheim.

Next attraction in the winter play series will be "Harvey," starring Joe E. Brown.

Monday night, Feb. 15, "Shindig '65" will play a one night only return date. The lively, tuneful, teen-age show played to a capacity audience at the theater-in-the-round a few weeks ago. Stars will include Gary Lewis and the Playboys, Donna Loren, Dobbie Gray, Ginger Blake, Guy Apollo and The Delicates. The twisting Shindig '65 Dancers and the Shindig '65 Band will complete the show.

Tickets at $2, $3, and $4 are on sale at the box office and all Southland agencies.

CSLB Musicians to Play at LBCC

The Symphonic Wind Ensemble and Concert Band of California State College, Long Beach, will move to Long Beach City College Auditorium next Sunday to play a concert at 4 p.m.

Although there is no charge for admission, ticket holders will be admitted at 3:30 p.m. and will have first choice of seats. Doors will open to the public at 3:50 o'clock. For tickets, phone or write to the music department at the college.

Musical Arts

Musical Arts Club will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. for dinner and a program in the Starlight Room of Lafayette Hotel. Lucille Wilkey, president, will officiate.

Lyric Opera to Debut

A brand new musical venture will be launched in Long Beach Saturday when Lyric Opera Co. makes its first appearance at 8:30 p.m. with "An Evening of Grand Opera" in Ebell Theater, Third Street and Cerritos Avenue.

The concert of opera excerpts is a prelude and fund-raising event for the new company's first full opera production of "La Forza del Destino" which will take place March 6 in the same theater.

Lyric Opera Co. brings together many people who believe there is a flourishing future for grand opera in Long Beach.

• • • • •

SAYS HENRI SCANLON, Lyric's technical director, "It is our intention to bring to the music-loving public full productions of the world's great operatic works performed by professional artists."

Wayne Gard, director of choral organizations at Long Beach City College, is musical director and William Cousins, formerly of the Philadelphia Academy of Music and a baritone with the Philadelphia La Scala Opera, is director.

Performers for the premiere concert Saturday will be Clayton E. Ivey, tenor; Gary R. Murphy, baritone; and Carole Powell, soprano. Dr. Dean Verheinz will accompany.

• • • • •

ALL THREE vocalists also will have leading roles in the Verdi opera March 6 as will Anastasia Terzi-Mugerian, soprano; Albert Hendrix, bass; and Ewing Mitchell, bass.

Saturday's program will consist of excerpts from "Don Carlo," "Andrea Chenier," "Masked Ball," "Herodiade," "La Boheme," "Tosca," "La Traviata," and "Pagliacci," all sung in their original languages.

• • • • •

SEATS for the concert are $2.50, $2, $1.50 and, for students, $1. Opera prices are $4, $3.50, $2.50, and, for students, $2. Checks should be made payable to Long Beach Lyric Opera, 1342 Roycroft Ave., Long Beach 90804. Further ticket information may be obtained by phoning Mrs. Mabel N. Gage, 3214 Del Mar Ave.

Student Auditions Set Feb. 28

Woman's Music Club will hold auditions for its Student Musicians Scholarship Competition Feb. 28 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the music building of California State College, Long Beach.

Contestants must be students of music living within the Long Beach area or pupils of Long Beach teachers.

There will be three categories — strings, piano and voice. Age limit for strings and piano contestants is 14 to 18 and for vocalists 17 to 22.

• • • • •

PIANO and strings auditions are slated at 9 a.m. Voice auditions will begin at 1 p.m. Each of the three categories is limited to 20 contestants; there will be three judges in each category.

Application blanks may be obtained from Mrs. Merton B. Smith, 3950 Falcon Ave. or from Mrs. Candace M. Smith, 3845 Cedar Ave.

A $100 scholarship will be given to first place winners. Second place winners will receive trophies.

LBMA Opens New Shows

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Two exhibits open today at Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., and will run concurrently through Feb. 28. They are "Paintings by Edward Reep" and "College Faculty Exhibition."

Reep is chairman of the painting department at Chouinard Art School, Los Angeles, and is represented by the Paul Rivas Gallery. This show includes his work from 1937 to 1964 and is not intended as a retrospective display.

Morris H. Ruger —Staff Photo

Ruger to Present New Compositions

A concert which promises to be of unusual interest is scheduled Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Little Theater of California State College, Long Beach.

The program will consist of new compositions by Morris H. Ruger, member of the college music faculty, and will be performed by outstanding local musicians.

Ruger is an indefatigable composer. Among his more important works are a symphony, a string quartet, two quartets for piano and strings, 30 art songs, choral works, three operas and a folk opera. His opera "Gettysburg" had its premiere in Hollywood Bowl and the folk opera "Mike Fink" was first produced in Long Long Beach City College Auditorium in 1963.

• • • • •

DORIS HENRY, flutist, and Frank Ahrold, pianist, will perform "Sonata for Flute and Piano." The work is dedicated to Ahrold.

James Herley, widely known for his efforts in behalf of the cultural arts in Long Beach, and a fine musician in his own right, has consented for the first time in many years to appear as a piano soloist. He will play "Sonata for Piano No. II."

Ahrold and Dr. Bertram McGarrity, pianist, will be heard in "Sonatina for Clarinet and Piano." Dr. McGarrity is professor of music at the college.

• • • •

SAYS RUGER, "Dr. McGarrity is, without doubt, one of the outstanding clarinet players in the world today. Shortly after the death of Bela Bartok in 1945, a memorial concert of his works was given in New York. McGarrity was chosen as clarinet soloist on that occasion.

"During the past two years, his duties at the college have greatly limited his appearances as a solo performer. I am delighted and flattered that he has consented to give the first public performance of my sonatina. I am dedicating this work to him."

• • • • •

H. ROBERT Reynolds will direct the CSLB Brass Ensemble in "Suite for Nine Brass Instruments."

Pianist Carol Griswold will sing "Three Songs for Mezzo-Soprano."

Bass trombonist Jeffrey Reynolds will perform a work written for him, "Paul Bunyan," a fantasy for bass trombone, piano and string quartet. Other musicians will be Gordon Marron, Don Kramer, Steve Pearson, Barbara Hunter and Judy Townsend.

• • • • •

FRANK POOLER will conduct "Meeting at Night —Parting at Morning," for which Dennis Mangers and Robert McCandless will be vocalists. Musicians will be Vernon Reichert, Fred Peters, Thomas Greer, Gordon Marron, Don Kramer, Steven Pearson and Barbara Hunter.

The concluding number will be "Some Things Will Never Change," written for soprano soloist, piano and chorus. Pooler will direct the college A Capella Choir. Jan Groh will be soloist and Richard Carpenter pianist.

Admission to the concert is free.

The museum is open weekdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. It is closed Mondays. There is no admission charge.

Tuesday, Elsa Warner will continue the series of free art lectures sponsored by the museum and the American Association of University Women. The public is invited.

Coffee and refreshments will be served at 10:15 a.m. and at 10:30 Miss Warner will begin her two-part talk on "Landscape-Inscape: The Spiritual Realities in Art," and "Painting as Revealed by the Chinese."

Miss Warner, widely known as an artist, teacher and lecturer, is former head of the art department at Polytechnic High School.

• • • •

BONNIE JEAN MALCOLM, Downey artist and designer, won a cash award in the "Media '65 Crafts Show" which is on display through February in Walnut Creek. The 11-states, juried show is sponsored by the city's art commission.

Miss Malcoln teaches ceramics at Barnsdall Arts and Crafts Center in Los Angeles and teaches art at Long Beach City College liberal arts division. One of her sculptures recently was purchased from Long Beach Art Association Gallery by actor Jack Palance.

• • • •

DOROTHY MARSHALL, Long Beach City College art student, has an exhibit of caseins, collages, oils and ink drawings at Dana Branch Library, 3680 Atlantic Ave. She has studied in local schools and colleges and with Robert Adams, Elsa Warner, Dr. Eugene Wallin, Dr. Bela Biro and Wilbur Broderick.

Also on display at Dana are paintings by Mrs. Marshall's daughter, Michele, a student at Polytechnic High School, and by her son, George, a Hughes Junior High School student. The show will hang through Feb. 27.

American Primitives Exhibit Is 'Vacation'

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

American Primitive Paintings, presented by the Fine Arts Patrons of Newport Harbor, continues at the Pavilion Gallery, 400 Main St., Balboa, through Feb. 28. Viewing hours are 1 to 5 p.m., Wednesdays through Sundays.

The works are vitally interesting, and fun besides; they are humorous, sharp, engaging, expressive and decorative. As Dr. Thomas Leavitt, who spoke at the opening, put it, "This show is a vacation." The previous undertakings of the Patrons, a lively volunteer group, have been works of the contemporary avant garde.

PRIMITIVE painters are innocent of the long traditions of Western painting. Many of these works derive from drawings. The custom in the 18th century for itinerate portrait painters to travel with a stock of canvases completed except for faces, then adding those of sitters, results in some arresting effects. The faces are expressive and characterful.

There are a number of works showing daily life in the early West: "Three-Fingered Jack" by Diez, 1875, is shown robbing and shooting two coolies. Nearby is a dynamic action "shot" of "Stagecoach Attacked by Indians," 1870, by T. R. Davis. There's a great "End of the Oregon Trail," 1846, and several views of Cliff House, San Francisco.

SOME OF the primitives are contemporary — an engaging "Bringing in the Yule Log" by Grandma Moses, and a marvelous "Early Drugstore" painted in 1954 by Streeter Blair, among others.

We were charmed to find portraits of five members of a New England ancestor's family done in 1831. Everyone will find ways in which he relates to this show, for primitive painting is an important part of the great American heritage. There are some furnishings, accessories, and wood carvings. This exhibit is highly recommended for all members of the family.

WHEN A WOMAN HAS FIVE O'CLOCK SHADOW... IT'S LATER THAN SHE THINKS!

Los Angeles — If you are among the 4-out-of-5 women who suffer the embarrassment of superfluous hair, you can throw away your tweezers, razors and depilatories. Now, with the electronic development of the Kree Dermatron Method, hair can be removed permanently and safely, from the face, arms and legs.

"Our customers are thrilled with this new gentle electrolysis system — and with their new hair-free loveliness," said a Kree technician at May Company where the method is offered. And, the technician reports, the new bare look in fashions is causing concern with excess hair on other body areas where Kree is equally effective.

Trained Kree technicians are staffed at May Co. Beauty Salons. To those interested in learning more about this revolutionary electrolysis, consultations are offered without obligation. Phone for an appointment: Lakewood, ME 3-0111, Ext. 342, and find out how to get rid of five o'clock shadow forever.

'Suzie' in Final Week in Anaheim

"The World of Suzie Wong," starring Nobu McCarthy, John Smith and Howard Morton opens its final week today at Melodyland, Anaheim.

Next attraction in the winter play series will be "Harvey," starring Joe E. Brown.

Monday night, Feb. 15, "Shindig '65" will play a one night only return date. The lively, tuneful, teen-age show played to a capacity audience at the theater-in-the-round a few weeks ago. Stars will include Gary Lewis and the Playboys, Donna Loren, Dobbie Gray, Ginger Blake, Guy Apollo and The Delicates. The twisting Shindig '65 Dancers and the Shindig '65 Band will complete the show.

Tickets at $2, $3, and $4 are on sale at the box office and all Southland agencies.

CSLB Musicians to Play at LBCC

The Symphonic Wind Ensemble and Concert Band of California State College, Long Beach, will move to Long Beach City College Auditorium next Sunday to play a concert at 4 p.m.

Although there is no charge for admission, ticket holders will be admitted at 3:30 p.m. and will have first choice of seats. Doors will open to the public at 3:50 o'clock. For tickets, phone or write to the music department at the college.

Musical Arts

Musical Arts Club will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. for dinner and a program in the Starlight Room of Lafayette Hotel. Lucille Wilkey, president, will officiate.

Lyric Opera to Debut

A brand new musical venture will be launched in Long Beach Saturday when Lyric Opera Co. makes its first appearance at 8:30 p.m. with "An Evening of Grand Opera" in Ebell Theater, Third Street and Cerritos Avenue.

The concert of opera excerpts is a prelude and fund-raising event for the new company's first full opera production of "La Forza del Destino" which will take place March 6 in the same theater.

Lyric Opera Co. brings together many people who believe there is a flourishing future for grand opera in Long Beach.

* * * *

SAYS HENRI SCANLON, Lyric's technical director, "It is our intention to bring to the music-loving public full productions of the world's great operatic works performed by professional artists."

Wayne Gard, director of choral organizations at Long Beach City College, is musical director and William Cousins, formerly of the Philadelphia Academy of Music and a baritone with the Philadelphia La Scala Opera, is director.

Performers for the premiere concert Saturday will be Clayton F. Ivey, tenor; Gary R. Murphy, baritone; and Carole Powell, soprano. Dr. Dean Verheinz will accompany.

* * * *

ALL THREE vocalists also will have leading roles in the Verdi opera March 6 as will Anastasia Terzi-Mugerian, soprano; Albert Hendrix, bass; and Ewing Mitchell, bass.

Saturday's program will consist of excerpts from "Don Carlo," "Andrea Chenier," "Masked Ball," "Herodiade," "La Boheme," "Tosca," "La Traviata," and "Pagliacci," all sung in their original languages.

* * * *

SEATS for the concert are $2.50, $2, $1.50 and, for students, $1. Opera prices are $4, $3.50, $2.50, and, for students, $2. Checks should be made payable to Long Beach Lyric Opera, 1342 Roycroft Ave., Long Beach 90804. Further ticket information may be obtained by phoning Mrs. Mabel N. Gage, 3214 Del Mar Ave.

Student Auditions Set Feb. 28

Woman's Music Club will hold auditions for its Student Musicians Scholarship Competition Feb. 28 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the music building of California State College, Long Beach.

Contestants must be students of music living within the Long Beach area or pupils of Long Beach teachers.

There will be three categories — strings, piano and voice. Age limit for strings and piano contestants is 14 to 18 and for vocalists 17 to 22.

* * * *

PIANO and strings auditions are slated at 9 a.m. Voice auditions will begin at 1 p.m. Each of the three categories is limited to 20 contestants; there will be three judges in each category.

Application blanks may be obtained from Mrs. Merton B. Smith, 3980 Falcon Ave. or from Mrs. Candace M. Smith, 3845 Cedar Ave.

A $100 scholarship will be given to first place winners. Second place winners will receive trophies.

LBMA Opens New Shows

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Two exhibits open today at Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., and will run concurrently through Feb. 28. They are "Paintings by Edward Reep" and "College Faculty Exhibition."

Reep is chairman of the painting department at Chouinard Art School, Los Angeles, and is represented by the Paul Rivas Gallery. This show includes his work from 1957 to 1964 and is not intended as a retrospective display.

Reep came to California in 1921. An artist-correspondent in Africa and Europe during World War II, he has been painting and teaching in Southern California since he returned in 1945.

The "College Faculty Exhibition" includes work by the members of the art faculties of Long Beach City College and California State College at Long Beach. Sculpture, ceramics, collages, paintings and graphics are on display.

The museum is open weekdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. It is closed Mondays. There is no admission charge.

Tuesday, Elsa Warner will continue the series of free art lectures sponsored by the museum and the American Association of University Women. The public is invited.

Coffee and refreshments will be served at 10:15 a.m. and at 10:30 Miss Warner will begin her two-part talk on "Landscape-Inscape: The Spiritual Realities in Art," and "Painting as Revealed by the Chinese."

Miss Warner, widely known as an artist, teacher and lecturer, is former head of the art department at Polytechnic High School.

* * * *

BONNIE JEAN MALCOLM, Downey artist and designer, won a cash award in the "Media '65 Crafts Show" which is on display through February in Walnut Creek. The 11-states, juried show is sponsored by the city's art commission.

Miss Malcolm teaches ceramics at Barnsdall Arts and Crafts Center in Los Angeles and teaches art at Long Beach City College liberal arts division. One of her sculptures recently was purchased from Long Beach Art Association Gallery by actor Jack Palance.

* * * *

DOROTHY MARSHALL, Long Beach City College art student, has an exhibit of caseins, collages, oils and ink drawings at Dana Branch Library, 3680 Atlantic Ave. She has studied in local schools and colleges and with Robert Adams, Elsa Warner, Dr. Eugene Wallin, Dr. Bela Biro and Wilbur Broderick.

Also on display at Dana are paintings by Mrs. Marshall's daughter, Michele, a student at Polytechnic High School, and by her son, George, a Hughes Junior High School student. The show will hang through Feb. 27.

Ruger to Present New Compositions

A concert which promises to be of unusual interest is scheduled Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Little Theater of California State College, Long Beach.

The program will consist of new compositions by Morris H. Ruger, member of the college music faculty, and will be performed by outstanding local musicians.

Ruger is an indefatigable composer. Among his more important works are a symphony, a string quartet, two quartets for piano and strings, 30 art songs, choral works, three operas and a folk opera. His opera "Gettysburg" had its premiere in Hollywood Bowl and the folk opera "Mike Fink" was first produced in Long Beach City College Auditorium in 1963.

* * * *

DORIS HENRY, flutist, and Frank Ahrold, pianist, will perform "Sonata for Flute and Piano." The work is dedicated to Ahrold.

James Herley, widely known for his efforts in behalf of the cultural arts in Long Beach, and a fine musician in his own right, has consented for the first time in many years to appear as a piano soloist. He will play "Sonata for Piano No. II."

Ahrold and Dr. Bertram McGarrity, pianist, will be heard in "Sonatina for Clarinet and Piano." Dr. McGarrity is professor of music at the college.

* * * *

SAYS RUGER, "Dr. McGarrity is, without doubt, one of the outstanding clarinet players in the world today. Shortly after the death of Bela Bartok in 1945, a memorial concert of his works was given in New York. McGarrity was chosen as clarinet soloist on that occasion.

"During the past two years, his duties at the college have greatly limited his appearances as a solo performer. I am delighted and flattered that he has consented to give the first public performance of my sonatina. I am dedicating this work to him."

* * * *

H. ROBERT Reynolds will direct the CSLB Brass Ensemble in "Suite for Nine Brass Instruments."

Pianist Carol Griswold will sing "Three Songs for Mezzo-Soprano."

Bass trombonist Jeffrey Reynolds will perform a work written for him, "Paul Bunyan," a fantasy for bass trombone, piano and string quartet. Other musicians will be Gordon Marron, Don Kramer, Steve Pearson, Barbara Hunter and Judy Townsend.

* * * *

FRANK POOLER will conduct "Meeting at Night —Parting at Morning," for which Dennis Mangers and Robert McCandless will be vocalists. Musicians will be Vernon Reichert, Fred Peters, Thomas Greer, Gordon Marron, Don Kramer, Steven Pearson and Barbara Hunter.

The concluding number will be "Some Things Will Never Change," written for soprano soloist, piano and chorus. Pooler will direct the college A Capella Choir. Jan Groh will be soloist and Richard Carpenter pianist.

Admission to the concert is free.

Head for the Hills

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister is married to a man who most people find very hard to take. He is well-read, but has a very big mouth and loves to argue. It is impossible for anyone to have a friendly conversation with him around. Three years ago they moved a few blocks from us and now, whenever we have company, "Big Mouth" barges in and takes over the conversation and turns it into an argument. That's bad enough, but now a bigger problem has come up:

ABBY

We recently purchased a lake lot and were very excited about building on it until we found out that THEY had bought the lot right next to ours. How can we get out of this trap with the least amount of hard feelings? His wife is a nice person, but that doesn't help matters any.—TOO CLOSE.

DEAR TOO CLOSE: If your husband can't persuade his sister not to build on the lake lot next to yours, have him tell "Big Mouth" to go jump in the lake, and you head for higher ground.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Does a man who has never been married have the right to ask a divorcee what "killed" her marriage? I am referring to my own situation. I am interested in courting a divorcee, but before I become too deeply involved with her I would like to know something about why her first marriage ended in divorce. Have I a right to know, or not?—BACHELOR AT 42.

DEAR BACHELOR: Yes, you have a right to know. But be aware that what she tells you will be only HER side of the story.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My mother and father were married 44 years. When my father died my mother got a big double grave and put a headstone up with his and her names on it. Then she remarried. She is 65 and her new husband is way up in his seventies. Last Sunday, when my husband and I went to the cemetery to put a wreath on my father's grave, I saw a new stone had been put up nearby. I couldn't believe my eyes. I said to my husband, "Drive back—I want to see that new stone." He drove back and I saw a brand new stone with the names of my mother and her new husband on it. Now, what about my poor father laying in that grave expecting my mother to join him some day? If something should happen to my mother's new husband, she would probably remarry again, and before you know it, she'd have her name all over the cemetery with half a dozen different guys. Just where does my mother belong when her time comes—DIGUSTED WITH MOTHER.

DEAR DIGUSTED: The choice is your mother's. But it would make sense for her to be laid beside the man who stood by her side for 44 years.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Even more stupid than the question, "Was this one planned?" is "What do you want, a boy or a girl?" I had two boys when I became pregnant with my third child, and I heard that question for six months. I assure you, I got very tired of it. We really didn't care whether we had a boy or a girl. All we wanted was a healthy, normal baby. I had a girl. The next stupid question started ringing in my ears. "Are you done now?" How do you answer a question like that? — EXASPERATED.

DEAR EXASPERAED: A question like that deserves to be ignored.

Clowns, Hearts and Children

Patients of the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, Los Angeles Unit, will enter the magical world of the clown during a Valentine's party Saturday, sponsored by Merrett Temple 103, Daughters of the Nile.

The children, who are undergoing treatment for birth defects and crippling diseases, will be entertained by clowns from El Bekal Temple during 2 p.m. party. Valentine favors, being prepared by Mrs. Joecile Finkle (above), chairman of the annual event, will be given to the 60 children. Mrs. Deborah Compton (left) gives an approving smile as Arthur Doty puts on clown makeup for the party.

Rankin's Studio to Give Dance Revue Monday

Marian Rankin's dance studio will be featured at the Community Program, 8 p.m., Monday in Municipal Auditorium.

Tap, ballet and ballroom numbers will be performed.

The free public program, offered weekly by the Recreation Department, will be preceded by a half-hour community sing led by Carl R. Robertson with Regenia Beam, accompanist.

The Tyo Orchestra will play for old-time and square dancing following the stage performance.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Blueprint for Cooking Up a Chicken

By MILDRED K. FLANARY

The dream, and hope of his childhood—which was never fulfilled—is now buried beneath tons of cement, stone and marble. And it's all part of his own doing. Today's Chef of the Week, Kenneth S. Wing Jr., is a member of "Wing 'N Wing," the firm of architects who designed Long Beach Arena.

His childhood dream?? To ride on the electric boat around the Lagoon.

A native of Long Beach, he studied his way through Longfellow Elementary, Franklin Junior and Poly High Schools before enrolling in the USC School of Architecture. There he "did" five years, earning a masters degree. While officially associated with his dad, "Chef" Kenneth S. Wing Sr., for only 10 years, he actually started fussing around the office at age nine.

THE YEAR 1953 will always be a memorable one for Wing. During that 365-day period, he graduated from college, married the former Beverly Nyman and went into the Army. The first two were by choice, of course. The Army assigned him to the Signal Corps.

Beverly and Ken (she's a graduate nurse and this year's Rick Racker chairman) have a family of three—Linda, 8, Paul, 6, and Daisy, the basset hound.

A seven-year Kiwanian, Wing serves on the board of directors of the International Beauty Congress and on the 49'ers Booster Club. He is a member of the Hospital Planning Commission of Southern California, a volunteers organization which approves hospitals, and the American Institute of Architects.

WING IS KNOWN as a "hobby" man with a wonderful sense of humor. He collects coins and stamps . . . pots plants for his greenhouse . . . builds model ships . . . indulges himself with a work bench, but wouldn't know which end of a paint brush to hold. He's never been asked to mow the lawn—and for a good reason. He never gives it a chance to need mowing.

To him a bathtub has two purposes—one for developing pictures, the other for taking a bath. The pictures take precedence, we're told.

Our "chef" loves to cook—but he talks himself into eating his vegetables, and passing up the whipped cream.

They have more than one bath.

His favorite recipe is for Savory Chicken.

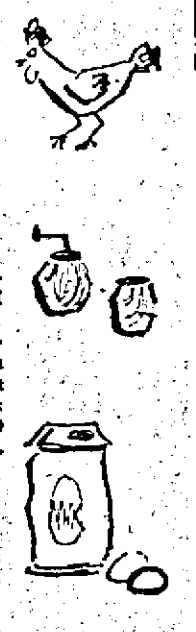

Kenneth S. Wing Jr.

SAVORY CHICKEN

1 fresh egg
½ tsp. cracked black pepper
½ cup milk
2 cups cornflake crumbs
¼ tsp. garlic powder
2 tsp. Beau Monde seasoning
1 tsp. finely shredded green onion tops
¼ cup melted butter
6 or 8 BONED chicken breasts.

Combine cornflake crumbs, garlic powder, Beau Monde seasoning and shredded green onions. Beat together egg, milk and cracked pepper. Dip boned breasts in egg-milk mixture and then thoroughly coat with seasoned cornflake crumbs. Arrange chicken in shallow baking dish and drench with melted butter. Bake in a 400° oven for 50 minutes or until chicken is done and brown.

Belles and Beaux Are Betrothed

Tarwater-Campbell

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Tarwater of Long Beach announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Shirley Anne, to Robert James Campbell, son of Mrs. Amanda Embree, Arcadia.

Miss Tarwater, a graduate of Jordan High School and UC at Santa Barbara, teaches in the public schools at Pico Rivera. Her fiance, a graduate of Citrus College, recently returned from service with the U.S. Army in Germany.

A June 25 wedding is planned.

Paul-Young

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Smith of Long Beach announce the engagement of her daughter, Susan Paul, to Kenneth Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bowles, also of Long Beach.

The bride-elect, recently returned from Hawaii, was graduated from Banning High School and attended Long Beach City College. Her father is the late Francis A. Paul.

An early spring wedding is being planned.

Minx-Soper

The engagement of Chloe Shiela Minx to Douglas Paul Soper has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle K. Annis of Long Beach. The groom-elect is son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Soper, Huntington Park.

Miss Minx, a graduate of Poly High School, was graduated from Long Beach City College and is now attending USC. Her fiance attended Arizona State College, where he was a member of Sigma Nu.

The couple will marry in July.

Travels with Delaplane

"Can we get a converter for an electric iron that will work in various European countries which, I understand, have different current than ours?"

I NEVER HEARD of such a converter. And anyway, it's cheaper and easier to buy an iron that converts from one current to another with a simple switch. GE makes one—and one with steam if you want it. Lightweight. Not expensive. Works over there and at home, too. Any place handling General Electric irons should have this one.

You will need a converter plug that plugs into the American style plug. They should have that, too. If you travel by ship, go down and ask the purser before you plug in anything. Ships seem to work on direct current (as opposed to house alternating current). And this is not what that switch is for.

Check in your first hotel in the country before you plug in. France is on 110 volt current—just like ours. England is on 220 volts.

* * * * *

AROUND ALL U. S. passport issuing offices in big cities, there are plenty of quickie picture places. But if you are in other cities—where you apply to the Clerk of a Federal Court—you have to depend on local photographers. You want two pictures. 2¼ by 2¼. Soft finish—what is called "mat finish."

They can be smiling. In color if you like. But head on. I get mine taken by a professional photographer. The quickies always look like a police mug shot. And since I have to see it for six years, I like to have something that doesn't depress me every time I open the book. Get a dozen extra prints. You sometimes need them for other identification. International Driver's License, etc.

* * * * *

"How much do you pay a travel agent for his services?"

YOU SHOULDN'T have to pay him anything. He is a retailer. Airlines pay him a percentage on your ticket. Hotels pay a percentage. So do ships and sightseeing tours and so on.

An exception is railroads. As big a company as American Express would not write me a railroad ticket simply because there is no percentage in it for them. However, if you are booking a lot of travel that does pay a percentage, then the agent will write in your railroad. The overall percentage making it worthwhile.

Just to forestall the anger of the travel agents—(who always seem to be mad at me)—I must add: SOME agents write the rail tickets as a matter of good will.

The advantage of the agent is you get a lot of personal service. A lot of hand-holding and advice. And it doesn't cost anything. There are good ones. Excellent ones. Mediocre ones. And some that couldn't book you on a local bus without blowing it.

* * * * *

"Is laundry and dry cleaning good and fast in European hotels?"

YES. One-day special usually costs double—like our hotels. Otherwise it takes two days. That's this side of the Iron Curtain. In Moscow my laundry took four days. The maid couldn't have cared less. A permanent Government employee.

Moscow-based correspondents advised me not to have clothes cleaned. They say the Russian cleaners take the buttons off — and usually lose them. Very hard to buy buttons in the USSR. The American Embassy sends their cleaning over to Helsinki in Finland.

* * * * *

THE AAA estimates $275 for three weeks with 2450 miles of driving. Includes gasoline, garage costs, documents and insurance.

* * * * *

"Can you suggest the best way to buy a car that we want shipped home after driving it two months in Europe?"

I GET BRITISH Motor Corporation in the U. S. to set up the whole package for me since I like the MGB. For other foreign cars I'd do it through AAA.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Travel by the Book

If you have only one day, or two or three, to spend in the City by the Golden Gate, your cup of tea is "Herb Caen's San Francisco: The Guide to the City and the Bay Area Today," (Doubleday & Co., 277 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017, $3.50).

Revised and thoroughly updated, this thorough guide gives basic information on accommodations, night life, what to wear and when, shops and prices and excursions. Since San Francisco is a "dine out" city, Caen divides the restaurants into three categories: elegant, excellent but reasonably priced food, and unusual or entertaining.

Caen, a San Francisco newspaper columnist, becomes more and more trite with his time-worn jokes about Los Angeles. Just overlook them. His record has stuck. The rest of the book is both entertaining and informative.

Stop Winter Wrinkles

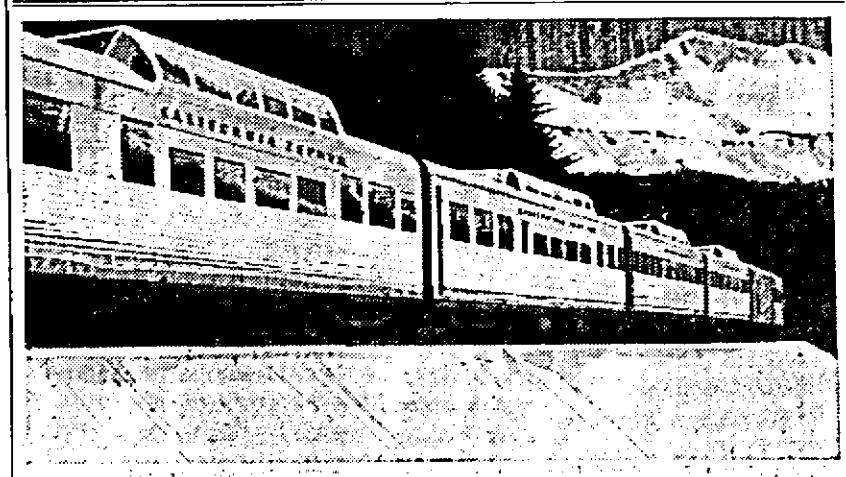

Use colder months to give your skin a lovely bloom, but guard against dry wrinkles caused by the cold air. Even mildly crisp air causes the skin to contract, preventing protective oils from reaching the surface. Ask your druggist for tropical oil of olay and before you make-up, smooth it over your face, neck and hands. You will be amazed how quickly this moist oil will give the skin a peaches-and-cream loveliness, especially on cold days.

Your druggist should be able to get you a supply.

Life in Bahamas Throbs to the Language of Drums

By Fred Taylor Kraft
L P-T Travel Editor

The language of the drum is the language of life in the Bahamas, that subtropical island paradise a short 30-minute air hop from Miami.

Even the palm trees sway to the infectious musical beat.

Are you serious about cereus? Wondering about wood roses? Partial to poincianas or nuts about candlenuts?

Then a new tour operating out of Waikiki should be just your ticket for the best of Honolulu's flora.

Called "Blossom Tours, Hawaii Ltd.," these leisurely three-hour flower and tree-spotting expeditions are shepherded by Bettie and Ray Lauchis, who keep daily tab on what's blooming best and where, all around the flower-flaming town.

This means they're up with the mynah birds to collect you at your Waikiki Beach hotel, load you in a sports-wagon limited to eight passengers and drive you to admire and photograph everything from rare orchids to odd octopus and cannonball trees.

STARTING out past the mahoganies on Kalakaua parkway, the tour rolls on to the "Valley of the Rainbows" in verdant Manoa. Here you see the classic Japanese garden at the East-West Center on the University of Hawaii campus. Also sausage trees, shower trees, monkeypods, hau arbors and scores of weird and wonderful plants and flowers.

Other stops, although your itinerary will be tailored to changing blossoms, include Queen Emma Museum Gardens, Waiakalulu Falls, Foster Botanic Gardens and Ala Moana Park. A private garden or two may be added whenever offering something special not elsewhere on tap.

• • • •

ALL IN ALL, the Lauchises provide a well-organized trek for the visitor who wants to learn about tropical plants painlessly. Both are knowledgeable about U.S. Mainland and Hawaiian gardening and can advise you how to grow Hawaiian plants at home.

The blossom tours begin at 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. five days a week. Price is $7.50 per person and advance reservations may be made by writing Blossom Tours Hawaii, Ltd. at 2170 Kuhio Ave., in Honolulu.

Date Festival Starts Feb. 12

Weekend gadders strike a desert bonanza Feb. 12-22 when the National Date Festival is held in the shadow of an Arabian palace with harem quarters, minaret and beggar's gate, at Indio.

Jockeys in flowing Arabian robes race camels and others in sulkies race ostriches during the 1 p.m. daily horse show. In the palace will be held the nightly Arabian Nights Pageant given by 150 costumed Indio residents.

Indio is in the center of the Coachella Valley, known as the "Arabia of America" because it raises 90 per cent of the dates grown in this country. Best of the date harvest will be exhibited at the festival.

Mardi Gras Tour Slated

Southern California Seniors Travel Club will conduct a 25-day trip to the New Orleans Mardi Gras and to Florida by chartered bus, leaving Los Angeles Feb. 22 and returning March 19.

Several special lecturer-guided sightseeing tours are planned, coming and going, including Old Santa Fe and the Taos Indian pueblos. Reservations and brochures are available from Grace C. Dehm, 840 Padilla St., San Gabriel.

Tahiti by Air

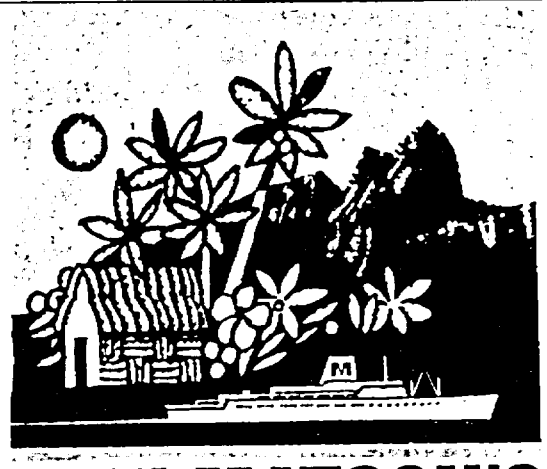

Tourists who are pressed for time can explore the reefs and gardens, peaks and jungles of Tahiti by air. Flightseeing tours of the islands leave from Faa's Airport in Papeete, which is now linked directly to the West Coast of the United States by Pan Am Jet Clipper.

An all-day flight around Tahiti via seaplane with a stopover for luncheon in Moorea costs about $42 all-inclusive.

Fan of Japan

The fan in Japan is not merely the flirtatious accessory of the geisha, reports Pan Am from Tokyo. The fan with a gold disk in the center against a red background, making it easily visible from a distance, was once used by Japanese generals to lead their men into battle. Today, the "gumbai" or war-fan is still used as a symbol of authority by referees at sumo wrestling matches. The manipulation of the fan with its long tassle is pageantry pleasing to the eye.

P&O-Orient announces
3 new "cherry blossom" tours of the Orient
(From 40 days, $1345—including all hotels, sightseeing and fares)

Take your pick of the spring P&O-Orient tours described below. They range in length from 6 to 12 weeks, and take you to some of the last unspoiled lands in the world. Your ship: P&O-Orient's 28,000-ton Oronsay—one of the "biggest bloomin' ships sailing the seven seas."

EACH of these fascinating new P&O-Orient tours begins the same way—with Oronsay's departure from Los Angeles for Yokohama on April 1.

Scan the different itineraries you can follow after you reach Japan, and decide which tour suits you best. Then clip coupon for a free, illustrated brochure with all the details.

P&O-Orient Tour 1. Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong. 40 days, from $1345 tourist, $1525 first class—hotels, sightseeing, all fares included.

First, you have five glorious days at sea on P&O-Orient's giant Oronsay—enjoying superb meals, relaxing on acres of sunswept open deck, meeting new friends from all over the world.

Your first port of call: Honolulu. You get a full day of sightseeing. Then, on to Japan for a tour of Tokyo, Nikko, Kamakura, Myanoshita, Kyoto and Nara. Fly to Hong Kong for a five-day shopping and sightseeing spree. You return to Tokyo by air and pick up another ship for the trip home via Hawaii. You arrive in San Francisco May 10.

P&O-Orient Tour 2. Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Philippines, Malaysia, Thailand, Taiwan. 51 days, from $1682 tourist, $1845 first class—hotels, sightseeing, all fares included.

You sail on Oronsay for Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Manila and Singapore—with complete sightseeing trips ashore at each port of call.

From Singapore you fly to Penang and Bangkok, then back to Hong Kong for another round of bargain-buying. From there, you'll visit Taiwan and Tokyo. In Japan you'll tour Nikko, Hakone, Nagoya, Kyoto and Takamatsu.

Flying home by way of Honolulu, you arrive in Los Angeles May 21.

P&O-Orient Tour 3. Orient and South Pacific: Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Philippines, Singapore, Australia. 85 days, from $1741 tourist class, $2210 first class—hotels, sightseeing, all fares included.

This tour lets you explore the Orient and cruise around the entire Australian continent.

You sail on Oronsay for Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Manila and Singapore. (You can take an optional air tour to Bangkok from here, if you like, for an additional $218.) You leave Singapore aboard P&O-Orient's Arcadia for a voyage through the sunny South Pacific. You sail around Australia, calling at Fremantle, Adelaide, Melbourne and Sydney.

From Sydney you sail north along the Great Barrier Reef and through the Celebes Sea for second calls at Manila, Hong Kong, Japan and Hawaii. (Hint: window-shop on the way out and do your buying on the way home.)

You're back in Los Angeles June 26 after the trip of a lifetime.

Life in Bahamas Throbs to the Language of Drums

By Fred Taylor Kraft
I. P-T Travel Editor

The language of the drum is the language of life in the Bahamas, that subtropical island paradise a short 30-minute air hop from Miami.

Even the palm trees sway to the infectious musical beat.

The bootblacks tap out rhythms on their portable boxes.

Take Nassau, the capital. Here, when the sun goes down, the beat becomes a crescendo mingled with a riot of chants, song and dancing.

Bahamian goombay, Jamaican and Trinidadian calypsos, American Dixieland, sophisticated jazz, Chicago barrelhouse, Spanish flamenco, South American ska, English and American folk tunes, Haitian canticles — all come wildly to life to make the posh hotels and night spots the swingingest dens on any man's island, on any planet.

ISLAND visitors have their favorite entertainers, and one of these is George Symonette, pianist-singer-composer. Symonette is all pro. Among his staples are such ditties as "Conch Ain't Got No Bone," "Spread Down Your Apron, Gal," "John B. Sail," "Lord Got Tomatoes," and "Little Old Nassau."

Another is Peanuts Taylor, one of the greatest goombay drummers of all time and a Bahamian who has toured widely to promote island tourism.

Other hot spots feature such big-time hotshots as The Montagu Three Plus One, The Ramblers, King Eric and His Knights, Harold Blanchert Trio, Tony Seymour and the Nightbeaters, the George Moxey Quartette, the Little Joe Quartette; and there are vocalist Andre Toussaint, guitarist Pete Gardner and pianist Willie Lightbourne.

OUR COVER

San Francisco's long identification with the Orient, both as a gateway for immigrants from the Far East and as the home of large colonies of Orientals, is to be further advanced in this respect. The new chapter is development of a Japanese Cultural and Trade Center in a modest neighborhood a mile and a half west of the city's central business district. To the estimated 10,000 residents of Japanese descent, the city is Soko, probably signifying "Rich Port." The redevelopment plan will give them—and Soko— new showplace in the tradition of Chinatown and Italianate North Beach with its Fisherman's Wharf. How this idea began and how it is developing into reality is told on Page 7 in "The City Known as Soko."

It's amazing how the human system can "take it" and survive and it's equally amazing how lucky some fortunate persons can be in dire circumstances —like being run over by a train and surviving, or being declared dead of electric shock and then reviving, or. . . . Well, the list is varied and interesting as "Death Goes on a Holiday." Watch for the details in next Sunday's Southland Magazine.

Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is fiberglass FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglass FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

Fiberglass brings to FLEXON its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

LICENSED and INSURED

Cal-Tex Improvements, Inc., is a state licensed Building Contractor. Most of the work now being done by Cal-Tex is in the greater Long Beach & Orange County area. For a Free Home Demonstration without obligation—or for your FREE brochure regarding FLEXON, call GA 3-8411. Also Long Beach Hdqtrs. for KENI-TEX and TEX-COTE.

Could Laws Cut Boat Deaths?

By Lou Jobst

EVERY six to eight hours somewhere in the United States someone is killed in a boating accident.

Each year between 1,450 and 1,600 Americans die in water transportation accidents, hundreds are injured and maimed and thousands of boats are damaged or lost.

In 1963, 81 persons were killed and 254 hurt in nearly 500 California boating accidents.

Even in a country long-inured to daily slaughter on its streets and highways, these are grim, shocking statistics.

The traffic fatality or injury, while deplorable, is still more-or-less defendable as a natural development of our mass dependence upon motorized transport.

THOSE WHO DIE in the wake of our boats are a pure sacrifice to the pursuit of pleasure.

The situation has set off a hue-and-cry across the land to "do something." In most instances, "something" is a demand for stricter regulation of boating, a development most boaters and boating groups have vowed to resist.

Many water safety experts, while alarmed with the overnight appearance of aquatic accidents as major national problem, are reluctant to call down en masse more governmental controls on boating.

These men argue there was "legislative lag" between the growth of mass boating and revised control to insure safety, and point out that many new laws including a Federal Safe Boating Act* have gone on the books in recent years.

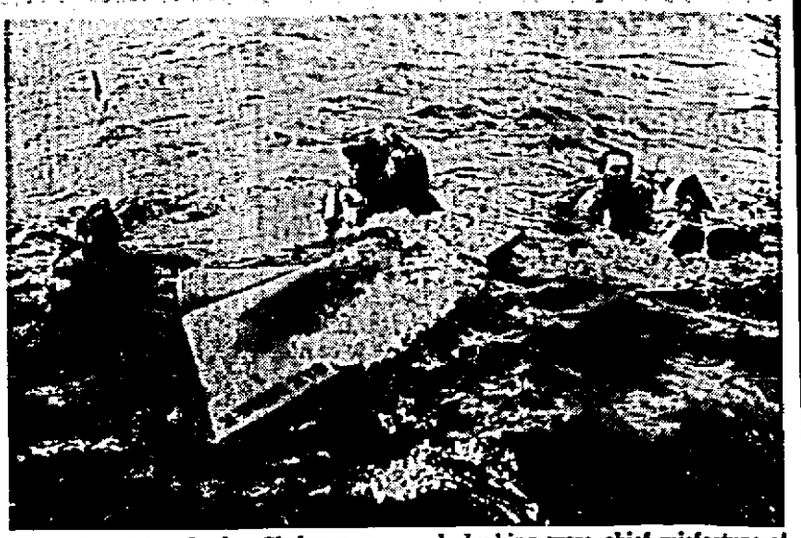

They also point out a marked downturn in boating accidents and deaths.

WHILE, according to U.S. Coast Guard figures, there was an increase of 112 fatalities in boating accidents in 1963 over 1962, there also were one million more persons and 210,000 more boats involved in the sport last year than 12 months earlier.

Insurance company statisticians—in enunciating the downtrend—report that 200 fewer persons were killed in the U.S. in water transport accidents in 1962 than in 1958.

There were 1,445 deaths in 1962 and 1,653 in 1958.

Four-fifths of the deaths in these mishaps can be attributed to drownings involving very small boats.

Four Who Were Lucky: Shaken nerves and dunking were chief misfortune of these boaters, rescued after hit-run sailboat upset their small craft.

Who Causes Accidents?

Who causes California boating accidents?

"Youthful boat operators tend to become involved in boating accidents more than twice as often as adult operators," says L. M. Richards, chief of the state division of Small Craft Harbors.

SMH conducted a recent six months study of all boat accidents to determine which age group was most responsible and learned—

Teen-agers, 12-to-18, led the nine age groups selected with a 1.9 per 1,000 persons involvement rate while persons 19-25 had a 1.6 per thousand. The rate dropped sharply to .7 for 26-32 and to .3 per thousand for 47-60.

And how, ask the experts, can you legislate to require every person who rides a boat to become a competent swimmer?

SOME OF THE other accident causes can be controlled by legislation such as overloading and speeding. Others such as speeding, wild maneuvering indicate a need for expanded law enforcement on the waterways.

More often-than-not climatic conditions, currents, weather and other "uncontrollable" factors contribute to accidents.

The insurance companies, the Coast Guard, the Coast Guard Auxiliary, the U.S. Power Squadron and countless private boating clubs agree the answers lie in boating and safety education.

Some selective legislation is needed, they add.

Regionally, this selective lawmaking might include regulations giving deep laden ships in marked channels the absolute right-of-way over small craft including sailboats, (presently a supertanker has to yield—although it can't — to a dinghy) and tighter controls over passenger-for-hire operations.

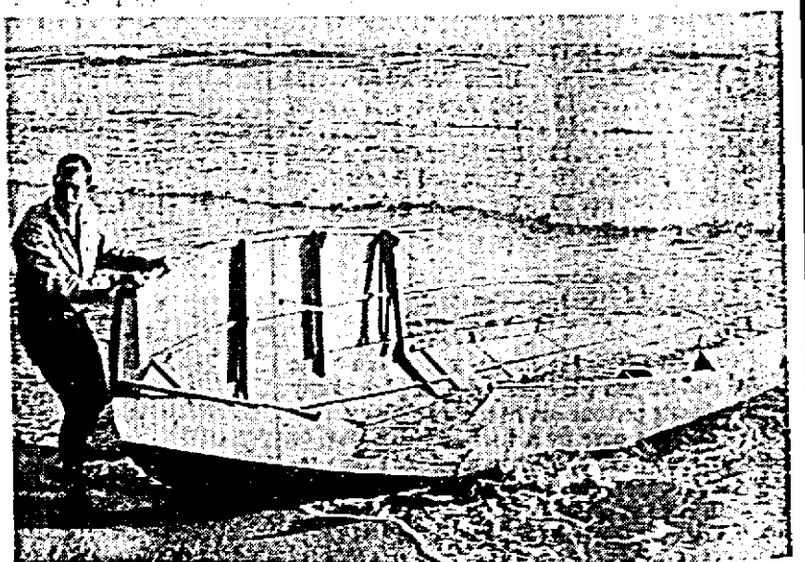

SOME ARGUE the state needs a better boat licensing system and propose something along the lines of that used by the Department of Motor Vehicles to certify automobile operators.

Opponents contend such a move is unnecessary and would be tantamount to creating a huge new government bureaucracy.

A middle road is taken by Lachlan Richards, chief of the California State division of Small Craft Harbors.

"I think," he says, "we should withhold judgments

Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is fiberglass FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglass FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

Fiberglass brings to FLEXON its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

Could Laws Cut Boat Deaths?

"STOP! His Excellency Gov. Jose Maria Echeandia forbids the unlawful marriage!"

That outburst interrupted the California wedding of a dark-eyed Mexican beauty and a blue-eyed Yankee sea captain on April 15, 1829. What followed proved that truth can be more romantic than fiction.

Henry Delano Fitch, "good, honorable, and by no means uncultured," was master of the "Maria Ester" when he met Josefa Carrillo in 1826. He quickly won the affection of the San Diego society belle, daughter of a retired soldier, Joaquin Carrillo. Her parents approved of the tall, ruddy mariner from New Bedford, Mass., but he was a foreigner and a Protestant.

In 1827, Fitch gave Josefa a written promise of marriage. The following year, he announced that he would seek Mexican citizenship. On April 14, 1829, he was baptized into the Catholic faith as Enrique Domingo Fitch at the San Diego Presidio chapel by Father Antonio Menendez, who agreed to marry the couple the next day.

THE CARRILLO mansion was crammed with excited guests. Henry and Josefa stood before an altar erected for the occasion. The service was in progress when Lt. Domingo Carrillo, the bride's uncle, who had served as Fitch's godfather the day before, halted the marriage.

A foreigner of that day was required to obtain the governor's permission before marrying a daughter of Mexico. Fitch, not yet a Mexican national, had not done this. Nor had he submitted the necessary documents proving that he was a Catholic. Ostensibly on religious grounds, but actually out of spite and jealousy, the governor forbade the marriage.

Fitch urged Father Menendez to complete the service, but he replied, "I dare not." He added that other countries were more liberal in their marriage laws.

ACCOUNTS of California's first recorded elopement differ in minor details. One chronicler says that the lady herself suggested to her captain that he carry her off. He did just that the following night.

Josefa Carrillo, a San Diego society belle, figured in elopement with a Yank sea captain.

Having apparently put to sea aboard the "Maria Ester" (or the "Vulture" under the command of a Capt. Barry) Fitch returned in a boat with four oarsmen and hid in the darkness behind a rock that later bore his name. About 11 p. m., Pio Pico, Josefa's cousin, who became California's last Mexican governor, swept her into the saddle before him and galloped off to Fitch's Rock. Gov. Echeandia sent soldiers in pursuit, but too late. In two hours the lovers were at sea. On July 3 they were wed in Valparaiso by the curate Orrego—though one version gives New York as their destination and the marriage city as Baltimore.

Japanese Tea Garden scene in the San Francisco Golden Gate Park.

San Francisco Gains 'Face'

The City Known as Soko

By MARGE BOOKER

EVERYONE knows about San Francisco's long-time affaire de coeur with the Far East. What everyone doesn't know is that a new chapter is in the making.

Torii, tempura, tansu, tatami—in fact, just about everything Japanese from bonsai trees to the game of goh—have long been a part of the San Francisco scene. Japanese wares are everywhere: in the department stores around Union Square, in the home furnishings houses of Jackson Square, in Gump's venerable Oriental department, in the import emporiums which dot the waterfront warehouse district and a majority of Chinatown's shops. Japanese restaurants are enjoying a boom, judging from the number of new ones. There are more than 30, ranging from a simple, neighborhood eating spots to exotically-appointed sukiyaki temples catering, for the most part, to stocking-footed Occidentals with highly original chopstick techniques. Japanese films are popular fare at local art theaters and at least two show nothing else. Two Japanese-language newspapers are published daily. The Japanese Tea Garden in Golden Gate Park, a San Francisco landmark since the Mid-Winter Exposition of 1894, delights visitors year-round and dazzles them in spring when its 200 flowering Japanese cherry trees put on their seasonal spectacular.

NOT SATISFIED with these and its many other Asian facets, San Francisco has seized upon a new opportunity to gain Far Eastern "face."

Soon, now, a shining white pagoda will rise in the midst of a once antiquated sector of the city. A five-acre showcase of Japanese customs, arts and trade goods will be its pedestal.

The Japanese Cultural and Trade Center originated in the minds of a handful of local Japanese community leaders a dozen or more years ago. The fairy godmother who crystallized their dream was the San Francisco Redevelopment Agency. Not with a magical gesture, but as the result of four years of energetically championing a dramatic and practical concept of a Japanese ethnic center for San Francisco, in San Francisco, Washington, D. C., and Japan. Ground-breaking started early in January. The $7 million project is expected to be completed in two years.

The area where the Center will go up has long been known as the Western Addition. A select residential district in the late 1800s, the quarter absorbed many of those dispossessed by the 1906 fire-quake. Crowding led to gradual deterioration and in 1949 the area was earmarked by the Redevelopment Agency for clearance and renewal.

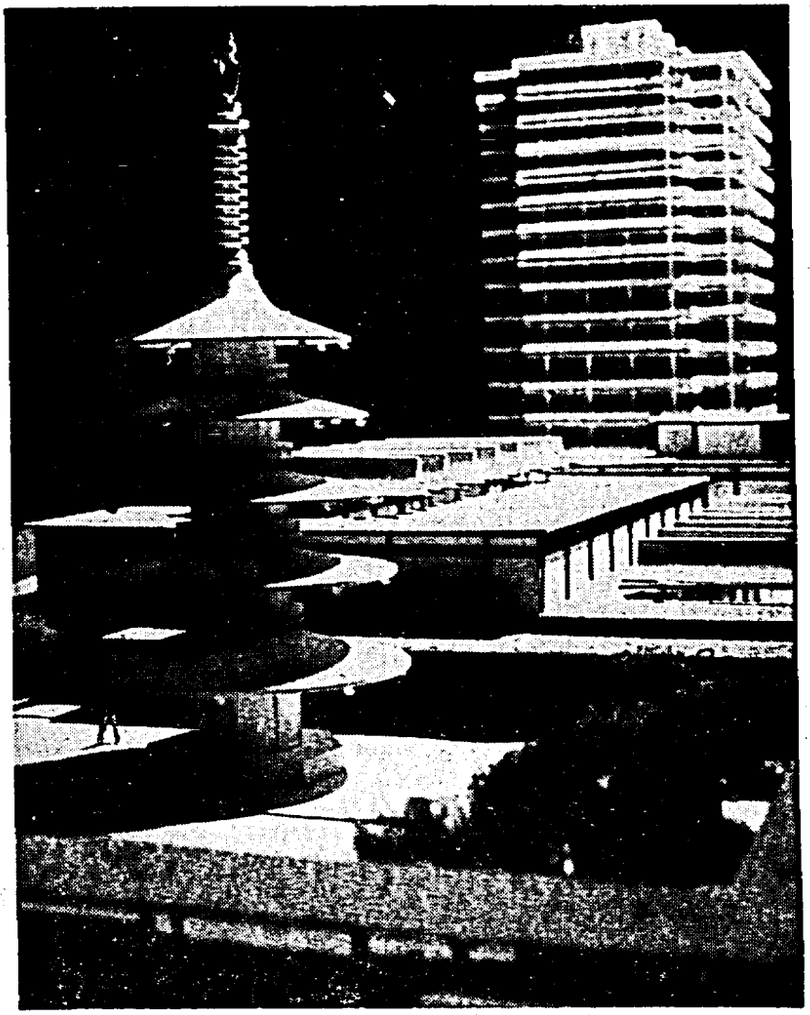

THERE WERE SOUND reasons for selecting the Western Addition as the site for the new Japanese Center. Japanese-Americans began gravitating to this modest neighborhood a mile and a half west of San Francisco's central business district in the early 1900s. Within 30 years the Japanese community there totaled 5,000. A Ginza burgeoned in the Post-Buchanan sector, with Japanese import shops, groceries, hardware stores, movie houses, meeting halls and home-style restaurants. It was thus that San Francisco—the port through which most Asian immigrants came to the United States and the city in which many settled permanently, creating America's biggest Chinatown—developed its own Nihon Machi.

For the businessmen of the Nihon Machi and the Japanese-Americans who, prior to 1941, leased and operated approximately 50% of Chinatown's shops, the outbreak of the war in the Pacific was an economic as well as emotional calamity. Six months after Pearl Harbor every one of San Francisco's isei, nisei and sansei had been rounded up and removed to "relocation centers" throughout the western states. The story has a happy ending, however, because they came back and are still coming back from the American Midwest and East, drawn, according to their predecessors, as much by the Bay Area's equable climate as by old ties here.

Today San Francisco has an estimated 10,000 residents of Japanese descent. To them the city is Soko. Ko means "port," but the prefix "so" is something of a puzzlement. Its most common meaning is "mulberry." Since mulberries and silk used to connote wealth to most Orientals, the best guess is that Soko stood for "Rich Port."

SAN FRANCISCO'S Nihon Machi stands stolidly poised on the brink of a half-completed $14 million redevelopment project encompassing 108 acres. To the south, east and west of the Japanese shopping district stretch blocks of new commercial, institutional and residential buildings, including Where's Drake's Gold?

By Bob and Jan Young

A FASCINATING mass of detective work has determined, at least to the satisfaction of the detectives, that Sir Francis Drake spent 36 days repairing his round-the-world ship "Golden Hinde" some 40 miles north of the Golden Gate in 1579.

The work is important historically because it tends to prove that the great buccaneer established the first English claim to the continent of North America eight years before the colonization of Roanoake, 28 years before Jamestown, and 41 years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

The detectives are members of the Drake Navigators Guild, based in the county of Marin, in Northern California's verdant Redwood Empire, and headed by Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz as honorary chairman.

AND THEIR research has new significance today because the spot where Drake careened the "Golden Hinde" nearly four centuries ago is part of a new National Seashore Park. A bill to create this park passed Congress in 1962 with the blessing of Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall.

View of Drake's Bay. Research has shown that the sandy "estero" is subject to tides and currents that could have filled in the waterway but area could well have been the "fit Harborough" described by Drake's scribe.

For almost as many centuries historians have speculated on just where England's greatest sea captain stopped to clean, caulk and pitch his ship on the California coast between June 17 and July 23, 1579. Though Drake's log has been lost, his scribe, Francis Fletcher, reported that a "convenient and fit harborough" gave haven to the tiny craft, then a year and a half out of Plymouth and heavy laden with gold and jewels captured in fierce fights with Spanish treasure galleons off Peru and Panama.

There are clues that 40 tons of valuables were buried here:

WHILE DRAKE directed the reprovisioning and repairs to his ship, Fletcher jotted notes which provided tantalizing clues to the harbor's location. The captain, he said, decided to call the land "New Albion," partly because of white cliffs which resembled those around Dover. And he claimed the "New England" for Queen Elizabeth I by nailing to "a great firme post" a "plate of brasse" bearing the date and suitable inscription; and bearing as insert an English sixpence.

The sea-worn sailors admired the "goodly country and rich soyle," he added.

Indians were contacted, who thought the white men were gods. Great herds of fat deer, squirrels and other game were observed. Fletcher also described the trees and plants with care. Finally, after five weeks ashore, Drake relaunched the "Golden Hinde" and set sail for the East Indies. He arrived home on Sept. 26, 1580, the first Englishman to circle the globe.

THIRTEEN years later, and three years before Sir Francis died off Panama in 1580, a London mapmaker, Jodocus Hondius, reproduced an embellished chart of Drake's world-girdling voyage. In one corner appeared a cove labeled "Portus Novae Albionis," or Port of New Albion—the California careenage. Using this as a base, students tried for generations to find a cove that matched it along California's 800-mile coastline. Nothing conclusive came of these efforts.

Suddenly, in 1936, a startling discovery revived interest in the Drake mystery. A pheasant hunter had found a discolored piece of metal in the sand hills near Drake's Estero. This shallow lagoon on the landward side of Pt. Reyes, on the Marin coast, had been named for the explorer as a suspected but unproven site for his landfall. The hunter kept the plate for awhile, then tossed it from his car on the other side of the Coast Range hills, where it was picked up by a more curious outdoorsman three years later.

This individual turned the plate over to historians. Increasingly excited, they traced it to its original discovery site, had it analyzed by other experts, including metallurgists, and finally proclaimed it the veritable link with Sir Francis Drake. This treasure, five inches high by eight inches wide, and one-eighth of an inch thick, now reposes in the Bancroft Library at the University of California. As in Fletcher's manuscript, it proclaims:

"BEE IT KNOWNE unto all men by these presents June 17, 1579. By the grace of God and in the name of Herr Maiestie Queen Elizabeth of England and herr successors forever, I take possession of this kingdom . . . now named by me and to bee knowne unto all men as Nova Albion. Francis Drake."

Though the silver sixpence had disappeared, a similar coin of the period, when inserted into the hole described by Fletcher, fitted perfectly. Pro-"Estero" groups rejoiced.

Immediately a storm of controversy arose. Was this the real Drake harbor? Though the plate might be Drake's, who could prove his "Bay" was?

The Drake Navigators Guild determined to do this. At first they tried digging. Nothing conclusive was found; though some pieces of 16th Century Chinese porcelain and some iron spikes were unearthed at Drake's Bay, skeptics pointed out other ships had been wrecked there later.

EX-SAILORS, businessmen, amateur historians—the Guildsmen tried a new tack: the navigational approach. Drake was the foremost navigator of his time, and though

THERE ARE undoubtedly a lot of landlubbers who cruise by the Long Beach Marina with an admiring but casual glance at the boats tied up in their slips.

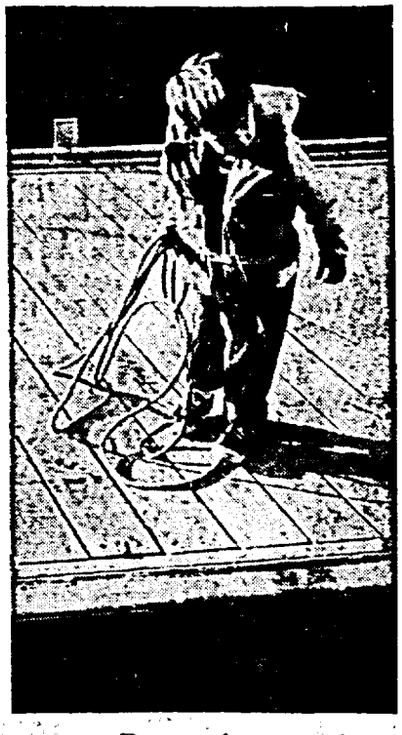

Little do these sightseers realize the problems involved in maneuvering a boat into its slip and the added intricacies of securing the boat to the dock.

Lincoln's 'Lost Speech'

By HOYT McAFEE

WARMING to his subject as one inspired, the lanky, gawky-looking man delivered a speech so rousing in its impact that political delegates shouted themselves hoarse. Reporters on hand that day to cover the convention got caught up in the uproar of excitement themselves—and forgot to take notes!

Their slip-up deprived Americans of that era (1856), and those in succeeding generations, of a verbatim account of the most emotion-stirring speech ever made by Abraham Lincoln! Historians were later to describe it as "Lincoln's Lost Speech."

America's leading reporters of that day called it, variously, "a masterpiece," "thrilling," the "most exciting speech of our lifetime" and "spellbinding." But when pressed by their editors for explicit details of it (Lincoln's own words), they could only confess: "He seemed to hypnotize us with what he had to say on slavery, and when the speech ended we discovered that we'd scribbled down no notes at all!"

WORSE, from the viewpoint of historian, Lincoln had no prepared text of his speech. On the spur of the moment, his fellow Republican delegates had invited him to speak a few words at their 1856 convention at Bloomington, Ill. Seizing the opportunity, he responded with "such fire, feeling and emotional impact that his listeners were unaware of his high-pitched, disagreeable voice.

"Alternately, they jumped to their feet to cheer Lincoln or sat listening with inspiration to his stirring words."

The circumstances that evoked from Lincoln such an emotional response started with the Missouri Compromise, an act of Congress in February 1820 by which Missouri was admitted to the Union as a slave state. As a further step, it banned any extension of slavery in most areas of the Louisiana Territory.

But this compromise was repealed by the Kansas-Nebraska measure of May 30, 1854—by the terms of which they could determine whether to remain free or slave territories. This bill infuriated the slavery agitators. Biding their time, armed bands of agitators poured into Lawrence, Kan., on May 21, 1856, in an act of violence.

THEY SHOT down innocent people, set fire to homes and public buildings, and destroyed printing presses! Their outrage shocked and aroused the nation—and no one individual more than the rail-splitter from Illinois, Abraham Lincoln. His stirring "lost speech" at Bloomington was a direct outgrowth of his aroused conscience over the Lawrence incident.

It was another example, historians remind us, of "Abraham Lincoln's rare and remarkable literary talents. On inspired occasions, he could wield a pen with the inspired touch of a master. His writings were, by turns, rhapsodic and dramatic—and he so often used a language ahead of his time and century."

His supreme classic, the Gettysburg address, attests to the truth of that. It should be remembered that Lincoln was billed as a "minor, or last-minute, speaker" on that memorable Nov. 19, 1863, at Gettysburg battlefield.

Edward Everett, the nation's number one orator of that age, led off with a two-hour speech. Finally, at the tag-end of the ceremonies, Abe Lincoln rose to his feet. Glancing briefly at his notes (scribbled on executive mansion stationery), he launched his two-minute speech, the brevity of which caught both reporters and photographers off guard.

BUT IN THOSE two minutes Lincoln came up with what has since been hailed by historians, students, world statesmen and every day people as "the supreme masterpiece of English eloquence." It was said of him that "he addressed an audience beyond the battlefield, beyond his time, beyond his century."

His classic at Gettysburg, itself a striking example of the power of simple language, contained just 10 sentences and 272 words. One word — "dedicate" — appeared in it six times. Every American school boy worth his salt can recite it in its entirety — starting with "Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

Despite the brevity, clarity and beauty of that address, it has been quoted no more than a letter Lincoln wrote to Mrs. Lydia Bixby of Boston. On Nov. 21, 1864, at the request of Gov. Andrew of Massachusetts, he prepared a communication which later was described as "literature at its best."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN
Had a Way With Words

LINCOLN dispatched the letter by messenger to Adj. Gen. Scholer. That official, at Lincoln's behest, then delivered it to Mrs. Bixby. It read:

"I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the adjutant general that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which I should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming.

"But I cannot refrain from tendering you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our heavenly father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom."

LATER, the War Department's investigation turned up an embarrassing fact—that it had furnished President Lincoln "premature and erroneous information!" Actually, only two of Mrs. Bixby's sons had been killed in battle. A third deserted and escaped the country on a ship!

A fourth was taken prisoner by enemy forces, held till the end of the war; after which he received an honorable discharge. But when Confederate troops captured the fifth Bixby son, he decided to join them and fight on their side!

No matter, Lincoln composed his gem in good faith; and English scholars cite it to this day as the most moving letter ever written by a President of the United States.

He also expressed himself with literary grace the day—Feb. 11, 1861—he departed from Springfield, Ill., to head for his inauguration in Washington. Stepping to the rear platform of his train, he held out his arms and remarked: "Lift up your faces toward the sky and be refreshed by the gentle rain from heaven. My friends, no one can appreciate my feeling of sadness at this parting.

"To this place, and the kindness of these people, I owe everything. I leave now, not knowing when or whether I may return, with a task before me greater than that which rested on George Washington."

LATER, HIS BURDENS, afflictions and heartaches as the nation's Civil War President often bore him to the brink of despair. A critical Congress, a parade of inept generals and even his own wife (Mary Todd Lincoln) added to his grief. For instance, his wife's mind began to wander and slip (years later she was committed to a hospital for the insane).

Since she came from Kentucky, and since her half-brothers and close relatives fought in behalf of the Confederacy, certain members of Congress challenged her patriotism to the North! That charge profoundly upset President Lincoln. In response to it, he made a personal appearance before the Senate committee on the conduct of the war.

With impassioned eloquence, he uttered only one sentence: "I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, appear of my own volition before this committee of the Senate to say I, of my own knowledge, know that it is untrue that any of my family hold treasonable relations with the enemy (Confederate forces)."

Historians are convinced that Abraham Lincoln could have competed with the greatest authors of his day and earned an excellent salary solely on the strength of his literary ability. Research also reveals that he had an aversion to certain words. Take one that we Americans currently "beat and batter to death, overusing and abusing it atrociously — the adjective NICE."

Lincoln avoided using it "because of its prissy sound" — much preferring such expressive adjectives as "'pleasant," "agreeable," "delightful," "satisfying" and "enjoyable." On his birthday anniversary Feb. 12, many schools and colleges across the land will pay special notice to his unusual literary talents this year.

Light Offer for a Light

REID Campbell of Camino de la Cumbre, Sherman Oaks, Calif., is a young man who knows a good thing when he sees it.

Not long ago, he sent a letter to Adm. E. J. Roland, Coast Guard commandant, offering $21.35 in cash for the lighthouse at Piedras Blancas, near San Simeon. In a good, round hand, he pointed out to the Admiral that "The lighthouse is over 100 years old but when I was there on Sept. 12, 1964, I saw it was not being used much so I would like to buy it. I offer you $21.35 cash."

No one knows just how Reid arrived at the very interesting figure of $21.35 (cash), but it is to date the best offer that has yet been made for the installation. In turning down Reid's offer, Capt. R. H. Banner, Chief of the Coast Guard's Supply Division at Washington, D. C. said:

"Your offer of $21.35 cash for our lighthouse at Piedras Blancas near San Simeon is most kind. Believe it or not, you are one of the few people who has ever offered us cash! But Reid, we cannot accept your offer.

"You say that the lighthouse is not used very much. Well, it might look that way but it truly is an important light. It is of great help to sailors, fishermen, and just anybody who is in a boat out in the Pacific Ocean. For this reason, we have to keep the light burning to show them the way home.

"THE PIEDRAS Blancas light has been bringing seamen safely back to land for almost 100 years, and the Coast Guard plans to keep it going for a long time to come."

There is some thought that perhaps the whole thing should be reconsidered before finally rejecting young Master Reid's offer.

Water Wisely

Most house plants need two periods of adjustment. They receive the first in quality growers' greenhouses, when they're professionally conditioned in porus clay pots. The second period is in the buyer's hands.

Since over-watering causes most failures, be sure plants are bought and kept in porous clay pots that assure proper drainage and keep roots from "drowning."

Light Offer for a Light

REID Campbell of Camino de la Cumbre, Sherman Oaks, Calif., is a young man who knows a good thing when he sees it.

Not long ago, he sent a letter to Adm. E. J. Roland, Coast Guard commandant, offering $21.35 in cash for the lighthouse at Piedras Blancas, near San Simeon. In a good, round hand, he pointed out to the Admiral that "The lighthouse is over 100 years old but when I was there on Sept. 12, 1964, I saw it was not being used much so I would like to buy it. I offer you $21.35 cash."

No one knows just how Reid arrived at the very interesting figure of $21.35 (cash), but it is to date the best offer that has yet been made for the installation. In turning down Reid's offer, Capt. R. H. Banner, Chief of the Coast Guard's Supply Division at Washington, D. C. said:

"Your offer of $21.35 cash for our lighthouse at Piedras Blancas near San Simeon is most kind. Believe it or not, you are one of the few people who has ever offered us cash! But Reid, we cannot accept your offer.

"You say that the lighthouse is not used very much. Well, it might look that way but it truly is an important light. It is of great help to sailors, fishermen, and just anybody who is in a boat out in the Pacific Ocean. For this reason, we have to keep the light burning to show them the way home.

"THE PIEDRAS Blancas light has been bringing seamen safely back to land for almost 100 years, and the Coast Guard plans to keep it going for a long time to come."

There is some thought that perhaps the whole thing should be reconsidered before finally rejecting young Master Reid's offer.

Water Wisely

Most house plants need two periods of adjustment. They receive the first in quality growers' greenhouses, when they're professionally conditioned in porus clay pots. The second period is in the buyer's hands.

Since over-watering causes most failures, be sure plants are bought and kept in porous clay pots that assure proper drainage and keep roots from "drowning."

Novelty Sparks Hilltop Home

Unique ideas are incorporated in this hilltop dwelling of Hal Franklin and Chuck Loar.

By Stella George

STRUCTURAL design, decorating theme and extra touches of art in the unique home of Hal Franklin and Chuck Loar at 2018 Stanley Ave., Signal Hill, reflect the talents and artistry of the owners. Franklin designed the house and joined with Loar in planning and executing the decor, also creating some interesting mosaics that find novel use in the house.

The three-story residence commands a panoramic view of the city, a luxury feature in itself. The entry is on the first floor, main living quarters on the second story, and bedrooms on the third floor. Rooms are unconventional in shape having five sides rather than the usual four. Ceilings are beamed.

Built-in bar is unique—and enhanced by a "firebird" mosaic created by Hal Franklin.

It's Owner-Designed and Decorated magnificent glass mosaic "firebird," done by Franklin in shades of orange, blue, brown and red, covers one wall behind a terrazo built-in bar. The firebird virtually comes to life when indirect lights enhance it at night. Bar stools surrounding the half-moon shaped bar are done in gold.

THE SOFA is dark brown with orange pillows. Behind this is a mosaic bar separating another sitting area comfortably furnished with a brown sofa and chairs. Careful consideration was given to the question of properly displaying various art objects. For example, a Rodin statue is on a specially designed triangular inlay shelf.

An octangular Spanish dining (or game) table complements the architectural design of the walls. Black chairs are low and comfortable. Drapes in the room are gold-yellow.

A long rectangular dining bar divides the kitchen from the rest of the area yet maintains the spacious feeling. White lamps hung on chains light the bar. Cabinets in the kitchen are ash stained and the brown stove and refrigerator are built in.

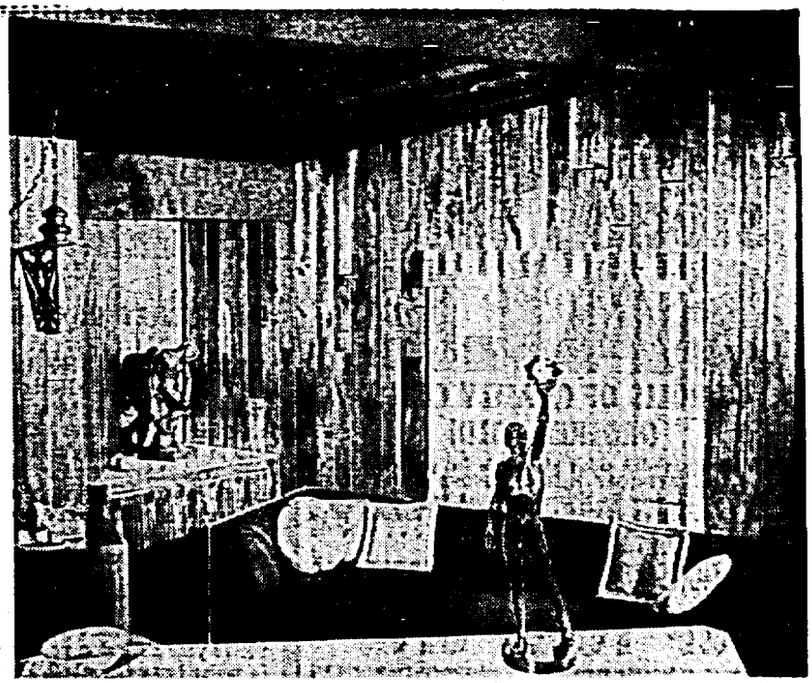

THE DEN is carpeted in gold. The unusual wallpaper is designed with a Van Luit picture collection. A settee is gold, an occasional chair aqua. A bath adjoining the den has a step-down shower and marble sink. Cabinets are ash stained walnut and the wallpaper is metallic green.

The master bedroom has a view of the city. Carpeting here is avocado. An antique mirror lines one wall. Gold leaf decorates the closets. Near the bed, which is covered with a purple spread—effective with the avocado carpeting—is a round mosaic table. A large paper mosaic is on the opposite wall.

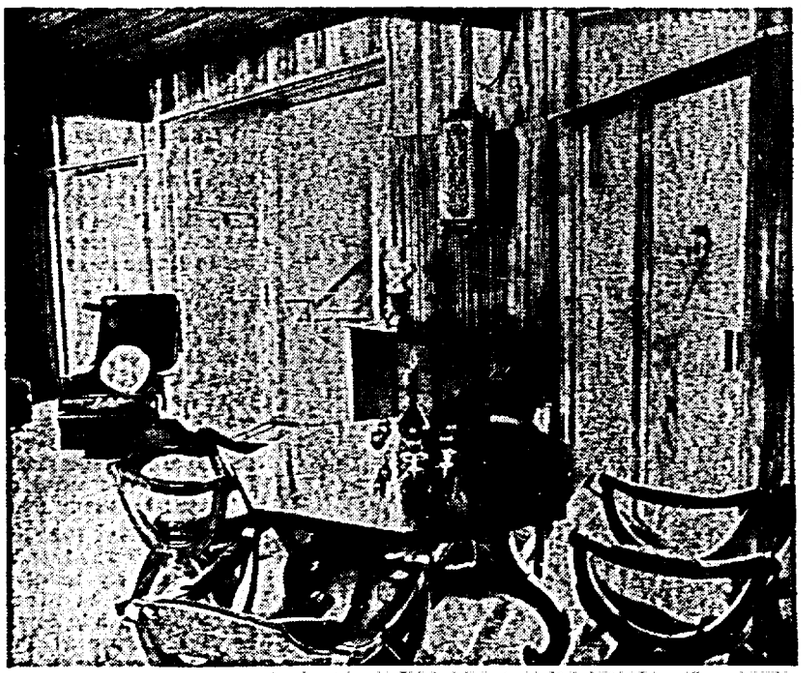

A second bedroom also views the city. Drapes in the room are of natural linen. Carpeting is gold. Accessories include an aqua chair, maple chest and a Spanish warrior statue. Gold leaf covers the sliding closet doors.

In the third bedroom a royal blue spread goes well with the gold carpeting. Walls are butternut wood. A unique accessory is a mirror encircled with a ship's steering wheel.

A library of mahogany and rosewood is off the landing near the living room. The patio to the right of the living room has a mosaic tile floor. And many mosaic wall plaques add colorful accent.

Objects of art are to be found throughout this residence, which departs from conventional in shape of rooms—five-sided rather than the customary four. The owners joined talents in designing and decorating. Many hand-crafted mosaics add to decor.

In a luxury setting, a table awaits either diners or a game. Glass doors provide access to the high-swung balcony, admitting light and a view.

His First Baseball Was Made of Rags

By AUBREY B. HAINES

WHEN — from 1939 to 1941 — Jackie Robinson attended UCLA, he was regarded the greatest athlete in the university's history. When he achieved such status despite his having to play with a "ball" made of rags tied together when he was a boy in Pasadena, the accomplishment is all the more noteworthy!

At age 26, Jackie broke the 70-year exclusion policy in major league baseball. In 1945, Dodger general manager Branch Rickey encouraged Robinson to break through the color barrier. Jackie did so, meeting with a severe test of personal character. "I was always conscious of my special responsibility," he recalls.

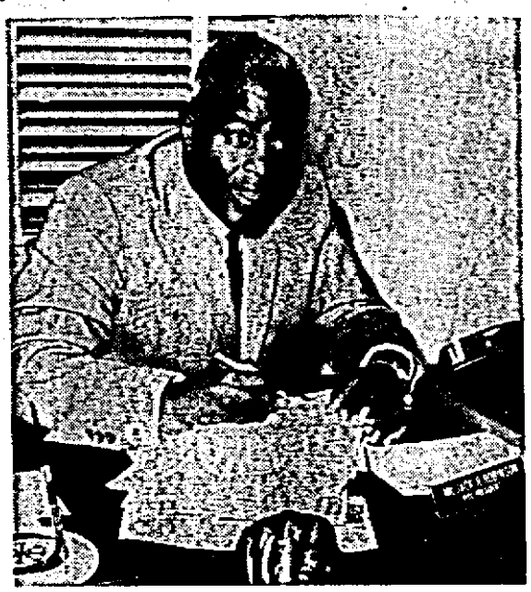

Rickey warned Robinson at the start with almost brutal frankness about the resentments and bigotry he would encounter. "Suppose that I'm playing against you in the World Series," Rickey proposed. "I go into you spikes first. But you don't give ground. You stand there and jam the ball into my ribs, and the umpire yells, 'Out!' I flare up. All I can see is your face on top of me. So I punch you in the cheek." Shooting a fist towards Robinson's head, Rickey blasted, "What would you do?"

Born John Roosevelt Robinson in Cairo, Ga., on Jan. 31, 1919, the boy was the youngest child of Jerry and Mallie (McGriff) Robinson. Jackie has no memory of his father. He, his sister, and three brothers were raised by their mother and uncle in Pasadena, where they were taken when Jackie was 18 months old. Mrs. Robinson worked during the week at odd domestic jobs to support the children. Jackie delivered newspapers, collected junk, sold hot dogs at sports events in the Rose Bowl, and did whatever other work he could find to help support the family. In his free time he followed the example of his brother Mack, an athlete who set a world's record for sprinting and was second to Jesse Owens at the 1936 Olympic Games.

Jackie starred in football, basketball, and track at Pasadena's John Muir Technical High School until his graduation in February 1937, and then at Pasadena Junior College. To his family's disappointment he maintained only the minimum scholastic average necessary to be eligible for varsity athletics. But he set a record in the running broad jump of 25 feet, 6½ inches; in basketball, of 28 points in a single game in which he did not play full time; and in his second year he had the highest batting average of all junior college players: an extraordinary .466.

AFTER TWO YEARS at UCLA, Jackie served in the Army from 1941 to 1944, becoming a second lieutenant in the Cavalry. After coaching for a semester at Samuel Houston College for Negroes in Austin, he took a $400-a-month shortstop position with the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro American Baseball League. His .340 batting average and Big League fielding style attracted the attention of several scouts. But Branch Rickey broke baseball's exclusion policy by giving Jackie a contract with the Montreal Royals, the Dodgers' International League farm team. In 1946, Jackie married Rachel Annetta Isum, a UCLA graduate who had worked as a trained nurse. The couple have three children: Jackie Jr., Sharon, and David.

A well-built athlete, six feet tall, Jackie Robinson's best playing weight was 185 pounds. His exceptionally large, strong hands and speedy, graceful motions contributed to his crowd-pleasing style of playing baseball. Jackie is high strung but even tempered, modest, and intelligent. He likes all sports in season and is proud of having played golf with Joe Louis. He neither drinks nor smokes.

In Dec., 1956, Robinson was traded by the then Brooklyn Dodgers to their arch foes, the then New York Giants. Local baseball enthusiasts were stunned at the move. But Jackie, having already signed a contract with a chain restaurant and his retirement settled, left baseball. His new business post as vice-president in charge of personnel of Chock Full O' Nuts brought him into an organization of 1,000 employes—80% Negro.

"THIS IS A team operation," he says. "The day when I had the worst butterflies in my stomach — far more than I ever had with the Dodgers—was when I had to dismiss an employe."

Today, Jackie is also board chairman of a New York bank. In January he was named winner of the annual award of the Diabetes Association of Southern California as being "a diabetic who has achieved success in his chosen field." He received the award at a banquet in Beverly Hills.

Eventually, Robinson hopes to work with boys. "I believe that my activities have given me an ideal background to help boys," he says. "Above all, I've been influenced by an earnest desire to contribute to the advancement and recognition of the Negro race."

His First Baseball Was Made of Rags

By AUBREY B. HAINES

WHEN---from 1939 to 1941 — Jackie Robinson attended UCLA, he was regarded the greatest athlete in the university's history. When he achieved such status despite his having to play with a "ball" made of rags tied together when he was a boy in Pasadena, the accomplishment is all the more noteworthy!

At age 26, Jackie broke the 70-year exclusion policy in major league baseball. In 1945, Dodger general manager Branch Rickey encouraged Robinson to break through the color barrier. Jackie did so, meeting with a severe test of personal character. "I was always conscious of my special responsibility," he recalls.

Rickey warned Robinson at the start with almost brutal frankness about the resentments and bigotry he would encounter. "Suppose that I'm playing against you in the World Series," Rickey proposed. "I go into you spikes first. But you don't give ground. You stand there and jam the ball into my ribs, and the umpire yells, 'Out!' I flare up. All I can see is your face on top of me. So I punch you in the cheek." Shooting a fist towards Robinson's head, Rickey blasted, "What would you do?."

Born John Roosevelt Robinson in Cairo, Ga., on Jan. 31, 1919, the boy was the youngest child of Jerry and Mallie (McGriff) Robinson. Jackie has no memory of his father. He, his sister, and three brothers were raised by their mother and uncle in Pasadena, where they were taken when Jackie was 18 months old. Mrs. Robinson worked during the week at odd domestic jobs to support the children. Jackie delivered newspapers, collected junk, sold hot dogs at sports events in the Rose Bowl, and did whatever other work he could find to help support the family. In his free time he followed the example of his brother Mack, an athlete who set a world's record for sprinting and was second to Jesse Owens at the 1936 Olympic Games.

Jackie starred in football, basketball, and track at Pasadena's John Muir Technical High School until his graduation in February 1937, and then at Pasadena Junior College. To his family's disappointment he maintained only the minimum scholastic average necessary to be eligible for varsity athletics. But he set a record in the running broad jump of 25 feet, 6½ inches; in basketball, of 28 points in a single game in which he did not play full time; and in his second year he had the highest batting average of all junior college players: an extraordinary .466.

AFTER TWO YEARS at UCLA, Jackie served in the Army from 1941 to 1944, becoming a second lieutenant in the Cavalry. After coaching for a semester at Samuel Houston College for Negroes in Austin, he took a $400-a-month shortstop position with the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro American Baseball League. His .340 batting average and Big League fielding style attracted the attention of several scouts. But Branch Rickey broke baseball's exclusion policy by giving Jackie a contract with the Montreal Royals, the Dodgers' International League farm team. In 1946, Jackie married Rachel Annetta Isum, a UCLA graduate who had worked as a trained nurse. The couple have three children: Jackie Jr., Sharon, and David.

A well-built athlete, six feet tall, Jackie Robinson's best playing weight was 185 pounds. His exceptionally large, strong hands and speedy, graceful motions contributed to his crowd-pleasing style of playing baseball. Jackie is high strung but even tempered, modest, and intelligent. He likes all sports in season and is proud of having played golf with Joe Louis. He neither drinks nor smokes.

In Dec., 1956, Robinson was traded by the then Brooklyn Dodgers to their arch foes, the then New York Giants. Local baseball enthusiasts were stunned at the move. But Jackie, having already signed a contract with a chain restaurant and his retirement settled, left baseball. His new business post as vice-president in charge of personnel of Chock Full O' Nuts brought him into an organization of 1,000 employes---80% Negro.

"THIS IS A team operation," he says. "The day when I had the worst butterflies in my stomach — far more than I ever had with the Dodgers—was when I had to dismiss an employe."

Today, Jackie is also board chairman of a New York bank. In January he was named winner of the annual award of the Diabetes Association of Southern California as being "a diabetic who has achieved success in his chosen field." He received the award at a banquet in Beverly Hills.

Eventually, Robinson hopes to work with boys. "I believe that my activities have given me an ideal background to help boys," he says. "Above all, I've been influenced by an earnest desire to contribute to the advancement and recognition of the Negro race."

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give brief genealogy on INGRAM, INGRUM. — Mrs. I., Long Beach; L. I. Wilmington.

I., L. I.: INGRAM and the variation INGRUM are English with a predatory Norse-Viking background. The source name of Inge-Hramn, meant "son of the raven." This hero name was brought to Britain by the 9th century Viking settlers. The raven was considered an esteemed symbol of wisdom by ancient Norsemen. John Ingeram, a 13th century Yorkshireman, was among the early English forefathers. The family shield has three gold seashells on a red stripe across an ermine covered background.

DEAR MISS RULE: Have you data on MILLER.—L. M., Westminster; J. F., Long Beach; E. L., Lakewood.

L. M., J. F., E. L.: MILLER in 12th century England was applied to millers of flour, and was later assumed as a surname. Millers were greatly honored for their profession by fellow townsmen and English kings. One of the primary Miller family shields is covered with ermine, decorated with three red wolf heads. Thomas Miller born at Stortford, England, in 1610 was one of the founding settlers of Middletown, Conn.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain HYSO—L.H., Long Beach.

L.H.: HYSO, from the 13th century German warrior title Heizo, means "ruler of an estate."

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the source of VALFRE?—

A.V.: VALFRE began in 13th Century France as "Val-Fre," designating "valley estate of the free man." The shield granted this lineage under the name-variation Valfray has a silver background centered with a blue pyramid embossed with a golden 16-rayed sun.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please identify STAGGERS.—E.S., Compton.

E.S.: STAGGERS is an American spelling of either of two German surnames. One source, "Steger," localized and described a "dweller on a narrow pathway." The other origin, "Stayger," meant "dweller on a steep

DEAR MISS RULE: Please analyze RADKE, RADEKE. —D.B., Norwalk; R.R., Long Beach.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you inform us on ROWAN? —P.R., Long Beach.

P.R.: ROWAN in England was adopted from a landmark tree on the family property, a red-berried mountain ash or rowan tree. The English and Scottish Rowan shield is gold, crossed by a blue and silver checkered stripe. At the top of the shield are three red crosses; below the stripe are three red crescents. Rowan also evolved from the Irish clan name Ruadhan of Mayo and Galway. Ruadhan means "red-haired."

DEAR MISS RULE: Have you genealogy on CAMP?—W.C., Garden Grove.

W.C.: CAMP in England portrayed "home on a field." In Holland and Germany the root name Campe meant "owner of a field enclosed by hedges." Remote English progenitors include Felicia In Camp of Cambridge, 1273. The Camp shield from Gelderland, east Holland, is silver, decorated with seven tall, narrow trees growing from a green field.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly inform us on MAY.—M.M., Norwalk; F.M., Long Beach.

M.M., F.M.: May, an early Anglo-French form of Maheu or Matthew, means "gift of God." The May shield is red, emblazoned with a fur-covered chevron between three gold coronets. New England forefathers include George May of Essex, Mass., in 1641.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the basis of the Italian name CALDERONE?—C.C., Long Beach.

C.C.: CALDERONE means "cauldron," and was the trade name for an ancestral maker of large vats and cauldrons in medieval Italy. No armorial shield is recorded for Calderone.

A Time for Tart Cherry Delights

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

FEBRUARY IS "fun" month . . . with plenty of special activity. In addition to the sentimental excitement of Valentine's Day, there's the birthday celebration of two great Americans — Lincoln and Washington. Each is an excuse to prepare some special dish for guests or family. If there's a food of the month for February, it surely must be cherries. The bright red fruit combined with smooth tangy cream cheese make patriotic and Valentine dishes an easy matter.

Children love the personal touches that make a holiday seem different and special. Begin their day with a surprise. Make your Valentine a family treat at breakfast—Cherry Kuchen! Bring it in warm and tasty, with a white frosting "Be My Valentine" piped over the top if you wish. A pressure cake decorator can make this a quick and easy job. Measure everything the night before and it will be a snap to please the family with a freshly baked coffee cake on Valentine's Day.

If you could wrap food in colored cellophane, trim it with lace and top with a red rose, Creme A La Cherry is one dish you'd be tempted to try it on. A rhapsody of flavor, texture and color, this creamy orange mold is topped with a quickly made cherry sauce of tart Red Cherries. You'll know you've found another treasure to add to your collections of fabulous recipes. For a February treat, put the cream cheese and orange mixture into a heart decorated mold (for the rest of the year a ring mold or other shape will do). Like the best of continental desserts, this excites the taste and calls for a repeat appearance.

CREME A LA CHERRY

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
1 6-ounec can frozen orange juice
1 8-ounce package cream cheese
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 No. 303 can tart red cherries
Red Food Coloring

Combine gelatin, sugar and salt; add hot water and stir to dissolve. Add cold water and orange juice. Cool until syrupy. Beat cream cheese until soft; slowly add gelatin mixture, beating until well blended. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into a 5 cup mold. Chill until firm. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in a saucepan; add cherries. Cook until thick and clear. Add food coloring if desired. Serve over mold. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

CHERRY KUCHEN

½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
⅔ cup cherry juice
1 No 303 can tart red cherries, drained
⅓ cup shortening
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teasponns baking powder
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup flour
2 tablespoon butter

Combine sugar and cornstarch in sauce pan; add cherry juice. Cook until thick and clear; add cherries. Allow to cool while batter is made. Cream shortening, sugar and salt; beat in egg. Sift flour and baking powder; add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Grease and flour an 8x8x2-inch baking pan. Spread ⅔ of the batter in the pan. Spoon cherries over batter. Top with remaining batter. Combine brown sugar, flour and butter; sprinkle over coffee cake. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes or until done.

MARTHA'S MASTERPIECE

¼ cup butter
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk
¾ cup flour
¼ cup ground almonds
1 8-ounce package cream cheese
½ cup sugar
1 large egg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 1-lb. 6-oz. can Cherry Pie Filling

Cream butter, sugar and salt together; beat in egg yolk. Add flour and almonds and blend thoroughly. Line an 8x1½-inch cake pan with aluminum foil. Press pastry onto bottom and up sides; chill. Beat cream cheese until smooth; add sugar, egg and cinnamon and beat until fluffy. Pour into chilled pastry. Bake at 425 degress for 15 minutes or until filling sets and pastry browns. Cool. Remove crust from pan by lifting on foil. Spoon cherry pie filling over top of cheese. Chill until time to serve. Yield: 6 to 8 servings. — May be made in a 9-inch pie plate.

FEBRUARY FRUIT LOG

2 envelopes gelatin
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 No. 303 can tart red cherries
1 No. 303 can sliced cling peaches
1½ cups water
¼ cup lemon juice
1 banana, sliced
2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
¼ cup chopped walnuts

Combine gelatin, sugar and salt in saucepan; add cherries and heat to boiling. Drain peaches. Set cans aside to use as molds. Add peach syrup, water and lemon juice. Cool until mixture begins to thicken. Add peaches and sliced banana. Spoon mixture into cans. Extra gelatin may be molded in 1 cup mold or dishes. Chill until firm. Soften cream cheese by beating until fluffy. Unmold gelatin from cans and lay end to end on long platter. Carefully spread cream cheese over rolls and sprinkle with nuts. Refrigerate until time to serve. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

A Time for Tart Cherry Delights

By Mildred K. Flanary

Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

FEBRUARY IS "fun" month . . . with plenty of special activity. In addition to the sentimental excitement of Valentine's Day, there's the birthday celebration of two great Americans — Lincoln and Washington. Each is an excuse to prepare some special dish for guests or family. If there's a food of the month for February, it surely must be cherries. The bright red fruit combined with smooth tangy cream cheese make patriotic and Valentine dishes an easy matter.

Children love the personal touches that make a holiday seem different and special. Begin their day with a surprise. Make your Valentine a family treat at breakfast—Cherry Kuchen! Bring it in warm and tasty, with a white frosting "Be My Valentine" piped over the top if you wish. A pressure cake decorator can make this a quick and easy job. Measure everything the night before and it will be a snap to please the family with a freshly baked coffee cake on Valentine's Day.

If you could wrap food in colored cellophane, trim it with lace and top with a red rose, Creme A La Cherry is one dish you'd be tempted to try it on. A rhapsody of flavor, texture and color, this creamy orange mold is topped with a quickly made cherry sauce of tart Red Cherries. You'll know you've found another treasure to add to your collections of fabulous recipes. For a February treat, put the cream cheese and orange mixture into a heart decorated mold (for the rest of the year a ring mold or other shape will do). Like the best of continental desserts, this excites the taste and calls for a repeat appearance.

CREME A LA CHERRY

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
1 6-ounce can frozen orange juice
1 8-ounce package cream cheese
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 No. 303 can tart red cherries
Red Food Coloring

Combine gelatin, sugar and salt; add hot water and stir to dissolve. Add cold water and orange juice. Cool until syrupy. Beat cream cheese until soft; slowly add gelatin mixture, beating until well blended. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into a 5 cup mold. Chill until firm. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in a saucepan; add cherries. Cook until thick and clear. Add food coloring if desired. Serve over mold. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

CHERRY KUCHEN

½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¾ cup cherry juice
1 No. 303 can tart red cherries, drained
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup flour
2 tablespoon butter

Combine sugar and cornstarch in sauce pan; add cherry juice. Cook until thick and clear; add cherries. Allow to cool while batter is made. Cream shortening, sugar and salt; beat in egg. Sift flour and baking powder; add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Grease and flour an 8x8x2-inch baking pan. Spread ¾ of the batter in the pan. Spoon cherries over batter. Top with remaining batter. Combine brown sugar, flour and butter; sprinkle over coffee cake. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes or until done.

Old Hawaii's Flag Goes to Sea Again

A UNIQUE ceremony took place last week in the little town of Holbaek, 40 miles from Copenhagen, Denmark, when the press and members of the Danish and American diplomatic corps turned out for the launching of an 1820 brigantine, flying the colors of a kingdom which has been extinct since 1893.

The ship is the "Thetis," which will be used in filming James A. Michener's best-selling novel "Hawaii" and the flag represents the standard of Queen Liliuokalani, who was ousted from her throne in 1893 when Hawaii became a republic for a four-year period, prior to American annexation.

The "Thetis" sailed from Copenhagen immediately to begin a 10,000-mile journey across the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans to Honolulu with Capt. Alan Villiers, author and lecturer, at the helm.

The wife of Adm. William G. Nelson,of the MAAG installations in Denmark, christened the ancient trading ship, but instead of the traditional bottle of champagne, she shattered two bottles of spirits against the prow of the ship. One of these was a bottle of Danish aquavit and the other a bottle of Hawaiian passion-fruit liqueur, decorated with miniature orchids of the Islands, flown over the polar route for the occasion. Mrs. Nelson, a member of one of the oldest American families in Hawaii, was assisted in the ceremonies by Asuncion Anne Hilario, a lovely Hawaiian, who wore her native muumuu for the occasion, despite the chilling winds of the Scandinavian winter.

AS THE "Thetis" slipped down the ways of the shipyard into the icy waters of the Holbaek Fjord, Capt. Adrian Small raised the colors of the ancient Polynesian kingdom to the topmost yardarm. This "banner with the strange device" displays eight stripes of alternating red, white and blue with a large center coat of arms depicting the hibiscus flower, war clubs and the gold crown of the Hawaiian royal family.

The "Thetis," a two-masted sailing ship which measures a scant 77 feet at the water line, will represent the ship in which the American missionaries sailed from Boston harbor in the early 19th Century to bring civilization and Christianity to the pagan Hawaiians, as recounted in Michener's epic novel, based on the history of America's 50th state.

Julie Andrews will be seen in the part of Jerusha, with other roles still to be cast. Virtually all of the Hawaiian parts will be played by native Islanders, drawing from the full-blooded Hawaiian population as well as descendants of the Chinese settlers who arrived in great numbers in the early 1800s.

The $12-million film produced by George Roy Hill and Walter Mirisch and presented by The Mirisch Corporation for United Artists' release will begin actual shooting in the Norwegian fjords, 140 miles north of the Arctic Circle Feb. 22.

THE LOCATION, remarkably similar to the terrain of Cape Horn described in Michener's book, will provide all of the hazards and hardships of Antarctica, but will offer better lines of communications to the sources of supply and complex technical facilities required for a film of this vast scope.

On April 19, the filming will be resumed in New England and then moved to the Hollywood studios for one month before settling down to four months of production in Maui on the island of Oahu, about 45 miles from Honolulu. The village of Lahaina will be re-created on a progressive basis, starting with the primitive town in 1820 and gradually being built up as the film progresses to conclusion in 1876.

"Hawaii" will be eight months in the making and is projected for a roadshow release in the late summer of 1966.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Food Guilt Eased

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

WITH RARE exceptions, gastrointestinal symptoms don't stem from specific foods, despite what the individual patient believes.

Two Boston doctors say that symptoms (i. e., heartburn, nausea, bloating, diarrhea, etc.) are more characteristic of the patient than of his disorder or of any food he may incriminate.

Specific foods often appear to be chosen as offending agents because of childhood conditioning, folklore and medical opinion, the doctors report in the New England Journal of Medicine.

Even elimination of certain foods from the diets of peptic ulcer patients is of doubtful significance, they say. Studies have shown that ulcers heal as well when patients are receiving ordinary foods as when bland diets are prescribed.

The rare exception appears to be intolerance to milk among some patients who have undergone stomach surgery.

A NEW experimental drug, a relative of the drug Valium, appears to be effective against anxiety and depression in mental patients, a researcher reports.

Called LA-XIV, it completely relieved depression in 10 of 15 patients, a Connecticut psychiatrist says. Sleeping and eating patterns were improved in two or three days, and all symptoms were reduced within one week.

WEAKNESS of the legs in the aged is sometimes a clue to hidden malignancy, two Detroit doctors say in the AMA Journal.

A study of 100 patients with muscle weakness in the legs turned up eight who later were found to have cancer. Symptoms in eight others were traced to other disease conditions. In the remaining 84 the weakness was attributed to age.

DISPOSABLE needles and syringes can be crushed to 25% of their original bulk in a 60-pound device manufactured by a Racine, Wis., firm. The unit is being marketed to doctors and hospitals so that syringes can be destroyed before they are dumped into the trash. Children and dope addicts have, in the past, searched trash containers for usable syringes—and this practice has prompted production of syringe destroyers.

A NEW hormonal drug, taken by mouth, is able to reduce blood cholesterol levels—but only temporarily.

The compound, methalone, is described in Lancet by three physicians at the National Institute of Cardiology in Mexico.

The preparation, a synthetic derivative of the male hormone testosterone, lowered cholesterol levels in 13 of 15 patients. The drug's most pronounced effect was during the fifth week of treatment.

Cholesterol is a fat-like substance occurring naturally in the body. Excessive levels of it in the blood are believed to predispose to heart attack.

After the fifth week of treatment with methalone, cholesterol again rose to pretreatment levels, the researchers report.

BIGGEST NEED in the development of an artificial heart for man: a synthetic material that doesn't adversely affect the blood.

So says Dr. Frank W. Hastings of the National Heart Institute.

All currently available materials, he says, tend to encourage the formation of blood clots or otherwise interfere with the blood's structure.

Q. How high can grasshoppers fly? P.S.

A. While they usually fly only short distances, they have been known to fly high in the sky when in search of food and have been noted up to 13,000 feet.

Q. A man recently told me that he was caught up in misogamy because he was a misogynist. What exactly did he mean? E. S.

A. Misogamy is the hatred of marriage Misogyny is the hatred of women. The man means that he hates marriage because he hates women.

Q. Who was the first Admiral in the American Navy? R.B.

A. David Glasgow Farragut had the unique distinction of being our first Rear Admiral, our first Vice Admiral, and our first Full Admiral. The officer who issued his famous order, "Damn the torpedoes! Full speed ahead" during the Battle of Mobile Bay, received the title of Rear Admiral in 1862, Vice Admiral in 1864, and Admiral in 1866.

Q. Is it true that Spanish guitarist Andres Segovia taught himself how to play the guitar? G.M.T.

A. True. Andres Segovia, the unchallenged master of the classical guitar, was tutored in piano and violin, but cared for neither. Then one day, at the home of a friend in Granada, Spain, young Andres heard the guitar. Disregarding the wishes of his parents, he persisted in learning to play the instrument; when he couldn't find a competent teacher, he worked by himself, applying his previously acquired knowledge to his study of the guitar. He thus developed the style which has restored the guitar to a place on the concert stage. Andres Segovia is 70 years old.

Q. What percentage does the house get in roulette? A.C.

A. This depends on such factors as how many numbers are on the wheel, how many of these are "house numbers," the established rate at which the house pays a winner, and the condition of the wheel. One popular American wheel has 36 numbers for players and two (0 and 00) for the house; this gives an advantage of 5.26% to a legitimate operator who pays at 35 to 1. In some U.S. gambling establishments, the house percentage is said to run as high as 10% of all money wagered on roulette. The Monte Carlo Casino operates its wheels on a basis of approximately 3%.

Recipe of the Week

VEAL LENDS itself to tasty methods of preparation, such as that of the $5 prizewinning recipe submitted this week by Mrs. Weldon C. Landgren, 2673 Mountaingate Way, Oakland 11, Calif. The recipe:

Vienna Veal

2 lbs. veal cutlets, cubed	1 cup sour cream
2 tblsp. flour	½ cup chopped or broken mushrooms
½ tsp. salt	1 tblsp. minced onion
¼ tsp. paprika

Brown the veal cubes in shortening, then remove to casserole, cover, put in 350° oven for 10 minutes.

To the juice in skillet, add 3 tablespoons of water, stirring lightly over low heat. Blend in the flour and seasonings, together with the sour cream put all in top of double boiler, over gently boiling water, and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from the heat, add the mushrooms and the minced onion. Pour this over the cutlets in the casserole, cover, and bake at 250° or until veal is very tender.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90812.

The Soviets Courts in Action

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

"JUSTICE in Moscow" by George Feifer (Simon and Schuster, $5.95) is a 353-page documentation of a young American's year in Moscow as a graduate student gathering material for a doctoral dissertation on Russian criminal law. Specifically, the account deals with his observations of Soviet courts in action, of the people who come there as defendants, the people who defend them, and the people who judge them.

The book is profitable reading. The reader examines Russian concepts of justice, and is forced to measure them against the Anglo - American concepts by which he lives. One result is that he may acquire more understanding of his own laws, and that, in these times when so much attention has focused on the actions of our courts, is certainly an end to be desired.

Feifer details actual court proceedings which illustrate aspects of the Russian common man and his laws with which Westerners are not ordinarily familiar. He relates conversations with Soviet jurists which indicate that there are differences in interpretation of the Soviet law among Soviet legal scholars, much as there is in this country.

It is surprising, somehow, to discover that the conception of the Russian citizen as a rigidly disciplined, robot-like servant of the Socialist state is not wholly accurate. Drunks, thieves, con men, rapists, gamblers, murderers, hooligans, and shiftless, lazy, handout-seeking bums pass through the courts.

What happens to them there is the substance of the book. The contrasts with the treatment received by the American criminal suspect are revealing, and, occasionally, disturbing.

The author has opinions, but he provides enough material for the reader to form his own.

THE TECHNIQUE of the great story teller—to project to the reader the world he creates, and to impart life and individuality to his characters—is timeless, and those who have mastered it in this century have taken their places alongside yesterday's Charles Dickens, Emily Bronte, Nathaniel Hawthorne and Jane Austen.

"SEVEN MODERN AMERICAN NOVELISTS" (University of Minnesota Press, $4.75) is a compilation of some of the university's Pamphlets on American Writers, edited by William Van O'Connor.

The novelists and the authors who contribute critical introductions of their techniques are: Edith Wharton by Lewis Auchincloss, Sinclair Lewis by Mark Schorer, F. Scott Fitzgerald by Charles E. Shain, William Faulkner by O'Connor, Ernest Hemingway by Philip Young, Thomas Wolfe by C. Hugh Holman, and Nathanael West by Stanley Edgar Hyman.

TWO MONTHS before Napoleon Bonaparte died in 1821, he said of Josephine, his glamorous first empress, "I truly loved her, although I didn't respect her. She was a liar and an utter spendthrift, but she had a certain something that was irresistible. She was a woman to her very fingertips."

On this thesis Frances Mossiker presents a brilliantly powerful account of one of the world's most remarkable romances, "NAPOLEON AND JOSEPHINE: The Biography of a Marriage" (Simon and Schuster, $6.95).

Based on letters by Napoleon, Josephine and contemporaries and on the recollections of many memorists, the narrative is divided largely into two books, "Napoleon in Love with Josephine" and "Josephine in Love with Napoleon." It rings true, because although Mrs. Mossiker puts all pertinent information on record, she discredits that which she considers unreliable or spiteful.

Her first work, "The Queen's Necklace," earned her the reputation of a historian who writes like a novelist; her second affirms that distinction.

Josephine, more than Napoleon, is the central character, and emphasis is stronger on their extra-marital indiscretions than on Napoleon's military conquests and downfall. The historic events of the era come into the story as they affect Napoleon and Josephine.

SPONTANEOUS glimpses of genius, caught in moments of rare candor and self-revelation by the quick camera of Frederick Plaut, are the essence of Plaut's new book, "THE UNGUARDED MOMENT: A PHOTOGRAPHIC INTERPRETATION" (Prentice-Hall, $12.95; $15 after Christmas.) More than 100 informal photographs, together with short biographical sketches, bring the reader intimate insights into the lives, careers and thoughts of Albert Einstein, Carl Sandburg, Albert Schweitzer, Noel Coward, Issac Stern, Leonard Bernstein, Somerset Maugham, Louis Armstrong, Sir Alec Guiness, Edith Piaf.

HOW WOULD you like to board a submarine and spend a few days beneath the waves, enjoying a landscape of white sand, green ocean farms, and the multicolored beauty of the ocean floor?

Incredible? No. Mankind will vacation in "bubbles on the bottom," enjoying marine sports and recreation" long before the race thinks of living on the moon, says Seabrook Hull in "THE BOUNTIFUL SEA" (Prentice-Hall, $6.95).

This is a primer in oceanography, a history of man's endeavors in the ocean, a rundown on the potentials the ocean has to offer, and a progress report on man's efforts to gain knowledge and mastery of the sea.

"CLASSIC TALES from Modern Spain" (Barron, $2.95) edited and ably translated by William E. Colford, evokes that old saw, "It's high time." And it IS very much in order that American readers should be introduced to some of the finest work of Spain's writers of the past 100 or so years.

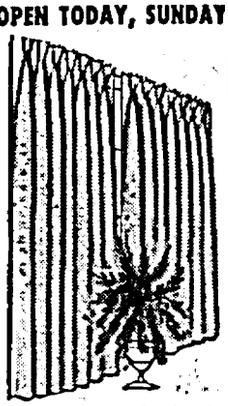

The selections range from Fernan Caballero (who was a woman using a man's name because in her day it was considered unbecoming for a Spanish woman to be a writer) and Palacio Valdes to Gomez de la Serna. Probably best in the book is Pio Baroja's "Elizabide the Rover," a Basque tale told in Baroja's terse, down-to-earth style. Elizabide is a typical Baroja character, the wonderer, the town's "good for nothing," and this is his love story. But when one has writers like Valle Inclan, Unamuno, Becquer, Alarcon to choose from, it is really difficult to say what is best.

LT. EDDIE V. RICKENBACKER tells the story of the 94th Pursuit Squadron, U. S. Air Service—leading American flying group in World War I—in "FIGHTING THE FLYING CIRCUS" (Doubleday, $4.95). He is shown here standing by his machine in France in 1918.

"CLASSIC TALES from Modern Spain" (Barron, $2.95) edited and ably translated by William E. Colford, evokes that old saw, "It's high time." And it IS very much in order that American readers should be introduced to some of the finest work of Spain's writers of the past 100 or so years.

The selections range from Fernan Caballero (who was a woman using a man's name because in her day it was considered unbecoming for a Spanish woman to be a writer) and Palacio Valdes to Gomez de la Serna. Probably best in the book is Pio Baroja's "Elizabide the Rover," a Basque tale told in Baroja's terse, down-to-earth style. Elizabide is a typical Baroja character, the wonderer, the town's "good for nothing," and this is his love story. But when one has writers like Valle Inclan, Unamuno, Becquer, Alarcon to choose from, it is really difficult to say what is best.

Case of the Moving Jaws

By Frank L. Remington

ALTHOUGH boycotted by disciples of Emily Post and forbidden in school rooms, chewing gum enjoys immense popularity. Practically everyone, from tots to grandmas, chews it at one time or another.

Today, gum chewing is a universal custom. Deep in darkest Africa a proper amount of chewing gum will purchase a wife. When Borneo headhunters captured a diplomatic official not long ago, they demanded a price for his release. The ransom?

Bubble gum! Loads of it. Even the Eskimos now prefer a rubbery wad to their former favorite—blubber.

It's estimated that a year's supply of chewing gum, laid piece by piece, would extend to the moon and back, with enough left to circle the equator about 13 times. Last year Americans spent more than $300-million on gum.

What's behind the product's appeal? One scientist declares chewing gum is a "technique of relaxation," a way of dissipating excess energy. He puts whistling, pencil-tapping and money-jangling in the same category.

FROM the earliest times, mankind has enjoyed chewon gum-like or chewy substances. The Indians taught American colonists to chew gum-like resin from spruce trees. Spruce gum, made of unflavored pellets of this resin, delighted early 19th century chewers. Later, a chew made of paraffin wax replaced spruce gum.

Modern chewing gum first appeared in the 1860s when Carlos Juan Santa Ana, the exiled Mexican general, arrived in New York with small quantities of chicle, which he fashioned into sweet sticks of gum. In 1869, a Mr. Semple, after experimenting with flavored chicle, took out a patent on chewing gum as we know it today.

Since the day when chewing gum first appeared in this country, fancy brand names were used to attract purchasers. Thus such brands as these early appeared on the market: Licorice Lulu, Yankee Spruce, Trunk Spruce, State of Main Pure Spruce Gum, White Mountain, Biggest and Best, Sugar Cream, and Four-in-Hand.

CHICLE COMES from the milky juice (or latex) of the sapodilla tree, grown in tropical rain forests of Central and South America. Because of its springy chewing quality, and its ability to carry flavor, gum made with chicle and similar latex products soon won preference over the earlier types. With new processing, packaging and selling methods, modern chewing gum began its major rise in popularity in the early 1900s.

Though many think of chewing gum as a children's product, persons over 15 years old buy most of it.

LABELS OF most brands list five main kinds of ingredients: gum base, sugar, corn syrup, softeners and flavoring. Difficulty in controlling chicle supply forced manufacturers to develop new materials for the gum base.

At the factory, raw gums go into large cooking kettles, equipped with steam jackets and large powerful mixing arms. Heat and mechanical treatment softens the gums and mixes them thoroughly. After a few hours, the melted and sticky mess is filtered from the kettle to remove sand, pieces of bark and other impurities.

While still hot, the filtered gum goes into another kettle. Finely pulverized sugar and corn syrup are mixed in. Color is also added as well as aromatic flavoring essences, such as peppermint, spearmint, cinnamon and clove. Now the chewing gum is ready for rolling and scoring. Ingenious machines receive huge dough-like masses, reduce them to thin sheets by successive batteries of rollers, and finally mark the sheets off into dimensions of the chewing gum stick.

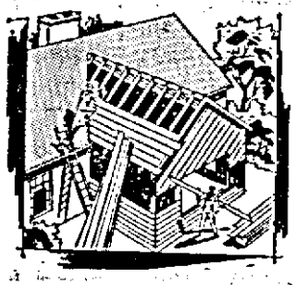

Following complicated and air-conditioned maturing, the sheets are broken into individual sticks. Fast wrapping machines complete the process by automatically wrapping the sticks into gay, dustproof packages.

Bubble gum is made the same way and from similar materials. The only difference is the firmness and elasticity of the base. This is made firmer so that it will form a strong film when air is blown into it to form a bubble.

Bubble gum is the most modern evolvement of man's ages-old yen to find something to chew.

Storage-Bench Unit

This unusual stagecoach seat-storage unit is designed for useful place in a child's room.

By Bill Meyerriecks

THIS WEEK'S Sketchbook design project presents a handsome piece of furniture for the playroom or child's bedroom. It has the value of being both a seat and a storage unit. Designed for the youngster's room in the theme of the old west, that of the stagecoach seat, it is a rewarding job for the weekend woodworker to tackle.

Sketchbook plan S-199 gives all details, parts and step-by-step construction drawings to make the stagecoach seat-storage unit. It is primarily straight board construction for the seat-storage space. Full size patterns printed in the plan give you exact templates for the arms and the bottom shapes of the box. Perhaps the only step that requires a bit of workmanship is measuring and setting in the dowels under the arms and at the seat back. Being careful solves this.

The Stagecoach Seat is sized to fit neatly at the foot of a twin-size bed and this length of 36 inches is suitable for storing blankets, bed linen or off-season clothes for the little guy. It is especially handy at the foot of the bed. Youngsters need a sturdy place they can sit on to tie their shoes and a place, too, to perhaps store the treasures and toys of their life.

TO OBTAIN the storage-bench unit plan S-199, send name and address and 50 cents to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90812.

Tables That Save Space

Nesting tables, shown here by Pat Priest, of NBC, are substitute for old-time TV trays.

By Steve Ellingson

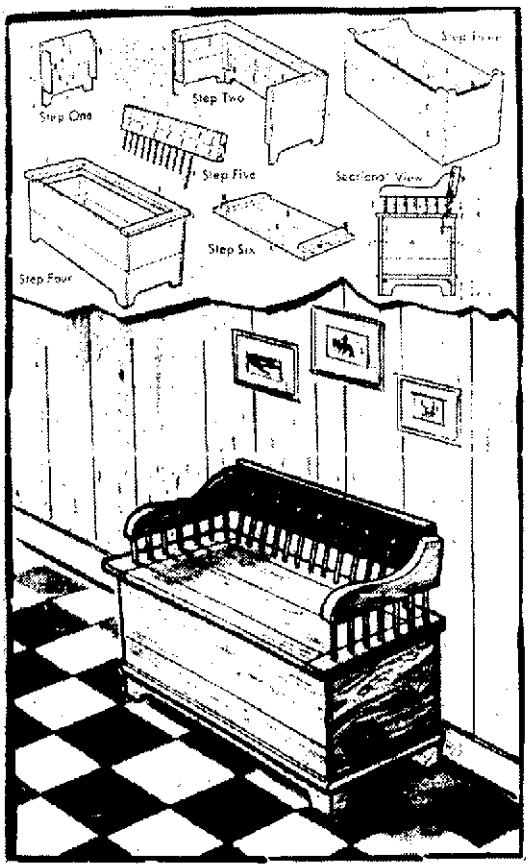

SPACE SAVING or "flexible" furniture becomes more in demand as room sizes in new houses and apartments shrink. The all-purpose nesting tables shown herewith are a good substitute for old-time spidery TV trays and are exactly right for chair - side or cigarette tables. They may be shifted about easily for serving drinks or for a buffet supper for individual guests. They nest snugly, one inside the other, when not in use.

These tables may be made easily and inexpensively and in one weekend in the home workshop when full-size patterns are used. Hardwoods in plywood form may be used. Pattern Packet No. 366 contains trace-on patterns, pictures and full directions. To order, send 50 cents with name and address to Steve Ellingson, Pattern Dept., Southland Magazine, Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

Hand-carved oxen pull a cartful of flowers on the lawn of a home handyman and wood carver.

Project in Wood

By Bertha Blanchard

REMINISCENT of pioneer days, this attractive replica of an old ox cart is especially suitable for a Southern California garden. An interesting project for a member of an adult education wood-carving class or for the home handyman with a hobby of wood-carving. While the cart is simple to make, the oxen require more skill.

Select a block of wood slightly larger than your figure. Clamp the block you intend to carve to a wooden table. Then make a pattern of the general outline of the ox and cut the silhouette out of cardboard with a pair of scissors. Tack this side-view pattern to the block and trace the outline. Then with a coping saw cut the outline of your figure. More detailed patterns are then made on paper of side, top, back and front views and lines traced on block with carbon paper. With your pocketknife round off the rough figure you have sawed and smooth it down with sandpaper. Carve a little at a time, fitting pattern to block until it fits perfectly at all points, so that nose, legs, ears, etc., will be at the same distance from the end of the figure as they were on side view.

TO MAKE oxen stand firmly on the lawn, base boards were placed under the feet. The wagon tongue rests on this base between the oxen and a board placed on their necks forms the yoke. Then the whole unit is painted white, with a final coat of outdoor paint to prevent weathering.

The cart, filled with pots of blooming plants, becomes a portable flower bed that adds color and beauty where most needed. Or the box may be filled with a good fertilized soil and used as a permanent flower bed for growing low plants with a profusion of blossoms.

Since good drainage is necessary for the box flower bed, this is provided through cracks between the boards. For best results the soil should be changed once a year in both pots and flower bed.

Elopement

there were reports that Josefa had been forcibly abducted.

Vicar Jose Sanchez of San Gabriel finally ruled that the marriage was valid.

Fitch, a storekeeper, surveyor, and sometime partner of Don Juan Temple and Don Abel Stearns, was granted Sotoyome Rancho in 1841, and became one of the great rancheros. He died in San Diego in 1849, and was the last person to be buried on Presidio Hill. The family moved to the rancho, near Healdsburg.

In her "Narration of the Widow Fitch," Josefa indicated that their years together were ideal ones.

By Bertha Blanchard

REMINISCENT of pioneer days, this attractive replica of an old ox cart is especially suitable for a Southern California garden. An interesting project for a member of an adult education wood-carving class or for the home handyman with a hobby of wood-carving. While the cart is simple to make, the oxen require more skill.

Select a block of wood slightly larger than your figure. Clamp the block you intend to carve to a wooden table. Then make a pattern of the general outline of the ox and cut the silhouette out of cardboard with a pair of scissors. Tack this side-view pattern to the block and trace the outline. Then with a coping saw cut the outline of your figure. More detailed patterns are then made on paper of side, top, back and front views and lines traced on block with carbon paper. With your pocketknife round off the rough figure you have sawed and smooth it down with sandpaper. Carve a little at a time, fitting pattern to block until it fits perfectly at all points, so that nose, legs, ears, etc., will be at the same distance from the end of the figure as they were on side view.

TO MAKE oxen stand firmly on the lawn, base boards were placed under the feet. The wagon tongue rests on this base between the oxen and a board placed on their necks forms the yoke. Then the whole unit is painted white, with a final coat of outdoor paint to prevent weathering.

The cart, filled with pots of blooming plants, becomes a portable flower bed that adds color and beauty where most needed. Or the box may be filled with a good fertilized soil and used as a permanent flower bed for growing low plants with a profusion of blossoms.

Since good drainage is necessary for the box flower bed, this is provided through cracks between the boards. For best results the soil should be changed once a year in both pots and flower bed.

Elopement

there were reports that Josefa had been forcibly abducted.

Vicar Jose Sanchez of San Gabriel finally ruled that the marriage was valid.

Fitch, a storekeeper, surveyor, and sometime partner of Don Juan Temple and Don Abel Stearns, was granted Sotoyome Rancho in 1841, and became one of the great rancheros. He died in San Diego in 1849, and was the last person to be buried on Presidio Hill. The family moved to the rancho, near Healdsburg.

In her "Narration of the Widow Fitch," Josefa indicated that their years together were ideal ones.

Eskimo Reflection in Oil

—Photos by the Author

Joan Arend Kickbush and "Eskimo Reflections," her oils, in the studio of her Anchorage home.

By Phyllis Eileen Lancaster

FORMER Long Beach resident, Joan Arend Kickbush, is as warm, friendly and pixie-ish as her charming paintings of Eskimo children.

The walls of her hilltop studio on the outskirts of Anchorage, Alaska, are covered with these distinctive paintings.

The Eskimo children of Nome and Kotzebue captivated the artistic imagination of Mrs. Kickbush while she was there on an Alaskan teachers' tour.

When she returned, she began to capture on canvas the many moods of the kindergarteners she taught, but the finished paintings portrayed the Eskimo physiognomy rather than white.

"Five year olds are a wonderful age," was Joan's comment, as she dramatized how one of her budding kindergarten artists had worked at an easel.

EVEN THOUGH she has no children of her own, she "breathes" life into the children she paints, through her love, interest and understanding of her cherished 5-year-olds.

She does not use models, per se, but has a sketchbook full of ideas which she transfers to the rough side of masonite with charcoal. She uses artists' wax, instead of linseed oil and turpentine, to give her oils a mattee finish.

She paints with a palette knife which she has had for years. It was two inches longer, but wears and breaks and has to be filed and tapered. Occasionally she may use a hairpin or other sharp object for a special effect.

"I had to clean so many brushes when I began my career as a commercial artist, that I seldom use a brush except to sign my name," she explained.

IN ADDITION to her oils, she uses watercolors, charcoal, ink and pastels. She has been known literally to wear the skin from her little finger in blending her pastels.

She also markets Christmas cards, stationery, and has recently added to her list of accomplishments, a coloring book, "Life in an Eskimo Village." Her greatest compliment came when she learned that the Eskimos are buying it because it is so authentic.

She has also illustrated the first textbook on Alaska for elementary grades, entitled, "This is Alaska," and her adopted state is proud of her contribution in recording its culture through her art.

ONE OF HER paintings was recently presented to Mrs. Hubert Humphrey at a United Nations tea in Anchorage. Her work is in the permanent collection of the University of Wisconsin, and one of her paintings hangs in the head chaplain's office in Washington, D.C., a gift of the Alaska Crippled Children's Association.

Her style is realistic, with the charm and appeal of Hummel figurines. When asked which was her favorite painting, she replied, "the one I'm working on."

She and her husband have just purchased a plane and hope to fly to some of the remote Eskimo villages to study Eskimo life.

"We want to see first-hand what happens from early morning to late at night."

It's this research that gives Joan Kickbush's paintings that authentic "alive" feeling.

Eskimo children are Mrs. Kickbush's favorite subjects. She paints 14 to 16 hours a day.

Annuals Enhance Gardens

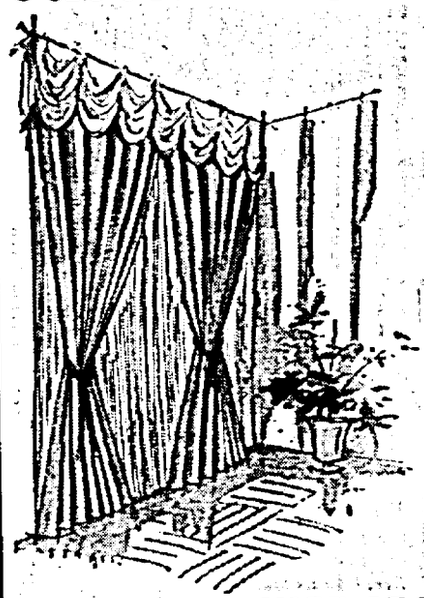

Almost any and every group of plants in your yard can be enhanced by the addition of annuals. The dark green of evergreens may be brightened by a foreground of red salvias. Shrubs which bloom in spring can be underplanted with petunias for summer flowers.

The hedge would look far prettier with a ribbon planting of portulacas or dwarf snapdragons on the side towards the house or, perhaps, on both sides. And the planting around the house certainly would be more pleasing in appearance all summer if the bright blossoms of dwarf marigolds or zinnias were added to it.

Even the rose garden looks handsomer if a ground cover of sweet alyssum is added by merely scattering the seeds of this annual where sheets of white blooms are wanted.

Hypnosis Cools 'Em

By Lou Jobst

HYPNOSIS may make it possible for an astronaut to "stay cool" on searing trips through space.

This is the conclusion of Dr. Perry London, chief of the Psychological Service Center at the University of Southern California.

Dr. London, in a paper presented to the American Society of Clinical Hypnosis, said hypnosis may help a space voyager to pull through a sudden exposure to extreme heat from the sun if the air-cooling in his capsule should fail.

THE UNITED STATES Air Force had asked Dr. Loondon to find out if an astronaut could maintain efficient performance if the capsule's refrigeration system should go out during an orbital flight facing the sun.

Medical evidence is that human efficiency begins to deteriorate when temperatures exceed 85 degrees.

To find out how an astronaut might fare at higher temperatures, Dr. London placed 40 student volunteers into a cabin heated to 111½ degrees Fahrenheit with 55% relative humidity.

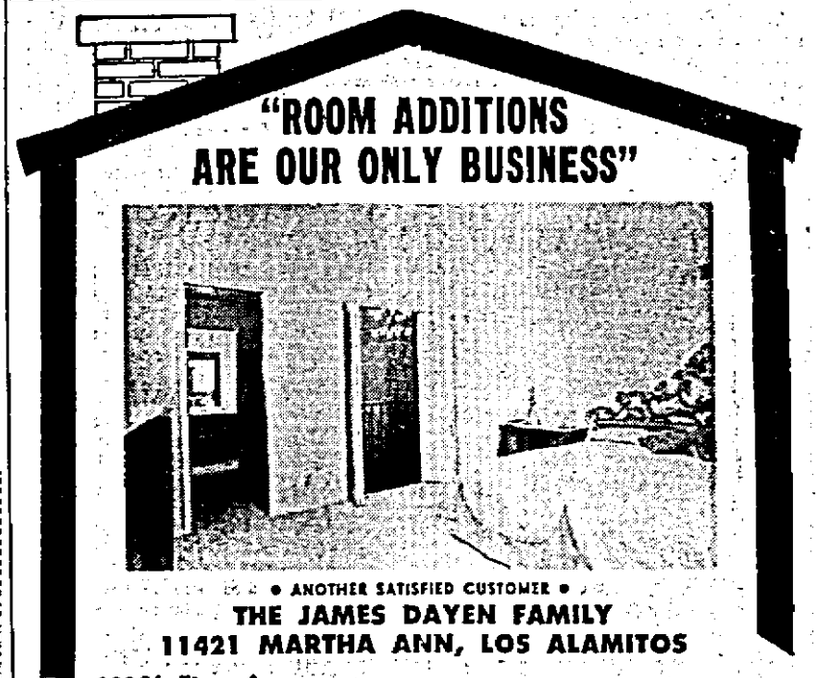

"WE HYPNOTIZED them with verbal methods to increase their bodily resistance to heat and put them in the hot cabin for an hour at a time with medical doctors ready on a standby basis in case anything happened," said Dr. London.

"Under hypnosis the volunteers didn't feel the heat and performed various tests with maximum efficiency."

The SC psychologist said it also appears that sheer drive and will power, or "nonhypnotic motivation," helps an astronaut to withstand heat.

Dr. Perry London of USC believes hypnosis can keep astonauts cool when mercury soars.

Sled Dogs Derby Set

By Eleanor A. Price

INTRA VALLEY and Western Cat Clubs conclude their two-day show today at Morgan Hall, 8th Street and Locust Avenue, Long Beach.

Next Saturday and Sunday the annual Sled Dog Derby will be held on the north shore of Big Bear Lake. Beautifully coated dogs going into harness will consist of Samoyeds, Alaskan Malamutes, Siberian huskies, and perhaps other breeds. Both the Akita and Irish setter have enjoyed sled races in the past.

The Derby will start at 9:30 a. m. Saturday with the classic cross-country long-distance race, and will conclude Sunday afternoon with whole families enjoying fun races.

Dogs used with sleds are not a haphazard collection of untrained aggressive dogs but carefully selected companion dogs which have been trained and kept in training, if necessary, by pulling sleds on wheels on quiet neighborhood streets. Each dog learns to play a part that seems best suited for him. Some prefer to be lead dogs, others work best at the point position, directly behind the lead dog. Still others prefer the wheel points near the sled or the swing position between.

THE LEAD DOG on a team holds the most honored position, for he must be a born leader, the one whose litter-mates follow him around. His influence may not be as absolute as in the northern Eskimo teams. Northern dogs refuse to accept a lead dog as one of themselves but as the chief only.

Also in the north many sled dogs know little human affection. They do receive plenty of exercise, however, for natives use them to freight supplies, to carry mail, to travel to various villages, to go out on frozen sea to fish and hunt, to bring fresh ice from rivers for drinking purposes.

Each breed of sled dog has his own fine characteristics. The Samoyed is loved for his white beauty and smiling face. The Alaskan Malamute from the days of Jack London have noted as a strong racer with gentle manners. Everyone fell in love with this breed when Walt Disney gave us "Nikki, Wild Dog of the North." As for the Siberian huskie, he is the preferred dog of the Mounties in Canada. And veterinarians in Alaska report in Journal of the American Veterinarian Medical Assn. that Siberian huskies give them the least trouble. The breed is quiet, unflinching when subjected to examination and injections, and very hardy. The Siberian is the smallest of sled dogs.

WHATEVER the breed, the sled dog needs love and respect if he is also to be a good family friend. And if trained and used in his natural work, attenion should be given his pads in the event of cuts suffered. Also he needs frequent checking for rope burns.

The Northern Dog News ($3 annually) is available from Raymond Thompson, 15815 Second Place West, Alderwood Manor, Washington.

THESE ARE THE WEEDS YOU WON'T HAVE TO PULL WHEN YOU USE GERMAIN'S DICHONDRA WEED CONTROL

Crabgrass

Bermuda Grass

Bluegrass

Chickweed

Barnyard Grass

Florida Pusley

Pigweed

A proven product that gets to more weeds than other brands

No more bending, no more back aches. Just spread on Germain's Dichondra Weed Control, an outstanding, new product that knocks out established Bluegrass and Bermuda Grass, Crabgrass before it sprouts, and eleven more unwelcome weeds. While it dooms weeds and grasses that encroach on your dichondra, Germain's does not burn or retard your lawn, even a newly seeded one.

GETS TO MORE WEEDS THAN OTHER BRANDS

That's because Germain's is made with uniform granules. Each granule is impregnated with all the elements in the product ...and this includes Diphenamid, the miraculous weed control chemical. These uniform granules provide a smooth, even texture that spreads evenly, gets to every part of your lawn. Not every product sold as a weed control can make this claim. In many of these, the weed control chemical is separated from other elements in the mix. The result: Large and small particles, an uneven mix in which the weed control agent reaches only part of your lawn. With Germain's you're assured of complete weed control coverage.

FEEDS DICHONDRA TOO

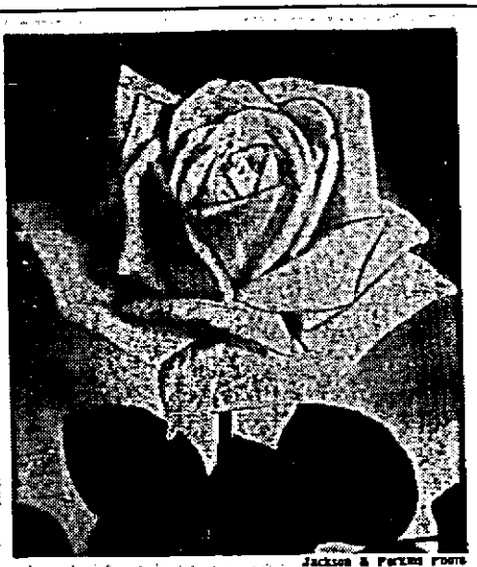

Not only does Germain's knock out weeds, it feeds your dichondra just the right amount of nourishing nitrogen fertilizer to keep it green and healthy. For a beautiful, weed-free lawn, ask for Germain's Dichondra Weed Control. There is a difference!

Rose From Holland

GOLDEN HAZE, a yellow rose and already in high favor in Europe, comes from Verschurens of Haps, Holland, previous producers of such roses as Golden Scepter, Orange Delight, White Swan and many others. Golden Haze is a seedling of Peace and Golden Rapture, combining best features of the parents. Blooms keep well in all seasons and grow a full five inches in diameter. Buds and flowers are classic hybrid tea form and are of exhibition quality.

'Friendship Garden'

By Anna Lemley

In a corner of the yard that Mrs. Florence Sunn, of 767 Junipero Ave., calls "Friendship Garden," are plants not as easily recognized today as in a past generation. These make up a small collection of scented geraniums, plants commonly found with rosemary, lavender, thyme and basil in gardens of long ago. The fragrance of scented geraniums is in the foliage instead of the blossom, and is released when a leaf is bruised or crushed.

Friendship Garden got its name because many of the flowers and shrubs were gifts, exchanges or slips from the yards of Mrs. Sunn's friends. The scented geraniums, also a friendship gift, arrived in a rather unusual way—from the center of a banquet table! Mrs. Sunn, a staff member of the Greater Long Beach Girl Scout Council, was attending a scout conference in Newport Beach. Table decorations at the banquet were intriguing, tall candles surrounded by masses of oddly shaped, scented leaves. The member who had made the unique arrangements, using sprigs from her own geranium collection, responded to the interest of the group by dividing the decorations among them as slips for new collections.

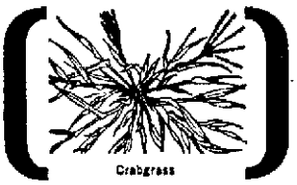

EACH VARIETY of scented geranium has its own distinctive perfume, yet one seemingly borrowed from other growing things. Neither do the plants resemble each other in the size or shape of the leaves, yet all are obviously geraniums.

Leaves of the peppermint variety are the largest and most beautiful of Mrs. Sunn's collection. In texture they are like rich plush. When grown in full sun the leaves are shaped like a maple leaf, but in shade the shapes vary and are ruffled. There is a lime-scented miniature, and a lemon Prince Rupert with tiny crinkled leaves. Rose geraniums, the best known of these plants, were favorites in Grandmother's day. Dried leaves were used as sachet. Fresh ones were added to jellies for flavor. Mrs. Sunn recalls the delicate fragrance that clung to letters received from her grandmother—the source, a bit of rose geranium tucked in each one.

The spider rose variety, so called because of its lacy leaf, is a rampant grower. Mrs. Sunn's plant is five feet tall—and still growing. The wider leafed rose variety, P. graveleus, is a lusty grower also. In fact most scented geraniums require frequent pinching back, a pleasant task that perfumes the air. One lacy leaved plant has a pungent medicinal odor. Still another unidentified variety is re-

Metrosideros, "New Zealand Christmas tree," grows well in coastal areas, even at the shore.

By Joe Littlefield

METROSIDEROS, (New Zealand Christmas tree) named "Pohutukawa" by the Maoris who were the original settlers there, is a tree that grows naturally around the coasts of Auckland and Coromandel Peninsulas, and the Bay of Plenty. It has been introduced to other areas of New Zealand as well as finding its way to other parts of the world, including Southern California.

This somewhat slow growing, many branched tree of moderate size has attractive, glossy green foliage that is woolly underneath. It smothers itself with masses of crimson to deep red, showy flowers like those of the bottle brush during the Christmas season. While in New Zealand, we saw them start to blossom last December which is the beginning of the summer season.

Metrosideros tree in Southern California flowers during June and July, has been known to stand salt spray on its foliage and to tolerate even salt water at its roots. It is a desirable tree for coastal areas.

A SMALL, fine-foliaged tree for hot, dry areas is Parkinsonia aculeata, "Jerusalem Thorn" tree, that burgeons with masses of small, bright yellow flowers early in the summer.

One of the many colorful annuals we saw flowering in New Zealand gardens and parks was nemesia, with orchid-like flowers for edgings, borders, and rock gardens. Colors were orange, pink, blue, crimson, yellow, rose, and white. The plants grow to about a foot tall and almost the same size in spread in full sun or up to half shade. You, too, can easily grow them by sowing the seeds right where you want the colorful mass of flowers. Nemesia grows well along the coast, and inland, too.

Dimorphotheca aurantiaca, single daisy, blossoms about a foot tall. Seed sown now provides bright splashes of yellow, orange, or white flowers in bare spots areas of the garden or yard.

PLANT flat-size calendulas, pansies, violas, sweet peas, iceland poppies, stocks and snapdragons, larkspurs, scabiosas, in sunny flower beds now.

You'll miss some stately spikes of colorful blooms if you pass up planting more gladiolus, because they grow so easily and provide long lasting stalks of flowers. Set out a dozen or more to get a mass color effect.

Time to transplant camellias, if need be, is during the blooming season while plants still are dormant.

Garden Clubs

Mary L. Armstrong of "Corona Clippers" will speak on the pruning and culture of camellias before members of the Long Beach Garden Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at 208 Linden Ave. President Florence Sunn will preside. There will be a potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m.

"How I Grow and Groom Fuchsias" will be the topic of Elton Kidder of Downey in a talk for the Long Beach Fuchsia Society at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Machinist Hall, 728 Elm Ave. The public is invited.

New and Popular

WINNER of the Margarete Hertrich Award for best Japonica seedling, one of five honors bestowed annually by the Southern California Camellia Society upon camellias of merit, Tiffany (above) has become a widely favored specimen since introduction last fall by Select Camellias Inc., Whittier. It is large to very large, pink and of loose peony to anemone form, blooming from January through April. It is also an All America Camellia Selection.

relocation housing. Facing the Nihon Machi is an empty swath reserved for the cultural and trade center.

This open expanse bounded by Laguna, Fillmore, Geary and Post Streets is slated to become a San Francisco showplace in the cosmopolitan tradition of Chinatown and Italianate North Beach and Fisherman's Wharf.

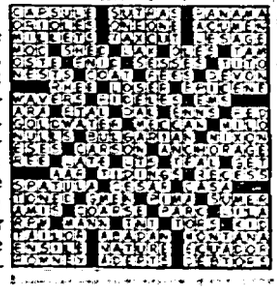

The scale model exhibited in the lobby of San Francisco's City Hall provides a preview of the shape of things to come there. The shape is rectangular, clean of line and distinctly Oriental in feeling. It describes a complex of 150 shops for Japan-crafted and manufactured merchandise; tempura bars and tea and coffee houses; a 13-story, 156-room Japanese ryokan (inn) and western-style hotel; a 1,000-seat theater to feature kabuki and noh plays and Japanese films; an 800-car underground garage, and a Peace Plaza with outdoor festival area. The plaza's crowning feature will be the serenely beautiful, five-ring Pagoda of Peace designed by the world-famed Japanese architect, Yoshiro Taniguchi, "to convey the friendship and goodwill of the Japanese to the people of the United States."

MUCH OF THE groundwork for this international undertaking was laid by its prime motivator, M. Justin Herman, executive director of the San Francisco Redevelopment Agency and an avowed Japanophile. Herman made repeated trips to Japan to promote interest there. As a result, the Japanese Finance Ministry approved the release of dollars for private investment in the venture. The efforts of Herman and his staff helped to pave the way for National-Braemar, Inc., the developer group responsible for building and financing the Center. Kinki Nippon Railway Co. and Nippon "Dream" Konko, both with diverse holdings ranging from department stores to amusement parks in Japan, have come in as major investors. Japan-based firms dealing in textiles, jewels, furniture, optical goods, clothing, travel, entertainment and food will establish outlets in the Center.

If it is to fit in with the shibui flavor of this scene, the Nihon Machi, too, must keep a date with the decorators. The plans are ready. As envisioned by the architects, a four-square-block section of the old Japanese business center between Post and Bush and Webster and Laguna Streets will be beautified with new and restored structures, including a shopping arcade, dwellings, all interconnected with landscaped malls and walks. To implement this phase of the program, the Redevelopment Agency has encouraged local Japanese businessmen to form their own redevelopment association with a view to attracting support from the whole of Northern California's increasingly affluent Japanese-American community numbering about 50,000.

Together, these two projects—the new cultural and trade center and the renovated Nihon Machi—take in nine square blocks. When completed, this tastefully conceived city-within-a-city should afford the best view of Japan this side of the Pacific, a fitting prospect for Osaka's sister city, the Gateway to the Pacific, the "Orientation Center" of the West.

Space is the major question when starting a scented geranium collection. The plants will grow in sun or shade, in pots or beds. They require little care except control of growth, are not subject to disease or pests as are more delicate plants. One may have a small collection, like Mrs. Sunn's, tucked in a corner of the yard, or a fence bed such as she plans when more varieties are found. Grandmother liked to plant them along a garden path so that her skirts would brush them as she passed, releasing the fragrance. Botanists claim that there are as many as 250 varieties of these plants of the past. In addition to the fruit, flower and spice kinds Mrs. Sunn has in Friendship Garden, there are said to be peach, apple, apricot, nutmeg.

Boating Legislation

until the facts can be gathered." Richards would like to see a comprehensive study—at least, at the state level—of boating accidents, their causes and with recommendations for remedial action.

Many believe that some sort of government agency to control boating is going to be necessary at the state if not the national level.

They point out that the size of boating has grown beyond the limited capacities of private organizations to educate and train mariners.

SOMEWHERE between 37 and 40 million persons use boats for leisure time fun in this country, these experts argue. One in every 25 Americans (3.7 million boats) owns a boat. Three of five U.S. citizens participate in aquatic recreation.

"That's a big education problem," says one maritime expert, "if education is the answer."

(The federal act, which eventually will effect 80% of all boat owners, provides that all mechanically-powered boats be registered with a number, all accidents be reported to the Coast Guard, and reckless and negligent boat operators be prosecuted by the CG. It also urges that each state pass a model law drafted by the Council of State Government.)

Troubles We Don't Talk About

What Troubles? Complaints so personal that few people talk about them—burning, irritation and itching in the sensitive perianal (rectal and genital) area.

What Causes Them? Many things, but especially the lack of hygiene. Doctors say that lack of proper cleanliness often prevents the condition from clearing up. This is true because the perianal area is repeatedly contaminated with potentially harmful bacteria and fungi.

What Do Specialists Recommend? Thorough and regular cleansing, particularly after each bowel movement. This halts the vicious "itch-scratch" cycle. In many cases, this alone will solve the problem of burning, itching, and irritation.

Why Not Plain, Ordinary Soap? Because soap washes away natural skin oils. Frequent and repeated use of soap can cause dryness and irritation, resulting in itching.

What Should Be Used? A new, foamy aerosol medication called ANNUL. It is a gentle but thorough cleanser to be used on toilet tissue or cotton. ANNUL is an antibacterial, antifungal cleanser—soothing, emollient and protective. Soothes burning and irritation. Helps to protect against secondary infection of raw, irritated skin.

The Best Way to stop itch-irritation is never let it get started. Begin regular use of ANNUL this week. Or if you suffer now, begin relief in seconds with ANNUL. It relieves itch-irritation without local pain killers that can mask symptoms and postpone sound medical treatment. If your discomfort persists by all means see your doctor. Ask your doctor whether it isn't wise to use ANNUL with other medications.

Effective Deodorant: Women especially, can be troubled with embarrassing odor. ANNUL is an effective deodorant foam because of its superior cleansing and antibacterial actions. Makes you feel fresher. Secure. Completely groomed.

Most people, after they have tried ANNUL, never use toilet tissue without it. And so inexpensive. You'll find ANNUL in your pharmacy.

Drake's Gold

the weather that summer of 1579 had been too foggy to get a perfect "fix," he had been able to get an accurate latitude reading, which checked with that of Drake's Estero (or Bay). Sailing past the Golden Gate and the finest harbor in the Pacific in dense fog, would he have chosen this tiny lagoon, now filled with sand? The Guild carefully prepared tidal charts for 1579, studied air photos over the past decade or two, and found that tides and currents caused periodic changes in the appearance of the Estero, and that it could easily have resembled the "fit Harborough" shown on Hondius' chart.

By process of eliminating every other possible careenage, the Guild established Drake's Bay as the authentic site. In 1959, they convinced an impressive ally, Curator A. A. Cumming of Buckley Abbey, English museum and former home of Drake.

THE REDWOOD Empire Association, a travel-promotion organization, had placed a temporary plaque at Drake's Bay in 1937. In 1953, REA prepared a replica of the "plate of brasse" as a California gift for Queen Elizabeth II on the occasion of her coronation.

Boating Legislation

until the facts can be gathered." Richards would like to see a comprehensive study—at least, at the state level—of boating accidents, their causes and with recommendations for remedial action.

Many believe that some sort of government agency to control boating is going to be necessary at the state if not the national level.

They point out that the size of boating has grown beyond the limited capacities of private organizations to educate and train mariners.

SOMEWHERE between 37 and 40 million persons use boats for leisure time fun in this country, these experts argue. One in every 25 Americans (3.7 million boats) owns a boat. Three of five U.S. citizens participate in aquatic recreation.

"That's a big education problem," says one maritime expert, "if education is the answer."

(The federal act, which eventually will effect 80% of all boat owners, provides that all mechanically - powered boats be registered with a number, all accidents be reported to the Coast Guard, and reckless and negligent boat operators be prosecuted by the CG. It also urges that each state pass a model law drafted by the Council of State Government.)

Troubles We Don't Talk About

What Troubles? Complaints so personal that few people talk about them—burning, irritation and itching in the sensitive perianal (rectal and genital) area.

What Causes Them? Many things, but especially the lack of hygiene. Doctors say that lack of proper cleanliness often prevents the condition from clearing up. This is true because the perianal area is repeatedly contaminated with potentially harmful bacteria and fungi.

What Do Specialists Recommend? Thorough and regular cleansing, particularly after each bowel movement. This halts the vicious "itch-scratch" cycle. In many cases, this alone will solve the problem of burning, itching, and irritation.

Why Not Plain, Ordinary Soap? Because soap washes away natural skin oils. Frequent and repeated use of soap can cause dryness and irritation, resulting in itching.

What Should Be Used? A new, foamy aerosol medication called ANNUL. It is a gentle but thorough cleanser to be used on toilet tissue or cotton. ANNUL is an antibacterial, antifungal cleanser—soothing, emollient and protective. Soothes burning and irritation. Helps to protect against secondary infection of raw, irritated skin.

The Best Way to stop itch-irritation is never let it get started. Begin regular use of ANNUL this week. Or if you suffer now, begin relief in seconds with ANNUL. It relieves itch irritation without local pain killers that can mask symptoms and postpone sound medical treatment. If your discomfort persists by all means see your doctor. Ask your doctor whether it isn't wise to use ANNUL with other medications.

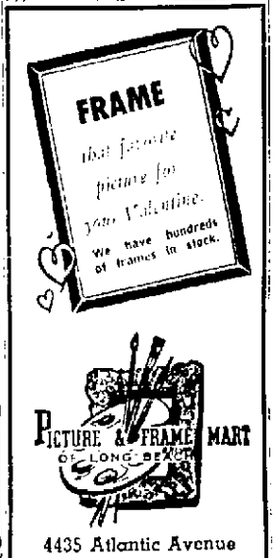

Effective Deodorant: Women especially, can be troubled with embarrassing odor. ANNUL is an effective deodorant foam because of its superior cleansing and antibacterial actions. Makes you feel fresher. Secure. Completely groomed.

Most people, after they have tried ANNUL, never use toilet tissue without it. And so inexpensive. You'll find ANNUL in your pharmacy.

IN ITS way, it's as beautiful as a sunset or a painting by Matisse.

It's called Flaming Steak Royale and it's such a masterpiece of culinary art that only one restaurant in town is willing to take the time and special effort required to prepare it. At Alfred Restaurant, 700 E. 45th St., near Atlantic, the patrons watch with mounting fascination as the steak is cooked at their table in an elegant chafing dish.

The meat is the finest obtainable, a top sirloin cut into a butterfly shape. It is usually prepared by the head waiter, a gentleman with a gentle touch and a knowledge of fire and flavors. He sautes the steak in butter, adding shallots (small onions) and quantities of red wine. When the steak has been cooked to tender perfection, he ignites the meat itself in a gorgeous display which whets the most jaded appetite. The flame soon dies and the guest, savoring each mouthful of juicy beef, discovers that it tastes even better than it looks.

Alfred Cornwell, the restaurant's astute and charming host, serves Flaming Steak Royale for $5.50 on a bountiful table d'hote dinner which includes a tray of hors d'oeuvres, superb soup or fine salad, potato, vegetable, beverage and whipped candies as a dessert tidbit. His restaurant, a gathering place for epicures, also features another unique specialty—the Champagne and Candlelight complete dinner, including a broiled filet mignon with Bordelaise sauce, Hanns Kornell champagne and extraordinary crepes Suzette. It is served Monday through Thursday.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Show-Business Was No Business for Connie Until--

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

UNTIL TWO YEARS AGO, Connie Stevens felt she could leave show-business with less pain than if she cut her finger.

"I thought I could walk away and tell myself, 'Fine.'"

But she didn't walk away and two years changed her attitude completely.

"I can't now imagine doing anything different than being an actress," she said.

What changed her mind was not securing the lead in ABC-TV's Monday night situationer, "Wendy and Me." She's very happy with the series, but it came as an aftermath of her "acting maturity."

What contributed to that maturity were "three moments of truth."

THE FIRST OCCURRED during "Hawaiian Eye," a series in which she had the regular role of Cricket.

It wasn't much and, in fact, Connie thought explaining it would sound very silly to most persons.

It was a line:

"See you."

When she said it, the line came out with a "trilling sound."

That sound was the Connie Stevens of high-school days. She hadn't planned to use it during the filming of the scene.

"It came out organically," she said. "I was really myself. I was in there. It was a moment that was so truthful."

The second moment was when she saw herself in a particular scene in the movie "Susan Slade."

It was a scene during which she made up her mind to commit suicide. She hadn't felt she knew how to get in the mood.

There was nothing she could recall, no past experience that could motivate her to express suicide.

"I doubted myself," said Connie.

That doubt vanished when she saw herself on the screen. She knew it was truth. For her, truth was triumph.

THE THIRD MOMENT CAME while filming a scene for the movie "Two on a Guillotine."

It was a scene during which she was to recall something about her mother. As a child, Connie didn't know her mother very well and it was difficult probing her memory.

The script line was:

"I can remember the way she was."

But that wasn't what Connie said. What she did say was:

"I can remember the way she smelled like soap."

It came out without planning. It came out "organically." The producer kept Connie's line in the scene.

Three moments they were that convinced Connie she was an actress. Three moments that have made her so ambitious, she's restless when she has a day off.

"I'd like to play everything from a nun to a man," she said.

The three moments, however, have not given Connie any pretentious ideas that she's a shining movie star.

Recently, at a movie premiere, Connie was stopped by a group of teen-agers seeking her autograph.

She happily complied, smiling on the outside and laughing inwardly.

Why the inner laugh?

Connie smiled at the recollection.

"Well," she explained. "There I was with a cold and a fever sore. Just like everybody else.

"Some movie star!"

U.S. Wonders

ABC has made a deal for the 1965-66 season for a series of one-hour specials depicting the wonders of the United States, scenically, culturally and so on. The shows will be produced by the Phil D'Antoni-Norman Baer team that created the "Elizabeth Taylor's London" and "Sophia Loren in Rome" shows during the past two seasons.

Model 250

SUPERSCOPE®

Not only can you purchase prerecorded sterco tapes, but you can record your own stereo tapes on the Sony 250. This recorder is so simple to operate that a child can do it. Pay a visit to Western's comfortable sound room and try out the Sony 250 for yourself. Like the entire Sony line of high quality recorders, the 250 is always set up for an instant demonstration. And the Sony 250 is completely transistorized — which means that there is no time required for warm-up. It plays the moment you turn it on.

As an added inducement for you to see the Sony 250 — if you mention this column, we will give you FREE OF CHARGE a 3¼-inch reel of Sony's new fabulous polyester-base recording tape — just for coming in. No obligation to buy. This offer expires February 13th — and only one free roll to a family.

Critic's Corner

Excerpted Reviews on Recent TV Shows

Program: "The Magnificent Yankee," aired June 28 on channel 4.

Two of the theatre's heavyweights, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, showed up last night in an NBC-TV play better suited to the featherweight class, "The Magnificent Yankee," adapted from the Broadway original. The 90-minute "Hall of Fame" special centered on the love story of Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes and his wife Fanny.

It is always a pleasure to see the Lunts in action, for there is something undeniably intoxicating about indestructibility, even if it is sometimes over-rated. And their presence gave frequent amiability to last night's endeavor. Yet the adaptation presented to televiewers was hardly in the indestructible league, being rather like a piece of faded old chintz, sweet-smelling, fragile and obviously perishable.

Last night's work, described as an "affectionate dramatic tribute" to Holmes, was surely affectionate and a tribute, but yielded little drama, and for that matter even the love story was rather conventionally drawn in the coy romantic way of the old-fashioned stage. The "Hall of Fame" has done—and will do—much better.

Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

Perhaps I'm old-fashioned—and what's the sin?—but I thought "The Magnificent Yankee" was magnificent.

Critic Bert Resnik of "TeleVues"

Program: "For the People," premiered last Sunday on channel 2.

"For the People," CBS' new dramatic series seen last night for the first time, proved to be realistically conceived, extremely well-acted and promises to be as stimulating as its parent series, "The Defenders."

We were introduced to the workings of a New York district attorney's office. William Shatner stars as a young and dedicated assistant DA.

There was some interesting detail on investigative and interrogation procedures and an honest if disappointing climax.

It was a good show. And it will be interesting to see whether a handsome, intense but happily married hero will make the audience grade. Television heroes are traditionally bachelors and widowers, except in situation comedies.

Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

This may be "for the people" to see, but the new hour show of that name would like to have a clearer shot of its future. From where it is positioned, slotted against the leader, "Bonanza," and vintage feature films, where the rating noose strangled two other shows, it has only the advantage of being hemmed in by two strong entries on a night where only two webs vie for Nielsen's favor. For openers last Sunday night the bait was not too conducive to habit-forming. It was a watered-down "Untouchables" with all the dialog but little of the action.

Champion of the people's rights is an assistant district attorney, William Shatner, whose dedication to the job is admirable, a type of one-man crime buster. It gets him into a peck of trouble both with his superiors and at home, and so far he has no ambitions to be governor. This could come later if he lands "the big fish" of the rackets and makes him a guest of the state.

Critic Helm of "Variety"

Program: "Red Skelton," aired Feb. 2 on channel 2.

Silence was golden on CBS-TV last night when Marcel Marceau joined Red Skelton for an hour of pantomime.

Even the noise of the too-frequent commercials could not dim the grandness of the occasion and of the achievements of the two masters, who worked separately except for their version of "Pinocchio."

It was an hour of simplicity and directness that for years to come will bring joy to grownups and children who watch television around the world.

The two artists complemented each other perfectly in their different styles which gave the hour a fine sense of counterpoint: Marceau with his classical, almost ballet approach, exquisitely achieving delicate effects of pathos, comedy and tragedy; Skelton with his broad—yet precise—approach, his sense of the ridiculous, high high-style burlesque and his frank sentiment.

It is doubtful that television has presented many sequences as beautiful as one by Marceau, entitled "Bip as a Mask Maker," in which, after changing from mask to mask—by only facial expressions, of course—he finds himself unable to remove one in which he is smiling. Performing in complete silence, Marceau, as he tried desperately to remove this smiling mask, created a mood of chilling and enormously touching pathos and tragedy with the humanity of his implications. It was enough to draw tears from a hardened viewer.

Actress with 45 Awards Keeps Them 'Out of Sight'

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The award season is upon us, a veritable monsoon of Oscars, Emmys, globes, cups, plaques, medallions and statuettes.

Quite possibly no one in show business has collected more honorary hardware than Shirley Booth, the indomitable "Hazel" of television.

Miss Booth has approximately 45 awards, give or take a few bronze whatchamacallits.

Among the most impressive are three Antoinette Perry Awards (the Toni) for best performance by an actress in a Broadway show. She has an Oscar for "Come Back, Little Sheba" (1952) and a pair of Emmys for Hazel.

She also posseses a Golden Globe and Cannes Film Festival Award for Sheba.

"OF THEM ALL, the Oscar was the most thrilling because it was given me for my very first movie performance," Miss Booth said.

Miss Booth keeps her trophies out of sight to avoid having visitors comment on them.

"It's like having pictures of yourself around the house," she explained. "I know some very fine actresses who never won awards. Garbo, for instance, never got an Oscar.

"The important thing is to have people remember your performances with affection. It is a much warmer feeling to be remembered as a living testimonial to your own work than through an award."

DOES AN ACTRESS sense the award potential in a role when she agrees to play it?

"Heavens, no," Miss Booth cried.

"I'm certain no actress ever accepted a part with an Oscar or a Toni in mind. When I take a role, I usually wonder if I'd like to become a friend of the character I play, or whether I will be comfortable with her.

"As for Hazel, she's very easy to live with. She makes a very pleasant roommate for me."

Do awards mean a better choice of roles? More money?

"Again, the answer is no," she said. "I think all the honors boost a girl's ego, but they don't increase your popularity at the box-office, and they don't create a rush for your services.

"There are too many good actresses around for any one performer to demand outrageous salaries."

Miss Booth recently bought a home in Hollywood. She already leases an apartment in New York and has another home in New England.

"I keep all the trophies in New York," she said. "Nobody sees them except my secretary, and she's not impressed with them. They may be concrete evidence of my achievements, but what I live on is the affection of my audiences."

SHIRLEY BOOTH . . . Thrilled by "Oscar"

Wrestling on TV Ahead of Its Time

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Remember when people used to laugh at professional wrestling on television? How could anyone, it was smugly asked, believe or take seriously a sport that employed such obvious show business devices? How could you completely trust the doings of such sport? Who's laughing now?

Professional wrestling was way ahead of its time. There is hardly a sport that has allowed itself to be exposed to television that has not gone the show-business route. And all those that have, have little right to sneer at pro wrestling. They are the imitators—sophisticated imitators perhaps, but imitators.

ATHLETES ARE WIRED FOR SOUND: Sports introduce adjusted formats to fit into the framework of television. Only the utterly naive can believe, for instance, that being on camera, or being wired, has no effect at all on competing athletes in their speech, attitudes—and therefore inevitably at times on their abilities. One network even wants to reduce the baseball schedule to only weekends, for show-business effect to heighten interest and make it more saleable—and don't rule out any possibility when big money is involved.

THE INEVITABLE EROSION of privacy by television leads the way as all around us show-business effects blend more and more into reality, thereby diluting it. One child expert, writing of video, says youngsters seek reality in illusion, and especially nowadays for many hours a day in the illusions of television. When a television series pretends to explore a social problem and then, because of limits or saleability interest, offers only an illusory answer, or a half-truth solution, or a patently false one, who can estimate the fantastic damage that stems from a show-business approach to realities? What happens when the real world smacks one in the face?

Television newsmen will tell you frankly that show business is necessary to consider when one selects attractive looking broadcasters as opposed to others. What is it but show business when a television station advertises the news to come during an afternoon movie? Is it news, or is it an ad, or is it show business? Does a newspaper tell you to wait for a breaking story until tomorrow?

SPECIAL

ANDY WILLIAMS — The 22nd annual Golden Globes awards, determined by a poll of readers of foreign newspapers and presently by the Hollywood Foreign Press Association, will be presented on this color hour, 9 p.m., ch. 4, from the Ambassador's Cocoanut Grove. Top awards include a C.B. DeMille Award (counterpart of Oscar's Thalberg award) and world favorite male and female stars. During his usual "informal spot," Andy sings the five nominees for best song — "Dear Heart," "Circus World," "From Russia with Love," "Sunday in New York" and "Where Love Has Gone."

POINT OF VIEW — Drew Pearson and the Christian Science Monitor's Richard Strout will be among the syndicated writers taking part in a "column of the air" at 9 p.m., ch. 28. Hour-long show is a pilot for a projected series.

EAST EUROPE: Satellites out of Orbit — Dynamic changes in the Communist world since the downfall of Khrushchev, and the problems the Kremlin faces in trying to reassemble its disintegrating coalition for a conference of the Communist bloc in Moscow March 1, will be dramatized by Daniel Schorr during "CBS Reports" at 10 p.m., ch. 2. Hour spotlights two contrasting East European countries — maverick Rumania and still-loyal Czechoslovakia, the latter bound to Moscow by economic dependence. Workers, artists, students and the pampered "new class" are seen, with interviews including Rumanian president Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej and Dr. Anna Masaryk, granddaughter of Thomas Masaryk, first president of Czechoslovakia.

SPECIAL

ANDY WILLIAMS — The 22nd annual Golden Globes awards, determined by a poll of readers of foreign newspapers and presently by the Hollywood Foreign Press Association, will be presented on this color hour, 9 p.m., ch. 4, from the Ambassador's Cocoanut Grove. Top awards include a C.B. DeMille Award (counterpart of Oscar's Thalberg award) and world favorite male and female stars. During his usual "informal spot," Andy sings the five nominees for best song — "Dear Heart," "Circus World," "From Russia with Love," "Sunday in New York" and "Where Love Has Gone."

POINT OF VIEW — Drew Pearson and the Christian Science Monitor's Richard Strout will be among the syndicated writers taking part in a "column of the air" at 9 p.m., ch. 28. Hour-long show is a pilot for a projected series.

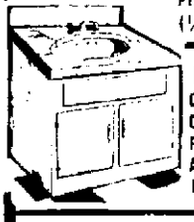

EAST EUROPE: Satellites out of Orbit — Dynamic changes in the Communist world since the downfall of Khrushchev, and the problems the Kremlin faces in trying to reassemble its disintegrating coalition for a conference of the Communist bloc in Moscow March 1, will be dramatized by Daniel Schorr during "CBS Reports" at 10 p.m., ch. 2. Hour spotlights two contrasting East European countries — maverick Rumania and still-loyal Czechoslovakia, the latter bound to Moscow by economic dependence. Workers, artists, students and the pampered "new class" are seen, with interviews including Rumanian president Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej and Dr. Anne Masaryk, granddaughter of Thomas Masaryk, first president of Czechoslovakia.

The Objector Was Conscientious

By H. D. QUIGG

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Kildare, who has been taking on tough decisions since Lew Ayres was knee-high to a stethoscope's ear, came up with a decision-wracked hour recently.

LEW AYRES

The problem: only enough serum for one patient—but two of them are dying, father and son. Who is to live? Who is to die? The son, through sheer stamina, survived even though the father was given the serum first.

This is a rather stock medical-series plot. But the whole practice of medicine in real life tends to be an extended melodrama.

The aforementioned Ayres played Dr. Kildare for years, hanging breathlessly on every word of wisdom uttered by Lionel Barrymore as the movies' Dr. Gillespie.

Sometime in late 1942 or early 1943, while the World War II draft was hungry for manpower, a bulletin came out of Hollywood. Lew Ayres had declared himself a conscientious objector. The public was somewhat shocked. Then Ayres was taken away someplace and forgotten in the national desperation of a world war.

• • • • •

ABOUT 20 YEARS and 3 months ago, shortly after the invasion of Leyte, the American wounded in one sector were being taken into a cathedral in a little beachside town named Palo. As a news correspondent, this writer entered the town one day and walked into the cathedral.

The wounded lay, gray-skinned and still, on cots or on the floor under the light of beautiful stained glass windows. A man in green fatigue jumpers was going from man to man and conversing quietly, trying to make him physically and mentally comfortable.

The face could not be mistaken. It was Lew Ayres. A conscientious objector who somehow had been attracted enough to medicine to get into a combat zone and do his best. Now, the inclination of a reporter in a spot like that is to hurry and get out the news that this national figure—for he was—had been discovered in a new and dramatic role.

Well, I never reported it. Somebody else might have, later; I don't know. I suppose my failure, or reluctance, was caused by a deep respect for physicians and all those connected with healing.

It could be that Ayres absorbed a feeling such as that in his years of playing a young doctor. It is said that actors have such afflictions. I do know that E. G. Marshall, the veteran actor who plays lawyer Preston on "The Defenders," has steeped himself in the law—as a heartfelt hobby—since taking on that continuing role.

Please pardon the digression. But if an old reporter can't reminisce, what else is there? Television reviewing?

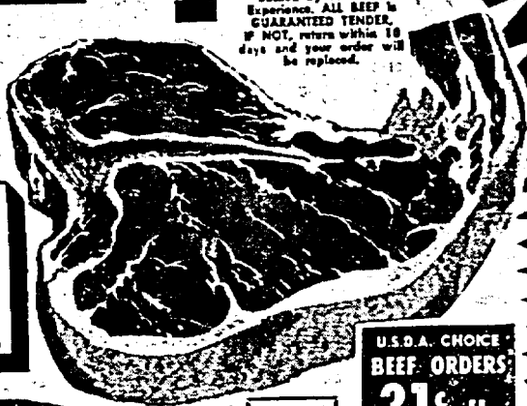

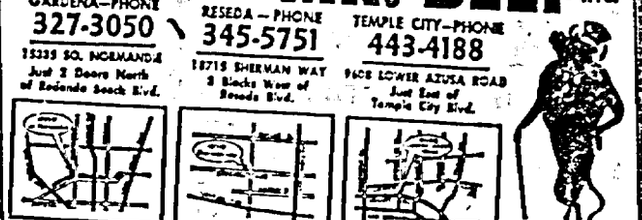

'Happily Ever After'

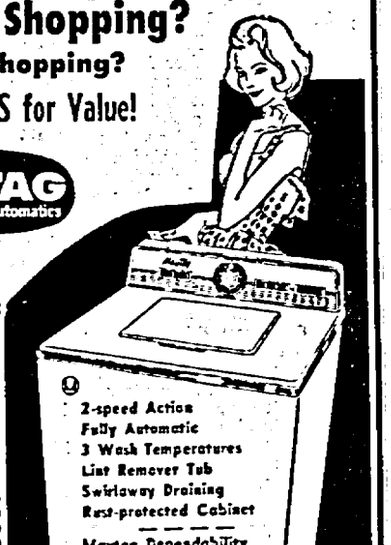

Shirley Jones is another movie star who is headed for television next season. She is leading lady in a series planned for possible use on the CBS network in the fall. "Happily Ever After" has her playing a young housewife who is gifted with a seventh sense.

SUNRISE SEMESTER—A one-term college-credit course in "The Tragic Dramas of Greece and Rome" debuts at 6 a.m., ch. 2, with Dr. Lionel Casson, NYU professor of classics, instructing the Tues.-Thur.-Sat. classes. ("Russian Literature in Translation," seen M-W-F, began its second semester Monday, same time.)

OSWALD & THE LAW—Chet Huntley is narrator for an "NBC White Paper" examination of the workings of criminal justice in the U.S., using the Lee Harvey Oswald case as a point of departure and illuminating the problems from the view of the defendant and from that of the public, from time of arrest to conviction and sentencing. Ch. 4, 10 p.m. hour focuses on the section of the Warren Report that questions whether Oswald's rights as a defendent were protected while he was in custody, and on recent Supreme Court decisions designed to prevent miscarriages of justice in offenses which arouse the passions of a community. (A second "White Paper" on crime in the U.S., "Terror in the Streets," will air April 6.)

SPECIAL

SUNRISE SEMESTER—A one-term college-credit course in "The Tragic Dramas of Greece and Rome" debuts at 6 a.m., ch. 2, with Dr. Lionel Casson, NYU professor of classics, instructing the Tues.-Thur.-Sat. classes. ("Russian Literature in Translation," seen M-W-F, began its second semester Monday, same time.)

OSWALD & THE LAW—Chet Huntley is narrator for an "NBC White Paper" examination of the workings of criminal justice in the U.S., using the Lee Harvey Oswald case as a point of departure and illuminating the problems from the view of the defendant and from that of the public, from time of arrest to conviction and sentencing. Ch. 4, 10 p.m. hour focuses on the section of the Warren Report that questions whether Oswald's rights as a defendent were protected while he was in custody, and on recent Supreme Court decisions designed to prevent miscarriages of justice in offenses which arouse the passions of a community. (A second "White Paper" on crime in the U.S., "Terror in the Streets," will air April 6.)

Abraham Lincoln Special Thursday

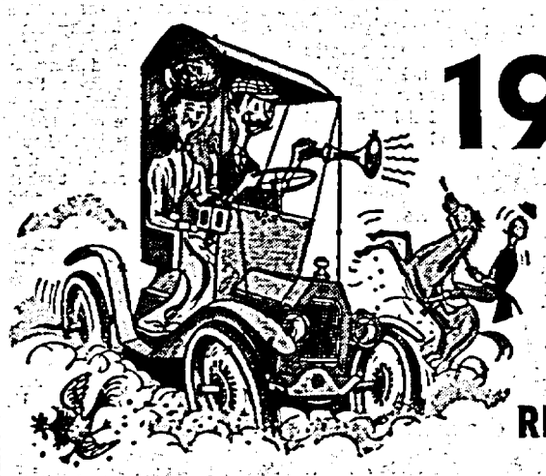

Two half-hour programs, one after the other, will be aired Thursday in connection with Abraham Lincoln's birthday.

The time is 10 p.m. and the channel is 9. The special hour program also will be repeated at noon Friday.

The first half-hour program, an Academy Award winning documentary, is entitled "The Face of Lincoln." It shows Merrell Gage sculpting the face of the Great Emancipator.

The second half-hour is titled "The Children Were Watching." It's about a six-year-old Negro girl attending the first integrated school in New Orleans.

1909 A YEAR TO REMEMBER

The Long Beach Press—Jan. 14, 1909—

Foreigners In America Have The Suffrage Denied Our Women

There are two problems confronting the American people now. One is the right of suffrage for women, and the other concerns capital and labor. In a sense one is akin to the other.

There are a number of states in the Union today which permit ALIENS TO VOTE WHO DO NOT EVEN PRETEND TO BE CITIZENS of the United States. These votes have undoubtedly elected enough representatives and senators to Congress to control that body.

If these foreigners, who have acknowledged no allegiance to this country, are allowed to vote, then why should twenty million adult female citizens of sound mind and capable of owning property be denied that privilege? If the privilege of suffrage is conferred on aliens, why should it be denied those more worthy?

(On January 8, 1909—A young man named Glenn E. Thomas had opened an automobile agency in Long Beach and was busy selling and servicing horseless carriages.)

SPECIAL

SPACE SPECIAL — Features of the Gemini spacecraft, and the functions of our vast tracking systems are shown in two NASA-produced films to be shown starting at 8 p.m., in color, ch. 13. "Project Apollo" shows the planned use of the Gemini, Apollo and Saturn space gear to land men on the moon in this decade. "World Beyond Zero" visits satellite tracking stations in the U.S., England, Africa, South America and Australia.

DILEMMA IN VIETNAM —Two ABC News correspondents debate U. S. policy in Southeast Asia during a postponed segment of "ABC Scope" at 10:30 p.m., ch. 7. Southeast Asia correspondent Charles P. Arnot insists that the U. S. is currently "virtually at war" with Red Chinese imperialism, while diplomatic correspondent John Scali believes full-scale war in the near future completely "out of the question." Lou Cioffi is moderator as the two newsmen suggest what they feel the most advisable course for U.S. action.

10:00 P.M.

2 The Danny Kaye Show. A pint-sized musical comedy in 3 acts, spoofing Hollywood's golden age of musical films, stars Kaye with Harvey Korman and special guests Gwen Verdon and Harve Presnell. Segment, taking about half the hour, is titled "Top Hat, White Tie and Green Socks."

SPECIAL

SPECIAL '65—A two-part filmed tribute to Abraham Lincoln, and his fight for emancipation, is offered at 10 p.m., ch. 9. The Oscar-winning "The Face of Lincoln" is repeated during the first segment, as sculptor Merrell Gage tells the story of Lincoln while he molds his face of clay. Viewers watch the face grow older as Gage traces the years of strain right up to the moment of Booth's bullet. "The Children Were Watching," comprising the second half, tells the long battle for equality, running for more than a hundred years since Fort Sumter. We see the unforgettable experience of a 6-year-old Negro girl as she enters the first integrated school in New Orleans. ("The Face of Lincoln" also is seen at 12 noon on Friday.)

ELIZABETH Montgomery turns her cat into a curvaceous model during "Bewitched" at 9 p.m. Thursday, channel 7.

The Oscar-winning "The Face of Lincoln" is repeated during the first segment, as sculptor Merrell Gage tells the story of Lincoln while he molds his face of clay. Viewers watch the face grow older as Gage traces the years of strain right up to the moment of Booth's bullet. "The Children Were Watching," comprising the second half, tells the long battle for equality, running for more than a hundred years since Fort Sumter. We see the unforgettable experience of a 6-year-old Negro girl as she enters the first integrated school in New Orleans. ("The Face of Lincoln" also is seen at 12 noon on Friday.)

ELIZABETH Montgomery turns her cat into a curvaceous model during "Bewitched" at 9 p.m. Thursday, channel 7.

On "The Entertainers," who plays Skegundala, the assistant to "The Great Dominick?"

Also, why does Carol Burnett always pull her ear at the end of the show?

Renee Martin, Wilmington

Ruth Buzzi, recently signed as a series regular, is the assistant.

Carol's ear-tugging is a trademark signal of "hello" to her grandmother in Los Angeles.

According to the evaluation committee of the National Association for Better Radio and Television, "Slattery's People," "Many Happy Returns," "Bewitched," "Mr. Magoo," "World War I" and "12 O'Clock High" were choices as the best new series.

"Man from UNCLE," "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" and "Peyton Place" were tabbed the worst of the new shows.

Well, I don't know where that committee collected their information, but they have everything backwards.

I attend Excelsior High School in Norwalk and am 16 years old.

All my friends and all their friends think "Man from UNCLE" and "Shindig" are the two neatest programs on TV today.

Besides, we never heard of "Mr. Magoo" or "World War I."

Please inform the committee to watch these shows over again and get comments from the younger crowd.

About Baldness

The Turoff Report on the Human Male

S. I. TUROFF
Director 12 California
TUROFF CLINICS

An amazing record! Over 1 MILLION Turoff treatments have now been given!

This seems to be the age when everyone tries to find out what everyone else's habits are, so we made a little check to find out the type of person who is coming in to take our hair treatments.

Here is our Mr. Average Turoff Client:

He's not completely bald. In most cases, he's just begun to lose his hair and is sensibly locking the door before the horse is stolen.

He may have quite a handsome head of hair and is coming to Turoff simply to keep it that way.

The average client is in his 20s, 30s or 40s. Before twenty they seldom seem to have hair trouble, and after fifty they don't seem to care. A Turoff client is usually successful or on the way.

He is optimistic, refusing to be discouraged by uninformed people who say nothing can be done to stop premature baldness.

He has initiative... the get-up-and-go to come in for that "first examination." He isn't hide-bound by custom, being willing to try new development. In other words, he is a modern, up-to-date thinker!

He knows the value of personal appearance, realizing that premature baldness can handicap his entire future. In general, no stodgy, unintelligent, slow, pessimistic person ever becomes a Turoff client, because he would never take the time to come in and find out just what the Free Examination would reveal.

. . . . YOU MUST SEE RESULTS AND BE SATISFIED IN JUST FOUR TREATMENTS or these four treatments cost you nothing!

The very first step is to come in for the FREE examination. This reveals if you are the one of 95% we can help. The 5% "hopeless" ones are told . . . frankly. We've made it easy for you. Your first trial treatment (if accepted, and you wish the treatment) is $2.00.

DON'T PUT IT OFF! Trade a few minutes of your time against a lifetime of baldness. See us today or tonight.

Separate Dept. for Ladies
"No Appointment Necessary"

1. FREE EXAMINATION by a Turoff trained specialist establishes your individual causes of hair loss.

2. HI-FREQUENCY THERAPY provides short rays to kill bacteria, increases scalp metabolism.

3. EXCLUSIVE ELECTRO-THERAPY developed by Turoff technicians after years of research results are FAST!

4. EXCLUSIVE MEDICATION. Turoff formulas, laboratory-produced, another step on the road to a strong healthy hair line.

5. PROFESSIONAL MASSAGE. Skilled and trained assistant relieves tenses, tones and loosens scalp so tissues can grow.

SPECIAL

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY—The kids are home from school, and some offices are closed, but only Captain Kangaroo and KHJ-TV remember the holiday on the home screen. The Captain, at 7 a.m., ch. 2, tells the story of Lincoln, reads "Our Flag" and plays a recording of the Gettysburg Address. And ch. 9 repeats Merrell Gage's "Face of Lincoln" at 12 noon, sandwiched in between movie biopics starring Henry Fonda (10 a.m.) and Raymond Massey (12:30 p.m.).

BOB HOPE—Johnny Carson and Carroll Baker join with Hope in spoofs of TV series, while the Louis Prima group with Gia Maione, Sam Butera and the Witnesses preview segments of their nightclub act. Jack Jones sings his latest record hits and teams with Hope in a few native dances of America — the jerk, the swim, the monkey and the camel. In the TV parodies of the 8:30 p.m. comedy-variety hour, ch. 4, Miss Baker plays Carroll Solo, the "Woman from A.U.N.T.," who pits her charms against Hope, as the head of F.I.N.K. Carson appears as a guest celebrity on the "Tonight Show Starring Bobby Hope."

SLATTERY'S PEOPLE—The shocking spectre of teenage dope addiction in high schools is delineated in a dramatic tragedy involving a brilliant student and athlete and his addicted girl friend. Simon Oakland, James Davidson, Susan Bay, Frank Maxwell and June Dayton are featured at 10 p.m., ch. 2, as Slattery clashes with a publicity-seeking lawmaker as to how narcotics violators should be handled.

Comebacks--Hits and Misses

JOHN ASTIN . . . Came Back

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Once again, a number of television stars have learned the hard way that they are likely to face a case of alienated public affection—at least in the ratings—if they try a comeback in a new format.

This season's results are consistent with the high number of comeback blues of past years. Craig Stevens, for instance, was a smashing hit in "Peter Gunn," but his new effort, "Mr. Broadway," vanished quickly. Bob Cummings' new series, "My Living Doll," is going nowhere, and he is now out of it. Richard Crenna, formerly of "The Real McCoys," is getting critical acclaim for "Slattery's People," but it has a low rating. Walter Brennan, who also scored a big success in "The Real McCoys," has failed to shake the television world in "Tycoon."

IN ADDITION, Carol Burnett and Bob Newhart failed to score heavily in the ratings in "The Entertainers"—with Newhart a recent departure. Paul Ford, the bumbling colonel in "Sgt. Bilko," will not be around too much longer in his new starring vehicle, "The Baileys of Balboa." Cara Williams' current series was a surprising ratings flop in view of its strong lead-in potential from "The Dick Van Dyke Show." Charles Boyer and David Niven are in another new ratings flop, "The Rogues." And the wonderful George Burns, and Connie Stevens, formerly of "Hawaiian Eye," did not set the world afire in "Wendy and Me."

Other comebackers: Dennis Weaver, once of "Gunsmoke," has a very shaky status in "Kentucky Jones." But some stars, of course, apparently have made it in their comeback tries. Bob Denver, formerly of "Dobie Gillis," has a hit in "Gilligan's Island." Fred Gwynne, once of "Car 54, Where Are You?", is in "The Munsters." And the superlative John Astin, who used to be seen in "I'm Dickens, He's Fenster," is in "The Addams Family."

For some reason known perhaps only in that great network in the sky, "Broadside," with Kathy Nolan, looks as though it may continue; she used to be in "The Real McCoys" too. And Fess Parker, old Davy Crockett, is in a bomb called "Daniel Boone," which at last report was hanging on as precariously as possible, but hanging.

SPECIAL

MAN FROM PEKIN—Chicago-produced documentary traces the life of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the long-time Senate minority leader with the deep-throated voice. Humorous highlight of the 7 p.m. special, ch. 4, deals with how the Illinois town, across the river from Peoria, got its strange name.

THE WAY-OUT MEN—The world of science, medicine, culture and the arts whose experiments may radically change life as we know it today is the first of a series of 6 hour-long documentaries, narrated by Oscar-winner Van Heflin, ranging from a penetrating look at Gen. MacArthur's career to an anlysis of the teenage tyranny. Produced by David L. Wolper, 8:30 p.m., ch. 7 opener uses Leonardo da Vinci as the symbol of "way out" thinkers of past generations, then looks at an artificial heart that can be implanted permanently in man, a computer that composes poetry and a system that will enable humans to talk with dolphins. We'll see the work of nuclear physicists psychiatrists, architects, painters, musicians, astronomers and surgeons whose projects will shape our future. (da Vinci, Incidentally, will be the subject for the first of this season's "Saga of Western Men" specials, to be seen on ABC a week from Tuesday.)

VAN HEFLIN narrates for "The Way Out Men," a science special, at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, channel 7.

GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKES MANY FEEL OLD BEFORE THEIR TIME

Thousands Discover Quick Help For Backache, Nerve Tension & Worry Secondary to Kidney Irritation

As we grow older many women and men suffer from feeling old, tired, worn out and depressed by losing sleep and worrying about getting up nights, due to common irritation of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages. This condition causes frequent, urgent and painful daytime urination and sometimes results in Backache. In such cases, you owe it to yourself to try New Improved Cystex at once.

Common Kidney and Bladder Irritations which cause getting up nights may also cause strong, cloudy urine and sometimes result in secondary Backache, Headache and Nervous Tension.

CAUSE OF IRRITATION

The cause of common Kidney and Bladder Irritation frequently arises from a germ called the colon bacillus, and non-specific germs resulting from colds, bad teeth and other causes. These germs can set up so much irritation in the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages that nature sends a warning through your nerves that help is needed.

HOW CYSTEX HELPS

New Improved Cystex releases a gentle, soothing bacteriostat in acid urine to combat germs which may be causing irritation. This is like a gentle, mildly antiseptic, soothing bath for the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages. Cystex also contains two of the very best known analgesics for soothing, gentle pain relief of the discomforts due to common Kidney and Bladder Irritations. For 37 years Cystex has helped people in 72 countries to combat such irritation, and thus feel cleansed and refreshed, and, because of lessened nerve tension able to sleep better and feel better, and stronger. So get Cystex from your druggist today and see how fast it can help you.

Personality Parade

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N.Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. I understand that both Mamie Eisenhower and the Duchess of Windsor are deathly afraid of airplanes and won't fly. Is this so?—G. Davis, Jacksonville, Fla.

A. Both prefer other means of transportation.

Q. Can you tell me which is the largest religious group in the 89th Congress?—A.M., New York, N.Y.

A. Roman Catholics constitute the single largest religious group, with 107 members. Methodists are second, with 88 members. Presbyterians and Episcopalians, each with 69, occupy third position.

Q. Has Danny Kaye ever been married? If so, were there any children? Who is his wife? When were they married? How old is he? — Shirley Clarke, Washington, D.C.

A. Danny Kaye, 52, was married to Sylvia Fine in 1940. They have one daughter, Dena.

Q. Is it true that President Johnson has a crush on Nancy Dickerson, the NBC commentator, and gives her scoops?—L. T., Wauwatosa, Wis.

A. Not true. Nancy Dickerson knew Lyndon Johnson when he was in the Senate and she, as Nancy Hanschman, worked for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The President told her on TV that he had chosen Hubert Humphrey as his running mate, but even though they are old friends, he is giving her no exclusives.

Q. The singing star Helen O'Connell—she must be 45—is she really going to marry that 24-year-old singer, Bob Paris?—L. V. V., Miami, Fla.

A. They've been going together for a year.

Q. I would like to find out how much tax was paid to the federal government by the late John D. Rockefeller, Jr., father of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, when he left an estate of $150 million?—Hiram French, Rochester, N.Y.

A. Federal taxes on the gross assets amounted to $10,392,433.

Q. Is Ann Sothern going with a Los Angeles policeman very quietly?—Bernice Holloway, Los Angeles, Calif.

A. Ann and Sgt. Rudy Diaz of the Los Angeles homicide squad are good friends.

Q. What has happened to Susan Hayward? How old is she? How many children?—R. R., Murphy, N.C.

A. Susan Hayward is 46, has a pair of twins, Tim and Gregory, lives now in Georgia, does an occasional film.

Q. How old are Elizabeth Arden and Helena Rubinstein?—Bill Kennedy, Larchmont, N.Y.

A. Elizabeth Arden is reportedly 86, Helena Rubinstein 92.

Q. What is the marital status of Anthony Quinn, who fathered two children out of wedlock? Is he still married to Cecil B. DeMille's daughter?—Veronica Lawson, Chicago, Ill.

A. Anthony Quinn, 53, on December 4, 1964, obtained a quickie divorce from Katherine DeMille in order to marry Yolanda Addolori, the Italian mother of his two young sons.

Q. What is the relationship between Dr. Maurice Eisendrath, author of Can Faith Survive?, and Lorne Greene, star of Bonanza?—David Obolensky, New York, N.Y.

A. Dr. Eisendrath is married to Greene's first wife.

Q. How many bathrooms in the White House?—Betty Gold, Baltimore, Md.

A. 16.

Q. Why has a federal grand jury in Kansas City been questioning Frank Sinatra and Sammy Davis, Jr.?—R. M., Baltimore, Md.

A. Reportedly the grand jury is seeking information on the national crime syndicate and its local affiliations.

Q. Who said: "It is better to keep your mouth shut and have men think you a fool than to open it and remove all doubt"?—Carol Haynes, La Jolla, Calif.

A. It is a popular quotation. H. G. Wells, among others, said it.

Q. How many tourists do the Russians permit to leave their country and visit the U.S.?—Marie Kwan, Lexington, Ky.

A. In 1963 they permitted 92 Russian tourists to visit the U.S. Last year they permitted approximately double that number.

Q. Isn't it true that the divorce laws in New York state haven't changed perceptibly since 1787?—Harvey Seifert, Richmond Hill, N.Y.

A. Generally true.

Q. Where is Clara Bow?—Lorene Simpson, Fayetteville, Ark.

A. She lives in a sanitarium in Culver City, Calif.

Q. In this neighborhood people think Walter Reuther and his brother went to school in Russia. Is this true? —Walter Albers, Peoria, Ill.

A. The Reuther brothers worked in Soviet Russia for a time, studied the system there.

Q. How old is Donna Douglas, who has a teenage son? She is on the Beverly Hillbillies TV program. — Margaret Clark, Jonesboro, Tenn.

A. In her early 30's.

Q. Is actress Jean Peters married to Howard Hughes? I never hear about her any more. Do they have a son?—Carole Stevens, Waynesville, Ohio.

A. They are married, have no children.

PARADE UNCOVERS A CHINESE SPY RING

JUST ACROSS THE BORDER IN MEXICO, A COMMUNIST HEADQUARTERS PLOTS TO SUBVERT THE HEMISPHERE

by JACK ANDERSON

■ In the article below, you will read details of a Red Chinese spy ring—one of many around the world. In their effort to take over the leadership of the world Communist movement from the Russians, the Chinese are creating similar unrest in Africa, southeast Asia and Latin America. Often they work through fronts—pay off important local people, even buy businesses and fire people to stir up bitterness through unemployment. Then local Communists, well organized, step in to take over the labor movement or even the local government. —THE EDITORS

MEXICO CITY, MEXICO.

In the hot Mexican border town of Mexicali, there stands a sleazy gambling joint that may prove to be one of the most sinister spy traps in the Americas. It is run by Francisco Ham-cheen, Jr., darkly handsome, in his early 40's, who could pass for a Mexican but is actually Chinese. He is Red China's agent on the U.S. back door stoop. His assignment—to pry open the back door.

He was sent to Mexicali last February to open the gambling den as a Chinese Communist front. It has become a headquarters for espionage and subversion, a recruiting post for American traitors and misfits.

The Red Chinese have sought for years to infiltrate Mexico. The Mexico-U.S. border plunges for hundreds of miles across desolate, broken country—difficult to patrol, ideal terrain for international hide-and-seek.

PARADE sent me here to investigate reports that Red China had moved its center of operations in the Western Hemisphere from Cuba to Mexico. I found that a Chinese master spy, Wu Chu, had gained admittance to Mexico as a correspondent 16 months ago. He is building up an underground that is smuggling dope into the U.S. and defense secrets out. This information has been turned over to the FBI along with messages I intercepted.

Wu Chu, a slender, slippery sort with shifty eyes, a pointed chin and black hair tinged with gray, came here from Cuba. He is usually seen in baggy tweeds, though he has more than enough pesos to keep pressed and pomaded. But he disburses his funds with greater political effect for gifts and parties.

Wu was Mao Tse-tung's man in Havana, with authority far beyond his credentials, until he wangled Mexican accreditation as a correspondent. Though he ostensibly runs a small news bureau here, Red China's visiting trade and cultural missions always check in with him and clear appointments through him. The secret explanation—this strange little man is a lieutenant colonel in the Chinese Communist secret police.

Francisco Ham-cheen, who takes his orders from Wu, came to Mexico as a student in 1942 and quickly acquired a Latin flamboyance.

Requests have gone out from authorities in Washington, Hong Kong and Mexico City for a full description of Francisco and a report on his activities. Mexican officials have found only a record of his registration as an alien—identification card No. FM 2-47774. A confidential report from the U.S. Narcotics Bureau claims he is suspected of getting heroin from Red China through associates in Hong Kong.

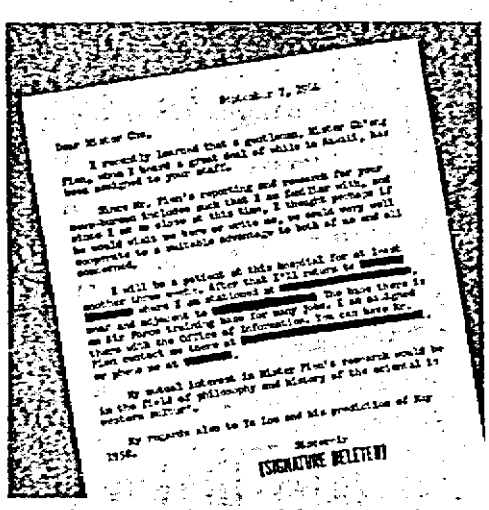

My own sources say Colonel Wu sent Francisco last February to open a gambling dive in Mexicali, an ideal spot for trafficking in spies or drugs.

IDEAL COVER-UP

American tourists and servicemen pour across the border every night for "kicks," a protective cover for the movement of agents across the border.

A heavy loser may find friendly Francisco willing to excuse his debt in exchange for a small favor. If he comes back to gamble again, the favors become more exacting. Once ensnared, the victim usually is drawn deeper into the web. The technique is as old as espionage.

As evidence of Francisco's success in making contacts, he brazenly traveled to Peking last fall for the 15th anniversary of the Chinese Communist revolution by way of the U.S. He managed to get papers that let him slip past immigration controls and fly to the Far East from California. A passenger on the same plane reports that Francisco stopped in Honolulu, ultimately landed in Hong Kong. Other sources traced his movements to Macao, then through the Bamboo Curtain to Canton and Peking.

Letter from U.S. serviceman to Chinese spy Wu Chu hints at still-to-be-uncovered Red plots in Western Hemisphere.

Shortly after Francisco's stopover in Honolulu, by a curious coincidence, an American airman was transferred from Hawaii back to the mainland. He immediately wrote a letter to Mao's master spy, Wu Chu, giving his new location. In careful language, the letter inquired about Wu's assistant, Cheng Pien. But some of the phrases suggest code. The letter was intercepted, opened, photographed, resealed, then delivered to the New China News Agency here. It read—

"Dear Mr. Chu,

"I recently learned that a gentleman, Mr. Cheng Pien, who I heard a great deal of while in Hawaii, has been assigned to your staff.

"Since Mr. Pien's reporting and research for your News Bureau includes much that I am familiar with, and since I am so close at this time, I thought perhaps if he would visit me here or write me, we could very well co-operate to a suitable advantage to both of us and all concerned. [The airman then gave his new Air Force assignment and U.S. address.]

"My mutual interest in Mr. Pien's research would be in the field of philosophy and history of the Oriental in Western culture. My regards also to Ya Lou and his prediction of May 1958."

There is no Ya Lou known to be connected with the New China News Agency, but a man of that name is chief of Red China's air force. What did the airman mean by Ya Lou's "prediction of May 1958"? Why should an American serviceman write to a Red Chinese spy? Finally, what connection could he have with Cheng Pien, never known to have visited Hawaii?

For the past decade, Red China has been trying to get a foothold in Mexico but had been resisted by the Mexican authorities, who wanted no part of Mao or his men. Offers of trade, cultural and medical missions were politely but firmly rejected.

The Chinese almost broke through the barriers in 1959 after a mysterious Uruguayan showed up here and secured permission for a Red Chinese acrobat team to tour the country. Five advance men from Peking arrived to make hotel and other arrangements. But they were found to be secret agents, were hastily expelled and the acrobats' permit revoked.

Significant sidelight: Before the visit was called off, several Chinese here received $500 checks from Peking with the request that they spend the money to entertain the acrobats and introduce them to Mexicans.

A few months later, still persevering, Red China invited Mexican movie stars to Peking for a Mexican movie week. The seven stars who accepted the invitation were urged to arrange reciprocal visits by Chinese stars to Mexico. But this plan also encountered official opposition, and the invitations were never issued. An attempt by six Red Chinese newsmen to get entry permits was also rejected.

But in January 1963, Yi Cho ting, president of Red

Dear Mister Chu,

I recently learned that a gentleman, Mister Cheng Pien, whom I heard a great deal of while in Hawaii, has been assigned to your staff.

Since Mr. Pien's reporting and research for your news-bureau includes much that I am familiar with, and since I am so close at this time, I thought perhaps if he would visit me here or write me, we could very well cooperate to a suitable advantage to both of us and all concerned.

I will be a patient at this hospital for at least another three weeks. After that I'll return to [redacted] where I am stationed at [redacted]. The hive there is near and adjacent to [redacted] Air Force training base for many John. I am assigned there with the Office of Information. You can have Mr. Pien contact me there at [redacted] or phone me at [redacted].

My mutual interest in Mister Pien's research would be in the field of philosophy and history of the Oriental in western culture.

My regards also to Ya Lou and his prediction of May 1958.

Sincerely

The seven stars who accepted the invitation were urged to arrange reciprocal visits by Chinese stars to Mexico. But this plan also encountered official opposition, and the invitations were never issued. An attempt by six Red Chinese newsmen to get entry permits was also rejected.

But in January 1963, Yi Cho-ting, president of Red

Heavy traffic across U.S.-Mexico border provides smoke screen for movements of Communist Chinese agents.

China's Commission of Foreign Trade, wangled an invitation to Mexico, showed up with four advisors and, aided by Mexican leftists, got to see the minister of commerce. Yi held out glowing prospects of future trade and specifically offered to buy 25,000 bales of Mexican cotton in exchange for permission to stage a Chinese trade fair. The deal was accepted.

By the time the exhibition was ready to open, there were 73 of Mao's men in Mexico. Many were professional spies and agitators, among them Colonel Wu, who was admitted ostensibly to write about the fair. On October 4, the British freighter West Breeze delivered 460 tons of goods for the fair. Of this, 80 tons consisted of propaganda, which soon began to show up in the book stores.

Wu's agents were also busy distributing lavish gifts. The wife of a government minister turned out one evening in expensive Chinese brocade. Three valuable Chinese paintings suddenly appeared in the office of a bank director. Silks, carpets, ivories and porcelains also started showing up around town.

But Colonel Wu's master stroke was getting permission to stay behind after the fair closed. He was also allowed to bring in two assistants to help him run the news agency—husky, handsome Cheng Pien, the professional spy who arrived via Cuba, and slender, quiet Tuain Li-sin, who is believed to be a code clerk.

MR. FONG GOES TO PEKING

Wu and Pien, both with obviously large expense accounts, have had a startling success making contacts and converts. They not only won over Manuel Meza, president of the Russian-Mexican Cultural Association, to the Chinese side of the Sino-Soviet struggle, but actually persuaded Pablo Fong, president of the Anti-Communist League, to make a pilgrimage to Peking.

A Chinese-Mexican, Fong had divorced his Chinese wife and married a Mexican girl. He first began to get entangled in the Red web when he unwittingly hired Francisco Ham-cheen as his secretary in 1959. It was friendly Francisco who introduced Fong last year to Wu Chu.

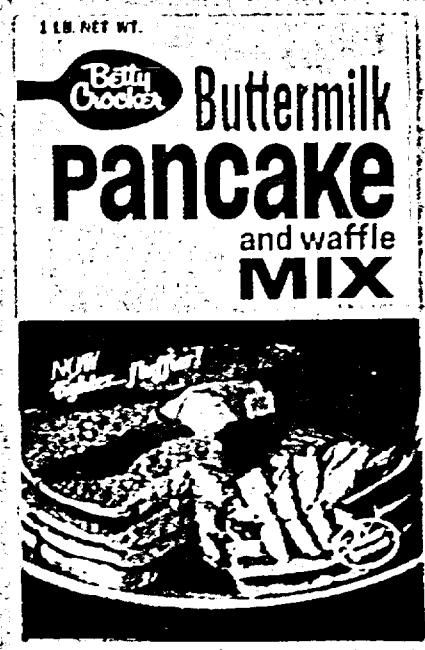

Soon Fong was getting letters from his first wife, who had returned to Peking. She pleaded with him to visit Peking and renew old memories. Colonel Wu added his persuasion, offered a free round-trip ticket to Red China. Fong finally gave in.

In recent weeks, members of the Chinese community here received letters from him. They are not in his handwriting, but bear his signature. These epistles from the former head of the Anti-Communist League tell of the glories of Red China.

Heavy traffic across U.S.-Mexico border provides smoke screen for movements of Communist Chinese agents.

China's Commission of Foreign Trade, wangled an invitation to Mexico, showed up with four advisors and, aided by Mexican leftists, got to see the minister of commerce. Yi held out glowing prospects of future trade and specifically offered to buy 25,000 bales of Mexican cotton in exchange for permission to stage a Chinese trade fair. The deal was accepted.

By the time the exhibition was ready to open, there were 73 of Mao's men in Mexico. Many were professional spies and agitators, among them Colonel Wu, who was admitted ostensibly to write about the fair. On October 4, the British freighter West Breeze delivered 460 tons of goods for the fair. Of this, 80 tons consisted of propaganda, which soon began to show up in the bookstores.

Wu's agents were also busy distributing lavish gifts. The wife of a government minister turned out one evening in expensive Chinese brocade. Three valuable Chinese paintings suddenly appeared in the office of a bank director. Silks, carpets, ivories and porcelains also started showing up around town.

But Colonel Wu's master stroke was getting permission to stay behind after the fair closed. He was also allowed to bring in two assistants to help him run the news agency —husky, handsome Cheng Pien, the professional spy who arrived via Cuba, and slender, quiet Tuain Li sin, who is believed to be a code clerk.

MR. FONG GOES TO PEKING

Wu and Pien, both with obviously large expense accounts, have had a startling success making contacts and converts. They not only won over Manuel Meza, president of the Russian-Mexican Cultural Association, to the Chinese side of the Sino-Soviet struggle, but actually persuaded Pablo Fong, president of the Anti-Communist League, to make a pilgrimage to Peking.

THE TRAGIC STORY OF

100,000 CHILDREN

WHOSE PARENTS DON'T WANT THEM

BUT WON'T GIVE THEM UP

ORPHANS OF THE LIVING

by SID ROSS and RICHARD HUBBARD

Freddy Hoffman is a 7-year-old anyone would be proud to have as a son. He's exceptionally bright, attractive, friendly and all boy. Right now he doesn't have a father or a mother who wants him -and maybe he never will.

Just like a real orphan, Freddy (that is not his real name) lives in a foster home under the supervision of a welfare agency. Unlike other orphans, he can't be adopted, even though there's an eligible couple eager to make him their very own son. And unlike other orphans, Freddy carries with him the man-size burden of knowing that both his mother and father are alive and know where he is and that neither one wants him.

Of some 300,000 children under foster care in the U.S. today, almost 100,000 share Freddy's plight. They live like orphans because their parents don't want them or can't take care of them. Some of them are lucky; their parents give them up completely so they can be adopted. The others, like Freddy, aren't lucky at all. Their parents have shrugged off all responsibility but they won't make the final move to free their unwanted children so that a real, permanent home can be found for them.

These 100,000 children are orphans just as surely as those whose parents are dead and buried. According to the Child Welfare League of America, at least half of these "orphans of the living" could be freed for adoption, but their chances are exceedingly slim.

Parents who can't take care of their children can place them with public welfare agencies, provided the agencies are convinced that the child and the parents will be better off with such a "temporary arrangement." Under the law, as it exists and is interpreted in most states, every effort must be made to "rehabilitate" the family and persuade the parents to take back their own child. While the child waits helplessly in a kind of limbo, a ward of the state but unadoptable, his case may drag on for years while "every effort" is made to return him to parents who have shown conclusively that they don't want him.

Freddy has been in a foster home for nearly two years now. His father turned him over to the Westchester County, N.Y., Welfare Department Family & Child Welfare division because his second wife was "having a nervous breakdown" and didn't want a stepson. Freddy's mother had readily given him up when his parents were divorced.

UNKEPT PROMISES

George Hoffman keeps telling the Westchester County people that he certainly intends to take his son back, "just as soon as things get straightened out." He promised to help pay the cost of his support in a foster home and to keep in touch with Freddy, but the fact is that he hasn't paid a dime or sent so much as a birthday card to his son in two years.

"My father makes a lot of promises, but he never keeps them," Freddy says. He should know. A few months ago his father told the welfare agency he was going to Australia. George Hoffman said he surely was going to take his son with him and he wanted passport photos taken and sent to him so he could make arrangements. Freddy was told about his father's plans, the photos were taken and the 7-year-old waited excitedly for his father to send for him.

George Hoffman kept one promise. He and his second wife went to Australia all right (after giving up their own infant child for adoption in Massachusetts) and they're still there. Freddy is still waiting.

As heartbreaking as Freddy's situation is, he's better off than a lot of other children whose parents have abandoned them. Little Joseph Markov isn't quite 2 years old, but he's been in foster care since he was 3 months old. A blue-eyed, blond, bouncing boy, he would be ideal for adoption. But his mother was deported as an undesirable alien, and she's now in a mental institution in her own country. Under the law, she can't release her son for adoption until she is mentally capable. Joseph's caseworker says the mother will probably never be able to give him up legally, and the boy will have no chance at all to be adopted into a permanent home.

There is the case of 8-year-old Dolores, who still wets her bed. Her father deserted her when she was a baby, and he was followed by a bewildering succession of other men who lived with her mother. A sickly grandmother tried to care for the little girl but gave up when Dolores was 5. Even if her mother agreed to release her, her chances for adoption would be slight.

An unwanted child says, "Sometimes I see mothers and fathers with their children, and I wish it was me."

foster home for a year, ever since their young parents decided they couldn't cope with the responsibility of caring for them. The father has agreed to surrender them, but their mother has been unable to make up her mind. The chances are she never will, and the welfare agency supervising their case says it wouldn't be good to have the children return to their parents. Still, the mother keeps in touch with the youngsters occasionally, and she can't be forced to surrender them. They're ideal for adoption now, but cases like theirs usually drag on for years, while the children grow up without the security of a home and parents who want them.

ARCHAIC LAWS

Can anything be done to free these luckless children from irresponsible, unconcerned parents? The prevailing opinion of the courts is that the right of the parents to the child is primary. Joseph H. Reid, executive director of the Child Welfare League of America, points out, "In most states, parents who have not supported their children leave them indefinitely in foster care, but merely by sending a post card once a year they are enabled by archaic laws to prevent their children from obtaining a permanent home."

A handful of states—New York, California, Utah, Minnesota and Connecticut—have recently strengthened their laws for removing children from parents who have neglected them, but the application of these laws is still bogged down in the insistence of the courts that welfare agencies do everything possible to restore children to their reluctant parents.

Judge Robert E. Dempsey, recently retired as senior judge of Westchester Family Court, summed up the attitude of the courts when he said, "As long as there is any possibility of having the youngster restored to his parents, it should be followed to the nth degree. Yes, we can Monday-morning-quarterback on whether something better would have resulted had a particular youngster been freed for adoption when he was, say, 1 year old. But you can't foresee this. The courts must try to strike a balance—a human balance—between the parental rights and the rights and well-being of the child."

As far as Freddy Hoffman's well-being is concerned, he seems to be getting the best care possible under the circumstances. His foster parents are a warm, pleasant couple who have two teenagers of their own. They've been taking children into their home for a number of years, because they "always like to have children around." They like Freddy a lot, and he likes them.

'I LIKE TO ENJOY'

Even though Freddy is fully aware that first his mother and then his father rejected him, he's not resentful or bitter. He's an extroverted boy, healthy and husky, and he's always on the go. "I like to move around," he says. "I like to be gay and enjoy and be nice and happy."

Freddy isn't perfect, of course. When he first arrived at his foster home, he was too aggressive—a bully, in fact. He's improved considerably now, and if he has a major fault it's his almost frantic need to talk. "I just talk too much. I don't know why, I just talk." One morning he followed the mailman down the street, chattering away so determinedly that he was late for school. "Maybe he was pretending he was talking to his daddy," his foster mother explained.

Freddy is as happy as possible in his foster home, but he knows that sooner or later he'll be going somewhere else. There are usually three or four other parentless children in the house, but their average stay is only three to five months. "Freddy is my longest," his foster mother says. "I've had him nearly two years now. I'm hoping and praying, for his sake, that he'll be released soon so he can be adopted."

Freddy hopes he can be adopted, too. "Sometimes I watch real fathers and mothers with their real children and I wish it was me," he says matter-of-factly. "I used to dream about my real father and mother, mostly my father, but not any more. I'm going to be adopted and I'll have a new name and a new mother and father. I hope it won't take too long. It gets on my nerves sometimes when I think of it."

In a short while the Westchester County Welfare Department will be asking the court to release Freddy for adoption on the basis of his father's gross neglect. "We hope the court will act to free Freddy," his caseworker says, "but we're not sure at all. The court will probably just turn the case back to us and tell us to look for the boy's father in Australia, get more information and so on."

POOR USE OF FUNDS

Aside from the emotional price Freddy and the others like him are paying because of outdated laws and reluctant courts, there is a practical dollars-and-cents price that everyone pays. Joseph Reid says, "Public welfare agencies, which have the bulk of these children in their care, are frightfully undermanned. They simply do not have enough qualified people to do the job. As a result, we stupidly spend the public's money to maintain children in foster care at an average cost of $200 per month per child, but fail to provide enough money for a staff of qualified people who could free children for prospective parents who are waiting to adopt them. Once a child is placed for adoption, the taxpayer no longer pays for his support."

Social workers agree with Reid, but they contend that the basic problem is with the law and its interpretation. They think the courts should free children whose parents obviously don't care; be realistic in determining parents' "neglect"; consider the child's interests first.

Richard McAtamney, Assistant Westchester County Attorney, feels the same way. "I believe the statute should be broader. I think that there should be a presumption of abandonment if, one year after a child has been placed in foster care, the parents have failed to support or communicate with the child, or to present an adequate plan for taking him back. That wouldn't deprive the parents of any rights, but if they show that they're unwilling to exercise those rights in a year then they shouldn't be entitled to them."

Not all "orphans of the living" have been callously abandoned by their parents, of course. Parents do have a right to their children, and no court should arbitrarily take them away without careful deliberation. But if Freddy Hoffman—and the 100,000 others like him—are to have any real hope for a normal, happy life, the law and the courts are going to have to decide where parents' rights end and children's rights begin.

ALEXANDRE

WORLD'S GREATEST COIFFEUR OPENS A BEAUTY SALON FOR MEN

PARIS.

For years American actors have journeyed to Paris to have their faces lifted, their wrinkles removed, their ears straightened, their locks curled, their hair trimmed, dyed, waved and set.

For years they have secretly entered, via the back stairs, a gray, narrow building on the Rue Faubourg-Saint Honoré.

Here the world's greatest coiffeur, small, brown-eyed, 43-year-old Alexandre Raimondi —he never uses his family name—dresses the hair of the world's most wealthy and fashionable women: Elizabeth Taylor, Jackie Kennedy, the Duchess of Windsor, Eunice Shriver, Princess Grace, Olivia de Havilland, Princess Margaret, Madame Hervé Alphand, Sophia Loren, etc., etc.

And here, too, in the past, Alexandre has secretly styled the hair and massaged the scalps of "a few, a very, very few men who are my dear friends. You mention their names," he threatened, rising on his toes, "and I will destroy you." He clicked a pair of steel-sharp scissors in front of my eyes, then thrust them toward my stomach in a mock gesture of swordsmanship.

"I give you my word," I said. "I will not mention Jean Cocteau's name or the name of that very tall general or the names of any of the others. I will keep your secret."

A few weeks ago, Alexandre agreed to release me from my promise, made five years ago.

On the Rue Marbeuf near the Champs Elysées he opened the swankiest beauty salon for men—he would simply die if I called it a barber shop—in the world. Richard Burton, husband of Alexandre's most famous female client, is the establishment's "godfather" and reportedly one of its financial backers along with Harriet Hubbard Ayer.

Alexandre's layout for moneyed men—a fellow's got to be a contortionist to get out for less than $50—is a posh palace for pampering. It exudes the atmosphere of an exclusive English club.

THE TIRED BUSINESSMAN

On the first floor, for example, in addition to the sober-toned reception room with its maroon leather-covered walls ornamented with British prints, the tired businessman comes upon the hair-dressing salon itself.

Done in mahogany and brown buckskin, it boasts five stylists, all experts, all supervised by Alexandre when he can escape from the women—who specialize in the "haircut à l'Anglaise" or the "haircut Americain." Each haircut is followed by an "Amma Shiatsu," a celebrated Japanese massage performed by French or Oriental beauties.

Next to the hair-dressing salon is the hair-clinic, built of green marble and consisting of four private cubicles where every type of hair and scalp care is practiced. Men who want dye-jobs enter these cubicles, come out with new shades of gray, blond, red, brown or black or what is known as "touchups." These cubicles are also used for permanent and finger waves. The actor who wants a darling little curl hanging carelessly down his forehead will find Alexandre's just the place to fill his every need.

THE ROYAL CUBICLE

Because Alexandre caters to royalty he has erected a special compartment known as the royal cubicle. Japanese-inspired, furnished in red lacquer and bamboo, its walls are adorned with Japanese prints, and the room is reserved for such personalities as King Hussein of Jordan, the King of Thailand, Paul Getty and others who have enough money to live like royalty.

"Men are just as interested in retaining their youth," Alexandre declares, "as women are. That is the purpose of our relaxation rooms, to preserve youth."

The relaxation rooms are staffed with beauticians who specialize in facial massage, skin-cleansing, blackhead-removal and, of course, wrinkle-removal.

Until recently wrinkle-removal was a matter of surgery, but in the past year the latest contribution to the cosmetics industry has been wrinkle-smoothing lotion. All these lotions consist of natural protein extracts and claim to smooth away crows-feet, puffiness and wrinkles for a number of hours after application.

Their main ingredient is protein extracted from cow's blood. Many of the chief proteins in blood are albumins which are also contained in the whites of eggs. Alexandre was one of the first hair-stylists to use the egg shampoo, and he knows a great deal about proteins and how to apply these lotions to the skin.

No men's salon would be complete without the Finnish-inspired sauna, and Alexandre naturally has one of the most lavishly appointed heat rooms, also masseurs, masseuses and every type of body-massaging device yet invented.

Tycoons who want to conduct their business affairs while getting their hair trimmed can do so without leaving their armchairs. Telephones and attractive multilingual secretaries are at their immediate disposal.

ALEXANDRE

WORLD'S GREATEST COIFFEUR OPENS A BEAUTY SALON FOR MEN

PARIS.

For years American actors have journeyed to Paris to have their faces lifted, their wrinkles removed, their ears straightened, their locks curled, their hair trimmed, dyed, waved and set.

For years they have secretly entered, via the back stairs, a gray, narrow building on the Rue Faubourg-Saint Honoré.

Here the world's greatest coiffeur, small, brown-eyed, 43-year-old Alexandre Raimondi —he never uses his family name—dresses the hair of the world's most wealthy and fashionable women: Elizabeth Taylor, Jackie Kennedy, the Duchess of Windsor, Eunice Shriver, Princess Grace, Olivia de Havilland, Princess Margaret, Madame Hervé Alphand, Sophia Loren, etc., etc.

And here, too, in the past, Alexandre has secretly styled the hair and massaged the scalps of "a few, a very, very few men who are my dear friends. You mention their names," he threatened, rising on his toes, "and I will destroy you." He clicked a pair of steel-sharp scissors in front of my eyes, then thrust them toward my stomach in a mock gesture of swordsmanship.

"I give you my word," I said. "I will not mention Jean Cocteau's name or the name of that very tall general or the names of any of the others. I will keep your secret."

A few weeks ago, Alexandre agreed to release me from my promise, made five years ago.

On the Rue Marbeuf near the Champs Elysées he opened the swankiest beauty salon for men—he would simply die if I called it a barber shop—in the world. Richard Burton, husband of Alexandre's most famous female client, is the establishment's "godfather" and reportedly one of its financial backers along with Harriet Hubbard Ayer.

Alexandre's layout for moneyed men—a fellow's got to be a contortionist to get out for less than $50—is a posh palace for pampering. It exudes the atmosphere of an exclusive English club.

THE TIRED BUSINESSMAN

On the first floor, for example, in addition to the sober-toned reception room with its maroon leather-covered walls ornamented with British prints, the tired businessman comes upon the hair-dressing salon itself.

Done in mahogany and brown buckskin, it boasts five stylists, all experts, all supervised by Alexandre when he can escape from the women—who specialize in the "haircut à l'Anglaise" or the "haircut Americain." Each haircut is followed by an "Amma Shiatsu," a celebrated Japanese massage performed by French or Oriental beauties.

Next to the hair-dressing salon is the hair-clinic, built of green marble and consisting of four private cubicles where every type of hair and scalp care is practiced. Men who want dye-jobs enter these cubicles, come out with new shades of gray, blond, red, brown or black or what is known as "touchups." These cubicles are also used for permanent and finger waves. The actor who wants a darling little curl hanging carelessly down his forehead will find Alexandre's just the place to fill his every need.

THE ROYAL CUBICLE

Because Alexandre caters to royalty he has erected a special compartment known as the royal cubicle. Japanese-inspired, furnished in red lacquer and bamboo, its walls are adorned with Japanese prints, and the room is reserved for such personalities as King Hussein of Jordan, the King of Thailand, Paul Getty and others who have enough money to live like royalty.

"Men are just as interested in retaining their youth," Alexandre declares, "as women are. That is the purpose of our relaxation rooms, to preserve youth."

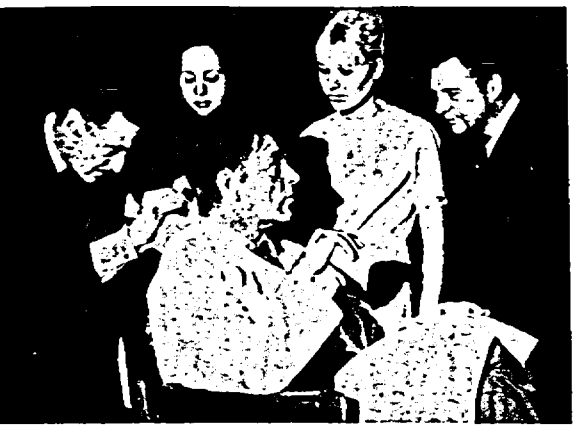

The relaxation rooms are staffed with beauticians who specialize in facial massage, skin-cleansing, blackhead-removal and, of course, wrinkle-removal.

Until recently wrinkle-removal was a matter of surgery, but in the past year the latest contribution to the cosmetics industry has been wrinkle-smoothing lotion. All these lotions consist of natural protein extracts and claim to smooth away crows-feet, puffiness and wrinkles for a number of hours after application.

Their main ingredient is protein extracted from cow's blood. Many of the chief proteins in blood are albumins which are also contained in the whites of eggs. Alexandre was one of the first hair-stylists to use the egg shampoo, and he knows a great deal about proteins and how to apply these lotions to the skin.

No men's salon would be complete without the Finnish-inspired sauna, and Alexandre naturally has one of the most lavishly appointed heat rooms, also masseurs, masseuses and every type of body-massaging device yet invented.

Tycoons who want to conduct their business affairs while getting their hair trimmed can do so without leaving their armchairs. Telephones and attractive multilingual secretaries are at their immediate disposal.

Alexandre puts finishing touches on haircut for Richard Burton, reportedly one of salon's backers.

There is, of course, at Alexandre's a snack bar with dietetic foods available and a gift shop on the ground floor to catch the sucker on the way out while he still feels in an expansive mood. The gift shop offers gloves, ties, umbrellas, evening shirts, golf clubs, vicuna scarves, an assortment of trinkets that cost an arm and a leg.

Alexandre, who was born in St. Tropez of Italian parents, gives the impression that he is a genius who cares only for his work. "When I see how I change a woman's personality by redoing her hair, how I can make her happy, joyful, feminine again, it is a source of great happiness to me. That's what I live for."

Despite the poetry in his soul, Alexandre has a sharp eye for a buck. He knows that in the past few years the male cosmetics industry has burgeoned into a business which grosses annually some $350 million and is still expanding. In 1963, for example, 151 different fragrances of all sorts were marketed for men. Last year that number jumped to 191. Hairsprays for men, wrinkle-removers for men—much of the extensive catalog of female cosmetics is being adapted to the male.

Alexandre as a beauty specialist is determined to get in on the ground floor of the male luxury trade.

"In Chicago," he says, " or even Phoenix, Ariz., a banker, an engineer, a factory-owner would be afraid to walk into a men's beauty salon. But here in Paris, who knows him? He walks into my establishment, old, tired and worn—a few hours later he comes out a new man, Adonis, Apollo, an American Don Juan."

A CENTURY LATER, THE TRUE STORY OF

THE FIRST ATTEMPT

It was dusk, and the February air was chill. At a remote road crossing a carriage drew up and three men quickly got out and went immediately to a single railroad passenger coach and engine standing by. Then another man, tall and lean, moved slowly from the carriage, drew a soft felt hat from his coat pocket and put it on. Even though it was cold, he wore neither cloak, overcoat nor shawl. He went directly to the coach and immediately the mysterious train was on its way.

The lamps inside the coach were not lighted although it was dark as the train streaked through the early evening. There was only one stop. At a village called Downingtown, the engineer halted for water and three of the men alit for a bite of food. The fourth man remained alone inside the darkened coach and drank a cup of tea and munched a dry roll which had been brought to him.

Nothing unusual happened in the remaining four or so hours' ride. But before the train reached its destination—Philadelphia—one of the men took off his overcoat and gave it to the fourth passenger and he bundled himself against the chill.

JOB WELL DONE

As the train was heading for Philadelphia, three more men were engaged in another strange mission. Shortly before dark that evening, one man, Andrew Wynne, an expert communications man, climbed a telegraph pole two miles outside Harrisburg and attached fine copper ground wire to the Harrisburg-Baltimore lines and made necessary wire cuts to prevent all communications.

After completing the job, Wynne and his two companions returned to Harrisburg where they asked the telegraph operator to send a message to Baltimore. The operator said he could not, that all communications with that city had been cut.

Why the darkened train streaking through the night and the men cutting and grounding the wires?

A plot to assassinate the mysterious fourth man had been discovered. The time: the evening of February 22, 1861. The place: a secret train carrying a precious personality from Harrisburg, Pa., to Philadelphia and then to Washington. The fourth man: Abraham Lincoln of Illinois, President-elect of the strife-torn U.S.

ELABORATE PLOT

The plot called for dynamiting of rail bridges and ferryboat crossings ahead of Lincoln's special train. That failing or merely misfiring, teams of dedicated assassins were to be present on the scene to murder the President-elect before he could be inaugurated on March 4, 1861. The telegraph, of course, was essential for the assassins to keep in touch with one another.

Through the years legend and myth, even deliberate untruth, have gathered around this first plot on Lincoln's life. Like many of the stories which have arisen about the death of President John F. Kennedy, they should have died in the borning if historians and readers had gone directly to sources.

In Lincoln's case, the source was none other than Allan Pinkerton, the famed detective, who by accident discovered the plot. Pinkerton and several highly placed men who helped preserve Lincoln's life in 1861 put down their findings. It is all in a leather-bound volume Pinkerton was obliged to print to dispel rumors and lies against Lincoln's courage.

Early in 1861, according to this rare Pinkerton book, the agency was engaged in infiltrating "secessionists." One of the detective-infiltrators, Timothy Webster, came onto information that prominent Maryland men had pledged to kill Lincoln.

Checking proved beyond doubt that the plot was not only well planned but would be successful unless Lincoln would agree to security measures.

Lincoln met Pinkerton less than 30 hours before the assassination attempt. Knowing he would be ridiculed as a coward for "sneaking" into Washington, Lincoln nevertheless took the advice of Pinkerton. But he insisted — on the very day of the Lincoln met Pinkerton less than 30 hours before the assassination attempt. Knowing he would be ridiculed as a coward for "sneaking" into Washington, Lincoln nevertheless took the advice of Pinkerton. But he insisted — on the very day of the planned plot—on raising the flag at Independence Hall in Philadelphia and then going on to Harrisburg by train to appear before the Pennsylvania Legislature.

Contemporary cartoonist had his own ideas of Lincoln's garb and frame of mind on Harrisburg - Washington run.

Target of gibes, Lincoln was accused of dressing as woman, hiding in boxcar in cartoon versions of escape from plot.

He kept both engagements. Then he agreed to the counterplan. Because of great crowds in Harrisburg, Lincoln was able to slip out from a reception and get to the secret train at the road crossing without being detected. He agreed to wear the soft felt hat which he carried in his pocket and to discard his familiar shawl.

When the darkened train reached Philadelphia, early for the Washington connection, Lincoln entered a carriage for the ride from one station to another where the regular Baltimore-Washington train was filling up for the night's journey.

Pinkerton wrote that he sat in the carriage with Lincoln and directed the coachman to proceed slowly down Market Street as far as Nineteenth, then up that street to Vine, then to Seventeenth. On Seventeenth Street the driver was told to act as though he were on the lookout for someone.

SAFELY ON BOARD

All went as planned and the President-elect, still wearing the borrowed overcoat and the soft felt hat, entered a sleeping car unnoticed by other passengers and train personnel.

Nearly five hours had passed since word had been released of Lincoln's whereabouts. At least seven to eight hours more passed before even his family knew of his safety. The train from Philadelphia sped through the night, was safely ferried across the Susquehanna River at Havre de Grace and crossed over bridges of the Gunpowder River and other streams without incident. The assassins waited in vain for news of the movement of the Lincoln special.

On April 14, 1865, just 100 years ago, an assassin finally trapped the Great Emancipator in a Washington theater stall.

But Allan Pinkerton, Tim Webster and a dozen other dedicated men saved Lincoln for the nation for the most trying years of the Union.

BRINGING UP BABY®
HINTS COLLECTED
BY MRS. DAN GERBER,
MOTHER OF FIVE

how to put dad in the picture

Mothers, by the very fact that they are with baby all day long, sometimes get a priority on the little one's affection. That's why it's important for dad to share in the fun and fanfare of baby care. By feeding, bathing and frolicking with his heir or heiress, dad's bound to get his quota of love. If he's a bit shy about trying, you might tell him that baby will thrive on the attention; won't care a whit if he fumbles a bit.

P.S. It's also an established fact that babies like to be held by men.

Profitable sharing plan

Nice way for dad to win over a little heart is to share a snack with his offspring occasionally. Gerber Fruit Juices are great for this because they're delicate in flavor, delightfully refreshing. What's more, they're all equally rich in vitamin C (needed for sound gums and other body tissues) and that's as good for dad as it is for his knee-dandler.

Gerber offers Apple Juice, Orange Juice and these delectable fruit duets: Orange-Apple, Orange-Pineapple, Orange-Apricot, Pineapple-Grapefruit, Apple-Cherry, Prune-Orange and Mixed Fruit Juice . . . a combination of five luscious flavors.

For the apple of your eye

Did you know that apple juice is becoming increasingly popular with babies? And with many baby doctors who are recommending it as a starting (and continuing) juice because it agrees so well with babies? Then you may be interested to know that Gerber Apple Juice is specially prepared to please (and agree with) your baby.

Crystal-clear, with a mild, pleasing flavor, it provides the same vitamin-C benefits as Gerber Orange Juice.

Communication plan

Dad will really come to know and enjoy his baby during those times when he's alone with him (or her). This is especially true after the half-year mark, when baby responds wonderfully to most everything and begins to understand the joy of having a playmate, protector and teacher. Through these sessions (as well as three-way play sessions including you) dad and his baby will learn to communicate and communication is the core of understanding.

Review board. Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

"Babies are our business ...our only business!"®

PARADE'S SPECIAL

INTELLIGENCE REPORT

PERISHABLE H-BOMBS. We and the Russians have enough H-bombs to blow up the world several times. Why then with this overkill capability do we continue to manufacture and stockpile more? One answer is that many of these bombs are constantly undergoing remanufacture because of radioactive ingredients which trigger the warheads. They decay with time. Tritium, for example, a superheavy form of hydrogen used in the fusion process, decays 50% in 13 years. Another element with a high rate of decay is polonium, which helps to assure a smooth implosion effect. In short, a hydrogen bomb cannot be made and just stored indefinitely. It requires periodic care.

NEPOTISM. One of the most sensitive and embarrassing issues in American business is the practice of hiring relatives in management. The Harvard Business Review recently queried 2,700 executives, many of them nepotists themselves, on what they thought of the practice. The study findings confirm the fact that businessmen have a general feeling that nepotism is undesirable, but this attitude does not hold up when they get down to concrete cases and decisions.

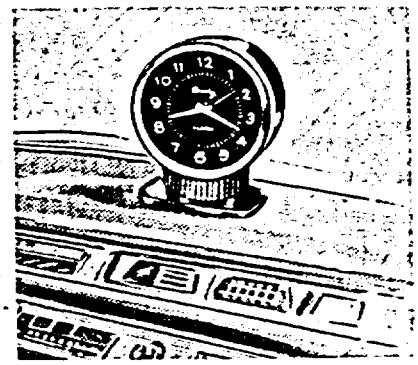

CONGO CHAOS. Five years ago, after decades of cruel, ruthless but always profitable exploitation by the Belgian royal family (read The King Incorporated by Neal Ascherson), Belgium granted independence to the Congo, a nation more than one-quarter the size of the U.S., with a population of 15 million. In 1960 the Congo was without a single native doctor, lawyer, engineer, college graduate or army officer trained for government work. Now, five years later, chaos has overtaken the Congo. Something like 20,000 people have been murdered by the Congo rebels. The population is still uneducated. Natives try to buy "intelligence pills" from the whites in Leopoldville "in order to make us smart." Moise Tshombe, who once led the secessionist movement against the United Nations peace-keeping force in the Congo, was defeated and sent to luxurious exile in Spain, is now head of the central government from which he seceded. If ever a nation was unprepared for self-government, it was the Congo in 1960. It is still woefully unprepared. Whose fault is it?
The Belgians', no doubt. Africa is a continent of torment, and its writhings will not cease for decades. The Congo is a sample of what happens when an undereducated people is granted premature independence.

PLAYBOY CLUBS FAIL. Playboy Clubs and their big-busted bunnies may prove profitable in America, but in the Far East they're a flop. After operating for less than a year in Manila, the Playboy Club, financed by Filipino businessmen, has called it a day. The 11 bunnies sent from the U.S. have returned home. Plans for future clubs in Hong Kong, Bangkok, Tokyo and Singapore have been called off. Reason for failure of the Manila Playboy Club, according to one source: "The blonde bunnies sent from the U.S. were untouchable. When two local Filipina girls were hired as bunnies, their mothers entered the club one night, forcibly dragged the two girls home. In the Orient, men are not accustomed to untouchable hostesses. Asian girls who go in for such work are more accessible."

HERE ARE NEW IDEAS FOR HOME AND FAMILY ■ BY PETER DRYDEN

Auto alarm clock: Useful in car, boat and at home, too, this magnetic base clock (above) sticks to any surface, won't jar loose. An extra self-adhesive plate lets you attach it to nonmetal surfaces. Size: 3" x 3½". With luminous hands, numerals; black case; chrome trim. $7.65 postpaid. Harpers, Dept. PP, 315 5th Ave., New York, N.Y. 10016.

Kills germs and odors: A new spray for kitchen, bathroom, other home areas eliminates odors —and kills germs on contact. On surfaces, its antigerm action lasts for weeks. It also destroys mold, mildew. 79¢ in stores. S. C. Johnson, Dept. PP, Racine, Wis.

Handy line: Stretching to 10 feet, this nylon elastic clothesline (above) is good for travel, apartment, dorm, supplementary household use. You can secure it to shower rod, door knob, any fixture. No clothespins are needed; garments are gripped by twists in the cord. 69¢ in stores. Traum, Dept. PP, 15 East 26 St., New York, N.Y. 10010.

Self-focusing projector: Newest slide projector is almost fully automated. It can handle all size slides, mingled, in all type of mounts—and automatically focus each pretisely. It also has magnetic action changer with remote control. Details: Honeywell, Dept. PP, 4800 E. Dry Creek Rd., Denver, Colo.

BRINGING UP BABY®
HINTS COLLECTED
BY MRS. DAN GERBER,
MOTHER OF FIVE

how to put dad in the picture

Mothers, by the very fact that they are with baby all day long, sometimes get a priority on the little one's affection. That's why it's important for dad to share in the fun and fanfare of baby care. By feeding, bathing and frolicking with his heir or heiress, dad's bound to get his quota of love. If he's a bit shy about trying, you might tell him that baby will thrive on the attention; won't care a whit if he fumbles a bit.

P.S. It's also an established fact that babies like to be held by men.

Profitable sharing plan

Nice way for dad to win over a little heart is to share a snack with his offspring occasionally. Gerber Fruit Juices are great for this because they're delicate in flavor, delightfully refreshing. What's more, they're all equally rich in vitamin C (needed for sound gums and other body tissues) and that's as good for dad as it is for his knee-dandler.

Gerber offers Apple Juice, Orange Juice and these delectable fruit duets: Orange-Apple, Orange-Pineapple, Orange-Apricot, Pineapple-Grapefruit, Apple-Cherry, Prune-Orange and Mixed Fruit Juice . . . a combination of five luscious flavors.

For the apple of your eye

Did you know that apple juice is becoming increasingly popular with babies? And with many baby doctors who are recommending it as a starting (and continuing) juice because it agrees so well with babies? Then you may be interested to know that Gerber Apple Juice is specially prepared to please (and agree with) your baby.

Crystal-clear, with a mild, pleasing flavor, it provides the same vitamin-C benefits as Gerber Orange Juice.

Communication plan

Dad will really come to know and enjoy his baby during those times when he's alone with him (or her). This is especially true after the half-year mark, when baby responds wonderfully to most everything and begins to understand the joy of having a playmate, protector and teacher. Through these sessions (as well as three-way play sessions including you) dad and his baby will learn to communicate and communication is the core of understanding.

Review board. Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

When did you last see the man who sold you your last low-priced tire?

If you bought it from Union Oil you'd see him 104 times a year.

When you go out of your way to buy a low-priced tire, chances are that it may be a long time before you see the man who sold it to you.

But when you buy a tire from a Union Oil dealer, you'll see him every time you stop in for gasoline and service. If you stop in twice a week, that gives him 104 chances a year for follow-up service.

104 chances to check tread wear, inspect sidewalls for bruises, check air pressure, tell you when your tires need rotation. As a result of this weekly follow-up service, you get even more mileage from your Minute Man I tires.

What's more, Union Oil stands behind its low-priced tires with a double guarantee: 1. Against defects in material and workmanship. 2. Against road hazards.

Shopping for a low-priced tire? See the man you'll see time and again after the sale. See your neighborhood Union Oil dealer where the sale is only the beginning of a long friendship.

New Bactine Cream, with its special cleansers and medications, provides an important way to complexion care.

See for yourself! At least once a day, apply Bactine Cream generously to cleanse your face. So non-greasy, Bactine Cream penetrates deep into the pores to clean them of excess oil and imbedded dirt. Leaves skin thoroughly "Bactine clean!"

Its medications stay in contact with your skin . . . keep working for hours to help clear up surface blemishes. Yet there's no medicine smell. No oily film to see or touch.

Its bactericidal action is so effective it kills many germs that can cause surface infection. Start using Bactine Skin Cream regularly . . . to keep your skin like peaches 'n cream.

MY FAVORITE JOKES by SIMMY BOW

EDITOR'S NOTE: Simmy Bow is a 38-year-old Chicago-born bachelor who once wanted to become a serious dramatic actor. His theatrical studies were interrupted by World War II, and when the fighting was over, Bow flew to Hollywood, where first he studied drama, then taught it at the Ben Bard Theatre. He made his first night club appearance in 1948, came on strong with a rapid-fire series of one-line jokes, found quick acceptance, was then rapidly booked into the top night spots in the nation. In addition to appearing on many TV shows—he still wants to be a dramatic star—Simmy has worked the Blue Angel in New York, the Living Room in Chicago, the entire Playboy Club circuit, the Tidelands in Houston and many other spots. Here is a sample of topical jokes he uses:

There is no life on the moon. You can bet your last dollar on it. If there was life, the people there would have requested U.S. aid long before now.

More than twice as many people drown in tubs as do in swimming pools—so you're better off taking a bath in a swimming pool.

Did you hear about the Texan who was so rich he used stainless steel blades only once?

A pedestrian tossed a nickel into a blind man's cup but refused to take a pencil. "Whether you take one or not," called the blind man, "pencils are now up to 10¢."

An awful lot of people are still having trouble getting rid of the shelter food they hoarded during the Cuban crisis.

When I'm right I talk like a man, but when I'm wrong I argue like a woman.

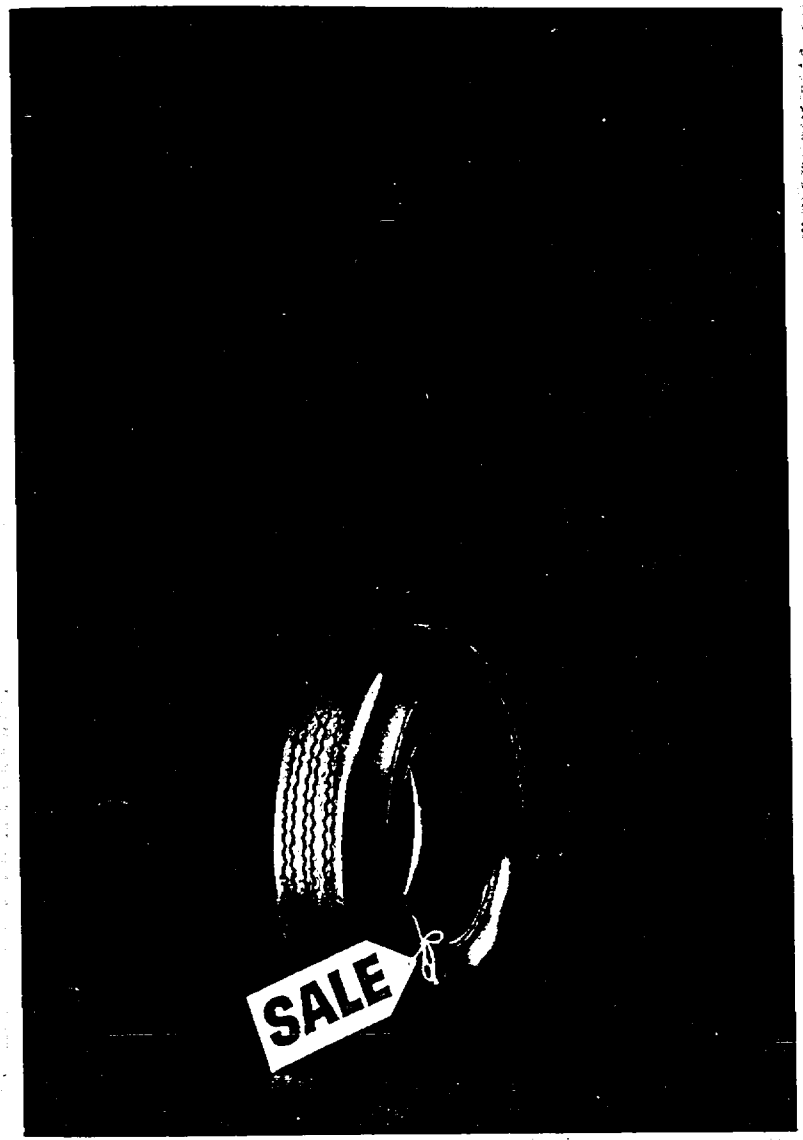

Wanting to compliment the owner of a restaurant in Chicago, a young debutante said, "I can't understand how you make these beautiful waves and curls on your butter patties. They are works of art."

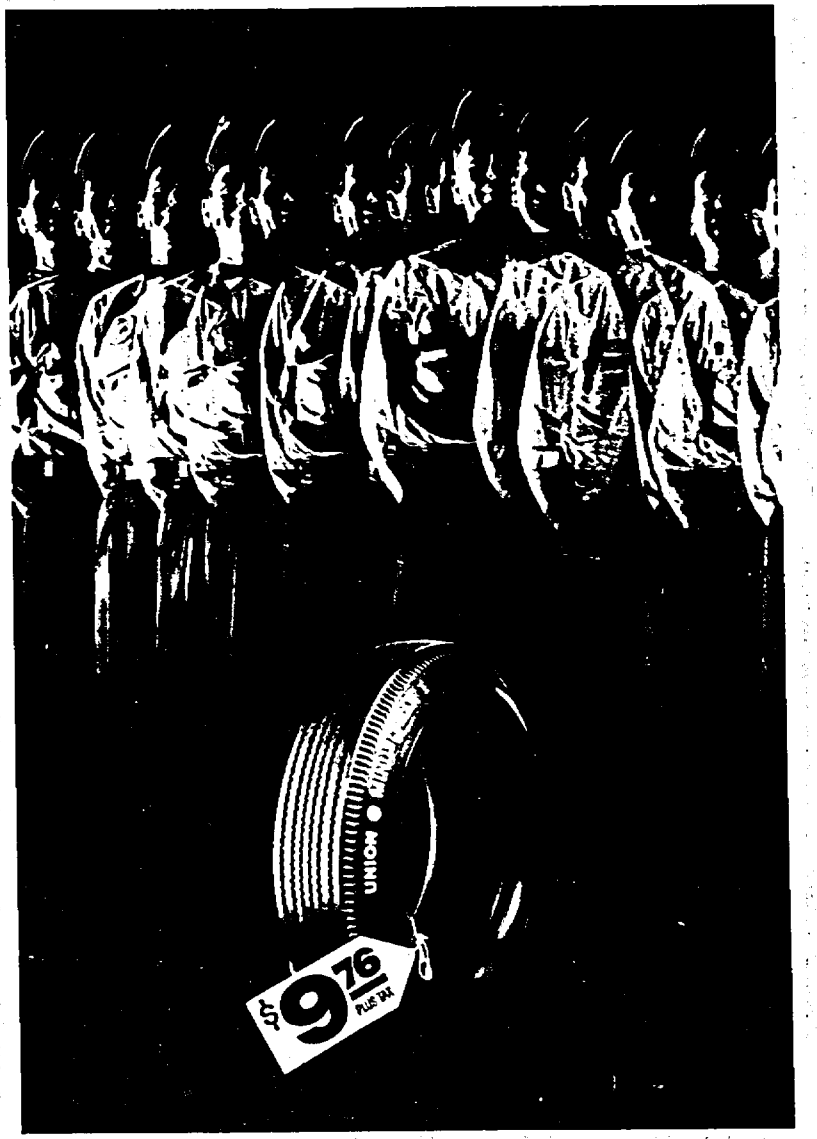

The owner shrugged. "Really very easy," he explained. "Our chef has an old comb, and he runs it through the butter every morning."

Little league baseball is very similar to major league baseball. In fact the only difference is that they won't let the kids do razor blade commercials.

Marketing experts have conclusively shown that nowadays twice as much dog food is sold as baby food. Which proves one of two things—either we're more concerned about our pets, or we're feeding our babies dog food.

What with A-bombs, H-bombs, Saigon and the Congo, I'd feel a whole lot better about 1965 if Johnson could come up with a one-year unconditional guarantee.

Anecdote of the Week

■ Judge John Weeks, Chief Judge of the District Court in Minneapolis, walked into his courtroom and spotted a man slouched over and wearing a hat. "You get out of here," he ordered. Later when the drunkenness case of George Rohde was called, the defendant failed to answer. "George Rohde," the judge called out. No reply. "George Rohde," the judge called out again. This time the clerk of the court approached the bench and told the judge, "Your Honor, he was the man you ordered to leave. He did." ■

Rath. BLACK HAWK WIENERS

HOLLYWOOD.

In the old hanky-panky days here, it was fairly easy for almost any attractive, photogenic girl to get a motion picture contract.

All she needed was a friendly disposition — toward an actor, director, producer or studio executive. Such girls were usually signed to six-month deals and continued under contract so long as they remained friendly. The euphemism used was "co-operative."

One legendary film tycoon, too old now for hanky-panky, had 26 girls under personal contract to him at one time, each at $100 per week.

These "co-operative" apprentices were signed on the basis of bust measurements —none could measure less than 36 inches—plus their friendly attitudes. The studio executive who signed them used to visit the members of his harem once every six months or so. A fast worker, he would pop in for a quick 20 minutes, talk about a prospective film he had in mind for the particular beauty, test her co-operation-quotient, then depart. Over the years this Don Juan placed dozens of buxom young women under contract to his company. Eventually a handful developed into full-fledged film stars.

Can't Afford It

Today, talent procurement is much more legitimate. There are exceptions, of course—the human equation being what it is—but motion picture studios are no longer fabulously profitable. Several do well enough to survive. None can afford the luxury of reckless or chance hiring.

When a young actress is signed to a contract nowadays, she is signed to act, not to satisfy the boss's libido.

A good case in point is Rosemary Forsyth, a young (21), tall (5-feet-9½), shapely (36-22-36), blue-eyed, wholesome blonde from Brooklyn.

Rosemary has just finished playing "an innocent, peasant, 11th-century virgin" opposite Charlton Heston in Warlord and Jimmy Stewart's daughter in a Civil War drama called Shenandoah.

For a newcomer, that constitutes starting in at the top, which is most unusual.

Generally when a studio signs a rookie, it orders her to pose for "cheesecake" and other bathing suit art. "I just wouldn't do it," Rosemary declares. "I told them I came here to act, not to become a sexpot." Then she is "dated" with several bachelor actors so that her name can make the gossip columns. She is told to hang around the studio in order to "get the feel of it." And finally she is cast in bit or feature roles and gradually, if she arouses audience response, given larger parts.

With Rosemary Forsyth, Universal Pictures sensibly reversed that process. Following a preliminary screen test they signed her to a contract, then shipped her back to New York, paid her a small salary, told her to stay away from Hollywood and sent her to drama school for a year.

Her year of schooling finished, she flew back to the Coast for another screen test. The studio approved of her development, picked up her option, cast her in Shenandoah with veteran star Jimmy Stewart.

"I think," Stewart said after working with her for a week, "that Rosemary has tremendous potential. Certainly she's got one of the most wonderful, wholesome, perfect faces of any actress in this business. She has the quality of an early Ingrid Bergman. I'm sure that with a little luck she can make it. Certainly for a

FOR WOMEN ONLY ...LAXATIVE NEWS!

"When I think of the suffering I could have avoided if I'd known about Correctol sooner! Our druggist recommended it and we've found it fine for every age group from Grandma to ten-year-old daughter."

Mrs. Einar Haaland, Woodbury, Conn.

Correctol® has been specially developed for a woman's delicate system. It is completely different from harsh, all-purpose laxatives.

Its secret is a non-laxative miracle regulator that simply softens waste. And, Correctol contains just enough mild laxative to give regularity a start.

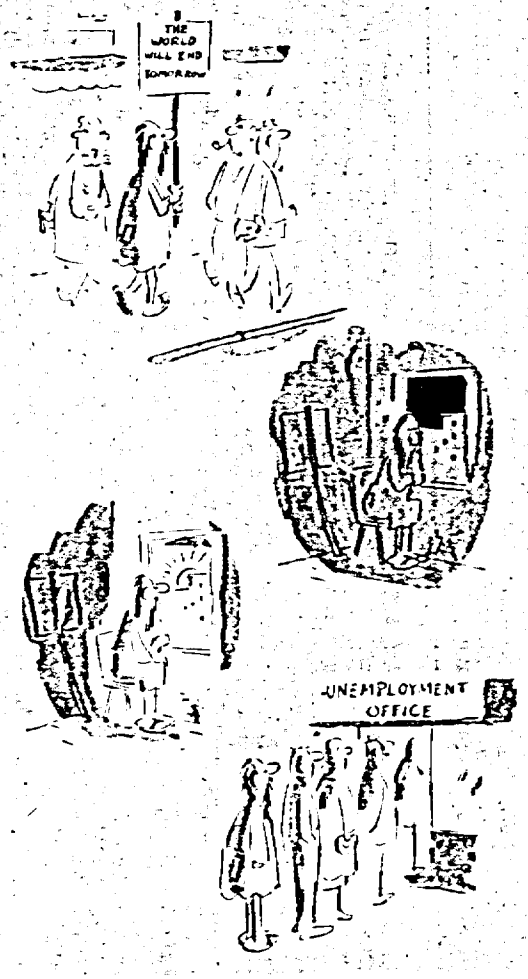

Working together, these two gentle ingredients in Correctol give a woman relief more naturally than any ordinary laxative can. Even in pregnancy and following childbirth.

Why don't you try hospital-proved Correctol ... today.

PARADE

Anecdote of the Week

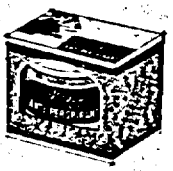

■ Judge John Weeks, Chief Judge of the District Court in Minneapolis, walked into his courtroom and spotted a man slouched over and wearing a hat. "You get out of here," he ordered. Later when the drunkenness case of George Rohde was called, the defendant failed to answer. "George Rohde," the judge called out. No reply. "George Rohde," the judge called out again. This time the clerk of the court approached the bench and told the judge, "Your Honor, he was the man you ordered to leave. He did." ■ youngster she's dedicated."

How did Universal Pictures come across Rosemary Forsyth in the first place?

Here's how she tells it: "About two years ago I was working in New York as a model. We were shooting a layout for Show magazine, something called 'Girl with a Goal.' One of the caption-writers asked me what I wanted to be, and I honestly told him, 'An actress.' It happened to be the truth. I've been stage-struck ever since I was a kid. I acted in school plays, amateur theatricals, TV programs.

Model's Ambitions

"Anyway," she continues, "this fellow looked at me and sadly shook his head. 'Every model in the world,' he said, 'wants to become an actress. Surely, you can dream up something else.' So I told them I like to ride horses, which I do, but having been raised in Brooklyn, how much horse-riding can you do in Brooklyn? But they ran a big article on how I loved horses, how more than anything else in life I wanted to become a famous equestrienne, a great horsewoman riding in Madison Square Garden. It was funny, and of course it was nonsense. But the two pictures of me which the magazine ran caught the eye of Mel Tucker. I believe he's the assistant production chief at Universal."

sure" in Rosemary's face and called her photos to the attention of his boss, Edward Muhl.

Muhl in turn called his casting head to set up a screen test for the girl.

"One afternoon," Rosemary recalls, "my agent phoned and told me to go see Alice Boatwright. She's Universal's talent representative in New York. She talked to me, and a little while later I flew to Hollywood, where I tested opposite a young actor named Peter Mann.

"The studio thought I showed promise but needed training, so they shipped me back to New York, where I studied technique and method under Wynn Handman."

Rosemary also apeared with Art Carney in summer stock and acted in eight TV dramas, including two Defenders programs.

Universal then brought her back to Hollywood and tested her again to determine her improvement. "We felt," says one executive "that she had a nice, warm, American quality. Personally, she reminds me with her hair and her freckles of a young Doris Day. In this business it's the public who makes the stars, not the studios. All we can do is to give a kid an opportunity. So we put Rosemary in Shenandoah. The picture hasn't been released yet, so we don't know what the public reaction will be. But I can tell you this. On the basis of a couple of sneak previews, the audience seems to like Rosemary. Men go for her, and because her sex appeal isn't obvious, she doesn't antagonize the women. So the kid has a pretty good chance.

"She's no great shakes as an actress, but in this business we don't need any great actresses, we need new personalities."

Walter Seltzer, producer of Warlord, remembers that when he was casting his production, "the studio gave me some film on Forsyth to take to Rome. I was on my way there to talk to Charlton Heston, who was then working on The Agony and the Ecstasy. Heston has the right to approve his leading lady, and one night we ran the film.

"Rosemary looked very beautiful," he continues, "but we didn't think she could play an 11th-century virgin who on her wedding night is suddenly taken from her husband by warlord Charlton Heston. So I told the studio she didn't fill the bill.

"Then when I came back from Rome I was having lunch in the studio commissary one afternoon. I saw her in person for the first time—a handsome, freckled, well-scrubbed girl, so youthful-looking, so fresh; she radiated such wholesome innocence. 'That's the girl I need for Warlord,' I said to myself. So we signed her, paid her $1,500 a week and she did a great job for us."

Rosemary Forsyth was born in Montreal—her Scottish father was a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force at the time—but she was raised in Brooklyn, her mother's hometown, after her parents were divorced and her mother subsequently married a dentist, Dr. Arch Winick.

Not Her Stepfather

Dr. Winick died of a brain tumor a few months ago, but Rosemary always refers to him as "my father," never her step-father. Her natural father, David Forsyth, is now a disc jockey on an Erie, Pa., radio station, "but I never see him, and insofar as I'm concerned Dr. Arch Winick is the only father I remember."

Until a few months ago Rosemary's mother, a tall, strikingly beautiful woman, was one of New York's top models under her maiden name, Rosemary Collins. It was she who introduced her daughter to the modeling profession after she finished her schooling in Stockbridge, Mass.

Of Rosemary, Jr., her mother proudly says, "I always knew that she would make it. As a child she had determination, energy, looks, great perseverance and drive. As far back as I can remember Rosemary has always wanted to act. What I would like best for her to do is to become an established actress, sort of like Grace Kelly, then meet a good, reliable man, get married, quit the business and have 40 children."

Dr. Winick died of a brain tumor a few months ago, but Rosemary always refers to him as "my father," never her step-father. Her natural father, David Forsyth, is now a disc jockey on an Erie, Pa., radio station, "but I never see him, and insofar as I'm concerned Dr. Arch Winick is the only father I remember."

Until a few months ago Rosemary's mother, a tall, strikingly beautiful woman, was one of New York's top models under her maiden name, Rosemary Collins. It was she who introduced her daughter to the modeling profession after she finished her schooling in Stockbridge, Mass.

Of Rosemary, Jr., her mother proudly says, "I always knew that she would make it. As a child she had determination, energy, looks, great perseverance and drive. As far back as I can remember Rosemary has always wanted to act. What I would like best for her to do is to become an established actress, sort of like Grace Kelly, then meet a good, reliable man, get married, quit the business and have 40 children."

HERE is an amazing offer from Doubleday's famous Dollar Book Club. Never has there been a better time to join

- Select any 5 books on this page for only 99 cents. Choose from best-selling novels, big illustrated books, even valuable reference sets! This is your introductory package when you join.
- Thereafter, as a member, you will be offered each month a variety of book bargains from which to choose. Selections are exciting new adult novels, costing $3.95 to $5.95 each in publishers' editions, yet they come to members for as little as $1. Big hits by Thomas B. Costain, Daphne du Maurier, Frank Yerby, and other top authors have come to members for $1—a saving of up to 75%. Some extra-big volumes are offered at prices higher than $1.
- Alternate selections include books of every kind—cook books, travel books, mysteries, classics, homemaking books—at special bargain prices to members only. An attractive bonus plan offers other big savings, too.
- All selections are new, full-length, hardbound editions specially produced for Dollar Book Club members.

"WHAT BOOTS IT HIM FROM DEATH TO BE UNBOUND, TO BE CAPTIVED IN ENDLESS DURANCE?"-SPENSER. "AWAY WITH HIM TO THE DEEPEST DUNGEON BENEATH THE CASTLE MOAT."-DICKENS.

YMEAN T'TELL ME, EVEN IF ALL THESE POOR GUYS COULD GET OUT O' HERE, IT'D BE WORSE'N EVER FOR 'EM? WHY?

LAW SAYS THEY'RE "POTENTIALLY DANGEROUS LUNATICS"! REMEMBER?

SO, SUPPOSIN' THEY DO ALL MAKE IT OUT O' HERE, EVEN WITH A NIGHT'S START! HUNNERT MILES OR MORE O' JUST WILD MOUNTAINS 'FORE THEY'D GET TO EVEN A SHACK!

BUT, SUPPOSIN' THEY COULD SCATTER AND EVEN GET TO THE CITY! COPS WOULD HAVE ORDERS THUNT 'EM DOWN AND BRING 'EM BACK IN IRONS: DON'T FORGET! "ESCAPED LUNATICS"!

AND WHEN THEY GOT BACK HERE? Y'THINK DOC WOULDN'T REALLY GIVE 'EM TH' BUSINESS, TO TEACH 'EM A LESSON?

PUT 'EM ON BREAD AN' WATER, I S'POSE!

HUH! EVER HEAR OF "LECTRIC SHOCK TREATMENTS"? ALL TH' OTHER GIMMICKS? TAKE AN AWFUL TOUGH GUY NOT TO BE DROVE CRAZY BY THEM "TREATMENTS"!

YEAH! BR-R-R-!

HERE NOBODY KNOWS WHO ANY O' TH' "GUESTS" REALLY ARE! WHEN THEY'RE CHECKED IN EACH GETS A NUMBER! NEVER FORGET ONE TOUGH OLD GUY!

FOUR BIG GUARDS BRUNG HIM! ALL TONCE Y'NEVER HEARD SUCH A RIOT IN TH' OFFICE! DOC WOUND UP ON TH' CRITICAL LIST; IN A COMA FOR A MONTH! TH' OLD BOY WOUND UP IN MAXIMUM SECURITY!

GEE! HE MUSTA' BEEN A REAL PSYCHO, EH?

SHUCKS, NO! JUST ONE AWFUL TOUGH OLD HOMBRE! WHEN DOC FINALLY COME AROUND HE, AND SOME STRANGERS FROM OUTSIDE, SURE GAVE THAT POOR OLD GUY AN AWFUL ROUGH TIME!

WHY?

WHO KNOWS WHY? TRYIN' T'SWEAT SOME SECRET INFORMATION OUT O' HIM, I HEARD! BUT NOBODY COULD MAKE HIM TALK!

YEAH? WHICH ONE WAS HE, OUT THERE IN TH' YARD?

OH, THEY'D NEVER DARE LET HIM OUT O' HIS CELL--ER-- HIS "PRIMATE ROOM", THAT IS! DOC CERTIFIED HIM AS A PARANOIAC MANIAC! NOBODY EVER SEES HIM!

GEE! WHERE DO THEY KEEP HIM?

SPECIAL LITTLE STEEL-LINED CELL IN TH' CELLAR UNDER HERE! ALL I SEE, WHEN I SHOVE HIS MEALS THROUGH TH' LITTLE GRILL, IS HIS NUMBER ON THE DOOR;-- --15-23--!

YOUR MOVE! 15-23, EH? HM-M-M-M-M-M-- 15-23?!!!!

IN THE BITTER WINDS OF WINTER MONTHS, MANY BIRDS ARE HARD PRESSED TO KEEP FROM FREEZING...

BUT THE WOODPECKER HAS A DECIDED ADVANTAGE OVER HIS AVIAN RELATIVES

A NESTING CAVITY CHISELED OUT IN SUMMER PROVIDES A REFUGE IN WINTER...

ONCE INSIDE AND OUT OF THE WIND, HE FLUFFS HIS FEATHERS...
